COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1961. 145th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 38. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, JANUARY 3, 1961. No. 1.

SENATE

TUESDAY, JANUARY 3, 1961, 12:00 M.

This being the day and hour fixed by the Constitution for the meeting of the General Assembly, the Members of the Senate, together with the Senators-elect, chosen at the last general election held on November 8, 1960, assembled in the Senate Chamber.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis) called the Senate to order at 12:00 M.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. ELVIN B. SHARP, Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Ford City, offered the following prayer:

Most gracious God, we humbly beseech Thee, as for the people of this Commonwealth, so especially for the Senate here assembled, that Thou will be pleased to direct and prosper all their consultation to the advancement of Thy glory, the good of Thy church, the safety, the honor and welfare of the people, that all things may be so ordered and settled by their endeavors upon the best and surest foundations, that peace and happiness, truth and justice, virtue and piety may be established among them.

We pray especially for those coming to these Chambers for the first time as elected representatives of the people, that they may discharge their duties in all honor and respect, using their best judgment as they rely upon Thy divine wisdom.

May Thy presence be known to those in particular positions of leadership. May Thy Spirit be the guiding entity to all who serve in this legislative body. Deliver them from all error, pride and prejudice; enlighten them with divine wisdom from above, and so order all their doings that Thy Kingdom may be advanced in love, peace and understanding.

By Thy great wisdom, shed the light of Thy countenance upon us here. Advance the cause of peace throughout the world. For these and all Thy blessings we humbly pray this day, in the Name of Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

PRESENTATION OF ELECTION RETURNS

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate.

The SERGEANT-AT-ARMS. Mr. President, I have the honor to introduce the Secretary of the Commonwealth, the Honorable John S. Rice.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Secretary of the Commonwealth come to the Bar of the Senate?

Mr. RICE. Mr. President, I have the honor to present the official returns of the general election held on November 8, 1960, at which certain members of this body were elected, as well as the official returns of the election of the Auditor General and State Treasurer of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you, Mr. Secretary.

ADMINISTRATION OF OATHS OF OFFICE

The PRESIDENT. The next order of business will be the administration of the oaths of office to the newly elected Senators.

The oath of office will be administered to the Democratic Senators-elect by the Honorable Eustace H. Bane, a former Member of the Senate and now President Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Fayette County. The oath of office will be administered to the Republican Senators-elect by the Honorable R. Dixon Herman, Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County.

The Chair now presents the Honorable Eustace H. Bane. The Democratic Senators-elect, who are to be sworn in by Judge Bane, will present themselves in front of the rostrum, and will bring with them the Bibles which have been placed on their desks.

Will those present in the Senate Chamber please rise?

(Oath of office administred accordingly.)

The PRESIDENT. The Chair now presents the Honorable R. Dixon Herman. The Republican Senators-elect, who are to be sworn in by Judge Herman, will present themselves in front of the rostrum. They should also bring with them the Bibles which have been placed on their desks.

Will those present in the Senate Chamber please rise?

(Oath of office administered accordingly.)

The PRESIDENT. The Chair wishes to thank Judge Bane and Judge Herman for administering the oaths of office, and also wishes to congratulate the newly elected Senators and wish them Godspeed in their work.

NOTIFICATION OF SPECIAL CEREMONY

The PRESIDENT. The Chair wishes to announce at this time that the oath of office was administered in the Senate Chamber to the Honorable Stanley G. Stroup, of the Thirty-sixth Senatorial District, at a Special Ceremony on the twelfth day of December 1960.

The transcript of these proceedings will be entered in the Legislative Journal as a Supplement.

The PRESIDENT. Fifty Senators having answered to their names, a quorum is present.

ELECTION OF PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

The PRESIDENT. The next order of business before the Senate is the election of the President pro tempore. The Chair recognizes Senator Lane.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, it certainly is my honor today to present to you, as a nominee for President pro tempore of this Senate, one of Pennsylvania's most distinguished citizens. I am speaking with reference to the Honorable Anthony J. DiSilvestro, of Philadelphia.

This gentleman is a statesman, a lawyer and a pharmacist. He also is a publisher in the Philadelphia area. This gentleman has dedicated his life to public service. He has served in this great Body from 1937 until the present time. Indeed, his wife, too, is quite a distinguished person, being a teacher and a public relations expert.

Senator DiSilvestro is well known to every Member of this Senate and all of us think the world of him. As a matter of fact, he has our affection and I know that he has the affection of quite a number of the Members on the other side.

Therefore, Mr. President, on behalf of the Democratic Party and myself, personally, I am happy, indeed, to place in nomination the name of the Honorable Anthony J. DeSilvestro for the office of President pro tempore of the Senate of Pennsylvania.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, having known the nominee, Senator DiSilvestro, for many years, and having served with him in this Body, I think he has the distinction of being one of the oldest Members of this Body inasmuch as he is beginning his seventh term of office today. I would like to heartily concur in everything which Senator Lane has stated and, therefore, I wish to second the nomination of the Honorable Anthony J. DiSilvestro, of Philadelphia, for the office of President pro tempore of this Senate.

The PRESIDENT. Are there any further nominations?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, for the past sixteen years, or during the last eight Sessions of the General Assembly, we, on this side of the Senate, have very proudly presented a name in nomination for the office of President pro tempore of the Senate and he, subsequently, on each occasion, was elected. We certainly like to feel, and point with pride to the fact, that we have had served in this great Senate of Pennsylvania one of the outstanding public servants, not only of Pennsylvania but of the entire United States of America. I think his fairness, as the President pro tempore, is known from one end of this Commonwealth to the other, as well as all over the Nation.

Certainly, the order changeth. There is nothing we can do about it today. Therefore, we, on this side of the aisle, are not presenting any name in nomination.

I know that I speak for my colleagues when I say that if the order had to be changed, we can think of no one whom we would rather see become President pro tempore than the gentleman who has just been nominated.

On behalf of my colleagues, Mr. President, it gives me a great deal of pleasure to also second the nomination of the Honorable Anthony J. DiSilvestro for the office of President pro tempore of the Senate.

NOMINATIONS CLOSED

Mr. RIPP. Mr. President, I move that the nominations for the office of President pro tempore of the Senate be closed.

Mr. MURRAY. Mr. President, I rise to second this motion that the nominations be closed.

The motion was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. On the election of the President pro tempore, the Clerk will call the roll. The candidate is the Honorable Anthony J. DiSilvestro, of Philadelphia County.

The roll was called and resulted as follows:

FOR MR. DiSILVESTRO—49

PRESENT—1

DiSilvestro,

The PRESIDENT. The Honorable Anthony J. DiSilvestro having received forty-nine votes, the Chair declares Senator Anthony J. DiSilvestro duly elected President pro tempore of the Senate of Pennsylvania.

Will you please rise Senator DiSilvestro. We want to see the gentleman who has been so nicely spoken of and we do congratulate you, Senator.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO ESCORT PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE-ELECT TO THE ROSTRUM

The PRESIDENT. The Chair takes pleasure in naming as the Committee to Escort the President pro tempore-elect to the Rostrum, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner; the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Lane; and the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Taylor.

ADMINISTRATION OF OATH OF OFFICE TO PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

The PRESIDENT. The oath of office will be administered to the newly elected President pro tempore by the Honorable Eustace H. Bane, President Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Fayette County.

(The oath of office was administered accordingly.)

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, Members of the Senate, distinguished guests and ladies and gentlemen, I wish to thank you all for the great honor you have bestowed upon me this morning. As I begin my twenty-fifth year here as a Member of the Pennsylvania Senate, it is gratifying to me that my colleagues have shown their confidence in me by electing me to this high office.

This honor not only inures to me, but to the people of my District who have shown their confidence in me by electing me seven times to the distinguished office of State Senator. I want to assure them and you that this confidence which they and you have placed in me will be fully justified in the future as I hope it has been in the past.

I am sure that in the months ahead as we face the many difficult and complex problems on which we will have to act, that we will deal with them in a spirit of harmony and in the interest of all of the people and without political rancor.

I pledge to address myself to the business of this office in such a manner that we all can continue to merit the respect of the people of this great Commonwealth, and maintain the high trust that they have placed in us.

Again, my humblest and heartfelt thanks for the great honor you have accorded me, my wife, my mother and my family.

ELECTION OF SECRETARY OF THE SENATE

The PRESIDENT. The next order of business before the Senate is the election of the Secretary of the Senate. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Centre County, Senator Hays.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, it is my purpose to offer a nominee for the office of Secretary of the Senate.

From the "Handbook for Senators," issued in 1960, I want to read a couple of sentences, defining the duties of the Secretary of the Senate:

> "The Secretary of the Senate is primarily the Parliamentarian of the Senate. He supervises all procedural detail, answers requests made by Senators and contracts for all Senate printing. He directs the compiling of the Senate History, Senate Calendar, amendments to bills in the Senate, Senate portion of the Legislative Directory, Senate portion of The Pennsylvania Manual, plus other duties."

It is now my pleasure to nominate for this office the Honorable Paul C. Moomaw of Franklin County. Mr. Moomaw, I think, is admirably equipped by native ability, training and experience to carry out the duties enumerated.

Mr. Moomaw has served as a member of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania and, for two terms, has been Secretary of the House of Representatives.

I only know of one blot on this man's career. He was not born in the State of Pennsplvania. However, this happened at a very early age and I do not think he had much control over it, and he remedied this I believe at a very early time in life.

I am pleased to place in nomination, on behalf of my Caucus and myself, the name of Paul C. Moomaw of Franklin County.

Mr. CAMIEL. Mr. President, it is my honor and a great privilege to second the nomination, for Secretary of the Senate of Pennsylvania, of a most distinguished gentleman from Franklin County, Paul C. Moomaw.

The PRESIDENT. Are there any further nominations?

NOMINATIONS CLOSED

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I now move that the nominations for the office of Secretary of the Senate be closed.

Mr. STAISEY. Mr. President, I second the motion that the nominations be closed.

The motion was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. On the election of the Secretary of the Senate, the Clerk will call the roll. The candidate is the Honorable Paul C. Moomaw of Franklin County.

The roll was called and resulted as follows:

FOR MR. MOOMAW—50

Bell,	Hays,	Mullin,	Staisey,
Berger,	Kalman,	Murray,	Stevenson,
Camiel,	Keller,	Pechan,	Stiefel,
Chapman,	Kessler,	Propert,	Stroup,

Fleming,	McGinnis,	Shafer,	Wolfe,
Haluska,	McMenamin,	Silvert,	Yatron,
Hawbaker,	Miller,

The PRESIDENT. The Honorable Paul C. Moomaw having received fifty votes, the Chair declares Mr. Moomaw duly elected Secretary of the Senate of Pennsylvania.

ELECTION OF CHIEF CLERK OF THE SENATE

The PRESIDENT. The next order of business before the Senate is the election of the Chief Clerk.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I am pleased to place the name of Dennis J. Mulvihill, from Pittsburgh, in nomination for the position of Chief Clerk.

Mr. Mulvihill was here a little over twenty-two years ago in that same position, and he served us well. He is a lawyer in Pittsburgh, has raised a fine family, has a son in Yale University right now, and I am sure if he is elected again to this position, that he will serve every Senator on this floor well and helpfully.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, the sage of the Senate has spoken. I second the nomination.

NOMINATIONS CLOSED

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I move that the nominations be closed.

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. President, I desire to second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. On the election of the Chief Clerk of the Senate, the Clerk will call the roll. The candidate is the Honorable Dennis J. Mulvihill, of Allegheny County.

The roll was called and resulted as follows:

FOR MR. MULVIHILL—50

Bell,	Hays,	Mullin,	Staisey,
Berger,	Kalman,	Murray,	Stevenson,

The PRESIDENT. The Honorable Dennis J. Mulvihill having received fifty votes, the Chair declares Mr. Mulvihill duly elected Chief Clerk of the Senate of Pennsylvania.

ELECTION OF SENATE LIBRARIAN

The PRESIDENT. The next order of business before the Senate is the election of the Senate Librarian.

Mr. DEVLIN. Mr. President, it was my pleasure during the past two Sessions to serve in the other Chamber with a dedicated public servant, the gentleman from Fulton County, Marl H. Garlock. It is now my privilege to place his name in nomination to be the Librarian of the Senate of Pennsylvania.

Mr. SESLER. Mr. President, it is a pleasure for me to rise and second the nomination of Marl H. Garlock for Senate Librarian. I do so with the assurance that he will serve the Members of this Senate faithfully and well.

The PRESIDENT. Are there any further nominations?

NOMINATIONS CLOSED

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, I move that the nominations for the office of Senate Librarian now be closed.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I wish to second the motion of Senator Rooney to close the nominations for Senate Librarian.

The motion was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. On the election of the Senate Librarian, the Clerk will call the roll. The candidate is the Honorable Marl H. Garlock, of Fulton County.

The roll was called and resulted as follows:

FOR MR. GARLOCK—50

Bell,	Hays,	Mullin,	Staisey,
Berger,	Kalman,	Murray,	Stevenson,

Haluska,	McMenamin,	Silvert,	Yatron,
Hawbaker,	Miller,

The PRESIDENT. The Honorable Marl H. Garlock having received fifty votes, the Chair declares Mr. Garlock duly elected Librarian of the Senate of Pennsylvania.

OATH OF OFFICE ADMINISTERED TO SECRETARY OF THE SENATE, CHIEF CLERK OF THE SENATE AND SENATE LIBRARIAN

The PRESIDENT. The Secretary-elect of the Senate, Paul C. Moomaw, the Chief Clerk-elect of the Senate, Dennis J. Mulvihill and the Senate Librarian-elect, Marl H. Garlock, will approach the rostrum in order that the oath of office may be administered.

(Oath of office was accordingly administered to the above officers by the Honorable Eustace H. Bane, President Judge, Court of Common Pleas, Fayette County.)

ANNOUNCEMENT OF MAJORITY AND MINORITY SENATE LEADERSHIP

The PRESIDENT. The Chair has been advised by the Majority Caucus that they have elected as Majority Floor Leader, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Charles R. Weiner, and as Whip, the gentleman from Washington, Senator William J. Lane. They have further elected as Caucus Chairman, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Israel Stiefel, and as Caucus Secretary, the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator George J. Sarraf.

The Chair has also been informed by the Minority Caucus that they have elected as Minority Floor Leader, the gentleman from Potter, Senator James S. Berger, and as Whip, the gentleman from Armstrong, Senator Albert R. Pechan. They have elected as Caucus Chairman, the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Robert D. Fleming, and as Caucus Secretary, the gentleman from Lancaster, Senator Edward J. Kessler.

Congratulations and best wishes to the gentlemen named.

SENATE RESOLUTIONS

NOTIFICATION TO THE HOUSE

Mr. WEINER offered the following resolution, which was read, considered and adopted:

In the Senate, January 3, 1961.

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate is now in session and ready to proceed to business.

APPOINTMENT OF COMMITTEE TO NOTIFY THE HOUSE

The PRESIDENT. Pursuant to the resolution just adopted, the Chair wishes to announce the appointment of the following Committee of the Senate to notify the House of Representatives that the Senate is duly organized for the conduct of business: the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Yatron, Chairman; the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Devlin; and the gentleman from Bedford, Mr. Stroup.

The committee will leave immediately and discharge its duties.

NOTIFICATION TO HIS EXCELLENCY, THE GOVERNOR

Mr. WEINER offered the following resolution, which was read, considered and adopted:

In the Senate, January 3, 1961.

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to wait upon His Excellency, the Governor, and inform him that the Senate is convened and organized and ready to receive any communication he may be pleased to make.

APPOINTMENT OF COMMITTEE TO NOTIFY THE GOVERNOR

The PRESIDENT. Pursuant to the resolution just adopted, the Chair wishes to advise the Senate of the appointment of the following Committee to inform the Governor that the Senate is organized: the gentleman from York, Mr. Seyler, Chairman; the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Mahady; and the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bell.

The committee will leave immediately and discharge its duties.

THANKS OF THE SENATE TENDERED TO HONORABLE EUSTACE H. BANE FOR QUALIFYING CERTAIN NEWLY ELECTED SENATORS

Mr. KALMAN offered the following resolution, which was read, considered and adopted:

In the Senate, January 3, 1961.

Resolved, That the thanks of the Senate are hereby tendered to the Honorable Eustace H. Bane, President Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Fayette County, for his services in qualifying certain newly elected Senators and Officers.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I think we would be amiss in our duties if we did not recognize that Judge Bane was formerly Senator Bane, before they demoted him to the position of Judge. I think he is the only man in the Commonwealth who has the distinction of having been a Member of the Senate and going on to the judiciary. In the judiciary, I think his experiences here have served him well, as you have seen this morning in his performance.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, I would like to correct the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Weiner.

The Court of Common Pleas, in Northampton County, has, as its President Judge, Judge William G. Barthold. Also serving on the Court of Common Pleas is Judge Carleton T. Woodring. Both of these gentlemen were former Senators.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you, Senator Rooney. I had not remembered that either.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I also would like to correct the Majority Leader.

My predecessor was Senator Wallace S. Gourley, who is now the Chief Judge of the Federal Courts in the Pittsburgh District.

The PRESIDENT. It seems to me that I reversed the procedure and came from a judgeship to the august Halls of the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Also, Mr. President, William Troutman, now Judge Troutman of Sunbury, is a former Senator.

The PRESIDENT. Does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, stand corrected?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, as a Senator from Philadelphia and the Majority Leader, I merely wish to state that you can readily see that my job is not going to be an easy one during this Session.

The PRESIDENT. We are very happy to have former Senator Bane with us today as Judge Bane.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I would merely like to remind the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Weiner, that the Honorable John F. Lord, of the Federal Courts, was also a Member of this Senate.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia is really being reminded, Senator Berger.

Clerk

The PRESIDENT. Senator-elect Stroup will now please stand in front of the rostrum so that the oath of office may be administered. A Bible has been placed there for your use.

(Senator-elect Stanley G. Stroup approached the rostrum.)

The PRESIDENT. We are privileged to have with us today the Honorable R. Dixon Herman, Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County. I now present Judge Herman, who will administer the oath.

(The oath of office was administered.)

The PRESIDENT. The Chair wishes to extend the sincere thanks of the Senate to Judge Herman for taking time out from his busy schedule to come to the Capitol today and render this special service.

The Chair would also like to congratulate Senator Stroup and welcome him to the Senate of Pennsylvania.

The Chair directs the Chief Clerk to have the proceedings of this meeting entered in the Legislative Journal when the Senate shall next convene in Session.

The purpose for which this meeting was called having been accomplished, the Chair declares the meeting now adjourned.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Thursday, January 5, 1961 at 8:00 p.m.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 2:43 p. m.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, January 3, 1961

At 11:30 a.m., the Honorable David M. Boies, a Member from Allegheny County, accompanied by the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Norman Wood, made the following announcement in the Hall of the House.

In accordance with the provisions of Article II, Section 4 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, the Members-elect of this 145th regular session of the House of Representatives will meet this day at twelve o'clock noon in the Hall of the House for the purpose of organization.

The hour of twelve o'clock having arrived, Honorable Joseph Ominsky, Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives, called the Members-elect to order and announced that:

This being the day and the hour fixed by Article II, Section 4 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania for the meeting of the General Assembly, the Members-elect of the House of Representatives will come to order.

The CHIEF CLERK. At the conclusion of the prayer the Members-elect will remain standing in silence until the sound of the gavel as a mark of respect to the memory of our Members who have died during the past year, Honorable Robert Wheeler, Member from Fayette County who died June 13, 1960; Honorable Samuel Mahan, County of Butler, died June 15, 1960; Honorable Charles F. Luigard, County of Berks, a Member-elect, died December 30, 1960.

PRAYER

Prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Reverend David R. Hoover, Pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, McConnellsburg, Fulton County, Pennsylvania, as follows:

Almighty and Everlasting Father, Thou who best ordained government, and Thou who dost continually guide and direct those whom Thou hast called into this service, we look to Thee at the beginning of this new Session with confidence and assurance; grant to the Members of this House of Representatives the awareness of Thy presence, make them conscious of Thy accessibility and bestow upon them the richness of Thy grace.

We sadly regret the passing of Representative Charles Luigard who served this House capably and was to have been present at this Session.

In the troubled times which face this world of ours, we humbly pray that Thou wilt look with faver upon those who guide the destinies of this great Commonwealth; and by the exercise of Thy power in their lives, enable them to make real and lasting contributions for the welfare of all men everywhere: through Jesus Christ, Thy dear Son, Our Lord, who liveth and reigneth with Thee and the Holy Ghost, ever One God, world without end. Amen.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor, Honorable Otis B. Morse, being introduced, presented communications in writing from the Governor which were laid upon the table.

PRESENTATION OF ELECTION RETURNS

The Secretary of the Commonwealth, Mr. John A. Rice, being introduced presented to the House of Representatives the returns of the election of November 8, 1960 for Members of the House of Representatives of the General Assembly.

RESOLUTION

ELECTION RETURNS OPENED

Mr. RUDISILL, a Member-elect, offered a resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, Tuesday, January 3, 1961.

Resolved, That the returns for the election of Members of the House of Representatives held Tuesday, November 8, 1960, be now opened and read.

MEMBERS ABSENT—3

Brenninger,	Buchanan,	Williams, A. D.,

The CHIEF CLERK. Two hundred and six Members having answered to their names, a quorum is present.

RESOLUTION

OATH OF OFFICE

Mr. Sakulsky, a member-elect offered a resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives,
Tuesday, January 3, 1961.

Resolved, That the Honorable David H. Weiss, a Judge learned in the law of the Court of Common Pleas of Westmoreland County, be requested to administer the oath of office required by Article VII of the Constitution, to be taken by the Members of the House of Representatives.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO ESCORT HONORABLE DAVID H. WEISS TO ROSTRUM

The CHIEF CLERK. The Chair appoints the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Maxwell, and the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Donaldson, to escort his Honor Judge David H. Weiss to the rostrum.

The Committee will proceed with the performance of its duty.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, I have the honor to present Honorable David H. Weiss, Judge of Westmoreland County.

The Committee is discharged with the thanks of the House.

OATH ADMINISTERED TO MEMBERS-ELECT

The CHIEF CLERK. A Bible will be found in the desk of each Member-elect for those who swear by the Bible.

The Members-elect will rise, raise their right hands and remain standing at their desks during the administration of the oath of office to which they will swear or affirm. We will ask the visitors also to rise after the gavel has sounded.

The oath of office will be administered to two hundred and six Members-elect by Honorable David H. Weiss as follows:

Do you solemnly swear, or affirm, that you will support, obey and defend the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of this Commonwealth, and that you will discharge the duties of your office with fidelity; that you have not paid or contributed, or promised to pay or contribute, either directly or indirectly, any money or other valuable thing to procure your election, except for necessary and proper expenses expressly authorized by law; that you have not knowingly violated any election law of this Commonwealth, or procured it to be done by others in your behalf; that you will not knowingly receive, directly or indirectly, any money or other valuable thing for the performance or non-performance of any act or duty pertaining to your office, other than the compensation allowed by law?

The CHIEF CLERK. I have the honor to present to the Members of this House a former distinguished Member of this House and one with whom I had the honor and pleasure to serve as a Member. He just administered the oath to you, the Honorable David H. Weiss, who will have a few remarks to make.

HONORABLE DAVID H. WEISS. Reverend Hoover, Officers of the House, Members of the House: It is with a very deep sense of humility that I have accepted the honor that you as Members of the House have bestowed on me in selecting me to administer the oath of office to you on this very auspicious occasion.

This brings back many nostalgic feelings about the many things that occurred when I was a Member of this Assembly. We cannot help but turn the clock back a few years and recall many happy occurrences with the Members of this august body from the years 1937 to 1951.

It was as a Member of the House that I met my wife. It was during one of the recesses that we were married. It was as a Member of this House that our children were born. It was as a Member of this House that I had the opportunity to make an everlasting friendship with so many fine colleagues.

If I had to do it all over again, high up in the agenda would be the opportunity to again serve as a legislator in this august body. I pray that all of you may have an interesting and successful Session. Godspeed be with you!

Today is an occasion that will remain with me eternally and I will cherish every moment of it. From the bottom of my heart I thank you, each and everyone.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

The CHIEF CLERK. Are their any requests for leave of absence?

(No leaves of absence were requested)

RESOLUTION

ELECTION OF SPEAKER

Mr. TAYLOR offered a resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives,
Tuesday, January 3, 1961.

Resolved, That in accordance with the provisions of Article 2, Section 9 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, the House do now proceed to the election of a Speaker, and that the Clerks act as Tellers.

NOMINATION FOR SPEAKER

The CHIEF CLERK. The House will now proceed to the election of a Speaker. Nominations are in order.

The chair recognizes the gentleman from Greene, Mr. Mr. McCann.

Mr. McCann. Mr. Chief Clerk, today in this Session of the General Assembly, I have the distinct honor and pleasure to bring into nomination the first name of this great body of the House of Representatives, a man from Cambria County, who for well over half a century has been a part of the Hall of the House of Representatives, both as a newspaper reporter and editor, a Member, and twice Speaker.

Today we place his name in nomination and for the first time in the history of the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the name's to be placed for the third time as the Speaker of this great House.

Words would by far be inadequate to describe the things and the work that this man has done. In behalf of the Members of the House and his colleagues therefore, I place in nomination the name of Hiram G. Andrews of Cambria County for Speaker of the House of Representatives.

The CHIEF CLERK. The gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, places in nomination for the Office of Speaker of this House, the gentleman from Cambria, the Honorable Hiram G. Andrews.

The chair recognizes the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Helm.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Chief Clerk, ladies and gentlemen of the House, it is with a great deal of personal pleasure that I rise to second the nomination of my very good friend, and my very close neighbor from Cambria County, the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews.

As has been pointed out, I believe, there is probably no Member of the House who through the years has done so much for the Members of the House as the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews. I am sure no one in this Commonwealth can say that they have done more, not only to raise the dignity of being Members of this House, but the dignity of the House itself in the housing we enjoy, the salaries we receive, and the fine attention that we get as Members of this House.

Therefore, with a great deal of personal pleasure, I second the nomination of the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, and at this time move that the nominations for Speaker be closed.

The CHIEF CLERK. The gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Helm, seconds the nomination of Hiram G. Andrews, and moves that the nominations be now closed.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was unanimously agreed to.

The CHIEF CLERK. There being no other nominations, the Honorable Hiram G. Andrews is unanimously declared elected Speaker of this House.

The Chair requests the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Helm, a former Speaker of this House, to now take the Chair and preside.

Ladies and gentlemen of this Assembly, I have the honor of presenting the Honorable W. Stuart Helm, a former Speaker of this House who will now preside, Mr. Helm.

Mr. HELM IN THE CHAIR

COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO ESCORT SPEAKER-ELECT TO ROSTRUM

Mr. HELM. The Chair appoints the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, the gentleman from Allegheny. Mr. Agnew, to escort the Speaker-elect, Mr. Andrews, to the rostrum.

The committee will proceed in the performance of its duties.

OATH OF OFFICE ADMINISTERED TO SPEAKER-ELECT

The oath of office was administered to the Honorable Hiram G. Andrews, Speaker-elect of the House of Representatives by the Honorable David H. Weiss.

Mr. HELM. It is my pleasure to present to the Speaker of this House his gavel, and Mr. Speaker, I present you to the House of Representatives.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR.

The SPEAKER. It is a distinct privilege to receive the emblem of parliamentary decorum from the hands of one who has, in former Sessions, wielded it with such marked distinction.

I was a Member of this House when the gentleman from Armstrong was serving as Speaker. I observed his decisions with a critical eye and none of them was ever even remotely subject to appeal. The gentleman from Armstrong and I have worked together in promoting many projects of interest to the Members of this House. He is a valued friend and I thank him for his many evidences of endearing friendship.

To the Members of this House I can only say at this time that the best way to express my appreciation of the consideration accorded me is through faithful, diligent service which has as its objective the maintenance of House decorum—a matter concerning which the public judges us.

We rise in dignity as we rise in our observance of House decorum—the maintenance of legislative dignity, and the promotion of projects designed to minister to the effectiveness and the convenience of this body, the primary objectives of any Speaker and one of my primary objectives.

All of the Members of this House will recognize the many changes in matters of procedure and convenience that have already been made over the years. We older Members also know that many changes designed for the efficiency and convenience of the membership in general, and its Committees in particular, are, as yet, in the making.

After all these many, many years of functioning as one of the Houses of the General Assembly, we are still, in many respects, miserably housed. We must do something about that in the days to come. In view of what has been done, I would indeed be ungrateful and unmindful of the realities if I did not call your attention to the services rendered by the Members of the Special Select Planning Committee, by your Chief Clerk, and by our Parliamentarian. The unsightlyness of high stacks of bills upon the desks of the Members is gone forever. That is a consummation, I think, to be devoutly proud of. Thank the Chief Clerk and the Parliamentarian for that.

The pink bills that were always a nuisance are no longer with us. Thank the Chief Clerk and the Parliamentarian for that.

The Members of the Special Select House Planning Committee in their learned experience furnished these advances. I want them to live in your memory, and it is, of course, our design to perpetuate that Committee. The Members of that Committee were: the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen; the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Lopresti; the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Mihm; the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Helm; the gentleman from Northumberland, Mr. Bower, and the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Lippincott.

The consultant Members were: the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, the Majority Leader; the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, then the Minority Leader, and the Speaker.

This Committee planned all the changes that have been made in the Hall of the House, including, of course, the installation of the electric roll call and the improvements made to the public address system and other added conveniences.

Planning, of course, is one thing, but the execution of the plan is something else. It was the Chief Clerk who supervised the execution of the plan, and I say in all sincerity, without whose services in executing the plan, the plan would have fallen flat on its face.

Moreover, the Chief Clerk and the Parliamentarian came through with a lot of ideas, good ideas, designed to further the convenience of the Members. Ideas that, incidentally, I imagine never occurred to the Members of the Planning Committee.

In any event, the Members of the Planning Committee, the Chief Clerk, and the Parliamentarian have rendered an outstanding service, a service that marks an end to an era and the beginning of a new deal as far as this House is concerned, because the best is yet to come.

The House needs more space for its Committees. The conditions under which our Committees have been compelled to work are deplorable, deplorable as compared with the service facilities that are provided for House Committees in other states. We cannot do what should be done to secure decent working facilities for House Committees right away, but we can make our plans for what we need. A two-year plan, a four-year plan, a six-eight- and even a ten-year plan. I am serious when I refer to long-range planning. If the present Members of the House will stick around long enough, they will see the day when the General Assembly, through its various activities, will utilize practically all the space in the main Capitol Building.

That is in the making. The Museum Building will be remodeled. They say there is already $2 million available for that purpose. When the building is remodeled, the Governor'e Office will go over there. I imagine the Attorney General's Office will go over there. I imagine the Budget Office will go over there, and I hope it will be soon. It cannot be right away because we cannot remodel the museum building untl the new museum building is erected. The decision has been made and $9 million appropriated, allocated by the General State Authority.

It is our hope that the Special Select House Planning Committee will be continued. What we have lacked in the past has been continuity in planning. We have had our little spasms and the plans have lasted for one Session, or for a few months, and then the planning is shelved and we have gone along in the same old rut, putting up with inconveniences that are not compatible with the dignity of this Body. The continuation of the Specal Select House Committee will give us the continuity essential to the completion of our long-range program.

As Legislators, we all realize the fact that there is much to be done. The people who elect us have a right to expect diligence in the doing. We have the electric roll call. It may develop its bugs, but they will be remedied. We have an expert who will be with us constantly if anything arises in connecton with it.

The chair knows one thing the electric roll call cannot do that a desk can do. The electric roll call cannot record votes that are not cast. It has been possible sometimes in the past. I have not seen it recently. It has been years and years, back in the days of the wicked Republicans, when it recorded Republican votes that disappeared from poor Democrats who were absent for some reason or other. Democrats were absent and they marked him up as voting for the bill. So, of course, that was years and years and years ago and nothing like that can happen now. The electric roll call this year calls the roll and if there is any delay I imagine the Speaker will be very lenient. But, if we are going to use the electric roll call as a means of encouraging absenteeism on the part of the Members, then I would sooner we would turn it down and get back to the other. There will be no reason for unreasonable delay in the affairs of this Session. We will have the executive budget at a very early date, we will have the Administration's legislative program at a very early date. Now it is my considered opinion that if we work at our job in proper fashion, there is no reason why we should not finish the pending Session before June becomes a thing of the past. That is a consummation devoutly to be wished.

If we bicker, if we play for place, if we are partisan purely for the sake of partisanship, we could be here once again until the snow flies. The people, I imagine, will judge us by our diligence in the performance of the duties for whch we were elected. The public will expect better things at our legislative hands. This legislative Session could develop a situation which would make it impossible from day to day to determine which Floor Leader is actually in command of the situation as far as Members are concerned.

Absenteeism can create many problems which only reason can solve. We cannot expect Members, whether of the Majority or the Minority, to drop their conviction. You must stand by your convictions ladies and gentlemen. But we can expect, and the people will expect, that the Party of what may frequently be a theoretical minority will base its opposition to the Administraton's plan on the basis that it has a better plan. There should be a legislative endeavor, there should be harmony based upon sound reason. But since there is so much to do, perhaps the thing to do is to get about doing it.

I thank you for your attention.

A speaker having been elected and the Members sworn, the Chair instructs the Sergeant-at-Arms to procure the Mace and place it upon the rostrum.

This Mace is the emblem of our dignity and of our State's sovereignty.

THANKS TO THE CHIEF CLERK

The SPEAKER. The Chair extends the thanks of the House to the Chief Clerk for the efficient manner in which he has conducted the organization proceedings. Incidentally if I had a driving ambition to remain as Speaker, I would not want him to be Speaker very often. He did too well, entirely to well. He made even as good a Speaker as he made Chief Clerk. I say in my memory I have never known a better Chief Clerk who has been more diligent to the service of the Members of this House. Some day there are certain employes of this House who will become career men and women. May I pass that over as a suggestion to the so-called Minority Party to bear in mind.

RESOLUTION

ELECTION OF CHIEF CLERK

Mr. HAMILTON offered a resolution which was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives
Tuesday, January 3, 1961.

Resolved, That the House do now proceed to the election of a Chief Clerk of the House, and that the Clerks act as Tellers.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I have had assigned to me today the very pleasant function of offering in nomination as a candidate for the office of Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives, the name of Mr. Joseph Ominsky.

After your glowing tribute to Mr. Ominsky in your remarks I trust that what I have to say will not pale in comparison.

The post of Chief Clerk is unquestionable among the most important of all of the offices in the Legislative branch of our state government. It is, in fact, the nerve center of the operation of this great legislative body and is indispensably vital to the orderly, efficient and proper conduct of the business of the House. It is a position of great responsibility that demands at once, and at the same time, dedicated, devoted and arduous toil, as well as scholarship, executive ability, keen judgment, decisiveness, quick comprehension, condiality and, at times, forbearance and compassion.

As a matter of fact, in my opinion, the title of Chief Clerk is a misnomer and does not carry a connotation that is in keeping with the stature and dignity of that office. It would be well for this House to undertake at some near date whatever action is appropriate to retitle this position.

It is because of the importance of this post that I am so delighted to have the opportunity to offer the name of Mr. Ominsky in nomination for election to same, since in my opinion he fills, in every regard, the exacting and demanding requirements dictated by the responsibilities and burdens of this office.

There reposes within Mr. Ominsky, that required and desired combination of basic sound judgment and scholarship and deep personal dedication. We have but to look around this Chamber today and we can quickly observe the physical evidence of his abiding interest and concern, not only in the welfare and convenience of the House members and the efficient, orderly operation of the business of the House, but as well with the elevation of the dignity of this deliberative body.

May I as you did, point out, Mr. Speaker, the lecterns at each microphone, the redesigning of the Speaker's rostrum to a larger and more comfortable working area, the handsome lounge for the Members in the lobby of the House Chamber, the glossy brightness of this Hall, and, of course, the installation of the new electric roll call system, which received so much of Mr. Ominsky's personal attention.

To those of us who had the honor of membership in this legislature last session when Mr. Ominsky served as Chief Clerk, we know well of his talents and his abilities. To the neophytes among us, I say you will learn in due course of his affable, cooperative, understanding, and erudite manner.

He held the office of coroner in the city of Philadelphia. He is an engineer and a distinguished attorney. I have heard it said that these particular offices do indeed qualify him for the office of Chief Clerk because by reason of the fact that he was a former Coroner in the City of Phila., he has the ability to assist in the burying of legislation that should be buried. As an engineer, he can help steer to a successful conclusion legislation that should see the light of day and as an attorney he has the ability to distinguish between the two.

It is with a strong sense of pride, Mr. Speaker, that I offer in nomination for the post of Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives, the name of Mr. Joseph Ominsky.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia places in nomination the name of Mr. Joseph Ominsky of Philadelphia, candidate for Chief Clerk.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, when the program was laid out for today, Mr. Fineman and I were charged with the pleasant responsibility of making fine comments about our Chief Clerk, not the Speaker. I think you upstaged us Hi.

As Mr. Fineman, the gentleman from Philadelphia said, it was with pride that he nominated Mr. Ominsky for reelection to the position of Chief Clerk. It is with real pleasure that I can second this nomination. When I was asked if I would represent the minority in making this second, I stated that I could do so and any remarks I made I could make with complete sincerity.

I know from personal experience the prompt, courteous, and efficient service that the Chief Clerk's office has rendered to all Members, whether in the Majority or Minority during the last two years. All requests, to my knowledge have been met with fairness and with promptness and with absolute impartiality between Members of the Majority and Members of the Minority. I think this is the way the Chief Clerk's office should be operated and I think Mr. Ominsky has shown how it should be done.

As Minority Members, about the nicest thing we can say about Mr. Ominsky's services as Chief Clerk is, that at this moment we have no suggestions to improve the efficient operation of that office and if that office is operated during the next two years as well as it has been during the last two years, the Members of the Minority will be very pleased with the Chief Clerk's office.

For that reason and because of my personal association and great liking for Mr. Ominsky, it is my honor to second his nomination, representing the Minority and to move that the nominations be closed.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. Joseph Ominsky has been unanimously re-elected Chief Clerk of this House.

NOTIFICATION SENATE IS ORGANIZED

The SERGEANT-AT-ARMS. Mr. Speaker, the Committee on the part of the Senate.

Mr. YATRON. Mr. Speaker, we have been appointed as a Committee on the part of the Senate to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate is now organized and ready to proceed with the business of the Session.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the committee on the part of the Senate.

RESOLUTION

ELECTION OF SECRETARY

Mr. KORNICK offered a resolution which was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives,
Tuesday, January 3, 1961.

Resolved, That the House do now proceed to the election of a Secretary of the House, and that the Clerks act as Tellers.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, for the position of Secretary of the House, I desire to nominate a man who is well known to all the Members of this House. He is a man whose ability, his integrity, his honesty and his friendship is unquestioned. I think he has proved himself in the time that he has served here as a Member of this House to be a fine, competent gentleman.

I am not going to take up a lot of time going over his many fine qualifications now, for it would take a long time to do so. I want to say this: he is competent; he has served this House well. I know of no man who is better fitted by training and experience as an attorney, as a Member of this House, and as Caucus Chairman of the Majority Party than Phil Lopresti of Cambria County.

I, therefore, place in nomination the name of Philip Lopresti of Cambria County for Secretary of the House of Representatives.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, it is a great pleasure for me to stand here today and second the nomination of Phil Lopresti.

Before I do that, as an elder statesman now of this House, I feel that I should welcome the visitors here today. Nobody has done that.

We want to say to the visitors, you are here in the Hall of one of the finest Houses of Representatives in this Nation, where we make the laws for the people of Pennsylvania and we want to welcome you here. As Charlie Weaver says, "You are our people." You are welcome here.

I also want to say to the new Members that are here, you should be welcomed to the Hall of this House. What a tremendous achievement it is for me that we have been elected to this, the House of Representatives of Pennsylvania. You can serve your constituents well. You can be an honor to your communities and to the state and you are afforded a great privilege by being here today.

We have had a wonderful working House. Wasn't it nice what they said about Mr. Ominsky. I want to join in that tribute to Joe Ominsky. He has done an outstanding job. Now he needs a good secretary to carry out the other duties of the House which fall upon the Secretary of the House. Dean Polen has pretty well set forth the quality of this gentleman.

In any legislative body we find a fellow who has balance, who has good sound judgment, that people listen to when he gets up to make a speech. Such a person is Phil Lopresti. When he was a Member of this House he was just that kind of person. He had our rapt attention. He has solved the problems of his party well, and is a credit to the Democratic Party and to this House. He is returning to us as Secretary of the House, and it is my great pleasure and privilege to second his nomination.

I move that nominations for the office of Secretary of the House of Representatives be closed.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to,

The Speaker, Philip Lopresti has been unanimously elected Secretary of the House.

COMMITTEE TO ESCORT CHIEF CLERK AND SECRETARY

The SPEAKER. The Chair appoints the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman, and the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, to escort the Chief Clerk of the House and the Secretary of the House to the well of the House where the oath of office will be administered to them.

OATH OF OFFICE ADMINISTERED TO THE CHIEF CLERK AND SECRETARY

The Oath of Office was then administered to Joseph Ominsky, Chief Clerk-elect, and Philip Lopresti, Secretary-elect of the House by Honorable David H. Weiss.

REMARKS BY CHIEF CLERK

The SPEAKER. Perhaps our Chief Clerk has a word of greeting for the Members of this House and perhaps the Secretary has also a word.

The Chair recognizes the Chief Clerk.

The CHIEF CLERK. (Joseph Ominsky). Mr. Speaker, first I wish to thank the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman, for placing my name in nomination before the House for the position of Chief Clerk, and for the gracious manner in which he did it. He is a good friend, neighbor and representative from my district where I and my family reside. Perhaps it belies the adage that a prophet is without honor in his own community. My gratitude also goes out to the Members of the Philadelphia delegation, and its Chairman, Mr. Dougherty, the Majority Whip.

Secondly, I want to express my appreciation to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Agnew, the Minority Leader, for seconding my nomination and making it a unanimous choice of the membership of this House.

But most of all, Mr. Speaker, I desire to extend my grateful thanks to all the Members for their vote of confidence given me for the services which I humbly and sincerely rendered during the past two years by reelecting me as Chief Clerk, and for the opportunity they give me now to further render such services.

If I have attained any measure of success in the operation and functioning of the Chief Clerk's office, it was because the Members of this House were understanding and cooperated fully. Especially am I thankful to you, Mr. Speaker, and to the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, the Majority Leader, as well as to all the officers of the House, and members of my staff, and more particularly the Secretary of the House, Mr. Moomaw, who as you know, will carry the experience and enlightened administration to the other Chamber of this General Assembly.

Then, too, Mr. Speaker, my task was made much lighter because of the understanding and loyalty of my lovely wife and of my family from whom, of necessity, I had to be away a good part of the time during the past two years.

In closing may I state that I shall continue to serve all the Members, and this great Commonwealth diligently and impartially to the best of my God-given abilities.

To the new Members may I extend the helping hand of my staff and myself to make their term of office a most successful one.

God bless you all!

The SECRETARY (Philip Lopresti). Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, I too wish to thank the gentleman from Washington and the gentleman from McKean for my nomination and seconding, and most particularly the Members.

I want to state that I am grateful for the opportunity of remaining with you. It will be a joy to see you each day when you come into Session. I hope that you will visit and call my office as often as you can. I am most grateful for the opportunity of continuing the friendships that we have enjoyed over these last few years.

I only trust that I will be able to fulfill the duties of the office and that my staff and I will be able to efficiently and courteously concur with each and every demand that you make upon us. I want to assure you of one thing, that we will always be available and ready when you call.

Thank you very much.

The SPEAKER. The Chief Clerk recalls the fact that one of our Officers has gone to serve in another place. Now, I do not want you to become offended—this is purely confidential what I am saying, do not tell anybody, it is just between us. In a public address not so very long ago, his Excellency, the Governor, refured to Members of the House who had graduated into the Senate. We do not graduate them, we send them there as missionaries.

APPOINTMENT OF PARLIAMENTARIAN

The SPEAKER. In compliance with the Act of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania approved the 28th day of May, 1931, as amended, the Speaker has appointed S. Edward Moore, Cumberland County, Parliamentarian of the House of Representatives.

The PARLIAMENTARIAN (S. Edward Moore). Mr. Speaker, one rule is that a Parliamentarian will never vote and never make a speech. I am very grateful for the privilege of again serving in this delightful body.

RESOLUTION

THANKING JUDGE

Mr. MAXWELL offered a resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives,
Tuesday, January 3, 1961.

Resolved, That the Members of the House of Representatives do hereby extend their thanks to the Honorable David H. Weiss for his services in administering the oath of office to its Members and Officers.

REMARKS BY MR. JIM

Mr. JIM. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, this is one of my greatest days as a legislator in the General Assembly.

We are honored with the presence of the Honorable David H. Weiss, Judge of Westmoreland County, who administered the oath of office to the members of this House of Representatives.

Judge Weiss is a former member of the House, having served seven terms from 1937 to 1950, representing the Third District of Wsetmoreland County.

We are delighted also to have with us today, Mrs. Ruth Schick, President of the First District Democratic Guild, and a delegation of 41 women from her fine organization.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF DEMOCRATIC FLOOR LEADERS

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, as Chairman of the Democratic Caucus, I have been instructed to make an announcement for the information to the Members of the House and for the record, and to announce that the gentleman from Greene, Mr. Stephen McCann, has been elected by the Democratic Caucus as the Majority Leader of the House, and that the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. James J. Dougherty has been elected Majority Whip of the House.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF REPUBLICAN FLOOR LEADERS

Mr. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, as Chairman of the Republican Caucus, I have been instructed to announce for the information of the House and for the record that the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Willard Agnew Jr. has been elected by the Republican Caucus as Minority Leader of the House, and the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Edwin W. Tompkins as Minority Whip of the House.

STATEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. May the Chair say just a brief word? The Chair wonders if the Members of this House realize the expense and the worries that they impose upon their Floor Leaders, particularly in a hectic Sessions day.

They do not work eight hours a day, they work 16 hours a day. The Chair ought to know when I hear all of the gripes and all of the grumbles of all of the Members go across the desk. It has been my opportunity to observe Floor Leaders. The Chair was Minority Floor Leader in this House for five Sessions, the Chair knows.

It is never adequately recognized in matters of remuneration like the reward these men are entitled to. Somebody ought to do something about it.

The Chair wants to tell you another thing, he has worked a long time with Floor Leaders, and here is something that the Chair values more than anything else in the world so far as this House is concerned. No Floor Leader, Republican or Democrat ever told me a lie. We cannot always have insight into Party doings, and we do not expect that. But no Republican thought of it, all the time the Chair was Minority Floor Leader, and no one, since the Chair has been Speaker, has ever told him a lie. Their word was good, an ally of honor, and the Chair hopes we all appreciate that and do all we can in Committees and other ways to ease the burden.

The Chair is glad to serve, the Majority Floor Leader is glad to serve, and the Minority Floor Leader, and the Chair knows that they will continue to carry on the traditions which the Floor Leaders of this House have established. The Chair had a very happy relationship with the gentleman from McKean. The Chair did not always agree with him, he did not always agree with me, but we never deceived each other. Those are happy memories to carry away from this House today.

RESOLUTION

COMMITTEE TO NOTIFY SENATE

Mr. BRETH offered a resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ESCORTING SENATE

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, your Committee appointed to wait upon the Senate and escort them to the Hall of the House for the Joint Session has performed that duty and the Senate is in attendance.

The SPEAKER. The Chair extends the thanks of the House to the Committee and the Committee is discharged.

The Lieutenant Governor, the Honorable John Morgan Davis, is invited to preside over the Joint Session of the General Assembly.

The President pro tempore of the Senate, the Honorable Anthony J. DiSilvestro, is invited to be seated on the rostrum.

The Members of the Senate will please be seated.

The Chair has the honor of presenting the Lieutenant Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, John Morgan Davis, who will preside over the deliberations of the Joint Session.

JOINT SESSION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR JOHN MORGAN DAVIS PRESIDING

COMMITTEE ESCORTING THE GOVERNOR

The SERGEANT-AT-ARMS. Mr. President, the Committee appointed to escort the Governor to the Hall of the House.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I have the honor to present His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the Honorable David L. Lawrence.

The LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR. Members of the General Assembly, the Honorable David L. Lawrence, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

ADDRESS OF GOVERNOR DAVID L. LAWRENCE

GOVERNOR LAWRENCE. Mr. Lieutenant Governor, Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen of the General Assembly:

It is good to see so many of you—so many old friends and so many old opponents, who are likewise my old friends—returned to these legislative chambers.

I would not be frank if I did not tell you that it is also good to see some new faces, especially when those new members add to the strength of the party in power in the Executive Branch.

And I know you will sympathize with me when I say that we could use another Democrat or two in the Upper House. It would make us all breathe more easily.

But, as I have said before, it is the people who select their instruments of government.

You and I—210 members of the House, the 50 members of the Senate, the Lieutenant Governor, the Governor of the Commonwealth—we are those instruments; we are the legislative process embodied in 262 human beings, no more and no less fallible than the 11,000,000 people whom we represent and serve.

We have a common responsibility to do our best.

As we meet today, it is plain that only our very best will do.

For this Session will not be—it cannot be—anything like the legislative travesty which died, unmourned, on November 14th last. This must be a working Session, a Session which will move with all deliberate speed to adopt an operating Budget, to adopt a Highways Budget, to enact a capital program, to consider and enact legislation in a wide range of vital matters, to propose desirable constitutional Amendments, and to reapportion the Congressional and Legislative Districts in the State.

We will be working with the clock running, and there can be very few time outs.

I must remind you that for the first time in our modern history, we must make our appropriations and levy our taxes on an annual basis. The more leisurely days of the Biennial Budget are gone; we cannot let months and months go by in indecision or in bickering. It will do no good—indeed, it will do much harm—to stall, or to wait for something to turn up, or to provide the paralysis of deadlock.

I will submit the budget for the General Fund and the budget for the special funds, including the Motor License Fund, on January 16th, which is thirteen days away. You will, I am sure, give these basic documents of government your prompt consideration, and adopt them—with such modifications as your own judgment may direct—well in advance of the next fiscal year, which begins on June 1st.

We will submit to the Legislature, in February, a capital budget substantial in size, but by no means disproportionate to the necessities of our life together. It will emphasize the needs of higher education, of such welfare services as mental health; and of resources development, including the reservation of land now for our future parks and reservoirs.

This session of the Legislature may expect to receive also the report of the Governor's Committee on Education. The Lieutenant Governor, who ably presides over the Committee, informs me that its report will, hopefully, be rendered to us in March.

In the executive departments, we are now preparing the bills which will be the principal Administration measures to be placed before you at this session. Our time table calls for their submission by the second week of February.

These proposals will apply in many critical areas of public action. Within the State's own operations, we will ask for statutory Civil Service protection for technical and professional employes—the career personnel whom we must attract, train, and continue in the State's service. We will press for effective legislation dealing with the registration of lobbyists and with conflicts of interest.

In the field of welfare legislation, we will submit a program to deal with and prevent juvenile delinquency. As we all know, medical care for the aging is a matter of great concern and sharp dispute. In this case, we will not propose legislation until we have a clear signal from the Federal Government. I have joined the majority of the Nation's governors, including Governor Rockefeller in our adjoining State of New York, in not acting to implement the present Federal program. It would be my hope that Congress will speedily enact a sounder and more effective program, based upon social security, as advocated by the President-elect. But before we are through with our work here, we will know what we must do to bring the benefits of a medical care program to our older people.

In the field of human relations, we will again ask for legislation to prevent discrimination in housing. To such fair housing legislation, our program will add a desirable broadening of our Fair Employment Practices Law and will eliminate the final vestiges of discrimination in education.

We will ask for an increase in the State minimum wage level, now as low as 39 cents an hour, and ask for stronger legislation to control abuses of migratory labor.

Once more, we will ask the Legislature to provide us with as strong a highway safety program as we may reasonably impose. And once more, we will ask for effective control of the billboards which deface all too many of our highways.

We will suggest a program of State aid to extend public library services throughout the Commonwealth.

We will propose that the State take positive action to protect the consumer.

We will seek to improve the administration of justice by the appointment of court administrators.

We will ask you to help us further protect our countryside against the ravages of strip mining.

We will recommend a more effective public program to develop our tourist and resort industries, with State cooperation and assistance to local community agencies.

In agriculture, we will suggest more vigorous action—public and private—to promote the sale of Pennsylvania's farm products.

Now, none of these things bears a label of "must" legislation, in the sense that it is "must" for me as Governor or "must" for the Democratic Party. But I believe it can be fairly argued that each of these legislative proposals will be good for the people of this State. Each of them will contribute to a better life among us. Each of them derives its necessity, each finds its purpose, each may properly be labelled "must" in the needs of the great majority of Pennsylvania voters, regardless of their party.

I hope that they will be so considered in this Legislature.

In addition to this program of bills to be submitted for your action, there are a variety of other legislative matters to which I earnestly direct your attention and support.

It has become increasingly apparent that the traditional responsibilities of the Department of Forests and Waters are being broadened by the emphasis we now must give to State parks and outdoor recreation. I will propose a reorganization plan which will change the name of the Department to the Department of Conservation and Recreation, and group within it various State agencies concerned in these fields. The Game and Fish Commissions would, of course, continue the separate existence justified by the hunting and fishing license fees which support them.

In this field of conservation, one of our most important efforts must be in water resources.

And one of our most important water resources is the Delaware River and its tributaries. I expect that in this Session I will have the opportunity of recommending to you an Interstate-Federal Compact for the Development of the Delaware, in which we would join with our sister states of The Valley and the National Government. I also hope to report to you the beginning of similar planning and development for the Susquehanna Valley, and the valleys of the Allegheny, Monongahela and Upper Ohio.

In another field of conservation—the conservation of human resources—I will again urge you to join in an interstate compact in regard to mental health.

This Session will also have before it a proposed amendment to the Federal Constitution and several proposed amendments to our State Constitution which were approved in the first go-around in the 1959 Session. I hope that you approve the proposed Twenty-third Amendment to the National Constitution which will permit our fellow-citizens in the District of Columbia to vote for President and Vice President.

In our own State, I hope you will let the people vote on whether or not their Governor, their Auditor General, and State Treasurer may succeed themselves, if re-elected, for one term. I hasten to add that the Amendment does not apply to the present occupant of the Governor's Office.

To this point, I have talked principally about our own direct concerns—the responsibilities which we will share in this 1961 Session. Those responsibilities must be exercised against a background which must give us serious concern.

I cannot say to you that all is well with the State.

We are making measurable progress in every phase of the State's own operations. We are increasingly the good associate—the partner—of our communities and of our citizens, as they seek to improve our opportunities and raise our community and individual standard of living. I think we are a responsive and an alert State Government, working to achieve progress with our business interests, our labor organizations, our civic groups, and our local governments, without regard to political association.

But what we can do in State Government—the very best we can do—can only supplement the strength, or in some small way, compensate the weakness of the national economy.

We know that as of this day and this month, the national economy is not so operating as to make things bright and rosy for us in Pennsylvania. When steel is operating at less than forty-five per cent of capacity, when more than eight of every hundred men and women in the Pennsylvania labor force are unable to find work, we are in trouble.

We then learn that debates about our national rate of economic growth are not an idle numbers game, as some people have said, but a matter of a livelihood to hundreds of thousands of our people. We then realize that a national income that has flattened out is not a statistic—but a tangible witness to deepening unemployment. We then know that Pennsylvania, with its many areas of chronic labor surplus—the polite word for permanent unemployment—needs national, as well as State, solutions.

I earnestly hope—I am sure you share that hope—that the directions of our national policies will be guided with some understanding of our special needs, and our right in Pennsylvania to share again the Nation's goal of full employment for every person able and willing to work.

That hope is given confidence by the report of the President-elect's task force, headed by Senator Douglas, which was made public over the weekend. Pennsylvania, whose State Planning Board Chairman and Secretaries of Commerce, and Labor and Industry served on that task force, would be aided materially by implementation of the recommendations by executive and Congressional action. I have appointed a group of department heads from the State Government to work with Federal officials to help convert the recommendations into positive program.

It would be fatal, of course, to relax any effort of our own. We should be ready to do more; we should be ready to use every assistance we may get, every tool that is given us, every power that is within us to do more—much more.

It is said—we have all heard it—that the business of an opposition is to oppose. We expect that in our politics. It is normal and healthy—in normal, and healthy, and robust times.

I would suggest to you—to all of you on both sides of the aisle—that we need something more than that in Pennsylvania today. We need accommodation. We need common effort. We need acceptance of common goals and a common march to their achievement.

May I hope—may I ask—may I beseech you to make this 1961 session memorable in Pennsylvania because we had the moral courage to put aside extremes of partisonship, to put aside obstruction and reprisal, and do what's right for our State and its people.

The LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR. Thank you very much, Governor Lawrence. On behalf of the Members of the General Assembly I take this method of thanking you.

The Committee on the part of the Senate and the House will now escort His Excellency, the Governor, to his chambers.

The General Assembly will be at ease.

ELECTION RETURNS

The LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR. This being the day and the time agreed upon by a concurrent resolution of the Senate and House of Representatives, and in accordance with the provisions of the Constitution and the laws of this Commonwealth for the opening and computing of the official returns of the election of Auditor General and State Treasurer, held on Tuesday, November 8, 1960, in the several counties of the Commonwealth, the returns will now be opened and read.

The Teller on the part of the Senate is the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. McCreesh. The Teller on the part of the House is the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Boies. The Tellers will please come to the desk assigned to them and proceed in the performance of their duty.

The returns for Auditor General and State Treasurer were opened and read by the Clerk.

The LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR. The General Assembly will now proceed to the election of a Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. President, I have the pleasure and honor to place in nomination for Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau, Mr. Harry Hershey of Philadelphia County.

Mr. Hershey served as Assistant Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau, as Deputy Attorney General of the Department of Justice, as a legal analyst of the Joint State Government Commission, and today we nominate him, twenty-five years later, after his first entry into State service, in February 1935, as the nominee for the Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau.

Therefore, Mr. President, I nominate Mr. Harry Hershey of Philadelphia County, for Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau.

The LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR. The gentleman from Greene County, Mr. McCann, has placed in nomination for the office of Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau, Harry Hershey, Esquire.

SENATOR WEINER. I second the nomination.

The LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR. Thank you, Senator Weiner. Are there any further nominations?

The Chair declares the nominations closed.

Harry Hershey, Esquire, is declared the unanimously elected Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau.

The gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, and the Senator from Philadelphia, Senator Weiner, will please escort Mr. Hershey to the rostrum.

OATH OF OFFICE ADMINISTERED TO DIRECTOR OF LEGISLATIVE REFERENCE BUREAU

The Oath of Office was administered to Harry Hershey, Esquire, Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau-elect, by the Honorable John Morgan Davis.

The LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR. The Chair asks that the Members of the House and the visitors remain seated for just a moment while the Members of the Senate leave the Hall of the House.

The Members of the Senate will be reassembled immediately in the Senate Chamber.

While I have this microphone, I might say that I wish all Members of the House a very, very happy New Year.

Thank you for allowing me to conduct this Session.

The business for which this Joint Session has been assembled having been transacted, the Joint Session is now adjourned.

Mr. Speaker, may I return your gravel and thank you indeed for the use of it.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR

The SPEAKER. We thank the Lieutenant-Governor for presiding over the Joint Session.

PRINTING PROCEEDINGS OF JOINT SESSION

Mr. KAMYK. Mr. Speaker, I move that the proceedings of the Joint Session of the Senate and House of Representatives Tuesday, January 3, 1961 be printed in full in this day's Legislative Journal.

The motion was agreed to.

RESOLUTION

SELECT COMMITTEE ON LEGISLATION

Messrs. McCANN and AGNEW offered a resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives,
January 3, 1961.

Resolved, That a temporary "Select Committee on Legislation" shall be appointed by the Speaker, consisting of seven members of the Majority party, (one of whom shall be designated as Chairman by the Speaker), and three members of the Minority party.

All bills, when introduced in the House or presented to the House by the Senate for concurrence prior to the time the Standing Committees of the House are elected, shall be referred by the Speaker to the "Select Committee on Legislation" for its consideration.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED

The SPEAKER. The Chair appoints as a Select Committee on Legislation, Messrs. Polen, as Chairman, Boies, Hamilton, Dougherty, Mrs. Munley, Messrs. Musto, Stank, Helm, Hocker, and Tompkins.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. POLEN, McCANN and PETROSKY.

HOUSE BILL No. 1.

An Act amending the act of November 12, 1959 (Appropriation Act 38-A) entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive Legislative and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth interest on the public debt and for public schools for two years beginning June 1, 1959 and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May 31, 1959" changing certain amounts appropriated to the Department of Public Instruction and the Department of State and declaring the Legislature's intention to restore said changes.

Referred to the Select Committee on Legislation.

By Messrs. POLEN, McCANN and PETROSKY.

HOUSE BILL No. 2.

An Act amending the act of November 12, 1959 (Appropriation Act 38-A) entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive, Legislative and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth, interest on the public debt, and for public schools for two years beginning June 1, 1959 and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the ficial year ending May 31, 1959" as amended by providing for deficiencies in appropriations made by the act for the fiscial biennium ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred sixty-one, and making certain changes in an appropriation to the Department of Property and Supplies for certain printing and expenses and making an appropriation to the Department of State for the expenses of Electoral College.

Referred to the Select Committee on Legislation.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. POLEN asked and obtained permission for the Select Committee on Legislation to meet during the session of the House.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY MAJORITY LEADER

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to take this opportunity while the Commtitee is deliberating upon these bills to announce to the Membership of the House our full plans and schedule for tomorrow, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, next week and the following week.

This House will convene tomorrow, Wednesday, at 4:30. The time has been changed so that the Committee may attend the funeral of Mr. Luigard at Reading, Pennsylvania.

Thursday, at 12:01 a.m., the House will officially vote on the electric roll call the first time on House Bill No. 1 and House Bill No. 2.

At that point, following Wednesday's midnight Session, the Members may leave to go home.

This House will be in Session awaiting completion of these bills on Thursday, Friday and Friday midnight. Following the midnight Session in the Senate on Friday night the bills will be signed by the Speaker sometime after midnight and placed on the Governor's desk for signature in the wee hours of Saturday morning.

There is no Session planned for any of the Members following the midnight Session. Today, when this House adjourns until tomorrow, there will be a reception in the new House Caucus Room which is given by the Officers and the Old Members for the forty-two new members of the House who today took the oath of office.

The following week, the week of January 9, there will not be any Session, which is Farm Show Week. The Committee on Committees will report and complete their work for Monday, January 16, the next day that the House and Senate will be in Session.

On Monday, January 16, the Joint Session in which the Governor will present the first annual fiscal budget will be at 5 p.m., Eastern Standard Time. The House will be in Session Monday, the 16th, and Tuesday, January 17.

The following week, the week of Monday, January 23, the House will be in Session, Monday the 23rd, Tuesday, the 24th and Wednesday, the 25th of January.

All these dates have been cleared with the respective Hotel Managers of the city of Harrisburg so that each will have hotel space in the respective hotels.

Should for any reason anything unforeseen develop on House Bills Nos. 1 and 2, if for any reason an amendment or any other item should have to be placed in the bill, which at this time is not foreseen in any way, it would require, should such an amendment be required in the bills, that Friday after midnight, at 12:01 Saturday morning, a quorum must be present in the Hall of this House to ratify such an amendment if such an amendment is needed. It is not believed in any way an amendment is required. These bills have been checked and rechecked and double checked in an effort to foresee whether such an amendment should occur, but it would be mandatory on the part of the General Assembly that we place these two bills on the Governor's desk for signature into law for we run out of Public Assistance money at midnight, Monday, January 9, and from that point there would be no Public Assistance money for anyone in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Therefore, I hope that when we leave here following 12:01 Wednesday night that the Members will be excused and will not have to return until Monday, January 16, to the Halls of this House.

The Electric Roll Call Rule changes will be acted upon tomorrow in the Hall of this House. Those changes are in the possession of the Members, mimeographed by the Chief Clerk's office and have been provided for a short meeting which worked in adopting the change in House Rules so that the Electric Roll Call Rules could be in use for the Wednesday midnight Session.

I hope that we will have an opportunity, I believe the Republican Party has a caucus scheduled for a specific time, we on the Democratic side will hold a Democratic caucus on Wednesday following the Session, since a committee of 40 Members will be designed by the Speaker and will be at the funeral of Mr. Luigard tomorrow afternoon.

Therefore, when the House convenes Wednesday at 4:30, then a Democratic caucus following the Wednesday Session, and the Wednesday midnight Session and then the following January 16, the House will convene at 3:30 Eastern Standard time. We hope that at that time we will be able to work out a specific time schedule on voting on bills, that is an hourly schedule, so that we will vote at a specific time at each day's Session.

There will be also, for the information of Democratic Members of the House, beginning tomorrow the first 100 pieces of legislation ready for distribution and introduction, for sponsorship and introduction to go to the Standing Committees on January 16.

Mr. Speaker, I thank you.

Mr. AGNEW. The Republican House Minority has no present plan for any caucus for the rest of the week. If it should develop that a caucus is necessary sometime tomorrow after the 4:30 Session, the Members will be notified. The Republican Members will receive from their Caucus Chairman plans as complete as possible sometime prior to the week of the 16th. Thank you.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

REASONS FOR PARDONS

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania
Governor's Office, Harrisburg
January 3, 1961

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to present herewith the reasons for pardons and commutations granted by me from January 6, 1960, to date.

APPOINTMENT OF PRESIDENTIAL INAUGURAL COMMITTEE

The SPEAKER. Pursuant to the provisions of a Concurrent Resolution adopted by the Senate and House of Representatives January 3, 1961, the Speaker appoints the Democratic Members of the House as a committee on the part of the House to represent the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in the Presidential Inaugural Ceremonies of the Honorable John F. Kennedy for President of the United States.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. POLEN from the Select Committee on Legislation, reported as committed, House Bill No. 1, entitled:

An Act amending the act of November 12, 1959 (Appropriation Act 38-A) entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive Legislative and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth interest on the public debt and for public schools for two years beginning June 1, 1959 and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May 31, 1959" changing certain amounts appropriated to the Department of Public Instruction and the Department of State and declaring the Legislature's intention to restore said changes.

Mr. POLEN from the Select Committee on Legislation, reported as committed, House Bill No. 2, entitled:

An Act amending the act of November 12, 1959 (Appropriation Act 38-A) entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive, Legislative and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth, interest on the public debt, and for public schools for two years beginning June 1, 1959 and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May 31, 1959" as amended by providing for deficiencies in appropriations made by the act for the fiscal biennium ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred sixty-one, and making certain changes in an appropriation to the Department of Property and Supplies for certain printing and expenses and making an appropriation to the Department of State for the expenses of Electoral College.

BILLS ON FIRST READING

Mr. POLEN asked and obtained unanimous consent for the following bills to be read for the first time.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1 entitled:

An Act amending the act of November 12, 1959 (Appropriation Act 38-A) entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive Legislative and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth interest on the public debt and for public schools for two years beginning June 1, 1959 and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May 31, 1959" changing certain amounts appropriated to the Department of Public Instruction and the Department of State and declaring the Legislature's intention to restore said changes.

And said bill having been read at length for the first time,

Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2 entitled:

An Act amending the act of November 12, 1959, 1959 (Appropriation Act 38-A) entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive, Legislative and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth, interest on the public debt, and for public schools for two years beginning June 1, 1959 and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May 31, 1959" as amended by providing for deficiencies in appropriations made by the act for the fiscal biennium ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred sixty-one, and making certain changes in an appropriation to the Department of Property and Supplies for certain printing and expenses and making an appropriation to the Department of State for the expenses of Electoral College.

And said bill having been read at length for the first time,

Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. WM. JOSEPH LONG. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Wednesday, January 4, 1961 at 4:30 p. m. EST.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 3:05 p m. EST) the House adjourned.

Vol. 38. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 4, 1961. No. 2.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, January 4, 1961

The House met at 4:30 p. m. EST.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

Heavenly Father, in the light of Thy truth we come to Thee as searchers seeking the way in which Thou wouldst have us go; inspire in us such a trust toward Thee that we may rejoice not in iniquity but in Thy truth; and grant us such a measure of Thy love that we may be motivated to ever walk in the fullness of Thy truth. Forgive our sins, use our weakness for Thy honor and glory, shed Thy light to dispel the darkness of life, and give us that peace which this world can neither give nor take away: In Christ's Name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the approval of the Journal for Tuesday, January 3, 1961 will be postponed until printed.

The Chair hears none.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. POLEN, PETROSKY, EILBERG and BRETH. HOUSE BILL No. 3.

A Joint Resolution ratifying the proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States relative to the granting of Electors of President and Vice-President to the District of Columbia.

Referred to the Select Committee on Constitutional Changes.

By Messrs. POLEN, PETROSKY, EILBERG and BRETH. HOUSE BILL No. 4.

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article four section three of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania making the governor eligible to succeed himself for one additional term.

Referred to the Select Committee on Constitutional Changes.

By Messrs. POLEN, PETROSKY, EILBERG and BRETH. HOUSE BILL No. 5.

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article four section twenty-one of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania permitting the Auditor General and State Treasurer to succeed themselves for one additional term.

Referred to the Select Committee on Constitutional Changes.

By Messrs. POLEN, PETROSKY, EILBERG and BRETH. HOUSE BILL No. 6.

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article fourteen, section one of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania permitting county treasurers to succeed themselves.

Referred to the Select Committee on Constitutional Changes.

RESOLUTION

CREATING A SELECT COMMITTEE ON CONSTITUTIONAL CHANGES

Messrs. McCANN and AGNEW offered a resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows;

In the House of Representatives,
January 4, 1961.

Resolved, That a temporary "Select Committee on Constitutional Changes" shall be appointed by the Speaker, consisting of seven members of the majority party, (one of whom shall be designated as Chairman by the Speaker), and three members of the minority party.

Proposed constitutional amendments, when introduced in the House or presented to the House by the Senate for concurrence prior to the time the Standing Committees of the House are elected, shall be referred by the Speaker to the "Select Committee on Constitutional Changes" for its consideration.

APPOINTMENT OF A SELECT COMMITTEE ON CONSTITUTIONAL CHANGES

In the House of Representatives,
Wednesday, January 4, 1961.

The SPEAKER. Pursuant to the provisions of a resolution creating a Select Committee on Constitutional Changes adopted by the House on Wednesday, January 4, 1961, the Speaker appoints the following members: Messrs. Rudisill, Chairman, Fineman, Gelfand, Eilberg, Gailey, Irvis, Lamb, Lippincott, Tompkins and Heffner.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mr. McCann for Mr. CAPANO because of death in family.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the proposed Electric Roll Call Rule changes are mimeographed and ready. I am going to ask the Chief Clerk if he will send to the respective caucus rooms immediately the mimeographed copies of the rule changes.

The Minority has asked for a 30-minute caucus, so we will also have a caucus of the Democratic Members in the new House Caucus Room. But, Mr. Speaker, we want everyone in here today to know that immediately the caucuses are over, we return because we do want to run a so-called dummy test of a motion or an amendment, so to speak, on the electric roll call prior to tonight's midnight Session. That means the Members will be in their seats voting as we go through the procedure.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I would like to suggest to the Majority Leader, just so the Members of the Press do not get the wrong idea, that instead of calling it a dummy test we call it a practice test.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, strike out the word "dummy" and put in "practice test."

Mr. AGNEW. Thank you.

Mr. Speaker, with the permission of the House, we will have a Republican House caucus for one-half hour in our Minority caucus room.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. Without objection, the Chair will declare a recess for one-half hour for the purpose of Democrat and Republican Caucuses.

The Chair hears none, and a recess is declared.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired, the House was called to order.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews)IN THE CHAIR.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1, entitled:

An Act amending the act of November 12, 1959 (Appropriation Act 38-A) entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive Legislative and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth interest on the public debt and for public schools for two years begining June 1, 1959 and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May 31, 1959" changing certain amounts appropriated to the Department of Public Instruction and the Department of State and declaring the Legislature's intention to restore said changes.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I am perfectly willing to have the debate and interrogation of House Bills 1 and 2 at the same time, or if the Speaker or the Majority Leader prefers that we have them separately, it is all right with me.

I desire to interrogate the Majority Leader and he can answer that question, too.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. AGNEW. On House Bill No. 1, Mr. Speaker, I would ask the Majority Leader to explain for the benefit of the Members of the House the borrowing or lapsing of the $42 million appropriation to the State Teachers' Retirement Fund and the $8 million appropriation to the State Employees' Retirement Fund.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the lapsing in the House bills of the retirement funds amounting to $50 million covering the total of the appropriation to the other bill which is $62 million and some odd thousand dollars and $12 million plus administrative lapses. These are necessary to allow us to, No. 1, it must be done by legislative action, No. 2, to provide $50 million to appropriate in your next bill.

Mr. AGNEW. Specifically, Mr. Speaker, I would ask the gentleman, is this money now in a bank, or are we transferring it legally from one account to another, or is this just a paper transaction?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, this certainly will be a paper transaction in which the appropriations have been made in the previous 1959 Session of the General Assembly.

Mr. AGNEW. In other words the money is not now available, and what we are doing is merely lapsing an appropriation and authorizing the Comomnwealth to reappropriate the money for other purposes? How do they propose to get the money?

Mr. McCANN. How do we propose to get the money? What money, the $50 million or $62 million?

Mr. AGNEW. The $50 million.

Mr. McCANN. The $50 million - it says right in the bill. The General Assembly guarantees its faith in restoring this money.

Mr. AGNEW. In other words, the state is going to borrow the money, is that right?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the state is not going to borrow the money in any way, shape or form. There will not be any loan, any borrowing, any notes of any type to complete this transaction.

Mr. AGNEW. Did the gentleman not say that this is a paper transaction, that there is no money available to be transferred from one account to another, or did I misunderstand him?

Mr. McCANN. That is correct. It is a transfer, reducing an appropriation that was made in 1959 from the two specific retirement funds, reducing it by $50 million and then appropriating the said sums of money as indicated in the next bill.

Mr. AGNEW. Well, as a practical physical matter of transfer, does the state have money to transfer from one account to another at the present time?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the question is, does the state have the money. It is a bookkeeping transaction in which the money is a part of the total appropriation of the 1959 general budget, in addition to what was appropriated to each department in which we are granting additional appropriations except for one new appropriation.

Mr. AGNEW. You plan to spend the $50 million between now and May 31st, is that not correct?

Mr. McCANN. That is absolutely correct.

Mr. AGNEW. And you plan to spend it for purposes listed in House Bill No. 2?

Mr. McCANN. That is absolutely right.

Mr. AGNEW. Where are you going to get the money to pay for it?

Mr. McCANN. From the tax revenues of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in allocating this money from the appropriations as we have give them to the executive branch.

Mr. AGNEW. Then there is no plan on the part of the Commonwealth to borrow money on tax anticipation notes or bonds?

Mr. McCANN. No, Mr. Speaker. If I remember correctly we did put out $50 million tax anticipation notes recently in which, for the first time in the history of this Commonwealth, we received the lowest interest rate ever on such short term tax anticipation notes. There is no plan to get another tax anticipation note of any kind.

Mr. AGNEW. There has been some question about just where this money will come from. Everybody agrees that it is a bookkeeping transaction, and we in the Minority would like to know, and I think you have answered the question, if you can agree with my statement. There is no money in existence right now to be reappropriated for purposes in House Bill No. 2, but you intend to spend the money between now and May 31st, the $50 million that is lapsed here in House Bill No. 1 for purposes listed in House Bill No. 2, by using tax revenues that come in between now and May 31st. Is that correct?

Mr. McCANN. That are coming in continually and will continue to come in until the end of the fiscal year, which is May 31st.

Mr. AGNEW. So that this $50 million that is lapsed from these two funds and is reappropriated in House Bill No. 2 will not be borrowed from banks or other financial institutions by the Commonwealth on tax anticipation notes or bonds?

Mr. McCANN. The answer is, it will not be borrowed on any bonds or tax anticipation notes, as you indicated, by the commonwealth.

Mr. AGNEW. Thank you.

The same legislative Session authorized appropriations totalling $54 million plus to the State Teachers' Retirement Fund of which $42 million is now being lapsed, leaving $12 million plus in the appropriation. The same legislative Session authorized $9.7 million as an appropriation to the State Employes' Retirement Fund of which now $8 million is being lapsed, leaving a balance of $1.7 million. Have these balances, approximately $12 million in the Teachers' Fund and a little less than $2 million in the State Employes' Retirement Fund, have they been paid to the funds or are they available for lapsing between now and May 31?

Mr. McCANN. Are you questioning me, Mr. Agnew?

Mr. AGNEW. Yes.

Mr. McCANN. I thought you thanked me and you were done with me.

Mr. AGNEW. No, that was just on one part of the bill.

Mr. McCANN. Oh, I'm sorry.

I will yield to the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee who has that answer for you..the former Chairman, Mr. Polen, Chairman of the Select Committee on this legislation.

Mr. AGNEW. Would the gentleman like the question repeated briefly?

Mr. POLEN. I would appreciate your repeating the question.

Mr. AGNEW. The 1959 appropriation to State Teachers' Retirement Fund was $54 million. We are now lapsing $42 million. What happened to the other $12 plus million?

Mr. POLEN. It remains unpaid.

Mr. AGNEW. None of the appropriation was paid to the fund, is that correct?

Mr. POLEN. None of the appropriation for this biennium was paid, but the entire amount which was reappropriated in the past General Appropriation bill to replace the money which was lapsed in 1959 has been repaid.

Mr. AGNEW. In other words we are up-to-date on the State Teachers' Retirement Fund except for the $54 million appropriation in 1959 Session, is that it?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct.

Mr. AGNEW. For the current biennium?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct.

Mr. AGNEW. Now in the State Employes' Retirement Fund we had an appropriation for the biennium now ending of 9.7 million. We are lapsing $8 million. How about the other $1.7 million?

Mr. POLEN. The same situation prevails. The previous appropriation which was lapsed has been paid and there has nothing been paid of the amount contained in the present appropriation.

Mr. AGNEW. Are these total figures of $54 plus million for the one fund and $9.7 million for the other fund mandated items which we must make up during the next fiscal year?

Mr. POLEN. They are not mandated items only to the extent that this legislature has passed the appropriation bills, and, Mr. Speaker, if Mr. Agnew desires I will explain more fully the purpose of House Bill No. 1.

Mr. AGNEW. Please do, Mr. Polen.

The SPEAKER. Can the Members hear the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen? Is his voice carrying? The Chair was going to say that in view of the importance of the debate if the gentleman's voice is not carrying I would like to have him use this microphone in order to be heard.

Mr. AGNEW. Can I be heard, Mr. Speaker?

The SPEAKER. I can hear you. The gentleman from Washington will proceed.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, in connection with House Bill No. 1, the laws of this Commonwealth provide that appropriations cannot be signed by the Governor, or made in excess of the amount of taxes which have been certified by the Budget Secretary and the Secretary of Revenue.

The necessity for this bill is that there is no appropriation base presently existing for the appropriations necessary in House Bill No. 2. For that purpose we are lapsing $42 million from the School Retirement Fund, $8 million from the State Employes' Retirement Fund, plus $12 million by executive lapses to cover the $62 million plus appropriations contained in House Bill No. 2.

Mr. AGNEW. Will the gentleman tell the Members of the House what plans, if any, the Administration might have for the balance remaining of the appropriation in these two funds?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, the effect of House Bill No. 1 if enacted into law and signed by the Governor, will be that instead of owing $50 million to these two funds under the present appropriation there will be transferred $50 million to the deficit which will have to be made up in the next biennium, and we pledge ourselves in House Bill No. 1 to reinstate and re-enact the appropriation to the two funds of $50 million.

Mr. AGNEW. If these appropriations had been made promptly to the two funds at the beginning of the present biennium would they not have been drawing interest and helping to build up the fund?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, if the money had been available that would be true, but the money was not available due to the deficiency in tax revenues, and due to the fact that the relief expenditures greatly exceeded the estimates in the budget.

Mr. AGNEW. Is it true that under the system by which this money is being transferred there will be no additional borrowing, there will be no interest money causing an additional expense to the Commonwealth?

Mr. POLEN. It is true that by law we are required to guarantee a 4 percent interest return on the contributions of employes, but I am happy to report that the average interest returns have been so greatly raised by the new policies that have been put into effect that the deficiency will be far less than it has ever been and it is hoped that in the next fiscal year it will be entirely wiped out.

Mr. AGNEW. But to answer my question specifically, House Bills No. 1 and 2 are not costing the State any additional money in interest payments, is that correct?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct.

Mr. AGNEW. The only thing that the State is losing is indirectly through these retirement funds, they are not getting the interest on this money as they would if it were in the funds and invested, is that right?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct.

Mr. AGNEW. Yet the Commonwealth has an obligation to the recipients, teachers and state employes guaranteeing four percent interest, is that correct?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct.

Mr. AGNEW. Are either one of the funds making four percent interest?

Mr. POLEN. Neither one of the funds are making the four percent but they are approaching it.

Mr. AGNEW. Is the figure now about 3.5?

Mr. POLEN. The figure now, I believe is something like 3.8 and it is going up. I think it was about 3.5 last year.

Mr. AGNEW. I would ask the gentleman, Mr. Polen, the balance of the money in the appropriations, are they now or still available for lapsing between now and May 31?

Mr. POLEN. The balance in the two appropriations would be available for lapsing in case of emergency.

Mr. AGNEW. In case the Administration needs the money they can request between now and May 31 additional deficiency appropriation bills?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct. I might state, Mr. Speaker, that it is not anticipated that we will have to ask for additional money. However the relief load is rising so rapidly that I would not entirely preclude that.

Mr. AGNEW. But the money in the balance of the appropriations is available for additional lapses?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct.

Mr. AGNEW. Although you have no plans at present to ask for additional deficiency appropriations?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct. At the time these bills were prepared the feeling was and statistics supported that this would be sufficient.

Mr. AGNEW. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, now if I may say a few more words of debate on House Bill No. 1.

We of the Minority recognize the fact that it is almost impossible at times to keep the Commonwealth's budget in order. It is hard to estimate how much money is coming in, and it is hard to estimate in many fields how much money is going out.

It seems to me it is getting more difficult to estimate this every biennium, or every fiscal year. We are making bigger and bigger mistakes. We are getting a wider and wider spread of moneys, appropriations that must be lapsed so that moneys can be used for some other purpose. I do not think it is fair, and the Members of the Minority do not think it is fair, that the State Teachers' Retirement Fund and the State Employes' Retirement Fund is deprived for any length of time of these funds.

Yes, it is true that the funds are healthy, the funds as far as we know are in good shape, but that is no reason why they could not be in better shape and I think the Commonwealth has an obligation in not only authorizing these appropriations every biennium, but to see they are promptly met and paid into the funds so that they can start drawing interest, and so they can further secure the retirement programs for our teachers and state employes.

There is no real reason why the state cannot get its fiscal house in order. It has not been in order and seems to be getting worse every biennium, the deficits, the deficiencies, open or hidden, seem to multiply every two years.

Yes, we have had business lapses. We estimated perhaps too high on certain tax revenues. The Department of Public Assistance is apparently about $45 million light in Public Assistance payments. The Administration has said that the prolonged steel strike in 1959 was a major cause of this deficit. We understand from Administration sources that the steel strike increased Public assistance or relief payments by $18 million. This is something that perhaps could not be anticipated by either an administration or the legislature. However, we feel there is an obligation incumbent upon us to set up a budget and bookkeeping system in this state so that we do not have to in effect raid the retirement funds of the teachers in Pennsylvania and those who work for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

This is fiscal mismanagement. The primary responsibility and obligation for proper fiscal management lies with the Majority party and the administration. We of the Minority can only urge, we can only oppose, we can only advise. We are suggesting at this time that during this Session the two parties in this state, the Majority and Minority in this House make a realistic appraisal of this sorry fiscal mess and see what we can do to make certain that it never happens again.

That is all I wish to say at this time on House Bill No. 1.

Mr. DENGLER. Mr. Speaker, I wish to speak briefly on House Bill No. 1.

I was very much interested in the interrogation of the Majority Leader and I wish to speak on the moral and ethical aspects of this bill; not the financial ones.

I have been a Member of the State Employes' Retirement Fund since 1919. Since that time, I, as an individual, have never lapsed a single payment to this fund. The school district that employs me has never lapsed a payment to this fund. But now for the third term since I am a Member of this House, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has lapsed its payment to this fund.

During the past 41 years there were many occasions where I could have said to the directors of the fund, I have other financial priorities and I cannot make my payment. I could have become very reckless with my money and said to the directors of the fund, please lapse my payment. My school district, I am sure, at times, was hard pressed for funds, but I do not think at any time they lapsed their payments to this fund.

I believe if we did lapse the fund, and I understand that school districts do lapse their funds and, if they do not pay their proportional share, this is subtracted from the appropriation whenever that general appropriation is due. Now, if the state can require a school district or an individual to keep their payments up to date and even ask that the payments that were not made by these districts or individuals be subtracted from the general appropriation, then I think the state is morally and ethically bound to act in the same manner.

These people who run these funds—and I am glad to say that they are well managed and I think it is probably one of the finest retirement systems in the country, are doing an excellent job in managing these funds. I am glad to hear from the Appropriations Committee Chairman that the average is 3.8. I think that is a marvelous record. But here is the one thing that disturbs me more than anything else: we have just spent 15 to 20 minutes explaining to the Members of this House some of the ramifications and implications of House Bill No. 1. Now the newspapers will, tomorrow, and one newspaper in Philadelphia has already, come out and misstated the entire situation. If the newspaper comes out and says teachers' funds tapped, or, the General Fund borrows from the teachers—well, that appeared in one of the Philadelphia papers in the last biennium on the lapsed funds, teachers' funds tapped; I had two dozen or three dozen phone calls and many letters from teachers and people who are 70 years and older, who call me or write me with great apprehension and concern. That is why I say I am not so much concerned about this financial situation which does not seem to be clearly understood by the House Members. We do not know whether we have the money or whether we do not have the money. What do these people who are recipients of this retirement fund think of this situation?

Now, if I, as an individual, have to exert a certain amount of integrity toward my obligations, if school districts throughout this Commonwealth have to bear up to those financial obligations, if they cannot lapse payments and we are the leaders in this Commonwealth are we allowed to do it? I will concede that certain circumstances sometimes alter situations and perhaps the state government or Federal government have certain prerogatives that municipalities or school districts do not have, but when this happens year after year after year and the apprehensions of the recipients of these funds become greater and greater each year, then I, as a legislator, feel that I have some responsibility toward this program, and I think we all agree that it is a problem. These people are worried, very much so, and if we cannot explain it to them or if the newspapers cannot explain it to them so that they will understand it, then I think we should look into this thing very, very thoroughly.

I am going to vote for House Bill No. 1 simply because of House Bill No. 2. It is our moral obligation to do so.

I repeat, if these payments to these funds, and they are contractual payments, owed by me and by the state and by the school districts, if I must make my payments regularly and the school district must make its payments regularly, why should not the Commonwealth make its payments regularly?

I think we should introduce legislation that will forever banish this uncertainty on the part of these people who are supposed to be the recipients, not merely of money, but of a certain degree of assurance.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I believe there needs to be some clarification so there will be no misunderstanding.

You will not find in House Bill No. 2 a single item of general government in which the executive branch has any control. It is sound fiscal management, not mismanagement. In fact, let us say, that it is more mismanagement of the legislative branch than it is of the executive.

If you will take the appropriation and look at it carefully, tell me exactly what you would do in this situation. I want to insert into the record here today, so the debate will show the existing and estimated case load of public assistance to the end of the biennium. It is certainly not a healthy situation in the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I ask, therefore, that in the remarks this exhibit be indicated, which shows a case load from June of 1959 to the estimated case load at the end of the fiscal year, May 31st, 1961. It is not a great or a good thing to know that we have approximately 412,000 cases persons, now on public assistance. That we estimated we will have 431,000 by February. Would you, at any time have known the answer, or been able to foresee this picture a year ago, when the committee was appropriating the money and when we estimated 321,000 as the average? Or would you say that we should not provide the money? It is a moral obligation a human obligation, an obligation that we must face.

In past years, not that this makes it correct in any manner, this General Assembly has never failed to provide the money that it said it would provide for the Retirement Fund, and that it has done and that it will do again. We have not deprived the school teachers or state employes of a single thing, nor will we deprive them of a single thing, neither now nor when we reappropriate that which we say we will do in the preamble of the bill. We have not denied them anything nor will we deny them anything.

True enough, it would be well if such a law existed as the gentleman from Delaware proposed, and these payments were made in quarters now. We would now be in the quarter of the biennium that would be the 6/8ths of the biennium, moving into the 7/8th, and then we would have the last 8th, when we used to use 8ths in bienniums. We would be here today and ladies, gentlemen in a situation in which the money would have been appropriated to its proper destination, and you and I would have had to provide, either, the taxes from elsewhere, cut the services, or stop the payments. That is your choice. This we can not do and we will not do, and we have not raided regardless of what the papers of Pennsylvania may say, or taken anything away from any Retirement Fund, nor will we do that here today.

There is one thing I would like to say, which I think in the future it would be well to consider in this field, and that would be that it is much wiser to try to appropriate within the economy that you think exists. We are going into our first annual fiscal budget. We have, without a doubt, as Mr. Agnew stated a moment ago, $43 million plus that we must provide for public assistance, but, in addition, $10 million more was provided in an act which we passed and stated that the executive branch may by administrative lapses appropriate, which they did. So the real deficiency in public assistance at the end of this biennium is not $44,800,000, but really $54,800,000. These are the facts as they exist.

May I say to you, show me one item in which the executive branch has any bona fide control in which the legislative bronch did not have control, and I say to you that it was very sound management. The retirement funds that were spoken about here a moment ago under the new investment system are bringing us a wonderful rate of return, and I am pleased and I hope they will reach the full percent mark we are seeking in the year we are in now, 1961, which will be wonderful because it will reduce the amount that we must appropriate to meet this in our budget.

I would like to say to you again, ladies and gentlemen of the House, this is a problem that you could not foresee, this caseload, which is a major item here. Would anyone at one time have stated or thought that we would be in the 400,000 mark of public assistance or, as it is, over that mark today and still climbing. You and I know that caseloads in public assistance always rise in the winter months. Always in the past it leveled off in the summer months. Did it do that in 1959? If so, how much did it level off? Yes, it dropped as winter moved into spring. How much did it drop? From 381,000 to 378,000, to 368,000, to 362,000 and then it started to climb again, to 364,, to 372, to 380, to 395, to 412,000. Climbing steadily. Would you say they should be denied public assistance? The answer would be, no. You could not deny it, neither can I. We are hoping that the economy and the things we do result in some way to reduce this figure for which we must provide the money here today. There is absolutely no fiscal mismanagement. It is a very sound management, the soundest it has been in many years.

Mr. Speaker, I ask that this be inserted in the record.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I heard the gentleman on the other side talk about fiscal responsibility, and he said he did not think we had it. I am going to take a little time of this House to talk about fiscal responsibility here tonight.

The revenues estimated are now running about $30 million up to this time, under the estimates, and we on this side maintained at the time these estimates were made that, if anything, we were high. I can recall, day after day, and the Legislative Journal will bear this out, that those on the other side wanted to increase the estimates and in one case you wanted to increase them $35 million. Now where would we have been if we listened to this? This General Assembly is going to take a little blame for some of this deficiency.

Let us take the deficiency in education. Let us take the larger amount on that, $11,836,995. Who brought about that deficiency? Well, the Senate reduced the estimates, reduced the general appropriation bill $3,166,350 for that one item. Then this General Assembly went and passed Act 569, which froze everything in connection with equalization, giving to those who had gained and assuring those who have lost that they would receive nothing else, and this went to over $8 million. We passed a bill and did not increase any appropriation. So there is one item alone.

We are talking about the schools. This bill that we are hoping to pass here today, if it is to pass, is to take care of the schools so the teachers will be paid. So the estimates in the records will show that the estimates that the Department of Public Instruction gave and as contained in the general appropriation bill is within a few thousand dollars of actual expenditures.

Is that lack of fiscal responsibility? For the first time in my memory, and I have served a good many years in this House, there is one deficiency under the Executive Department that we can control. We cannot control the relief; we cannot control the subsidies. I want to say this: that when the budget was made the average relief roll it was estimated that we would not exceed 312,500, average cases on the Public Assistance, and today it is above 400,000. Certainly this administration is not responsible for the conditions that exist in this country. I can recall at the same time that they, on the other side, talked of great prosperity, of the great big days when the money was going to roll in.

Who is responsible here? Certainly, we on this side have said from the very start that we will have fiscal responsibility. We said over on this side that we would not send to the Governor appropriation bills in excess of the realistic appropriation revenues, and we did not. But even though we tried to be as responsible as we could in connection with the estimates, no one could conceive the decline of business that has taken place in this country and in this Commonwealth.

I could take other itmes. I have them here. As estimated, the other deficiencies are due to action by the General Assembly and not by the Governor. The estimates that were given for these expenditures were right and when we talk about Public Assistance, remember again that there was a cut made in that, even in the face of the steel strike.

Ladies and gentlemen, I agree with the gentleman from Delaware, the distinguished gentleman, Dr. Dengler, that this money is due the Public School Fund and the State Employes Fund. But, ladies and gentlemen, we are not taking one cent away from that fund. This is nothing new. In the past this has happened many times, under other administrations. They certainly incurred the deficit. It is nothing new. We have pledged ourselves in this bill to reinstate it. There is not a dollar in money being taken away. It is only necessary to provide an appropriation base.

I say to you ladies and gentlemen, if you don't want to do this, there is an alternative, and the only alternative is to pass additional taxes, and I haven't heard much said for that. I am willing, if I am here, to debate the question of fiscal responsibility and to show the record that the Lawrence administration has made, and I think it will stand out well above any administration in my memory, because if there is anything that Governor Lawrence has tried to do, that is to give fiscal responsibility.

I want to cite this $10 million that has lapsed to take care of Public Assistance was in November. That was for the general government operations of this Commonwealth, $12 million is being lapsed. Why? Because of the program of economy that has been practiced by this administration so that today we come here in this new Session and there is not one single deficiency asked for any department under the control of the Governor.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I do not wish to prolong this debate too much longer, but the comments of the gentleman from Greene and the gentleman from Washington must be answered in some manner.

It is true that much of what they say is actually what occurred. Some of it was not the fault of the administration. Even the Republicans admit that not everything that goes on in this state is the fault of the Lawrence adminisration—just most of it.

But let us go back to the Governor's budget request of 1959. It is the responsibility, it is the obligation of the Chief Executive to look two years ahead, it was at that time, to make a realistic appraisal of the revenue needs of the Commonwealth and to request tax money to meet those needs.

The gentleman from Washington stated that there was a big cut made in the appropriation to the Department of Public Welfare. The figures that I have, and they are subject to correction, but as far as I know they are accurate; in the Governor's budget request roughly $170 million, or just a few hundred thousand under $170 million, was his budget request for the Department of Public Welfare. The Legislature granted him $163 million. His budget request was cut by $7 million out of $170 million. In January 1960 one of the three bills the 1960 Session passed made up another $10 million by a lapsed appropriation. So that the Governor requested a total of $180 million, that is $170 million in the original request plus the $10 million lapsed appropriation. So lets give him credit for the $7 million he asked for and did not get. According to House Bill No. 2, the Department of Public Welfare is $45 million short.

Now if the Governor got his $7 million he would still be $38 million short. That is missing the boat by twenty-three percent. I do not see how in the world the gentlemen on the other side could call that fiscal responsibility. I do not know if it is fiscal irresponsibility, but, in my opinion, it certainly is fiscal mismanagement. I can see where a five, ten or twelve percent difference might be made because we are human and we are subject to error. These human considerations must be taken into mind; but to make a mistake in the appropriations to the Department of Public Welfare by twenty-three percent just exceeds the bounds of propriety and imagination for it to be called fiscal responsibility.

The Governor yesterday, among other things, referred to our session last year as a Legislative travesty. It need not have been that type of a session. We were here. We were prepared to work. The Administration knew in January 1960 that the steel strike had cost the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania Department of Public Assistance in payments some substantial millions of dollars. The steel strike was over a month before that. We should have handled these deficiency appropriations last fall at the latest, if not last spring. That was what the third annual special Session was for. We could have taken our time. We could have gotten additional information and we could have asked more questions. We could have been a better informed Legislative body.

Here we are in unseemly haste in the first week of a brand new Legislative Session having House Bills 1 and 2 offered to us by the Administration and the Majority Party saying we absolutely need this money now for the Department of Public Welfare for funds for Public Assistance payments because the Department of Public Welfare will be out of funds on January 10th. Is that fiscal responsibility? Not in my opinion.

There will be some Republican votes for these bills. We do not know how many. The Republican Members are on their own. They make up their own minds after soul searching and their own considerations.

I know you are pretty well regimented on the other side and we expect you all to vote for these bills. We do not know on our side how many will vote for or how many will vote against, but I want to say this that not one Republican vote for these bills is condoning this procedure. Not one Republican vote for these bills today and tonight on third reading, is saying that what the Administration has done is right and what the Administration has done is proper and what you have done by ignoring the powers of the 1960 session in cramming these bills down our Legislative throats here in the first week of the 1961 session is right and proper. Any Republican who votes for these bills is for one reason only—humane considerations involved in House Bill No. 2.

Many Members on this side of the aisle will vote against these bills on matters of principle and they are entitled to that. I will probably be the last one to say they are wrong. The Republicans who vote for them are not condoning anything about these two bills or anything in the administration procedure because these two bills could have been given to us the first week of the session. The only reason there will be Republican votes for these bills is because all other considerations and principles aside, it will be with reservation that we will vote for the bills.

We do not want to see people with pride, people who do not like to accept charity, people who through no fault of their own are on Public Assistance. We do not want to see them denied the funds that are by right theirs, to keep their bodies and souls together. That is the only reason there will be Republican votes for these bills, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The second and third sections and title were separately read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2, entitled:

An Act amending the act of November 12, 1959 (Appropriation Act 38-A) entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive, Legislative, and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth, interest on the public debt, and for public schools for two years beginning June 1, 1959 and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May 31, 1959" as amended by providing for deficiencies in appropriations made by the act for the fiscal biennium ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred sixty-one, and making certain changes in an appropriation to the Department of Property and Supplies for certain printing and expenses and making an appropriation to the Department of State for the expenses of Electoral College.

The first, second, third and fourth sections were read and agreed to.

The title was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the title?

Mr. AGNEW. I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Washington permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. AGNEW. Now we have $50 million in House Bill No. 1?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct.

Mr. AGNEW. We are appropriating $62 million plus in House Bill No. 2?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct.

Mr. AGNEW. I understand that the difference of $12 million plus is made up by executive lapse in November, 1960. Is that correct?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct.

Mr. AGNEW. We have been informed that the executive proposes to lapse another $12 million. What information can the gentleman give us? We have a note of the proposed lapses which are quite lengthy. The largest one is $6 million for school health examinations. Is that correct?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct. That is at least our plan.

Mr. AGNEW. Yes, but we have that note $12.5 million of proposed executive lapses, is that correct?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct.

Mr. AGNEW. Just what will that money be used for? We do not know that.

Mr. POLEN. That will provide the appropriation base together with the $50 million lapsed in House Bill No. 1 to take care of the appropriation of $62 million plus to make it House Bill No. 2.

Mr. AGNEW. No, you lapsed approximately $12 million plus in November 1960, to take care of the lapse passed by this Legislature, giving the Governor authority to appropriate $10 million for Public Assistance, which was done in November.

Mr. POLEN. Would that be the Act we passed last January?

Mr. AGNEW. That is correct.

Mr. POLEN. Well, you understand that $12 million plus was lapsed, the $10 million plus was the November lapse.

Mr. AGNEW. Well, then there is a total of $22.5 million that either has been or will be lapsed by executive decree, for which this Legislature gave authorization?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct.

Mr. AGNEW. As a matter of public information, and for the record, I would like to submit a copy received from Mr. Polen's office of the proposed lapse. I will show it to the gentleman so that he will know that it is a copy of what he gave me. I think it should be a part of the record and I offer it for that purpose.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, that is the list that I furnished the Minority Leader.

Mr. AGNEW. You have no objection if that is made a part of our Journal?

Mr. POLEN. None whatever.

Mr. AGNEW. These appropriations in House Bill No. 2, there have been many questions raised in our caucus about the $28,000 to the State Harness Racing Commission. Will you please explain why that is necessary?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, so far as the $28,000 is concerned, this Legislature passed a bill, I do not recall the number, which became law and which provided for the formation of the Harness Racing Commission, and in the fiscal Session we provided the appropriation that the Commission requested, which I believe is $35,000. The Commission was a new Commission without any experience as to what their needs would be, and in setting the thing up they found that they were $28,000 short to end this biennium. That Commission and that amount is what is requested in both instances by the State Harness Racing Commission.

Mr. AGNEW. I have no knowledge as to the details of it. That was not what I was getting at.

There is a question I would like to ask the gentleman on the proposed executive lapses. The exhibit that we have just put in the House record, under School Health Examinations, 1959 to 1961, executive lapse number 570, $6 million. We are not clear about this lapse. We understand that the Commonwealth is one year behind right now in reimbursing the school districts for school health examinations. Will you explain for the benefit of all of the Members of the House, why this lapse was made and the general status of that account?

Mr. POLEN, Mr. Speaker, if you will refer to the budget you will find that it is a considerable increase in the amount requested for the school health program. There was a deficiency, as I recall, within the last biennium because it had been growing by leaps and bounds. The request for the 1959-1961 biennium anticipated, I believe, the continued increase in the amount of that appropriation. However, the expenditures have not been running in line with the amount that was contained and the survey by the office administration of the Budget Secretary showed that we can safely lapse $6 million from this program in this biennium.

Mr. AGNEW. Then our information that this payment is one year behind right now is not true. Is that right?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, it is my understanding that all school payments due from the Department of Public Instruction have been made within a short reasonable time of submission to them, allowing for the proper time for audit. I have not heard of any payments of any nature being withheld, except in connection with the fire and panic laws.

Mr. AGNEW. Well then this $6 million lapse appropriation is a real saving. You do not anticipate that it will have to be made and again included in next year's budget?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct.

Mr. AGNEW. We have information which, if you were right, that is wrong, that the Commonwealth is one year behind right now on reimbursement to school health examinations. Will the gentleman please investigate this and report to us when we come back two weeks from now, if you cannot get the information before the Session tonight.

Mr. POLEN. I do not know that I can get the information tonight, but I will tell the gentleman that I will definitely have the full facts and information for him available on the 16th.

Mr. AGNEW. There is a lot of interest on that particular question and we would like to have accurate information from the gentleman.

Mr. POLEN. I will have it.

Mr. AGNEW. Two more questions on the appropriations of House Bill No. 2.

Why did we miss the appropriations for teachers' subsidies by almost $12 million?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, that is the item that I referred to. The Senate cut that appropriation approximately $3 million, and we passed an Act which guaranteed the same payments in connection with the report of the Tax Equalization Board. We referred to that bill as a matter which cost over $8 million, which was not in the budget for the simple reason that all of the school subsidies were based upon present law.

The two items together are within a few thousand dollars of the amount which was originally accepted.

Mr. AGNEW. Just one major item here, the $44.8 million appropriation for purposes of Public Assistance. Will the gentleman explain for the benefit of the House Members the procedure by which a person in dire straits obtains Public Assistance in Pennsylvania? By that I mean, what does he sign by way of a financial statement, a judgment note or a bond, in order to qualify in the event that he has any property?

Mr. POLEN. In the case where there was property he would sign a judgment, and in the case where he has a car or over certain limitations, he must sell that—I do not have it here. I have it, but I do not have it here, as to what the standards are. But, in the case of real estate, I can say that he must sign the bond or note. Five hundred dollars is the amount of the cash values of insurance that he can still keep and receive assistance.

Mr. AGNEW. I know, and the gentleman knows, that any time a widow gets into financial trouble and the only thing she has left is her home, and she calls on the state and begs for Public Assistance, the money that she gets is a lien against the old lady's property.

Mr. POLEN. Correct.

Mr. Agnew. Is that a matter of law for everybody who gets Public Assistance?

Mr. POLEN. That is a matter of law.

Mr. AGNEW. Now, if they own personal property such as houses, barns, automobiles, other intangibles, that is a matter of legislation.

Mr. POLEN. I will be glad to furnish the gentleman with the standards. I do not have them here but I can furnish him with them.

Mr. AGNEW. Will the gentleman be able to get them by our Session tonight?

Mr. POLEN. I doubt if I can get them tonight.

Mr. AGNEW. We would like to have them if there is any way the gentleman can get them.

Mr. POLEN. To be frank with you, I do have them, but I took them home for a meeting last week and I did not return them here and it was the only copy I had. But, I will be glad to furnish it to you on the 16th.

Mr. AGNEW. I know about that, I have the same trouble myself.

What I am driving at, and I will say it very bluntly, there are reports that some people who are being paid Public Assistance out of some offices throughout the state have not been required to sign these notes or bonds, and that in other instances they are required. I think the gentleman will agree this law should be enforced uniformly. Are you familiar with the procedure, and if so are you satisfied with Public Assistance investigations in relation to the eligibility of the recipients.

Mr. POLEN. Did I understand the question correctly, Mr. Speaker? Am I satisfied with the investigation of the eligibility for Public Assistance?

Mr. AGNEW. Do you know first that there is any such investigation?

Mr. POLEN. Yes, Mr. Speaker. In each and every case there is a complete investigation, as well as a visit by the visitor and the evaluation of it by the supervisor and then the manager.

I might add further, Mr. Speaker, that all of these payments are audited—I did not say they were all investigated—by spot investigation by the Auditor General.

Mr. AGNEW. Has the gentleman heard the report that we of the minority have heard that there are some instances throughout the Commonwealth, particularly in the big cities, where this procedure is ignored?

Mr. POLEN. I have not heard that, but if it is true I would appreciate the information being furnished me and I will certainly see that it is stopped.

Mr. AGNEW. All right. We will try to get it for you. I have no further questions.

Mr. POLEN. I might state that the figures that the Minority Leader was giving in connection with the cuts in Public Assistance, he was using the overall cut. There was a $10 million cut made by the Senate in Public Assitance alone.

I might further state that in January of 1960 when we came back here we knew then that there was going to be a $40 or $50 million deficiency in Public Assistance and the gentlemen on the other side knew that too, but at the same time the cry was that there was going to be plenty of money rolling in. That does not hardly click right with me. We stayed here until June to find out if there was going to be more money to give to the schools.

I must say this in all fairness to the Minority Leader that he was not present in any of these conferences that we had with the opposite side, but everyone admitted that there was going to be such a deficiency in Public Assistance, and the cry made at that time was, well, you are going to have a surplus, and we are not going to leave you with a surplus.

The SPEAKER. In the opinion of the Speaker we didn't interrupt because the chair imagined that they had to get it out of their system.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the title?

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the Chair, is it proposed to debate these bills again on third reading also?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, one of the things that we discussed in our conference was that the debate would be had on second reading. No one can be stopped from debating the bill, if he wants to, on third reading, but to try to answer all the questions that may be proposed to clarify both House bills 1 and 2 now on second reading so as to reduce the amount of debate that may occur at the midnight session.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, there may be some brief comments, or brief interrogations, tonight but the substantial part of the debate is out of the way.

RESOLUTION

HOUSE RULES

Mr. McCANN offered a resolution which was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives,
Wednesday, January 4, 1961.

Resolved, That the Standing Rules of the House of Representatives for the 1959 and 1960 Sessions be and the same are hereby adopted as the Rules for this House, with the following amendments:

PROPOSED

ELECTRIC ROLL CALL RULE

(a) On any question requiring the "yeas" and "nays," the electric roll call system shall be used. On all other questions to be voted upon, the Speaker may, in his discretion, order the yeas and nays taken by the electric roll call system or voice vote or, upon the demand of two members before the result of a vote has been declared, the yeas and nays shall be taken by the electric roll call system.

(b) In the event the electric roll call system is not in operating order, the Speaker shall order all yea and nay votes be taken by calling the roll, as provided in the Rules of the House.

(c) When the House is ready to vote upon any question requiring the yeas and nays and the vote is to be taken by the electrical roll call system, the Speaker shall state:—"the question is on—(Designating the matter to be voted upon)." The Speaker shall then unlock the voting machine and announce: "The members shall now proceed to vote." Once the voting has begun, it shall not be interrupted.

(d) When, in the judgment of the Speaker, reasonable time has been allowed all members present in the House to vote, he shall ask the question:—"Have all members present voted?" After a pause, the Speaker shall lock the machine and instruct the Clerk to record the vote, and the Speaker shall announce the result of the vote.

(e) After the voting machine is locked, no member may change his vote and the votes of tardy members will not be recorded.

(f) The vote as electrically recorded on the roll of members shall not in any manner be altered or changed by any person.

(g) No member shall vote for another member, nor shall any person not a member vote for a member. Any member who shall vote or attempt to vote for another member or a person not a member who shall vote or attempt to vote for a member may be punished in such manner as the House determines.

(h) Any member or other person who willfully tampers with or attempts to disarrange, deface, impair or destroy in any manner whatsoever the electrical voting equipment used by the House, or who instigates aids or abets with the intent to destroy or change the record of votes thereon shall be punished in such manner as the House determines.

(i) A member who has been appointed by the Speaker to preside as Speaker Pro Tempore may designate either the Majority or Minority Whip to cast his vote on any question while he is presiding in accordance with his instructions from the Chair.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO PRESENT HOUSE VOTING RULES NECESSITATED BY THE INSTALLATION OF THE ELECTRIC ROLL CALL SYSTEM

RULE 8

Amend Rule 8, Lines 2 and 3, by striking out the words, "and the roll of Members called by the clerk," and insert in lieu thereof, "the names of members present shall be recorded."

RULE 9

Amend Rule 9, Lines 4 and 5 by striking out the words, "the roll of Members shall be called by the clerk," and insert in lieu thereof, "the names of members present shall be recorded."

RULE 69

Amend Rule 69 by striking out paragraph 2, which reads: "A Member may submit the reasons for his vote in writing immediately after the roll has been called and and have them printed in the Journal;" and insert in lieu thereof the following: "A member may submit a written explanation of his vote immediately following the announcement of the result of the vote and have it printed in the Journal."

RULE 70

Amend Rule 70, Line 1, by inserting after the word "called," the words, "or electrically recorded." Amend Rule 70, Line 3, by inserting after the word, "called," the words, "or electrically recorded."

RULE 71

Amend Rule 71, paragraph 2, line 1, by inserting before the word, "vote," the words, "yea or nay or electrically recorded."

RULE 72

Rule 72, which reads as follows: "No Member may change his vote, or have his vote recorded after the vote has been announced, nor after an affirmative or negative roll has been declared verified;" is hereby amended to read: "No member may change his vote, or have his vote recorded after the result of a roll call vote has been announced, nor after an affirmative or negative roll has been declared verified."

RULE 74

Amend Rule 74 by striking out in paragraph 2, lines 1 and 2 the words, "rise and remain standing until counted," and insert in lieu thereof the following, "vote aye;" Amend Rule 74 by striking out in paragraph 3, lines 2 and 3, the words, "rise and remain standing until counted," and insert in lieu thereof the following, "vote aye."

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following amendment:

Amend paragraph (c) of the new electric voting rule by adding thereto the following: except for the purpose of questioning the validity of a member's vote before the result is announced.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to cover the proposed House rules that we want to offer on the electric roll call.

In our Caucus, following the Republican Caucus, there was one proposed amendment which I believe we should accept. It is an amendment to Paragraph (c) that we are going to offer.

Where we talked about the "roll call shall not be interrupted," the proposed amendment says, "except for the purpose of questioning the validity of a Member's vote before the result is announced."

I believe this to be a good proposed amendment because, suppose a person is not here and when we go through this test in a minute or two his light is lit. Why is it lit? He is not here. By right, under these rules, we would not interrupt the roll call. This would guarantee the right at this point to check the desk whose light is lit.

Therefore, this is one change I will offer now to the resolution dealing with the electric roll calls and offer this amendment to Paragraph (c) to be incorporated in the original.

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to remind that rule or no rule the Chair will always recognize the right of any Member of this House to challenge the validity of a roll call.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution as amended?

It was adopted.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the Majority Leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would like at this time that we go through the procedure of a practice roll call at this point.

The SPEAKER. The Chair invites the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, to come to the rostrum with reference to the roll call.

He was the chairman of the Committee that invented it. So we will let him demonstrate it.

(The House had a practice test of the electric roll call system, which was off the record).

ANNOUNCEMENT

The CHIEF CLERK. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the Members of the House with reference to the daily calendar books. Will you leave them on your desks so they can be filled with a new calendar? That will be done every day. Do not lock them in your desks. That will give us a chance for the page boys and Sergeants-at-Arms to fill your books every day we have a Session.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. BACKENSTOE. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Thursday, January 5, 1961 at 12:01 a.m. E.S.T.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 7:38 p.m. E.S.T.) the House adjourned.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1961. 145th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 38. HARRISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, JANUARY 5, 1961. No. 3.

SENATE

THURSDAY, JANUARY 5, 1961.

The Senate met at 8:00 p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. ELVIN B. SHARP, Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Ford City, offered the following prayer:

O Eternal Lord God, Who hast created the universe and Who hast placed Thy Divine Spirit in the hearts of men, and Who has given unto Thy servants diversities of gifts, by the same Spirit be with this Assembly in all Thy divine power and grace. Guide those who have come to discharge their duties as representatives of this Commonwealth, giving them a sense of Thy presence and endowing them with an obligation to do justly and to walk humbly with their God. Enable them to fulfill their duties with fidelity so that goodness, truth and justice may find their way even beyond the borders of designated responsibility, even to the ends of the earth.

Grant, O Lord, that peace and good will might come to all men everywhere; that representatives of governments might be guided by the love shown by Thee in sending Thy Son as a Savior and Redeemer to all mankind. Bless all who have authority committed to them; teach them Thy will; sustain them by Thy grace, all who legislate and all who sit in judgment, that they may be aware of Thy presence and be guided by Thy Spirit.

Now we ask that Thou shall be with everyone assembled here this evening, comprising the Senate of Pennsylvania. May they love and serve their fellowmen with pure hearts, remembering their people and their responsibilities in their daily prayers and meditations.

These things we ask in the Name of Jesus Christ, our only Savior. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. WEINER and Mr. SEYLER, further reading was dispended with, and the Journal was approved.

HOUSE MESSAGES

HOUSE BILLS FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented HB 1 and 2 which were referred to the Select Committee on Legislation.

RECESS

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I request a fifteen minute recess of the Senate for the purpose of holding a meeting of the Select Committee on Legislation.

The PRESIDENT. Are there any objections? The Chair hears no objection, and declares a fifteen minute recess of the Senate.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. WEINER, from the Select Committee on Legislation, reported, as committed, HB 1 and 2.

BILLS ON FIRST READING

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the first reading of all bills reported from committee for the first time at today's session.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The bills were as follows: HB 1 and 2.

And said bills having been read at length for the first time,

Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

INTERROGATION

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Weiner.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEINER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, may I inquire of the Majority Leader, concerning the bills just reported from committee and read for the first time, whether or not these bills, providing for appropriations and lapses from the Retirement Funds, which go to make up deficiencies, contain a commitment on the part of the Legislature? Is there a commitment on the part of the Administration to restore those funds to the various Retirement Funds?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, if I may just have these bills for one moment, I would like to answer the gentleman's question. In order for there not to be any mistake, concerning my answer, I would like to read what the bills state.

The PRESIDENT. Those bills are on their way over to you.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to read from House Bill No. 1, Printer's No. 1, Section 2, which appears on page 4, as follows:

> The General Assembly hereby declares its intention to restore to the Department of Public Instruction and the Department of State by subsequent legislation the funds withheld from it by this act.

I would assume, and I am sure that the Minority Leader will agree with me, that this is the intent of the General Assembly. I would also assume that all of us, being Members of the General Assembly and acting in this manner, would carry out this intention. Therefore, Mr. President, I believe that this should answer the gentleman's question.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I thank the gentleman and would also say that I am equally confident that Administration bills for that purpose will be presented.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Friday, January 6, 1961 at 12:00 M.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 8:22 p. m.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

THURSDAY, JANUARY 5, 1961

The House met at 12:01 a. m. EST.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend David R. Hoover, offered the following prayer:

In this early morning hour before the dawn of a new day, we look to Thee, O God, praying for Thy blessing upon this assembly. In the work which they undertake at this session, we ask for Thy counsel and direction. And in the days which lie ahead, we humbly pray for Thy continued presence in the life of each one of us. This we ask in the Name and for the sake of Jesus Christ, our precious Lord and Saviour. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the approval of the Journal for Wednesday, January 4, 1961, will be postponed until printed.

The Chair hears none.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent leave of absence was granted as follows: Mr. Tompkins for Mr. GUTHRIE because of illness.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1, entitled:

An Act amending the act of November 12, 1959 (Appropriation Act 38-A) entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive Legislative and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth interest on the public debt and for public schools for two years beginning June 1, 1959 and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May 31, 1959" changing certain amounts appropriated to the Department of Public Instruction and the Department of State and declaring the Legislature's intention to restore said changes.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I know the Members want to get out of here tonight and I have no desire to keep you here any longer than Steve McCann does. I would like to speak now just briefly, and I mean very briefly, in summation. My remarks will apply also to House Bill No. 2.

Before I start I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen—one question only.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Washington permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. AGNEW. The gentleman has informed me that he has the information for us on the $6 million school health examination reimbursements, and I would like him to give it to us now, if he will.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, the question was whether or not the amounts due the school districts were being paid currently, and it had been stated that perhaps we were as much as a year behind. The requisitions rendered for the school year 1959-60, that is the past school year, have been paid in full.

The requisitions for the school year 1960-61, which is the current school year, are not due until April and May. The process is that they are submitted to the Department of Public Instruction, who, after checking and audit, certify them to the Department of Health. The Department of Health makes the payments. The payments are normally due in June. So, for the school year 1960-61, the current school year, the payments will be due in June, the reports due in April and May.

Mr. AGNEW. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to give one other bit of information that was raised in connection with the amount of earnings, the interest rate which is now being raised by the retirement funds.

I am very happy to state that I was a little bit in error because I stated that it was approximately 3.8, and as of January 1 of this year the average earnings for the school fund were 3.86, and for the state fund 3.83.

Mr. AGNEW. I thank the gentleman.

I would like to point out to the Members of the House that this is all the more reason why we should get these appropriations into the funds as soon as possible so they start drawing this 3.86 interest for the benefit of our teachers and state employes.

During the interim between our adjournment and the evening Session, Mr. Speaker, one of the Members of the Majority who has been here for a while said to me in a very friendly manner that he just did not understand it, he said he never remembered an opening week that was anything but sweetness and light and we were all friends, and he could not understand why I made such bitter political remarks. I had to remind him that this was probably the first time in his recollection and certainly in my experience that we have had emergency fiscal legislation to consider during the first week.

I am a little disappointed that he thought my remarks were bitter or political because under the circumstances, and because this is the first week and we had all these flowers here yesterday we thought they were just a few light left jabs and no left hooks or right crosses or any heavy artillery.

I think we will get along all right. For his benefit and for the benefit of everybody else in this House, we are here to contend; we are here to oppose. When we think opposition is necessary, we are here to cooperate when we think the proposals are in the best interests of the people of the Commonwealth.

Now, we think it is too bad, Mr. Speaker, that we could not take advantage, and the front office did not take advantage, of the fact that constitutionally, by the people's mandate we were in Session all last year or any part of it we wanted to be to handle fiscal legislation. The administration knew a year ago this month that there was going to be a deficit in the Department of Public Welfare. There was no reason, to my mind, other than political, why these deficiency bills were not passed last August or

September. Of course, we were in a presidential election year, and I don't suppose the Governor wanted anyone to get the idea that there was anything wrong with the state's finances because it might have political implications.

I believe that the executive gambled that we would have enough money to take us somewhat farther along than we are now. I think he lost the gamble and now we only have money in the Department of Welfare until January 10, and here the first week in the Session we must consider and act upon these emergency fiscal bills. I do not think that is the fault of the Minority. I think the responsibility for this hasty action is directly the responsibility of the Governor's office.

As I said before, there will be Republican votes for these bills, but there will be no Republican votes for these bills in condonation of either the practice or the manner in which these bills have been brought before us. There will be Republican votes for these bills because of the alternative if they do not pass.

The SPEAKER. The Chair did not misunderstand the Minority Leader; we thought he was remarkably, sweet and commendable.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2, entitled:

An Act amending the act of November 12, 1959 (Appropriation Act 38-A) entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive, Legislative, and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth, interest on the public debt, and for public schools for two years beginning June 1, 1959 and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May 31, 1959" as amended by providing for deficiencies in appropriations made by the act for the fiscal biennium ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred sixty-one, and making certain changes in an appropriation to the Department of Property and Supplies for certain printing and expenses and making an appropriation to the Department of State for the expenses of Electoral College.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. RUDISILL asked and obtained permission for the Select Committee on Constitutional Changes to meet during the session of the House.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker. Before we break for tonight's meeting, the Chief Clerk asked that every Member leave the books on their desks for the bills to be placed in them. Please do not put them in your desk and lock them. The new bills coming out of Committee will not be able to be placed in your book on your desk if it is not left on top of the desk, and not locked in the desk.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. RUDISILL from the Select Committee on Constitutional Changes, reported as committed, House Bill No. 3, entitled:

A Joint Resolution ratifying the proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States relative to the granting of electors of President and Vice-President to the District of Columbia.

Mr. RUDISILL from the Select Committee on Constitutional Changes, reported as committed, House Bill No. 4, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article four, section three of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, making the Governor eligible to succeed himself for one additional term.

Mr. RUDISILL from the Select Committee on Constitutional Changes, reported as committed, House Bill No. 5, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article four, section twenty-one of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, permitting the Auditor General and State Treasurer to succeed themselves for one additional term.

Mr. RUDISILL from the Select Committee on Constitutional Changes, reported as committed, House Bill No. 6, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article fourteen, section one of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania permitting county treasurers to succeed themselves.

BILLS ON FIRST READING

Mr. RUDISILL asked and obtained unanimous consent for the following bills to be read for the first time.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 3, entitled:

A Joint Resolution ratifying the proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States relative to the granting of Electors of President and Vice-President to the District of Columbia.

And said bill having been read at length for the first time,

Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,

Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, all the Members may go home according to our understanding. These bills will go through the Senate and be signed here Saturday morning, rather Friday after midnight to be presented to the Governor's desk.

We have checked again and cannot find any amendments to be placed in the bills. There are typographical errors which do not need to be corrected.

The House will therefore convene on Monday, January 16, 1961 at 3:30 p. m.

The Governor will address the Joint Session of the General Assembly at 5:00 p. m. on Monday, January 16. The Committee on Committees will report and the report will be adopted. That day we will organize all standing Committees of this House.

On Tuesday, January 17th, is the only other Session day of that week in which bills will be continued to be introduced and reported from committees that have been organized.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Saturday, January 7, 1961 at 12:01 a. m. EST.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 12:30 a. m. EST) the House adjourned.

SENATE

FRIDAY, JANUARY 6, 1961.

The Senate met at 12:00 M., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore (Anthony J. DiSilvestro) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. ELVIN B. SHARP, Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Ford City, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, King of kings and Lord of lords, from Whom precedes power and dominion in heaven and in earth, we pray Thee to look with favor upon Thy servants, the Members of the Senate here assembled, to discharge this portion of their duties to the people of the Commonwealth. We would pray, too, for the Governor of this Commonwealth and for all others in authority. Endow them with the spirit of wisdom, goodness and truth, and so rule their hearts and bless their endeavors that law and order, justice and peace, may everywhere prevail. Preserve us from public calamities, from pestilence and famine, from war, conspiracy and rebellion; but, especially, from State and National sins and corruption. Make our State strong and great in the fear of God and in the love of righteousness so that, being blessed of Thee, we may become a blessing to all other States of our Nation and to the Nation, itself.

In time of distress, give us freshened courage, renewed hope, a clearer vision of our duty to Thee and to our fellowmen. In time of prosperity, fill our hearts with thanksgiving and, in the day of trouble, suffer not our trust in Thee to fail.

All this we ask in Thy Name and for Thy sake. Amen.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. At this time, the Chair invites the gentleman from Centre, Senator Hays, to the rostrum to preside.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Jo Hays) in the Chair.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDING OFFICER. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. WEINER and Mr. LANE, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. WEINER, LANE, MURRAY and SCOTT presented to the Chair SB 1, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article four, section twenty-one of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania changing the time at which the Secretary of Internal Affairs takes office.

Which was committed to the Select Committee on Legislation.

Messrs. WEINER, STAISEY, LANE, SCOTT and WADE presented to the Chair SB 2, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article three, section sixteen of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, authorizing cash refunds without appropriation in certain cases.

Which was committed to the Select Committee on Legislation.

Messrs. WEINER, LANE, HAYS, WAGNER and YATRON presented to the Chair SB 3, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article nine, section eight of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, increasing the borrowing capacity of school districts in order to reduce costs involved in financing through municipal authorities.

Which was committed to the Select Committee on Legislation.

Messrs. WADE and McMENAMIN presented to the Chair SB 4, entitled:

An Act regulating outdoor advertising, providing revenues from license fees, permit fees and inspection fees, imposing powers and duties on the Department of Commerce, imposing penalties and providing for appeal.

SENATE RESOLUTIONS

CONGRATULATIONS OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO THE WEST CHESTER STATE COLLEGE SOCCER TEAM

Messrs. DiSILVESTRO and WEINER offered the follownig resolution (Serial No. 3), which was read, considered and adopted:

In the Senate, January 6, 1961.

The soccer team of West Chester State College recently completed a most successful and enviable season. Winning ten and tying one game, the undefeated team won the State Championship and finished third in the Intercollegiate games held in New York.

The hard play and clean sportsmanship displayed by the team were two important factors for its success, but praise must be showered on the coach of this great team. It was the fine work and guiding hand of Mr. Melvin Lorback that led this fine team to the pinnacle of success.

The team exemplified such a spirit of fair play and good sportsmanship, together with an exhibition of such zeal and determination for winning that it was the envy of every coach and the pride of West Chester; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania congratulate the West Chester State College soccer team on its successful and glorious season; and be it further

Resolved, That the coach, Melvin Lorback, be recognized for giving the additional spark to the soccer team that made it a champion; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to Mr. Melvin Lorback and to Dr. T. Noel Stern, President of West Chester State College.

CONGRATULATIONS OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO THE WEST CHESTER STATE COLLEGE FOOTBALL TEAM

Messrs. DiSILVESTRO and WEINER offered the following resolution (Serial No. 4), which was read, considered and adopted:

In the Senate, January 6, 1961.

We can be justly proud of the achievements of our State College at West Chester. Its football team under the superb direction and guidance of its illustrious coach, Dr. James B. Bonder, during the 1960 season bowled over all its opponents and became the Pennsylvania State College Champion.

The victory was well deserved and the honor well placed, for the team during the season established a well earned reputation for skill and determination but even more for team work, clean playing and fine sportsmanship; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania congratulate the West Chester State College football team on its glorious victories; and be it further

Resolved, That Dr. James B. Bonder be recognized for his tireless efforts and inspiration that led the team to the State champions; and be it further Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to Dr. James B. Bonder and to Dr. T. Noel Stern, President of West Chester State College.

STATEMENT BY THE CHAIR

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair is going to indulge himself the privilege of saying that the last resolution inspires him to present a resolution about the Penn State football team winning the Liberty Bowl game. The Chair invites co-sponsorship for such a resolution.

It is now my privilege to turn the gavel over to the President of the Senate, John Morgan Davis.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

CALENDAR

BILLS ON SECOND READING

HB 1 and 2—Read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WEINER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would just like to make an observation in regard to the two bills which we passed here today.

I think all of us are mindful of the amounts of money involved in these bills. The amount involved in both measures is $62,000,000. This money comes from money which was originally put into the Retirement Fund. We are borrowing from that Fund and we are also lapsing other sums of money. If anyone cares to have the rundown or list, I shall be glad to see that they receive it. However, I am sure that every Member of the Senate has received such a copy.

The list comes from various departments; namely, the Department of Labor and Industry, the Department of Justice, the Department of Insurance, the Department of Health, the Department of Forests and Waters and the Department of Agriculture. All of these departments have been given money which they have not used to carry out the mandated duties and obligations of the government. These duties and obligations came about by the Act of the last Session of the Legislature which allocated so much money to each department.

The reason for taking this action and the reason for our being here today and, perhaps, early tomorrow morning is to provide the funds to carry out these duties and mandates because the time is running short. Monday will be the last day on which this matter can be handled, due to the fact that the legislative procedure, as set up in our Constitution—and very wisely thought out by our forefathers and the persons who wrote the Constitution—provides that these measures must be read on three full days. In a sense, this procedure allows for a public hearing to be held on these measures. That is the reason we are doing it in this fashion.

Mr. President, House Bill No. 1, which just passed second reading, covers appropriations for public assistance grants and State-aid for the mentally retarded and the mentally ill. Public assistance, as all of us know, is a variable factor. We can merely estimate how many people will be on the rolls when we begin the year. When we used to work on a biennial basis, we had to allocate so many numbers of dollars for the two-year period. The annual Sessions began last year, but we had already received our biennial budget. Therefore, we will begin now by doing it on an annual basis and we will try to have a better or more educated guess, based on experience.

However, we, who are Members of the Senate, make up the branch of government which, speaking in a corporate sense, can be considered the board of directors of this corporation. The Governor and his staff, and the people who are a part of the Executive Branch, are the president and other officers of the corporation.

We must augment what has taken place. The steel strike has been a very important factor. One of the other important factors is that we have been living in a recession. The year of 1960 did not live up to the expectations as forecast, not only by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, but by the Federal Government, as well. As you probably realize, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is probably one of the largest steel producing States in the Country. These plants have been operating, up until the present moment, on about forty-five per cent of their capacity. Automation has also become a factor. This is something which we also will have to think about during this Session of the Legislature.

With these two factors, which we find are certainly not by far the least of the factors, we have found that there are many, many people who became eligible for relief. These people were not eligible for relief and were not even contemplated as being eligible when we enacted our program. The Legislature, in its infinite wisdom, tried, with the help of the Executive Branch and the Department of Welfare, to take care of the situation. We cannot do less than to take care of people who are mentally retarded or mentally ill. These people are the unfortunates, who make up our society. Many, many, many years ago, society did not care about these people and, as a matter of fact, shunned them. They were regarded as seriously ill and were evaded. Sometimes these people were even put to death. However, I am very thankful that I can say to the people who are sitting here today and to the people of the Commonwealth that we have advanced from that point of view. We now find that these people are not merely ill, but we have found that they can be made better. Many numbers of them have been returned to society and occupy useful places.

The prolonged steel strike, along with the persistence of the general business decline, has made this action here necessary. Of course, coupled with this general problem is the problem of the corporate taxes which have fallen far below, due to the recession in which we have been living. This is not only true of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, but this is symptomatic of the entire economy which is facing the whole Country. We are hopeful that the new programs which are going to be enacted by Congress, and which were promised during the last election, might give this economy a shot in the arm, as it were, to more or less bolster it up. Perhaps by some of the appropriations we are making, and some of the steps we are taking here today, we might be able to retrench or regroup, or maybe not take as lasting an action as we are doing here.

Also, Mr. President, the cost of living has risen. It is the highest today that it has ever been. The people who are subject to living on dole, as it were—and that is a harsh word—are also subject to the same problems to which we are subject. However, we are able to work and take care of ourselves. This factor has caused a great deal of trouble which we also must take care of.

House Bill No. 2, Mr. President, provides for deficiencies to allow for the operation of the agencies responsible for such things as mandated school subsidies, the electoral college, the Department of Property and Supplies and the Department of Public Instruction. This amounts to appromixately $16,000,000. This is also one of the areas which we cannot overlook. If we do not take some action now, these problems will become very serious.

I think, rather than going out and making loans from someone else, or going out and trying, on the open market, to obtain funds, we should borrow it from other areas where we mayhave allocated either too much money or where the money they received may have been given too late so that they could not use it, or maybe some of the programs which were contemplated never had the time to get started, either in the way of personnel or in the way of facilities. Therefore, that money was not being used.

I think everyone will agree that the logical conclusion to be arrived at is that the money, which has not been used in certain other areas where the Legislature has given these funds, must now be taken and used in those areas where it is needed immediately. This need is pressing today. That is why we are here now and why we hope to be here early tomorrow morning. In this manner, we shall conclude this matter in order to lay these two measures before the Governor for his signature and final enactment. By doing this, the orderly process can continue to be carried out.

INTERROGATION

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Weiner.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEINER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SCOTT, Mr. President, I am interested in the amount of money being lapsed by the various departments. Senator Weiner, can you give me a total of that amount?

Mr. WEINER. Would you just allow me a moment to do the addition?

Mr. President, the answer to the gentleman's question is approximately twelve and one-half million dollars. It may be a little bit more or it may be a little bit less, due to my faulty addition, but I think approximately twelve and one-half million is pretty accurate.

Mr. SCOTT. Senator Weiner, are you prepared to state for the record that in the lapsing of these funds by the various departments, they are not being shortchanged in any way?

Mr. WEINER. I can answer that question, Mr. President, in this fashion. The Department heads and the persons responsible for these funds, I am sure, would not give up this amount of money if they felt in any way it would hamper the operation of their departments at this time. Therefore, each of them has sent in what they feel they can do without or not need in their operation, in the sense that some of the projects they intended never got under way because of lack of personnel or maybe the lack of facilities or maybe the lack of time. When we started these programs, you may remember, we were working on a two-year basis and, by the time they got the money, it might have been too late for them to use it.

Mr. SCOTT. One final question, Mr. President. Senator Weiner, you know of no major project that is being abandoned because of any of these departments lapsing this amount of money?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I personally do not know of any project that is being abandoned or in any way hampered by the lapsing of these funds.

INTERROGATION

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Weiner.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEINER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I understand one of the major lapses is in the school health examinations, in the amount of $6,000,000. From the last budget report, the total appropriation for the biennium to school health examinations was $15,217,000.

Mr. WEINER. Excuse me, Mr. President. In order for me to follow the gentleman,—I did not mean to be rude and interrupt you, Senator—would he tell me from which page he is reading so that I can follow him?

Mr. KESSLER. Page three of the November 30th report.

Mr. WEINER. page three. Thank you, sir.

Mr. KESSLER. It is about the middle of the page, Senator.

Mr. WEINER. Yes sir.

Mr. KESSLER. The expenditures, up to November 30th, were six million eight, leaving an unexpended balance of eight million, three hundred eighty. As I understand it, $6,000,000 of that eight million, three hundred eighty is to be lapsed to provide some of these funds.

The question I would like to raise with Senator Weiner is, will it be necessary for the General Assembly to reappropriate that money in June? I am not sure when these school health examination payments are made.

Do you know, Senator Weiner, whether we will have to restore that $6,000,000 in June when we make up our new budget?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I can best answer this question in this manner: It might very well be necessary to reappropriate this money. I believe the Senator well knows this money is based on the number of examinations they actually make and what they intend to do, and it may be that they may need more or they may need less, based on the number of youngsters and the number of examinations and what kind of progress they are making in this area.

Mr. KESSLER. The question I raise, however, Senator Weiner, is based on the fact that these payments to the school districts are made not monthly, but at certain periods of the year.

Mr. WEINER. That is right.

Mr. KESSLER. Is it possible that this money is for examinations that were made in the school year 1960-1961, but may not become payable to the districts until late May or early June, or maybe by July 1, which is usually the beginning af a new school year? If that is the case, then are we simply taking money we had appropriated for school examinations and saying we do not need it in this biennium, but we will have to put up that six million additional to pay for work that was done in this biennium? That is the question I am raising.

Mr. WEINER. I believe the answer to your question, Senator, is that this is money which they have received and which has not been actually debited in the sense that the money has not become due and owing at this point and, as of this moment, the money is being turned back. I would assume, or I would venture to say,—and I will try to get you a better answer by contacting the department to find out—that my own impression is that this money is not now due and owing; that whatever has been done in the way of services is being paid for and money is being kept in the fund to pay for these services.

I do not believe that this money will be due in June, but I will try to get you a better answer. Perhaps I can answer that for you at tomorrow morning's Session.

Mr. KESSLER. Thank you very much, Senator.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, it occurred to me, in reading the report, that there is a possibility that although they are lapsing these funds at this particular time for health examinations, the department feels that possibly they can get by with the lapsing of these funds, Senator Kessler. Your question is quite difficult to answer because it is all problematical, as far as the Senate is concerned, in that over-all operation.

However, I feel quite confident that the department must feel they are in such a position, financially, to permit us to lapse these funds for these emergency appropriations.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I feel that possibly we should talk a little bit about unemployment here in Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, I firmly believe that the challenge of the 1961 Session will be industrial development in Pennsylvania, redevelopment of our resources and the unemployment of good citizens of Pennsylvania.

As you probably know, there is now a Joint Legislative Committee working on this particular problem. We have received the advice and counsel of Secretary Batt, of Secretary Davlin, and of Doctor Boehm. We realize that this is one of the most difficult tasks which this committee or any legislative committee has undertaken in order to work something out, so to speak.

I feel, Mr. President, that this Session is going to be confronted with a number of major financial problems concerning unemployment in Pennsylvania.

I read in last night's newspaper where the zenith of unemployment occurred some time in December,—around December 10th—and now some of our people are being re-employed. However, it was remarked here, a short time ago, that steel is working at less than forty-five per cent of capacity, and it appears to me that we are going to be confronted with this problem all through the year 1961.

At the present time, we plan on holding a meeting in Philadelphia, at which time we would like the advice and counsel of the Mayor of Philadelphia, representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, representatives of labor and representatives of the financial institutions of that area. We are hoping that we can file, with the House and Senate, a preliminary report before March 15th, so that each and every Member of this Senate can get a clear picture of the economic conditions of the State as of that particular date.

I hope also to have a complete report for the Legislature by at least April 15th, so that we can enact proper legislation to augment any Federal legislation which might be passed in Congress.

In closing I might add, Mr. President, that we have a strictly bipartisan committee. Every member of that committee is dedicated to his work. I might also add that we are working without any appropriation. We worked during the holidays in order to expedite this operation.

At the present time, we have adopted, unanimously, two resolutions; one of which requested the National Government to make a grant to the State of Pennsylvania to permit those who have utilized all of their unemployment benefits the right to receive at least three more months of unemployment compensation and the other requested the National Congress to pass legislation setting up a Federal Reconstruction Act here in Pennsylvania. We are hoping that they will listen to our plea, because Pennsylvania certainly needs their help. Once this legislation is passed, I am quite confident, with all of the information we have received as of now, that we will be able to augment that legislation with proper legislation here in the Senate of Pennsylvania.

Doctor Boehm has recommended that we set up technical schools and trade schools in Pennsylvania, and I feel that probably that is a very good approach because, as of right now, we are lapsing moneys to take care of Public Assistance. Had we had the foresight a few years ago to spend $20,000,000 on retraining our people and re-educating our people, I do not believe that we would have the major problem that we have today in lapsing funds for Public Assistance.

Therefore, I want to publicly thank each and every Member of the Committee who is working with us on this problem. Not one of them has missed one meeting. I am very happy, indeed, that the former President pro tempore had the foresight to place these fine men, from the other side, on this committee to work with me.

RECESS

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I request a ten minute recess of the Senate for the purpose of holding a meeting of the Select Committee on Legislation.

The PRESIDENT. Are there any objections? The Chair hears no objection, and declares a ten minute recess of the Senate.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. WEINER, by unanimous consent, from the Select Committee on Legislation, reported, as committed, SB 1, 2 and 3.

BILLS ON FIRST READING

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the first reading of all bills reported from committee for the first time at today's session.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The bills were as follows: SB 1, 2 and 3.

And said bills having been read at length for the first time,

Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Saturday, January 7, 1961, at 12:01 a.m.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 1:11 p.m.

Session 1961. 145th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 38. HARRISBURG, PA., SATURDAY, JANUARY 7, 1961. No. 5.

SENATE

SATURDAY, JANUARY 7, 1961.

The Senate met at 12:01 a.m. Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. ELVIN B. SHARP, Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Ford City, offered the following prayer:

In the early hour of a new day, O Lord, we again assemble to discharge the duties entrusted to us. By Thy gracious mercy, pour out Thy Spirit upon us that these proceedings might have Thy divine blessing and that these, Thy servants and representatives of the people of Pennsylvania, may have the spirit of power, of love and of sound mind; that they may be wise in counsel and diligent in service, faithful stewards of the things entrusted to them. Direct and govern them, preserving them from hasty judgment and vain dispute, inspiring them with hearty love and true devotion, and guiding them both to devise and do those things which shall be for the glory of Thy Kingdom here on earth.

Keep watch over these Members of the Senate of Pennsylvania, as they are soon to travel to their respective homes and districts, by granting them protection and preserving them from all evils and dangers of the way. Bring them to their homes and friends in peace. When they are called again to these legislative halls, continue to bless their labors. Keep them strong in faith, in courage and in self-control.

We pray Thee to guide our State and our Nation in the way of Thy truth and peace, so that we may never fail in the blessings which Thou hast promised to that people whose God is the Lord.

Hear our prayer and make us aware of Thy presence. This we ask in Thy Name, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. WEINER and Mr. LANE, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. PROPERT, SCOTT, WADE, KESSLER and WAGNER presented to the Chair SB 5. entitled:

A Supplement to the act of November 12, 1959 (Appropriation Act 38-A), entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive, Legislative and Judical Departments of the Commonwealth, interest on the public debt, and for public schools for two years beginning June 1, 1959 and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May 31, 1959," restoring certain funds previously withheld from the Department of Public Instruction and the Department of State.

Which was committed to the Select Committee on Legislation.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

HB 1—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, there are two factors, in connection with this House Bill No. 1, which I think deserve mention. The first one is of a legal nature and, not being an attorney, I am not qualified to appraise it, but I think I should mention it.

In 1959, this General Assembly passed two Acts, Act No. 77 and Act No. 78, codifying the Public School Retirement Laws and the State Employees Retirement Laws. Both of those acts—for the Public School Employees, in Section 303, subparagraph 1—require that on July 1st and January 1st of each year covering the preceding six months, the Commonwealth shall pay through the Department of Revenue into the retirement fund on account of new entrants such amount as shall be certified by the retirement board as necessary, and so forth.

The language is similar in both bills.

From the November 30th Budget Report, which was referred to in yesterday's Session, on page 7, it shows an appropriation to the Retirement Fund for the Public School Employees Contingent Reserve Account of $54,220,000. To date, with three-fourth of the biennium passed, no expenditures have been made against that. Apparently, we are not following the laws which we prescribed, and I think that should be brought to the attention of the Members of this Senate.

The second point I wish to mention is a matter of cost. The State Public School Employees Retirement Fund, according to the latest figures, is earning, I believe, at the rate of 3.86 per cent interest on its investments. Since the Retirement Fund has not received this money from the Commonwealth, that interest is lost. Furthermore, as you know, the Commonwealth guarantees interest up to four per cent on these funds. In October, of 1960, the Commonwealth did borrow, on tax anticipation notes, I believe, $50,000,000, at an average interest rate of 1.8 per cent. The result is that by not borrowing money through tax anticipation notes, we will be paying two per cent more interest on this $50,000,000 than the Commonwealth would have to pay. That amounts to about $1,000,000.

It seems to me, Mr. President, that these two facts are certainly worthy of some consideration.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to concern myself for the moment with the last remarks made by the gentleman.

I believe that one of the problems that he raises here is a correct problem, but I think that the gentleman ought to further note that the reason this took place or the reason that this happened was because the Legislature remained in Session as long as it did. Had the Legislature adjourned, they would have been able to go out and borrow this money at a lesser rate and would have gotten the full benefit of this borrowing, rather than having to do it in this manner. By the fact that the Legislature continued in Session—remained on—no action was taken, and finally when they did get around to taking the action, it was too late to actually get the benefit of what the gentleman has mentioned.

On the other point that he mentioned about this account, I believe the Act says "shall." I hope he will forgive me if I, as a lawyer, interpret the word "shall." It means that where there is money in the account or there is money available to do this prescribed act, it shall be done at that time. It is not in the same category where "will" and "must" are used. That is the reason for the word "shall," which is a future tense. It means that if it is available or can be done at that time, it shall be done. It does not mean that we may not get to do it, because the biennium, as the Senator well knows, will end in June of this year, so that this still may come to pass.

It might very well be, Senator, that the $62,000,000 that we are appropriating here,—and it is really not appropriating; we are just shifting the funds from where we have allocated them in the beginning and where they are not being used—by the time the biennium ends or the annual term ends, we may not need this money and that actually a lot less of it will be used than is anticipated at the moment.

I think one of the great fallacies has been and one of the great wrongs that the legislature has possibly done is not being able to anticipate what the economic situation is going to be, or that there will be a costly strike as there was in the steel industry for a lengthy period of time where more and more people become eligible for State aid.

We cannot also, as we extend our programs for the retarded and the mentally ill, anticipate how many people will participate in these programs.

All of these things add to the cost of government. All of these things, as far as we are able to make a guess,—an educated guess—must be anticipated.

However, it seems that in every Session of the Legislature since I have been here, and even before that, the history is very clear that the Legislature has always, for some reason best known to someone who has failed to explain it, been unable to anticipate completely the needs of its people. I think this is sound as well. It shows that our economy is growing. It shows that we are having growing pains and that these are maladies that must be taken care of, and so we, as the doctors, prescribe for this particular illness, and this is the only medicine which we have to take care of the economic body that happens to be ill at the moment.

I am hopeful, as many people are, that the new Administration, coming into Washington, will be able to give the economy the necessary shot in the arm, where it might prime the pump a bit. It might be that this will not be necessary. I think all of us will agree that we are in an economic recession. All of us will agree that there are many distressed areas in the Commonwealth where there is what is known as "surplus personnel." This merely means that they are people who are unable to work and earn a livelihood. Therefore, someone must do something about them. Whether you agree with our programs or not, this is what we have undertaken to do. This is the best way in which we know how to do it. To cut down on any one of these programs is to deny some citizen in Pennsylvania what would otherwise be his opportunity to live or to see that his family can get along while he is undergoing this period of crisis or change. I think this is wise and in keeping with the progress which this Country has been making and the philosophy which we have developed over the last twenty odd years.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I would just like to make myself clear that I certainly do not propose depriving the needy of any help.

The Senate was in Session, late in 1960. It was evident back in October or November that additional funds would be needed for public assistance. We were in Session and we could have passed such tax measures as might have been warranted, in order to provide these funds. The Governor, I suppose, saw no reason why he should request the General Assembly to do that, at the time. However, the fact remains that it probably could have been done by some other method.

Another factor I think, too, is that while probably this means reducing our liability to the Commonwealth for appropriations and making funds available for other appropriations, it could have been handled, perhaps, by cutting down other items of expense which, maybe, were not as desirable. However, business must trim its sails whenever it finds its revenue is dropping. It seems to me that the Commonwealth, with sound judgment, would indicate the same factor.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would agree with the gentleman that hindsight is always better than foresight. However, I would also like to point out to the gentleman —and I dislike going back over the ground which we passed before—that the stocks and bonds tax, which passed the House and which was recommended by the Governor, came over to the Senate and I think it went to the Finance Committee. I think the gentleman who just spoke is somewhat familiar with the operation of that committee and its chores. However, for some reason or other, we could not get that measure out on the floor, in order for the Members to vote upon it. We have discussed it on many occasions. I believe I may have been guilty of belaboring this Body, on a number of occasions, in regard to that measure. However, this was a part of the Governor's tax program. It did pass the House. It had the backing of the Members of the House. It came over here and the bill absolutely never saw the light of day.

Now I would like to inquire whether the gentleman, who just more or less belabored us for the lack of good housekeeping, can explain that this measure was not the proper measure to do the job and that it would not have produced the 62,000,000 and some odd dollars, because I think it would have—as a matter which was put before the General Assembly—raised quite a considerable sum of money which would not only take care of the deficit, but might even provide a small surplus for the many programs that we had in mind. This, however, never came to pass.

I think it improper, at this late date, to belabor the people who are trying to do the housekeeping and who are charged with that responsibility. I say right here, and publicly, that we are accepting that responsibility. However, by the same token, to have denied us the opportunity to have done this and to have given us the tools with which to do the job, and then, later on, to say that we are not doing a good job, I think is a little incongruous and almost paradoxical, at this late date, in using it to discuss this measure.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, you know occasionally we have Wednesday morning quarterbacks and, it seems to me, if I recall correctly when we had our budget hearings, I happened to be a Member of the Budget Committee and I believe the gentlemen on the other side held executive meetings and I knew nothing about them. As a matter of fact, I tried to interrogate the Chairman of the Committee, at that time; namely, Senator Kessler. He refused to give me any information whatsoever. I said yesterday on this floor that probably all of us are Wednesday morning quarterbacks, to a great extent, because, had we spent $20,000,000 retraining some of the people who are now on the unemployed list and who are now receiving public assistance, we would not have this huge deficiency.

In addition to that, Mr. President, you will notice on page 4, of House Bill No. 1, it states as follows:

> The General Assembly hereby declares its intention to restore ot the Department of Public Instruction and the Department of State by subsequent legislation the funds withheld from it by this act.

We are in need of this money, Mr. President, and I believe that the argument, coming from the other side of the Senate, does not have any merit whatsoever at this particular time. I feel that, probably, they are trying to grasp straws out of the air, which do not exist. I repeat that Wednesday morning quarterbacks should not debate a question such as this too much.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, in this debate, which is now taking place, it seems that the gentlemen on the other side have missed the entire point which was brought out by Senator Kessler.

Senator Kessler maintains—and I agree with him—that in the Appropriation Act, of the Session of 1959, we required the Administration to meet certain obligations and the date was set. In our debate, we are talking about many collateral matters. It appears that it is not a shortage of money. This money was in hand. If it were not in hand, we would not be reappropriating it now and, thereby, changing the amount we originally appropriated to the two Retirement Funds and reappropriating it for a different purpose.

Senator Kessler was more than conservative when he mentioned that the entire funds of the School Employees Retirement Fund are now earning 3.86 per cent. As a matter of fact, the new funds, invested over recent years, are earning well in excess of four and three-quarter per cent. Therefore, as Senator Kessler pointed out, we are losing that amount of money which, by making a quick calculation, may be between two and one-half and $3,000,000 for the time which it should have been paid over into those funds. Apparently, the Administration was holding this back, thinking that something might happen. However, that was not the directive of the Legislature. The directive of the Legislature was that these funds be paid over at stipulated times. Had that been done, the moneys would have earned considerable interest, perhaps approaching $3,000,000 in the meantime.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, for the gentleman's information, may I observe that his position is very well taken? However, how would he have us deal with these mandated items, such as the school subsidies and the public assistance, just to name two of the mandated items? You cannot overlook that. When you equate what is involved with that, as against the losing of interest on a fund, I think the scales will balance every time in behalf of the people's interest, rather than the interest to be obtained on the principal of money.

I was hoping that we would not get into this area. However, I think that I should point out to the gentleman—I do not know whether Senator Wade was one of the reluctant Members who would not vote for the stocks and bonds tax—that the estimate on that was that it would bring about $56,000,000. I thought part of that estimate was that if they received an excellent collection at an early date, it might go as high as sixty odd millions of dollars. Therefore, you can see that we would have been very close to our goal. We would have actually covered the deficit, as we then projected it, not knowing about the coming recession or the economic conditions which, unfortunately, do not exist only in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, but across the entire Nation.

As I stated here yesterday, Pennsylvania is probably the leading State in the production of steel. We are only working at forty-five per cent of our capacity. This certainly does great mischief to our economy and to the persons involved in the steel production industry and all the other industries from which our economy flows. Ours is primarily a steel or hard goods economy. I think these gentlemen should consider this, in the light of where we are. I also think they should consider the fact that our deficit is not any larger than it it. Since I have been here, there have been occasions when the deficit was larger than this one. I think we are doing quite well.

I also think it is only because we did not have the additional tax program, suggested by the Governor in his Budget Message originally, and because of the reluctance not to deal with this problem, for many and varied reasons, which I will not take time to go into this evening, that we do not have the money to really do the job. Therefore, we are merely trying to meet the mandates which are important. We are doing it in the most painless way that can possibly be done under our economy.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I just want to make the observation that Senator Wade has a very good point. However, there is a differential in the figures, I think. Senator Kessler mentioned that we were losing $1,000,000 and Senator Wade said we were losing two and one-half million dollars.

However, Mr. President, the point is that we are very fortunate, indeed, because if we had not put this $54,000,000 into the Retirement Fund, we would not be, today, in a position to lapse $42,000,000, which is needed very badly. We had to put it in the fund and I am happy that we did. We are now in the position to lapse it.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

HB2—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I believe the Majority Leader said yesterday that he would try to have information for us today on the $6,000,000 lapse for school health examinations. I wonder whether the gentleman has that information.

Mr. WEINER. I do, Mr. President. I was going to mention it after the bill passed or right before, depending when the gentleman might want that information.

Unfortunately, there are two points of view, in looking at this measure.

The first point of view might be considered favorable to people who are opposed to this measure. That point of view might say that the bills have not been incurred at this moment, but the money may be due and payable before the biennium is ended.

The other point of view is that the service has been rendered, but no bill has been sent. This is not a new practice, today. In other words, it is not new for this biennium or this term. This practice has been going on ever since the Commonwealth came into existence. If the Commonwealth were to go out of business, ten, twenty or thirty years from now, we, in order to close out our books, would owe $6,000,000. Therefore, this money may or may not be due and payable in June. In any event, we have been appropriating it in each new biennium. Of course, beginning with this new Session, it will now be annually. The money will be less now. Actually, we have not received the bills and the money is not payable as of this moment.

Mr. President, these are the two points of view. You can address yourself to either one, depending on where you would like to sit in judgment on this matter. However, on the basis of good bookkeeping and good housekeeping, I think we can say, for all purposes here where we need money, that as long as these bills are not payable and are not on our desks to be paid, we can proceed to use this fund otherwise, because we are going to have to appropriate money the next time around.

I would not like to offend our good friend, Senator Propert, who deals with figures all the time and who might find, in making up a balance sheet, a shortage of $6,000,000. I think we can perhaps hold this as a reserve item, which can be paid as rent accrued, or money accrued, and carry it over to the next time around. Accountants do differ among themselves as to how you would carry that item, as well.

Therefore, Mr. President, I think both these points of view are sound and are well taken .

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I suppose what the Majority Leader said is true of many of our unexpended balances. I assume, therefore, that, come June or July, this General Assembly will be expected to appropriate somewhere around $6,000,000 in additional funds for these school examinations.

I would also like to comment on two other items relative to the lapses which concern me a little bit.

One of the lapses, which is to be used to provide the funds for this appropriation bill, is from the institutions for the mentally ill and the mentally retarded. As I recall, when we went over the budget figures early in 1959, we did not touch that particular sum of money. I think it was approximately $165,000,000. They are lapsing $1,000,000 and, not too long ago, I believe the Governor indicated that we needed many more trained people in our mental institutions. He was going to try to provide another 2,000 or 2,200 beds for people needing mental care. Yet, today, we apparently find that we can operate with $1,000,000 less than we originally appropriated. I do not believe that a barb should be thrown at us who worked over that budget, indicating that we deprived the people of the mental health appropriation which the Administration requested. I believe we gave them the full amount.

One other item which I have a great deal of difficulty in understanding has to do with the appropriation to the House of Representatives.

On page 55, of the Appropriation Act of 1959, House Bill No. 2326, it sets forth the salaries of the Members of the House of Representatives and extra compensation for the Speaker of the House of Representatives in the amount of $1,278,000. On page 57, of that same bill, the expenses of the Representatives are set out at $1,260,000. The title of the bill indicates that these appropriations are for the two-year period, beginning June 1, 1959. However, when we come to the November Budget Report, on the item of salaries for House Members, they show no expenditures whatsoever.

Mr. WEINER. Excuse me, Mr. President. I do not mean to interrupt, but would the gentleman please tell me what page he is reading from?

Mr. KESSLER. Page 14 of the Budget Report.

The appropriation, as shown on this Budget Report, is $1,278,000. The balance on hand, as of November 30, 1960, is $1,278,000, thereby showing there was no expenditure made against it, whatsoever.

On page 15, about the eighth item down the page, it shows that the expenses for the Representatives of the House, in this Budget Report, are $1,260,000. The actual expenditures, to date, are $937,500, with a balance remaining of $322,000, which is just about the right amount. We have gone by three-fourths of the biennium and one-fourth remains. They have spent three-fourths of the expense money and still have one-fourth on hand. However, on salaries, they have no charge against that amount and, yet, we see fit to lapse half of that amount; namely, $639,000, which was earmarked for the salaries of the House Members.

It seems to me that somebody is likely to get shortchanged here, when it comes time to get paid. This just puzzles me a little bit. I tried to get the answer to this question this afternoon and somebody told me that the House figured two years ahead. If that is the case, then the title of our appropriation bill is wrong, because that said two years, beginning June 1, 1959. It certainly would not provide for salaries in 1962 or 1963.

Mr. WEINER. I would like to speak about the first item, Mr. President, mentioned by Senator Kessler. I hope he will forgive me if I transgress on statesmanship and probably bring up a political argument.

Some of these lapses about which we are talking are due to savings that actually have been made by the departments.

On the item mentioned by the gentleman concerning public welfare, where $1,000,000 has been lapsed—and the lapse number is 590—this amount of money was requested for the bricks for the institution, itself. The items which we actually are appropriating money for are not stone and steel, but for people who are outside of the institutions and who are being cared for. However, they are not being institutionalized. This saves the Commonwealth money because they are cared for at home or by some other facility. This money, therefore, evidences itself in that area.

I think, rather than to spend it on stone or steel, we should spend it on human beings who are able to take care of themselves, outside of institutions. This out-patient treatment is certainly not new with the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I believe it was first introduced by the Meninger Clinic, in Topeka, Kansas, when they began some of their forward and pioneer work in the field of mental health. We belatedly got into that area under Secretary Shapiro and we have been moving ahead with these programs. I think that this has augured well, so far as taking care of people and also keeping them out of institutions.

Concerning the other money mentioned by Senator Kessler, I have found, from material which I have received and from people to whom I have spoken about it, that this runs on a two-year basis. This money for the House of Representatives does not mean that any of the Members will get shortchanged. I think that the House Members are smarter than that. However, this fund is on a two-year basis and will run over and, actually, the money will not come out. I think this is more or less a bookkeeping entry.

After we go over this bill, we can discuss it with Doctor Kurtzman, who is here, unless the gentleman would prefer discussing it in detail on the floor of the Senate.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL ON SECOND READING

SB 1—Read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WEINER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, in order that there be no confusion, there are two bills which appear to deal with the same subject. There is one in the House and one in the Senate. As I just explained a moment ago, the House Members are wise men and really know what they are doing, despite the fact that at times it does not appear that way.

There is another bill which deals with the same subject and the section which, in a sense, seems to be confusing is Section 21 of this bill. The bill, which is over in the House, allows the State Treasurer and the Auditor General to succeed themselves. This bill, which just passed second reading here in the Senate, has the same section in it. It appears to say that these men shall not succeed themselves. Actually, what we are doing in this Section 21 is changing the date when they shall take office. It changes it from the third Tuesday in May to the third Tuesday in January. The other bill will be read in conjunction with this. Therefore, the final matter which will be presented to the people on the ballot will be that the State Treasurer and the Auditor General shall succeed themselves and, also, that they shall take office at an earlier date.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

SB 2 and 3—Read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILLS SIGNED

The President (Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis) in the presence of the Senate signed the following bills: HB 1 and 2.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Monday, January 16, 1961, at 3:00 p.m.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 12:42 a.m.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

SATURDAY, January 7, 1961

The House met at 12:01 a. m. EST.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

The SPEAKER. If there are no objections, and the Chair hears none, we will dispense with the usual order of business.

The House will be at ease awaiting communications from the Senate.

SENATE MESSAGE

HOUSE BILLS CONCURRED IN BY SENATE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bills from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 1.

An Act amending the act of November 12, 1959 (Appropriation Act 38-A) entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive Legislative and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth interest on the public debt and for public schools for two years beginning June 1, 1959 and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May 31, 1959" changing certain amounts appropriated to the Department of Public Instruction and the Department of State and declaring the Legislature's intention to restore said changes.

HOUSE BILL No. 2.

An Act amending the act of November 12, 1959 (Appropriation Act 38-A) entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive, Legislative, and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth, interest on the public debt, and for public schools for two years beginning June 1, 1959 and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May 31, 1959" as amended by providing for deficiencies in appropriations made by the act for the fiscal biennium ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred sixty-one, and making certain changes in an appropriation to the Departmet of Property and Supplies for certain printing and expenses and making an appropriation to the Department of State for the expenses of Electoral College.

With the information that the Senate has passed the same without amendment.

BILLS SIGNED BY SPEAKER

Bills numbered and entitled as follows having been prepared for presentation to the Governor, and the same being correct, the titles were publicly read as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 1.

An Act amending the act of November 12, 1959 (Appropriation Act 38-A) entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive Legislative and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth interest on the public debt and for public schools for two years beginning June 1, 1959 and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May 31, 1959" changing certain amounts appropriated to the Department of Public Instruction and the Department of State and declaring the Legislature's intention to restore said changes.

HOUSE BILL No. 2.

An Act amending the act of November 12, 1959 (Appropriation Act 38-A) entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive, Legislative, and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth, interest on the public debt, and for public schools for two years beginning June 1, 1959 and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May 31, 1959" as amended by providing for deficiencies in appropriations made by the act for the fiscal biennium ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred sixty-one, and making certain changes in an apppropriation to the Department of Property and Supplies for certain printing and expenses and making a appropriation to the Department of State for the expenses of Electoral College.

Whereupon,

The SPEAKER, in the presence of the House, signed the same.

Session 1961. 145th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 38. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, JANUARY 16, 1961. No. 6.

SENATE

MONDAY, JANUARY 16, 1961.

The Senate met at 3:00 p.m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, DOCTOR JOHN D. TATE, Pastor of Market Square Presbyterian Church, Harrisburg, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

Gracious Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for all of Thy marvelous works and for the privileges Thou hast extended unto us. For freedom and justice, for vision and wisdom, we give Thee thanks.

Watch over these, Thy servants, whom Thou hast ordained to rule over us. Grant them guidance and understanding as they exercise the rights of government.

During this week, as we prepare on a National level to induct new leadership, create in the minds of those who shall rule over us a keen purpose to seek that which will honor both our Nation and our God. Save us from presumptuous selfishness and cocksure foolishness. Grant that this Body may, with a sensitivity to the rights of all men, work out the affairs of State with honor.

Through Jesus Christ, our Lord, we pray. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. WEINER and Mr. SILVERT, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

January 16, 1961

To the Honorable, the Senate of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

On behalf of the Joint State Government Commission, I have the honor to transmit herewith the Biennial Report of the Joint State Government Commission, 1959-1961.

Copies of this report for members of the Senate have been delivered to Paul C. Moomaw, Secretary of the Senate.

Respectfully submitted,
/s/ BAKER ROYER.
Chairman

The PRESIDENT. This report will be noted in the Legislative Journal and printed in the Appendix. A copy of this report has been placed on the desk of each Senator.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. KESSLER and HALUSKA presented to the Chair SB 6, entitled:

An Act providing for a referendum to determine the will of the electorate of any city, borough, town or township with respect to the fluoridation of their water supply and prescribing the effect of such election.

Which was committed to the Select Committee on Legislation.

Messrs. KESSLER and PROPERT presented to the Chair SB 7, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 5, 1933 (P. L. 289), entitled "Nonprofit Corporation Law," changing time, prior to application for charter, for filing articles of incorporation and certificate relating to registration of corporate name and for advertisement.

Which was committed to the Select Committee on Legislation.

Messrs. KESSLER, BELL and McCREESH presented to the Chair SB 8, entitled:

Which was committed to the Select Committee on Legislation.

Messrs. WADE and CONFAIR presented to the Chair SB 10, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 29, 1959 (P. L. 58), entitled "The Vehicle Code," increasing the amount of property damages involved in accidents for which reports must be filed.

Which was committed to the Select Committee on Legislation.

Messrs. WADE, PROPERT, KESSLER and SCOTT presented to the Chair SB 11, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 31, 1949 (P. L. 372), entitled "The General State Authority Act of 1949," limiting the power of the Authority, requiring prior approval of projects by the General Assembly and providing for the reduction of the Authority's borrowing capacity.

Which was committed to the Select Committee on Legislation.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WADE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, in the past, Members of the Legislature, in both the Senate and House, have been asked to vote rather blindly for gasoline and other motor users' taxes, not knowing definitely how the funds were to be used. Under the contitutional amendment of 1945, these funds—

The PRESIDENT. Would the gentleman from Cumberland please speak just a little closer to the microphone? The Chair is having difficulty hearing him.

Mr. WADE. Under the constitutional amendment of 1945, these funds are isolated and placed in a separate fund,—namely, the Motor License Fund—and used for highway purposes only. However, how much would be used for maintenance, for new construction, for Federal matching, for engineering or for for personnel? In fact, how much would be used for construction in rural areas or urban areas? These, indeed, are mute questions.

Any administration in power can channel the available funds into urban areas or vice versa. Both areas would hold out empty and urgent hands for much needed maintenance and new construction funds.

The enactment of this bill, which I am presenting on behalf of Senator Berger and myself, should bring closer contact and cooperation between the Department of Highways and our Legislature. It should bring a more forward look and better future planning. Just a few years ago, we had three different Secretaries appointed to the Department of Highways in five years. How can we look ahead and plan ahead by changing our top management so frequently? The Highway Planning and Financial Commission, which this bill would create, should go a long way toward easing us over these major changes.

In the 1959 Session, a very revolutionary piece of legislation, House Bill No. 500, was introduced. The enactment of that bill, prepared by one of our universities, would have turned over to the Department of Highways many of our few remaining legislative prerogatives. In addition, as I see it, it would have opened the door for misdeeds which reputedly have been committed in other States. For these and other reasons, the Legislature did not and should not surrender their powers, as was outlined in this suggested measure. For that reason, they did not pass it.

I repeat, Mr. President, what is needed is closer contact, cooperation and liaison between the Legislature and the Department of Highways. The enactment of this measure, which I now read in place and present to the Chair, I believe would bring about that result.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. ROONEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, in the State of Georgia today there is an integration controversy at the University of Georgia. I had the privilege of receiving my degree from that school. I was graduated from the University of Georgia in 1950. I firmly believe that the integration problem existing there at the present time is being created by the Ku Klux Klan, which is very active in the State of Florida and the State of Georgia.

We, in Pennsylvania, last year in this great Senate Body, also failed to pass a bill that would have given fair housing to the Negro families of Pennsylvania. We, too, were guilty of segregation.

Therefore, at this time, Mr. President, I would like to read in place, present to the Chair, and ask for the immediate adoption of a resolution that I am going to ask be forwarded to the President of that great University.

SENATE RESOLUTIONS

URGING THE UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA TO COMPLY WITH THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT'S DECISION

Mr. ROONEY offered the following resolution (Serial No. 5), which read as follows:

In the Senate, January 16, 1961.

The University of Georgia, Athens, Georgia, has recently been the subject of news and editorials occasioned by the admission of Hamilton Holmes and Charlayne Hunter, two students of the Negro race.

By a decision and order of Judge W. A. Booth, speaking for the United States District Court, the University of Georgia was ordered to accept these students and to provide them with an education.

The citizens of Pennsylvania have long admired the University of Georgia, and many of them are proud to refer to it as their "Alma Mater."

We, in Pennsylvania, know that the University will abide by the law of the land which dictates that our Country is founded on the principles of freedom and equality for all regardless of race, color or creed and further that the order and decree of the court will be complied with; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Chancellor of the University of Georgia is hereby urged by the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to open the doors of the University again to Hamilton Holmes and Charlayne Hunter and comply with the United States District Court's decision; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to O. C. Aderhold, President of the University of Georgia, Athens, Georgia.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I suggest that this resolution be referred to the appropriate committee.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is referred to the Select Committee on Legislation.

CONGRATULATIONS OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO THE DELAWARE VALLEY COLLEGE OF SCIENCE AND AGRICULTURE

Messrs. KELLER and STIEFEL offered the following resolution (Serial No. 6), which was read, considered and adopted:

In the Senate, January 16, 1961.

In 1896 Joseph Krauskopf, D. D. purchased a farm of one hundred acres, arranged for the construction of a small class room building, established a faculty of two, enrolled a student body of six and so founded the National Farm School at Doylestown, Bucks County.

It is a wonderful tribute to the founder and to those who have followed him that his philosophy, which was the development of character, tolerance, and the ability to think, the acceptance of students and faculty members without regard to race or creed, the teaching of both theory and techniques and the turning away of no qualified student due to his economic position, has been followed and broadened for sixty-four years.

As the science of agriculture became more complex and as educational processes become more complicated the school met these challenges and in 1946 was accredited by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania as the National Agricultural College, authorized to grant Bachelor of Science Degrees in the various fields of agriculture.

By 1960 the original buildings had grown to over sixty buildings, the one hundred acres to a thousand acres, the student body to over four hundred, the faculty to forty-eight members and the college had enlarged its field to include degree granting majors in biology and chemistry.

Reflecting the broadening program of studies, the name of the college has now been changed to Delaware Valley College of Science and Agriculture. The college has kept abreast of the time, has made significant contributions not only to agriculture, but to the sciences and is now engaged in a devolopment program which will result in far greater facilities for service to its students and the entire community; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the Senate of Pennsylvania extends its commendations and congratulates the Delaware Valley College of Science and Agriculture, their members of its Board of Trustees, and to James Work, its President, a man of vision and dynamic enterprise.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

WEEKLY ADJOURNMENT

Mr. DONOLOW, offered the following resolution, which was read, considered and adopted:

In the Senate, January 16, 1961.

RESOLVED (the House of Representatives concurring), That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, January 23, 1961, at THREE o'clock p. m., E. S. T., and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, January 23, 1961, at THREE-THIRTY o'clock p. m., E. S. T.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

HOUSE MESSAGES

HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, informed the Senate that the House has concurred in the following resolution from the Senate, entitled:

Weekly Adjournment.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 9

He also presented an extract from the Journal of the House, which was read as follows:

EXTENDING AN INVITATION TO THE NATIONAL LEGISLATIVE CONFERENCE TO HOLD ITS FOURTEENTH ANNUAL MEETING IN PHILADELPHIA, PENNSYLVANIA

In the House of Representatives, January 16, 1961.

WHEREAS, the National Legislative Conference has functioned effectively for more than a decade; and

WHEREAS, the membership is comprised of legislators of the States and Territories of the United States and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the legislative officials and staff members of legislative services agencies; and

WHEREAS, the purpose of the Conference is to cooperate for more effective service to the legislatures and to aid in improving legislative processes and procedures; and

WHEREAS, the annual meetings have afforded an invaluable and unequalled opportunity for members and staffs of American legislatures to become more intimately acquainted with legislative organization, procedures, and services of the several States; and

WHEREAS, these meetings have materially increased the effectiveness of the legislative process over the years; and

WHEREAS, the significance of the National Legislative Conference has grown over the years to the extent that some 49 States and Territories participated in the 1960 Conference, and

WHEREAS, the States of Illinois, Washington, D. C., Wisconsin, New Mexico, Louisiana, California, Florida, Washington, Oklahoma, Massachusetts, and Colorado have served as host States for the annual meetings of the Conference; and

WHEREAS, the Fourteenth Annual Legislative Conference is to be held on September 6, 7, and 8, 1961; Now Therefore Be It

RESOLVED (the Senate concurring). That an invitation be extended to the National Legislative Conference to hold its Fourteenth Annual Meeting in Philadelphia, the cradle of American liberty and the birthplace of our American representative government; and Be It Further

RESOLVED, That the President pro tempore of the Senate appoint three members of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint three members of the House to comprise the Pennsylvania Host Committee to cooperate with the Secretariat in making the necessary arrangements to assure that the 1961 meeting in Pennsylvania will be profitable and memorable for the participants.

Mr. WEINER asked and obtained unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of this resolution.

On the question,

Will the Senate concur in the resolution?

SENATE CONCURS IN HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION, SERIAL NO. 9

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do concur in the resolution just read by the Clerk.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to and the resolution was concurred in.

Ordered. That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

RECESS

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I request a ten minute recess of the Senate for the purpose of holding a meeting of the Select Committee on Legislation, to be held in the office of the President pro tempore.

The PRESIDENT. Are there any objections? The Chair hears no objection, and declares a ten minute recess of the Senate.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT pro tempore (Anthony J. DiSilvestro) in the Chair.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

At this time, the Chair invites the gentleman from Washington, Senator Lane, to the rostrum to preside.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (William J. Lane) in the Chair.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. WEINER, by unanimous consent, from the Select Committee on Legislation, reported, as committed, SB 39, 40, 41, 43 and 53.

INTERROGATION

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Weiner.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEINER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, when we were in control of the Senate, we had a rule—I am not sure if it was a written rule, but an unofficial rule—by which we attempted to adjourn the Senate each day at 6:00 p.m.

I would like to now inquire of the Majority Leader if it is his intention to continue that policy in as far as possible?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I have not taken this matter up with our Caucus, but I am sure their feeling would be the same as mine. I intend to follow that as far as it is possible, because the good health of the Members of the Senate is important to all of us.

We ran a little bit late today because of the Governor's speech and going back and forth. We are trying to finish up our business today so that we do not have to come back this evening.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I thank the gentleman.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. MURPHY, FLYNN, POLEN and CAPANO.
(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 1.

In the House of Representatives, January 5, 1961.

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States to support and enact a temporary Unemployment Compensation Act which would extend unemployment compensation benefits for an additional period of three months within each unemployed's benefit year for each eligible unemployed who has exhausted, or will exhaust, all benefits to which he is entitled under the act of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania approved December 5, 1936 (1937 P. L. 2897), known as the "Unemployment Compensation Law" during each such unemployed's current benefit year and which would grant the necessary funds to the State's Unemployment Compensation Funds to carry out said extension; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officer of each house of Congress of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. DAVIS and J. H. GOLDSTEIN.
(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 2.

In the House of Representatives, January 5, 1961.

State Route 666 parallels Tionesta Creek for most of its course as it winds among the wooded hills and scenic valleys of Warren and Forest Counties. It is a route of exceptional natural beauty and historically significant.

At the lower terminal, the village of East Hickory is the site of the mission established in 1769 by the great Moravian missionary David Zeisberger. This mission was erected there in the Munsee-Delaware Indian settlement of Goschgoschink.

David Zeisberger's influence upon the Munsee-Delaware tribe was profound. By the dramatic conversion to Christianity of the war chief Glickhican, "Gun Sight," who had come to Goschgoschink to get rid of him, Zeisberger paved the way for the establishment of the Moravians farther west in the heart of the Delaware country. This growth of Christian faith undoubtedly contributed to the eventful settlement of the Northwest Territory; therefore be it Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the Secretary of Highways is hereby urged to name State Route 666, the David Zeisberger Highway, and to place appropriate markers thereon.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. DAVIS. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 3.

In the House of Representatives, January 5, 1961.

State Route No. 899 traverses land once covered by a great virgin forest of towering pines and hemlocks.

This route also lies close to the wilderness trail blazed by Cyrus Blood, the founder of Forest County, who established his original settlement in Marienville, which today marks the western end of Route No. 899.

Moreover, this route effects a saving of fourteen miles for travellers from the east bound for northern destinations over State Route No. 68. It is a strategic short-cut of value to the region; therefore be it

Resolved, In view of its historic background and travel advantage that State Route No. 899 be known as "The Forest Short-Cut"; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of Highways be authorized and requested to have erected suitable markers at the terminal ends and at the several villages on the route, which shall set forth the name "The Forest Short-Cut."

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. MULDOWNEY and FRASCELLA.

RESOLUTION (Not printed).

In the House of Representatives, January 4, 1961.

On December 26, 1960, The Philadelphia Eagles defeated The Green Bay Packers thereby becoming the champion of The National Football League. This victory brings to the State of Pennsylvania and the City of Philadelphia a signal honor. This outstanding achievement was the result of exceptional team effort on the part of every man participating in the victory. Outstanding in this victory were the efforts of:

(1) Buck Shaw, coach of the Eagles since 1958.

(2) Norman Van Brocklin, all pro quarterback of the Eagles, and voted the outstanding player of the game.

(3) Chuck Bednarik, whose home is in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, all pro and outstanding lineman of the game; therefore be it

Resolved, That all members of this House of Represenatives hereby express their pride in the achievement of this victory and extend heartiest congratulations to Coach Shaw and all members of the team; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to President Frank McNomee of The Philadelphia Eagles and Buck Shaw.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

APPROVAL OF HOUSE BILLS NOS. 1 AND 2

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,

Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 7, 1961.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed House Bill No. 1, Printer's No. 1, entitled "An Act amending the act of November 12 1959 (Appropriation Act 38-A) entitled 'General Appropriation Act of 1959' changing certain amounts appropriated to the Department of Public Instruction and the Department of State and declaring the Legislature's intention to restore said changes."

DAVID L. LAWRENCE.

January 7, 1961.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed House Bill No. 2, Printer's No. 2, entitled "An Act amending the act of November 12 1959 (Appropriation Act 38-A) entitled 'An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive Legislative and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth interest on the public debt and for public schools for two years beginning June 1 1959 and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May 31 1959' as amended by providing for deficiencies in appropriations made by the act for the fiscal biennium ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred sixty-one and making certain changes in an appropriation to the Department of Property and Supplies for certain printing and expenses and making an appropriation to the Department of State for the expenses of Electoral College."

DAVID L. LAWRENCE.

SPECIAL ELECTION

The SPEAKER laid before the House the following writ of special election:

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA, SS:

To Hon. John S. Rice, Secretary of the Commonwealth, and to Paul E. Reeser, William R. Werley and Peter Yonavick, constituting the Board of Elections of the County of Berks:

GREETING: WHEREAS, A vacancy exists in the office of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for the First Legislative District of the County of Berks, caused by reason of the death of Charles F. Luigard, the Representative from said District, on the thirtieth day of December, one thousand nine hundred sixty.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Hiram G. Andrews, Speaker of the House of Representatives, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution of the State of Pennsylvania and by the Act of Assembly in such case made and provided, do hereby command you: That you cause an election to be held in the said Legislative District of the County of Berks on the seventh day of February A. D. one thousand nine hundred sixty-one, to choose a person to represent said Legislative District in the House of Representatives of Pennsylvania for the remainder of the term expiring December first, one thousand nine hundred sixty-two, and that you give due and public notice of said election throughout said District, in the form and manner directed by law.

Given under my hand and the seal of the House of Representatives at Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, this 5th day of January A. D. one thousand nine hundred sixty-one.

ATTEST:

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

SENATE MESSAGE

COMMITTEES TO ESCORT GOVERNOR

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, January 16, 1961.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That a committee of three on the part of the Senate be appointed to act with a similar committee on the part of the House of Representatives, to escort His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, to the hall of the House of Representatives to address the members of the General Assembly in joint session, pursuant to a resolution already adopted by the Senate and the House of Representatives.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED

The SPEAKER. The Chair appoints as a committee on the part of the House to escort the Governor to the Hall of the House, the lady from Lackawanna, Mrs. Munley, the lady from Philadelphia, Mrs. Anderson, the lady from Montgomery, Mrs. Henzel.

The Committee will proceed in the performance of its duty.

OATH OF OFFICE ADMINISTERED

The SPEAKER. The Oath of Office required by Article VII of the Constitution to be taken by Members of the General Assembly will now be administered by the Honorable R. Dixon Herman, a Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County, to Alan D. Williams, Jr., representing the First District, County of Bucks, and William G. Buchanan, representing the County of Indiana.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO ESCORT MEMBERS-ELECT

The SPEAKER. The Chair appoints the lady from Berks, Mrs. Kooker, and the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Helm, to escort the Members-elect to the bar of the House to take the oath of office.

The oath will now be administered.

The oath of office was then administered to the two Members-elect by the Honorable R. Dixon Herman, of Dauphin County, as follows:

Do you solemnly swear, or affirm, that you will support, obey and defend the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of this Commonwealth, and that you will discharge the duties of your office with fidelity; that you have not paid or contributed, or promised to pay or contribute, either directly or indirectly any money or other valuable thing to procure your nomination or election, except for necessary and proper expenses expressly authorized by law; that you have not knowingly violated any election law of this Commonwealth, or procured it to be done by others in your behalf; that you will not knowingly receive, directly or indirectly, any money or other valuable thing for the performance or non-performance of any act or duty pertaining to your office, other than the compensation allowed by law, so help you God?

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks His Honor, the Judge, and the Committee is discharged with the thanks of the House.

It happens that His Honor, the Judge, who has just administered the oath of office to those two Members, is a former Member of this House. Perhaps he will grace this occasion with a few remarks.

REMARKS BY JUDGE HERMAN

Honorable R. DIXON HERMAN. Thank you very much. It looks a lot different from the time I was here. I told the Honorable Speaker, when I saw him downstairs a moment ago, that I recall when I sat way in the back and he was the Floor Leader down here, and I had to clear a lot of legislation with him, and he was always very kind and courteous to the Representatives from Dauphin County. I am pleased to see him again and to see all of you. Thank you.

RESOLUTION

COMMITTEE TO ESCORT THE SENATE

Mr. RENWICK, offered a resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives,
Monday, January 16, 1961.

Resolved, That the Speaker appoint a committee of two to escort the members of the Senate to the Hall of the House for the purpose of attending the Joint Session of the General Assembly.

COMMITTEE TO WAIT UPON THE SENATE

The SPEAKER. The Chair appoints as a Committee to wait upon the Senate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg, and the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Ewing.

REPORT OF JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION

Mr. ROYER presented the following communication and report from the Joint State Government Commission.

The communication was read by the Clerk as follows:

GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION
P. O. BOX 61
ROOM 450—CAPITOL BUILDING
HARRISBURG

January 16, 1961.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

On behalf of the Joint State Government Commission, I have the honor to transmit herewith the Biennial Report of the Joint State Government Commission, 1959-1961.

Copies of this report for members of the House of Representatives have been delivered to Joseph Ominsky, Chief Clerk of the House.

Respectfully submitted,
BAKER ROYER
Chairman

(For report, see appendix).

The SPEAKER. Copies of this report have been placed in the Post Office boxes of the various Members. The Chair is of the opinion that this report is one worthy of the attention of each Member of this House.

RESOLUTION

PROPOSING AMENDMENTS TO HOUSE RULES 22 and 24

Mr. McCANN offered a resolution which was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 16, 1961.

Resolved, That the Rules of the House of Representatives be amended as follows:

RULE 22 STANDING COMMITTEES

(a) Rule 22 is hereby amended in paragraph 4, line 1, by striking out "Thirty-two," and inserting in lieu thereof "Thirty-five."

(b) Amend paragraph 4, item 10, by striking out: "Elections and Apportionment; to consist of 15 members" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "Elections; to consist of 20 members."

(c) Amend paragraph 4, item 14, by striking out: "Insurance; to consist of 15 members;" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "Insurance; to consist of 20 members."

(d) Amend paragraph 4, item 18, by striking out: "Law and Order; to consist of 15 members;" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "Law and Order; to consist of 20 members."

(e) Amend paragraph 4 by adding the following committees: Congressional Apportionment; to consist of 20 members Legislative Apportionment; to consist of 20 members Rules; to consist of 10 members (as provided for under Rule 24).

RULE 24 COMMITTEE ON RULES

Rule 24 is hereby amended by striking out paragraph 1, which reads: "The Committee on Rules shall consist of the Speaker and five other members appointed by the Speaker, one of whom shall be the Majority Leader who shall be Chairman;" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "The Committee on Rules shall consist of the Speaker and nine other members, one of whom shall be the Majority Leader who shall be Chairman; five shall be members of the majority party appointed by the Speaker, and three shall be the Minority Leader, the Minority Whip and the Chairman of the House Minority Policy Committee. "When a House Minority Policy Committee has not been created, the Minority Leader shall name a member to replace the Chairman of the House Minority Policy Committee."

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I ask that all the Members of the House vote in the affirmative and support the change in the Rules as mimeographed and given to you on your desks, for this is the way the Committee on Committees, both Minority and Majority, have completed their committee reports.

It does require 106 votes, and I ask that all the Members, if possible, vote in the affirmative.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, we wish to state that we have no objections to this resolution. It has been courteously given to the minority and studied by us and we are in agreement. I ask our Members to vote for it also.

I would suggest that anytime in the future the present majority is once again in the majority, that they give us more than a few hours notice no these committee changes. I had to make a last minute decision on the telephone this morning, taking people off one committee and putting people on two more. Even with care you can get in trouble with committee assignments, and I did not like to do this off-the-cuff over the telephone. May I repeat, if you should be in the majority again, I do recognize that there is a problem in connection with this, but we would appreciate more than a few hours notice.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, so that the record will be clear, we gave them more than two days notice. Floor Leaders work seven days a week, not five. Your office was notified Friday, not Monday, as to the changes, and in each case we work every day of the week, including Sunday. Such notice was sent by the Speaker, Mr. Andrews, on Friday of last week and not today.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, just for the record, part of these changes were given to my office last Friday and part of them were given to me over the telephone this morning I am willing to work seven days a week.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

One hundred and sixty-nine Members having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the resolution was adopted.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the Majority Leader, Mr. McCann.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I want to stop right here for a minute. Is it not clearly understood, I want the electronics man to clear us on this, I don't want to waste any time, but am I not at this point supposed to have a total on the board?

The SPEAKER. It shows that total before the board is cleared.

Mr. McCANN. Before the keys are closed every time I want the total on the board for the membership to read. This was explained in Caucuses, that they could look at the board and see the totals.

The SPEAKER. When we close the voting the total is up there, and they clear it. When we press the buttons they are totaled, and when they lock the machine, the total vanishes.

RESOLUTION

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON COMMITTEES

Messrs. EILBERG, BOIES, BRETH, HAMILTON, KAMYK, TAYLOR, WARGO, ROYER, WILT, ISAACS and ANDREWS offered a resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 16, 1961.

Resolved, That in compliance with the provisions of Rule 22 of the House, it is recommended that the members of the House named herein be and are hereby elected members of the Standing Committees of this House of Representatives. The Chairmen and Vice-Chairmen, whose names are included in this report, are appointed by the Speaker of the House.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER

Monday, January 16, 1961.

The Speaker announces for the record the following personnel of the Committee on Rules:

Mr. McCann, Chairman, Messrs. Eilberg, Kamyk, Musto, Petrosky, Polen, Agnew, Helm, Tompkins and Andrews.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent leaves of absence were granted as follows:

Mr. Tompkins for Mr. ODORISIO for the week because of illness.

Mr. Tompkins for Mr. GIBB for the week because of illness.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Greene, the Majority Leader, Mr. McCann.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask now—there is one error that has been brought to our attention—the Republican Committee on Committees, under Appropriations, there are six members and there should be seven. Was Wilt's name left off in error. Is that an error from the report that was presented by Mr. Eilberg?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the Minority Leader.

Mr. AGNEW. If the question is directed to me, Mr. Speaker, the omission is an error, yes.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I will ask that everyone under Appropriations enter Wilt, which makes it seven and properly so.

The SPEAKER. At the request of the leadership, the name of Mr. Wilt will be added to the list of Republican Members on the Appropriations Committee.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. HELM asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a resolution to be introduced by him.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

NATIONAL LEGISLATIVE CONFERENCE

Messrs. HELM, WOOD, BOIES, McCANN and AGNEW offered a resolution which was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 16, 1961.

Whereas, the National Legislative Conference has functioned effectively for more than a decade; and

Whereas, the membership is comprised of legislators of the States and Territories of the United States and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the legislative officials and staff members of legislative service agencies; and

Whereas, the purpose of the Conference is to cooperate for more effective service to the legislatures and to aid in improving legislative processes and procedures; and

Whereas, the annual meetings have afforded an invaluable and unequalled opportunity for members and staffs of American legislatures to become more intimately acquainted with legislative organization, procedures, and services of the several states; and

Whereas, these meetings have materially increased the effectiveness of the legislative process over the years; and

Whereas, the significance of the National Legislative Conference has grown over the years to the extent that some 49 states and Territories participated in the 1960 Conference; and

Whereas, the States of Illinois, Washington, D.C., Wisconsin, New Mexico, Louisiana, California, Florida, Washington, Oklahoma, Massachusetts, and Colorado have served as host states for the annual meetings of the Conference; and

Whereas, the Fourteenth Annual Legislative Conference is to be held on September 6, 7, and 8, 1961; Now Therefore Be It

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That an invitation be extended to the National Legislative Conference to hold its Fourteenth Annual Meeting in Philadlphia, the cradle of American liberty and the birthplace of our American representative government; and Be It Further

Resolved, That the President Pro Tempore of the Senate appoint three members of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint three members of the House to comprise the Pennsylvania Host Committee to cooperate with The Secretariat in making the necessary arrangements to assure that the 1961 meeting in Pennsylvania will be a profitable and memorable one for the participants.

On the question,
Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, perhaps a word of explanation—I might say to the Members of the House that this National Legislative Conference is one that is of great benefit to all the legislative bodies in the fifty United States.

Pennsylvania is fortunate this year in having the opportunity of being the host state, and I believe it is a splendid opportunity for Pennsylvania and the Pennsylvania Legislature to meet and exchange ideas with all the other legislative bodies of the other forty-nine states and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico. Since we do have the opportunity of acting as the host state, I would like to see this resolution unanimously passed so we can formally offer an invitation to come to Pennsylvania.

On the question recurring,
Will the House adopt the resolution?
It was adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for its concurrence.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 3.

A Joint Resolution ratifying the proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States relative to the granting of electors of President and Vice-President to the District of Columbia.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, to be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 4, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article four section three of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania making the Governor eligible to succeed himself for one additional term.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, to be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 5, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article four section twenty-one of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania permitting the Auditor General and State Treasurer to succeed themselves for one additional term.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, to be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 6, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article fourteen section one of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania permitting county treasurers to succeed themselves.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, to be transcribed for third reading.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. POLEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to three bills to be introduced by him.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, the Republican caucus that was called for immediately after adjournment today will be called tomorrow off the Floor. The reason for the change is that the Governor's Message tonight will hold us past the usual adjournment hour. The Democrats have changed their caucus until tomorrow morning. While we have nothing to do when they are caucusing, we thought we would also caucus. We convene tomorrow, I understand, at 10:00 o'clock, and at approximately 10:30 both parties will adojurn for a caucus. Our caucus will be called off the Floor then tomorrow morning.

The SPEAKER. The Committee appointed to wait upon the Senate concerning the Joint Session will proceed to perform its duties.

The Committee appointed to wait upon the Governor to inform him that the House is ready to receive him, will proceed with its duty.

DEMOCRAT CAUCUS

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, tomorrow, Tuesday, January 17, this House will convene at 10:00 a.m.

Both parties will caucus then at approximately 10:30 a.m. Tomorrow all Committees will meet for the purpose of organization. A list will be worked out tonight so each Committee will meet on schedule tomorrow and organize the Committee and report back on the Floor that the said Committee has completed its organization meeting. It is believed that it will take, according to the Parliamentarian, approximately an hour to one hour and a half to organize all the Standing Committees of the House. Tomorrow, when we do this—last Session everyone stated that the big holdup was the elevator going down to the first floor for Committee purposes. I bring to your attention when Committees will meet tomorrow in Room 131, that is the room on the first floor, that elevators can be used that are at the south end of this building, as well as both elevators, House and Senate elevators, to get to the first floor and back. I hope you will do this in an orderly manner as fast as possible, and then tomorrow, House Bills 3, 4, 5 and 6 will be on Third Reading and Final Passage in this House and will be voted on. If we can, starting at 10:00 o'clock and working straight through, there will be no break for lunch and we can get out as soon as possible so that you may travel in daylight going home.

Beginning the following week, when we go into a three day schedule, Monday, January 23; Tuesday, January 24; and Wednesday, January 25, the House will normally convene at 3:30 on Monday. On Tuesday we will go to the agreed time in the afternoon so that Committees may hold their meetings in the morning. On Wednesday, the last day of the Session, at 10:00 o'clock, or weeks in which we will be in Session four days, it would then be Thursday that we would go into Session at 10:00 a.m.

I hope that you can plan accordingly, and tomorrow we must do this for we will then be in a position for all the committees to receive the legislation that has gone across the desk today, plus the legislation that will be assigned by the Speaker tomorrow.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Muldowney, rise?

Mr. MULDOWNEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. MULDOWNEY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to submit my resignation as the Chairman of the Committee on Cities and Counties, First Class.

The SPEAKER. The Chair accepts the gentleman's resignation, and will at the proper time, after the Chair has had an opportunity to confer with the leadership, name a successor.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. There is a gadget on the Members' desks which they sometimes play with, but which can flash here on the Speaker's desk, showing that they desire recognition. Just a flicker of the thing will not do. A Member who wants recognition should press that recognition button until he is recognized, because if it just flashes, the Chair will not know whether someone is just playing with the thing or wants recognition. On every Member's desk there is a button which, when flashed, will be reflected with a flash on the desk here at the rostrum so that the Speaker knows who desires recognition. After your press the button keep your finger on the little gadget until you are recognized.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the Sergeant-at-Arms of the House.

The SERGEANT-AT-ARMS. Mr. Speaker, the Committee on the part of the House escorting the Senate.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the Chairman of the Committee on the part of the House escorting the Senate.

The CHAIRMAN. Mr. Speaker, your Committee appointed to wait upon the Senate and escort them to the Hall of the House has performed that duty and reports that the Senate is in attendance.

The SPEAKER. The Committee is discharged with the thanks of the House.

The Lieutenant-Governor, the Honorable John Morgan Davis, is invited to preside over the Joint Session of the General Assembly. The President Pro Tem of the Senate, the Honorable Anthony DiSilvestro, is invited to be seated on the rostrum. The Members of the Senate will please be seated.

JOINT SESSION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR, JOHN MORGAN DAVIS, Presiding

The LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR. The General Assembly may be at ease while it awaits the arrival of His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth.

The LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR. The Chair recognizes the Chairman of the Committee to escort the Governor, the Senator from Centre County, Senator Hays.

SENATOR HAYS. Mr. President, I have the honor to present His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the Honorable David L. Lawrence.

The LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR. Thank you, Senator Hays.

Members of the General Assembly, I present His Excellency, the Honorable David L. Lawrence, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

BUDGET MESSAGE OF GOVERNOR DAVID L. LAWRENCE

GOVERNOR DAVID L. LAWRENCE. Mr. Lieutenant Governor, Mr. Speaker and Members of the General Assembly:

Today, it is my duty to present to you the fiscal documents which, as you may adopt or revise them, will be the basis for our public operations in this State in the coming year. I transmit, herewith, a budget for the General Fund of the Commonwealth, a budget for the Motor License Fund, a budget for the Game Fund, the Fish Fund, the Banking Department Fund, the Milk Control Fund, the State Farm Products Show Fund, the Sinking Fund and for various additional special funds to the number of nine.

We know, of course, that our principal concern will be with the General Fund and the Motor License Fund, in which the great bulk of the State's revenues and expenditures are concentrated.

We have worked hard in the Executive Branch to bring these budget documents to you at a very early date in your session. Time is now an essential factor if the budget process is to have true meaning; the adoption of the Constitutional Amendment instructing us to work on an annual basis gives all of us our marching orders to make prompt decisions as to our taxes and our expenditures.

This budget is our first submission under this new annual, rather than biennial, order.

It has been prepared on the basis of still another departure from precedent; namely, a change in the dating of our fiscal year.

This seems an appropriate time in which to bring the State's fiscal period, now running from June 1 through May 31, into accord with the fiscal year observed by the Federal Government and by the great majority of our school districts. We have a continuous interchange of financial information and transactions with the National Government and our school systems. It would be convenient and reasonable to be on an identical basis with them.

This budget, therefore, is presented on the basis of a State fiscal year which will begin on June 1, 1961 and end at midnight on June 30, 1962. It will provide both appropriations and expenditures on a thirteen-month basis. Succeeding fiscal periods will be on the standard twelve-month reckoning, running from July 1 to June 30.

The first step in the examination of our General Fund budget proposals must be a scrutiny of our experience in the current biennium and a forecast as to how our affairs will appear when this fiscal period terminates. That experience—and that forecast—are not as comforting as we would like them to be.

It had been our hope when the budget for the 1959-1961 biennium was proposed that it would provide for the total elimination of the large deficit which had accumulated in the State's operations, growing from year to year and from Administration to Administration until it reached $141,947,990 at the close of the last biennium.

We would have realized our hope for such a fiscal balance if our national economy had maintained a level of relatively full employment and normal corporate profits.

But, as you must know, our State finances are quickly affected by any decline in the national economy. Our revenues for the 1959-1961 biennium will be about $53,000,000 less than we had estimated, despite the fact that those estimates were judged conservative in relation to the business level at the time they were adopted by this Administration.

This can be wholly attributed to a decline in revenues from the two principal corporate taxes—the tax on corporate net income which is off $39,500,000 and the capital stock tax which is yielding $13,900,000 less than estimates.

Other revenue sources for the State will produce—as a group—income that is slightly in excess of the projected figures. The sales tax will return biennial receipts of $731,708,832—which is about $17,600,000 less than estimates. This deficiency, which is not great in ratio to the volume of revenue produced by the sales tax, is compensated by higher yields in the inheritance tax, cigarette tax, institutional reimbursements and escheats. The increases in institutional reimbursements and escheats are the result of a special—and apparently successful—effort to improve our collections of monies due the State.

The effect of a recession economy, however, is not limited to declining revenue. As unemployment spreads and periods of joblessness are lengthened it also increases the money which the State must pay out in public assistance grants. We have found it necessary, as the Legislature knows from its first action of this session, to make deficiency appropropriations for public assistance which now total $54,800,000 for the biennium. I am sure that the Legislature agrees with me in a determination that no one will go hungry in this State. Your prompt action in voting additional public assistance funds so certifies.

The only other category where expenditures have significantly exceeded original appropriations has been education, where mandated subsidies cost the Commonwealth $16,345,935 more than the Legislature originally saw fit to appropriate, in spite of the Administration's arguments that the higher figure would necessarily be required by the terms of existing legislation.

The deficiency appropriations enacted during the first week of the current session of the General Assembly amounted to $62,220,330. When the $10,000,000 increase for public assistance grants, authorized by the 1960 fiscal session, are added, the total increase in appropriations and authorizations comes to more than $72,000,000.

We have been able, fortunately, to offset, in part, such increased expenditures by tight budgetary control in other phases of our operations. No department of the State government has overspent its own operating appropriations. We expect that the total appropriations to be lapsed from the 1959-1961 biennium will be $39,000,000 which becomes a sizeable credit item in calculating our final deficit. To a large extent, these lapses are testimony to the rigid austerity program which the Administration vigorously enforced.

The final deficit—I find some consolation in reporting—will be substantially reduced from its beginning total, in spite of the effects of business recession and growing unemployment.

It will be approximately $86,000,000 as estimated on our present judgment of revenues and expenditures to the end of the biennium. That is $56,000,000 less than the deficit with which the fiscal period began and consequently, represents a substantial improvement in our position.

We are confronted, however, with necessity of paying off this accumulated deficit in one fiscal year, instead of in the twenty-four months of a biennium, and of doing this over and above all the operating requirements of the General Fund.

I now suggest to the Legislature that it take what we consider appropriate measures to prevent the deficit from actually occurring. This can be substantially accomplished without the imposition of additional taxes. We recommend, instead, that a major group of present business taxes—specifically, the corporate net income tax, the tax on bank shares, the utilities gross receipts taxes and the tax on foreign life insurance companies—be accelerated to a base of 80 per cent prepayment before the new fiscal period begins on June 1.

The increased yield in revenue to the Commonwealth will be $82,000,000—an amount which approximates the remaining deficit which must otherwise be carried over and discharged in the new budget period.

No increase in rate, or in total tax burden is involved. It is simply a matter of timing, in which the anticipation of the taxes ultimately due gives the Commonwealth the opportunity to wipe out a non-recurring deficit with a non-recurring tax payment advantage.

It seems to me that it is preferable to adopt such a program, rather than enact new taxes to be levied against either business or consumers. We all know that temporary taxes—such as might be levied to liquidate the deficit—have a habit of remaining in force well after the original basis for the levy has disappeared.

I might point out that the prepayment of taxes, as now suggested, is not new in Pennsylvania. The capital stock tax has been levied on a basis of 80 per cent prepayment since 1955 under a Democratic Administration and the corporate net income tax has been collected on a 50 percent basis of prepayment since the 1951 legislative session which, as you will recall, was controlled by the party now in the minority.

Both parties—Democrats and Republicans alike—have cooperated in recent years to establish a tax climate in Pennsylvania which is favorable to economic growth. We hope to continue the tax policies which have given us a balanced program and it seems to me that the present recommendation is preferable to increasing the rate of the corporate net income tax or once again eliminating the manufacturer's exemption from the capital stock tax.

I trust that it will commend itself to you, to the taxpayers affected and to the people of Pennsylvania who have entrusted us with their public responsibilities.

The important thing is time. If this is to be done, it must be done quickly. Appropriate legislation will be promptly submitted. To be effective, it must be approved and reach the Governor's desk on or about March 1.

The liquidation of the deficit in the manner now proposed will make it possible to adopt a General Fund budget for the 1961-1962 fiscal year without encountering such major revenue problems as were met in the sessions of 1951, 1953, 1955-1956 and 1959.

The budget proposals call for expenditures of $991,126,372.

Every function of State government is continued at its present level or improved; all mandated requirements are met; some new and desirable programs are proposed and financed. The budget contains allowances for a 5 per cent across-the-board pay increase for State employes, beginning on the anniversary date of their employment by the State, exclusive of cabinet officers and similar high ranking State officials. It reflects a new and better policy in the purchase of equipment for facilities built by the General State Authority, in that movable and expendable items, previously financed from the proceeds of long-term borrowing, will be paid for from current revenues.

It is concerned with our economic and human needs.

In its concern with economic recovery and growth, it increases the rate of the State's participation in urban renewal to $8,000,000 annually and the rate of contribution to the Pennsylvania Industrial Development Authority to a similar $8,000,000 figure. We anticipate a stronger combined operation—with Federal, State, local and private support—than we have ever before mustered for rebuilding our cities and for the recovery of a sound economic base in our areas of chronic unemployment. The budget also proposes an increase of $400,000 in the amount we will spend for the development of our tourist industry, half of it to be matched by local effort. There is an additional appropriation of $100,000 for State participation in marketing programs for Pennsylvania's farm products.

A State Housing Agency, as provided by legislation enacted at your last session, will be placed in operation this year, but no appropriation is required. Funds previously appropriated are being matched with Federal grants to provide initial operation, aimed at extending the market for privately built homes.

In its concern with human welfare, the budget provides for an approximate ten per cent increase in the funds it makes available for our mental hospitals. Various programs, in which State funds are contributed to community agencies working in the mental health field, are increased by amounts ranging from 10 to 50 per cent. The public assistance appropriation is based upon a monthly average case load of 390,000 persons, in the belief that an economic upturn in the later part of the year will somewhat reduce the present burden. An additional food allowance of $2.00 per month per adult person is provided. The budget provides for a two-fold attack on juvenile delinquency: in direct State responsibility, for the operation of additional Youth Development Centers; in State aid for local programs which provide for special police services involving juveniles and probation officers working with this age group.

The budget establishes modest new appropriations to implement legislation which the Administration will propose for consumer protection, court administration and elimination of discrimination in housing.

It contemplates increased State aid for existing libraries and would appropriate additional funds to provide library services where none now exists.

I will not, at this point in the budget message, dwell on its provisions for education but will discuss this vital area of State activity in relationship to the report of the Governor's Committee and to possible programs of Federal assistance.

You will recall that the total proposed expenditures are $991,126,372.

Our revenue estimates project income, as based on present taxes, including the proposed prepayments, and other sources of revenue, at $971,384,000. There is a gap of nearly $20,000,000 which we propose to close by adjustments in our tax laws.

I accordingly recommend to the Legislature that:

1. The present two per cent commission paid to merchants for the collection of the sales tax be eliminated. The gain to the State will be $8,000,000.

2. The commission paid for the affixing of tax stamps to cigarettes be reduced to one and one-half per cent from its present level of four percent. The gain to the State will be $2,500,000.

The estimated yield of these two items assumes that the Legislature will effect the necessary changes in the law before April 1.

3. The tax on bank shares be extended to Savings and Loan and Building and Loan Associations. The additional yield will be $4,000,000.

4. The tax on life insurance premiums, now levied at a rate of two per cent on out-of-State insurance companies, include Pennsylvania companies as well. The additional yield will be $9,200,000.

Such changes in the law will produce sufficient revenues to bring the budget into balance and to discharge whatever small deficit may remain after the prepayment of the corporate and business taxes is accomplished.

We are thus able to adopt a General Fund budget without major changes in our present tax system and without increasing the rate of existing taxes.

We are not able to achieve a similar result in financing our budget for highway maintenance and construction, unless we are willing either to accept deterioration in our highway system or to call back to State uses the money which now goes to our Pennsylvania communities from the gasoline tax.

I am submitting a Motor License Budget which refuses to accept either of these bad alternatives. It is instead a budget planned to move us forward into the greatest era of highway betterment, improvement and construction which this State has ever known.

The budget for our highways program proposes total expenditures of $475,192,419 of which the Federal contribution will be $124,800,000 and the State expenditure will be $350,392,419. Because the highway fund will begin the year with an uncommitted surplus of only $2,090,393, it will need current revenues of $348,302,026 to meet the requirements of the budget. Under our present schedule of gasoline taxes and licenses, the projected revenue would be only $275,200,000—which is $73,102,026 short of the necessary goal.

I am urging the Legislature to increase the tax on gasoline by two cents per gallon in order to provide the money necessary to bring the highways budget into balance.

This is the opportune time—the necessary time—to give Pennsylvania's economy the stimulus of a highway improvement program extending into every nook and cranny of the State. The highway betterment and major construction program that we make possible will provide substantial employment on the jobs themselves; it will also benefit the bituminous, steel and cement industries which normally provide work for so many Pennsylvanians.

Beyond these immediate economic benefits, a highway program of such magnitude, proceeding to accomplishment in the years immediately before us, will provide a base for the restoration of the economy in our depressed areas and in those parts of our State which are now threatened with chronic unemployment. Good transportation is the essential of industrial development. We must criss-cross our State with modern highways and provide adequate feeder roads connecting them with every part of Pennsylvania.

We actually have two programs to undertake—and our task is to see to it that they do not compete with each other to our common detriment.

One task is the modernization of what is called the 100 per cent state system—the 20,000 miles of rural and feeder roads for which we receive no Federal assistance. There is a constant pressure, when our funds are narrowly limited in amount, to neglect these roads and to apply all available state money to the Federally-aided highways. We are naturally anxious to take advantage of Federal funds; we are anxious to build the major highways which we know and need; we are properly concerned with our services to our large centers of population. But we cannot afford to permit 20,000 miles of highway, for which we have assumed responsibility, to slip back so far that it will someday take an expenditure of literally billions of dollars to rebuild and replace them. We are now proposing a massive program for the deferred maintenance and improvement which these roads need, and we are proposing that this be done without cutting back—in fact, quite the contrary, as you will see—on our Federally-aided program and its great interstate system of expressways.

The Motor License Fund budget which is now transmitted to you will provide for a virtual doubling of our work on the 100 per cent state system through a program calling for expenditures of $79,900,000.

The budget also provides $46,340,000 in state funds for construction to match $106,360,000 in Federal aid for the Federally assisted highways in Pennsylvania. Every dollar of Federal highway money will be utilized in Pennsylvania if this budget is approved, and a construction program totalling $152,700,000 will come into execution in the coming fiscal year.

I earnestly suggest to the Legislature that this is good—but that it is not good enough. We are not building the interstate system fast enough to bring us maximum benefits in Pennsylvania; I propose that we equip ourselves to accelerate the major Pennsylvania projects that are on the interstate system by using our own resources to anticipate Federal reimbursements to come, as permitted by the Bureau of Public Roads.

I am personally unwilling to wait for a decade—or for fifteen years—or more for highways which can physically be designed and completed in half that time or less.

We urge this session to permit us to go forward full speed ahead on such projects as the following which are of tremendous importance to our economy:

The Anthracite Expressway from Scranton to Harrisburg;

The Cumberland Valley Freeway from Harrisburg to Hagerstown;

The Delaware Expressway from Morrisville through Philadelphia;

The Keystone Shortway from Sharon to Stroudsburg; and

The Erie-West Virginia Freeway.

In order to accomplish this speed-up, we will suggest to you that the borrowing capacity of the Highway and Bridge Authority be increased by $300,000,000. We do not anticipate any ultimate expenditure by the state in this program beyond its normal 10 per cent matching requirement, except the sums that it will pay in interest for short-term borrowings made in anticipation of Federal repayment. The process will be similar to the temporary construction loan which a builder negotiates before his final mortgage financing is paid to him.

Concurrently, I will urge the Turnpike Commission to accelerate both design and construction of the improvements to eliminate bottlenecks and speed the flow of traffic through the mountain section of the original Turnpike route, from Irwin to Carlisle.

But I must emphasize again that we cannot undertake such a program, just as we cannot undertake an effective reconstruction and betterment program for the 20,000 miles of rural and feeder roads unless the Legislature is willing to pass a tax measure that will provide the funds.

The money we receive from gasoline taxes is constitutionally directed to highway uses; it cannot be legally diverted. No other tax is so sure to directly benefit those who pay it; they are providing the functioning roads and highways which alone make useful their automobiles and trucks.

The additional two cents in gasoline taxes will provide approximately $74,000,000 in receipts to the Motor License Fund over the 13 months of the 1961-62 fiscal year, of which $7,400,000 would be rebated to the municipalities.

If we are to gain the full bentfits of an expanded highway program in Pennsylvania this year, it will be necessary for the Legislature to make—in this, as in so many other matters in this budget—a prompt decision.

The Highways Department must be able to make a quick estimate of its capabilities, or we shall lose the benefits in both construction and employment which can be gained by taking full advantage of the approaching construction season.

As we have discussed the highways budget, you undoubtedly were struck, as I have been, by the intermingling of state and Federal funds and of state and Federal action. Federal funds will finance more than one-fourth of our highways budget, even with the expanded program of state support that is herein proposed.

It is obivious that Federal policies and Federal financing are virtually inseparable from state polices and state financing in many vital areas of our life.

We are obviously concerned with the action which will be taken to repair the present faults in our economy and restore the Nation to a more rapid rate of econmic growth and more nearly full employment. We are concerned with the proposals now before Congress for assistance to areas of chronic unemployment, which is so much a Pennsylvania problem. And, in this regard, we must be prepared to take full advantage in this state of any programs which are passed by Congress or effected by executive order with the aim of relieving unemployment.

While it is not a matter for this budget message, since unemployment compensation is not within the budget here proposed, we have a vital concern in the extension of unemployment compensation payments by the Congress on a grant basis. This is important to many thousands of our people; it is also important to our fiscal affairs since such payments obviously defer the day when unemployed families must ask for public assistance.

As to public assistance itself, we will urge Congress to enact legislation making Federal payments for unemployment relief, as proposed in the recommendations of the Kennedy task force on distressed areas. It will be our policy, if such grants are made, to use the aid obtained from the Federal contribution as a protective cushion for our own public assistance appropriations until the next legislative session.

The housing and urban renewal programs, which are so important in Pennsylvania also are largely dependent upon Federal action.

The state funds for urban renewal provided in this budget are supplementary to an effort which is primarily local and Federal. Each state dollar invested can be expected to bring us a return of five additional dollars from other agencies of government and twenty-five dollars more from private investors.

We all know, of course, that the problem of medical care for the aged has been accepted by the Federal Government as an area where it has major responsibilities. It is still not decided whether such a program will be financed as a part of our established system of social security, as advocated by the President-elect, or from general tax revenues, both state and Federal, as proposed in the legislation presently in force.

It will make a difference in our final budget. Under the present program, which was supported by the outgoing National Administration, I am advised that our costs in Pennsylvania will be an additional $10,187,500 annually, to match a $15,187,500 Federal grant-in-aid. Under a Social Security program for medical care, we would have no additional state costs, but would save instead $5,000,000 now disbursed annually through state aid to general hospitals.

As I see it, the basic argument for the Social Security plan goes beyond its obvious advantage financially to our state government. It lies in its philosophy which holds that medical care for the aged should be provided by public insurance and extended as a matter of right. Under the alternate proposal, it would always be extended as a matter of charity.

I will request the Legislature to permit us to cooperate in whatever program is finally adopted, but this budget assumes that Congress will so alter the present legislation as to eliminate the need for further state appropriations.

We cannot know at this time the form and the amount of Federal contribution we will receive in another area—the most important area—of state concern, the area of education. It seems probable that we will obtain an appreciable amount of Federal assistance, which I hope will come in augmentation of teachers' salaries as well as in aid to school construction. We expect too the report of the Governor's Committee on Education, which, I assume, will recommend major changes in our systems of administration and financial support for education in Pennsylvania from the pre-school through the university level.

This budget, however, cannot be deferred until a Federal pattern emerges or until the Committee reaches its final decisions and makes its report. As I must say to you time and again, the immediate business of the state must be to adopt its basic fiscal program for the fiscal year which begins on June 1, 1961, and we must proceed at once to meet our current responsibilities and answer our known problems. The budget accordingly proposes a program in education substantially in accord with the state's present mandates and obligations. That is not to say—as some might think—that it fails to provide for a massive degree of state support for our public schools and our colleges and state-aided universities.

The budget proposes that the Commonwealth spend $469,055,500 for education in the thirteen months of the fiscal period. This one function claims almost half of the General Fund expenditures—to be exact, 47.14 per cent. I think that demonstrates a desire on the state's part to do its share.

The capital budget, which I will submit at a later date in this session, will provide another major outlay of state support for education, with extensive building programs at our state colleges, Penn State University, and the state-aided universities.

Through the School Building Authority, we are making it possible for hundreds of school districts in Pennsylvania to build a superb physical plant for our public schools system.

And yet I am quite sure that none of us—the school districts, the state, or the Federal Government—is doing enough to meet our present needs in education or to prepare for the enormous new demands of the immediate future.

Accordingly, I believe we may accept this budget for education as a base—and enact it quickly into law. We may then consider such further action as may be indicated by Congressional decisions and by the recommendations of the Governor's Committee. It should be clear, however, that programs which are more costly than the provisions of this budget will necessarily require new taxes either at the state or at the local level, or both.

I will be sympathetic to every good proposal which will raise educational standards in Pennsylvania and broaden the opportunities of our young men and women. This is a world for the skilled and the talented; our success as a part of American society and America's success as a part of the world community will be largely determined by our ability to discover and develop the best of our human resources.

You will hear it said that in difficult times—in times of declining revenue and a sluggish economy—that we should do what a family must do when its income drops; that we should reduce our commitments, do less, cut the suit to fit the cloth. But what is right for the individual is wrong for a society. In times of gathering stress, we would add—add disastrously, I fear—to our troubles if we did not use government as a means of helping the economy to get rolling again. This is the time to intensify our attack on all our chronic problems so that they do not persist as additional handicaps, as well as a time to answer the emergencies which widespread unemployment brings.

It is a time to do more—not less.

I present this as an action budget, and I ask for it your sympathetic consideration and your staunch support.

We have a race against time.

And we are legislating, as I must remind you, not for the government of this Commonwealth alone—not for state employes, and state buildings, and state administered programs—but in the largest measure for those who look to the state for help; school districts, colleges, hospitals, our municipalities, the mentally ill, the families receiving public assistance and so many more who depend upon state aid. The state government is a channel in Pennsylvania. We receive and we distribute. More than two-thirds of the state's General Fund budget is not spent by state government itself.

To make that budget work, we must soon know its final form.

It is essential that the Legislature act by March 1 on the acceleration of the corporate and business taxes if we are to avoid a deficit.

It is essential that the commission payments be eliminated from our sales tax legislation and reduced in our cigarette tax legislation by April 1.

The highways program should be adopted by the end of March.

My conclusion today was well put for me by William Shakespeare. He wrote, and I say with him:

"The affair cries haste, and speed must answer it."

This budget, this fiscal program for the betterment of Pennsylvania and its people, depends for its success upon your prompt and decisive action. It will be all the better done if it is done forthwith.

Thank you and God bless you.

The LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR. On behalf of the Members of the General Assembly, Governor Lawrence, I want to thank you indeed for your message.

The Committee on the part of the Senate and the House will now escort His Excellency, the Governor to his Chambers.

The Chair asks that the Members of the House and visitors remain seated for just a moment while the Members of the Senate leave the Hall of the House.

The Members of the Senate will please re-assemble immediately in the Senate Chamber.

The business for which the Joint Session of the General Assembly having been transacted, the Session is now adjourned.

THE SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR.

MOTION PRINTING PROCEEDINGS OF JOINT SESSION

Mr. Kamyk, Mr. Speaker, I move that the proceedings of the Joint Session of the Senate and House be printed in full in this day's Legislative Journal.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

BUDGET MESSAGE

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor.

The SPEAKER. The communication will be noted in the Journal and printed in the appendix.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. BACHMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Tuesday, January 17, 1961 at 10:00 a. m. EST.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 5:50 p. m. EST), the House adjourned.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Session 1961. 145th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 38. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, JANUARY 17, 1961. No. 7.

SENATE

TUESDAY, JANUARY 17, 1961.

The Senate met at 11:00 a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore (Anthony J. DiSilvestro) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, DOCTOR JOHN DAVID TATE, Pastor of the Market Square Presbyterian Church, Harrisburg, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

At the opening of this Session of the Senate, we are mindful that Thou hast provided us plentifully with the materials of peace and prosperity, O Lord, and for this we give Thee thanks. If, by our own selfish blindness or greedy foolishness, we so ill use or poorly distribute these raw materials, over which Thou hast made us stewards so that peace and prosperity is not their end, we beg Thy forgiveness and guidance.

In our State, we are blessed with natural resources, man power, good education, business acumen and the will to distribute all of these for the best interests of each member of the Commonwealth. We are aware that distribution is one of our most serious problems, and we pray for wisdom, understanding and courage to do what we know is right against the many pressures to serve the vested interests of the few.

In this we seek Thy presence, through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. At this time, the Chair invites the gentleman from York, Senator Seyler, to the rostrum to preside.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Harry E. Seyler) in the Chair.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDING OFFICER. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. WEINER and Mr. DONOLOW, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

RECESS

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I request a ten minute recess of the Senate for the purpose of holding a meeting of the Select Committee on legislation, to be held in the office of the President pro tempore.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any objections? The Chair hears no objection, and declares a ten minute recess of the Senate.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

Which was committed to the Select Committee on Legislation.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DONOLOW asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DONOLOW. Mr. President, one of the most controversial subjects of the day is one which is growing in vocal momentum, not only throughout this Commonwealth, but throughout the United States. I am speaking in regard to the subject of the abolition of capital punishment. Today, we find that many civic groups, church groups and even individual citizens, throughout this Commonwealth, are raising their support for the abolition of the death penalty.

I may say today, on this Senate floor, Mr. President, that ever since 1925, when this Body gave juries the privilege of selecting the penalty as either death or life imprisonment, capital punishment in Pennsylvania has been a complete failure. Throughout the Commonwealth, a survey was taken and we found that every category of crime has decreased, with the exception of murder. Therefore, capital punishment has not served as a deterrent.

There are nine States and forty foreign countries which have seen fit to abolish capital punishment. Statistics tell us that the ten States, with the highest number of murders, all have capital punishment and death for the crime of murder. We are told by those who have studied the subject carefully that the crime of murder is not a crime of the criminal class. However, it is the crime of those who are mentally ill and is usually perpetrated during the heat of passion.

Mr. President, I believe a great, humane President of the United States, Thomas Jefferson, summed it up very beautifully when he said: "I shall continue to ask for the abolition of the punishment of death until I have been convinced of the infallibility of human judgment." I think this is one of the basic reasons for the abolition of capital punishment.

We find that where the death penalty is not the punishment, justice is swift and delays are short. Mr. President, from my experience, I have found that the swiftness and the certainty of the punishment, and not the severity, are the deterrent factors in any crime.

Mr. President, I think we can best state this subject, morally, by taking the words of one of the greatest legal minds in American jurisprudence; namely, Clarence Darrow. In 1924, in New York City, Clarence Darrow debated Judge Talley on the subject of capital punishment. He said: "Some say that when a killer takes a life, why should the State take his life?" He stated further: "I would hate to live in a State which I did not think was better than a murderer." I think this is the crux of this entire issue.

Finally, Mr. President, I would like to draw this Body's attention to our neighboring State of Delaware. I can say to you who are members of the Bar and who have ever tried cases in Delaware, that you know what a conservative State is our sister State of Delaware. Two years ago, the State of Delaware appointed a legislative committee which made a vast and thorough study of this problem. After they heard many witnesses and gave much study and much attention to it, they introduced legislation which abolished capital punishment. Mr. President, the resolution which I am offering today calls for such a legislative study.

I would like to make a comment about those Senators in this room who have signed this resolution. Some of the Members who signed this resolution are in favor of capital punishment. Some of the other Members are opposed to capital punishment. However, they all agree that we should have a study of this subject.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

JOINT COMMITTEE TO STUDY THE ABOLITION OF CAPITAL PUNISHMENT IN PENNSYLVANIA

Messrs. DONOLOW, CONFAIR, LANE, HAYS, CAMIEL, EHRGOOD, SCOTT, SEYLER and MAHADY offered the following resolution (Serial No. 101), which was read as follows:

In the Senate, January 17, 1961.

The act of April 12, 1794 abolishing capital punishment in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania except for first degree murder was, in effect, a return to the "great law of Penn" which had been promulgated for the proprietary colony of Pennsylvania in 1682. Later the act of May 14, 1925 gave the right to the jury, in first degree murder cases, upon conviction, to select the punishment of either life imprisonment or death. In recent years and especially in this past year, it has been learned that all crimes throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania had decreased with the exception of murder. The death penalty seems to have failed in deterring the crime of murder. There is a rising tide, not only in Pennsylvania, but throughout the United States as well as in many foreign countries against the imposition of the death penalty.

At present, there are nine States and forty foreign countries which have abolished capital punishment. A recent survey indicates that of the ten States which have the fewest murders, four had abolished the death penalty and of the ten States which had the most murders, all of them enforced the death penalty. Recent indications in Pennsylvania seem to prove that the imposition of the death penalty in murder cases has been a complete failure in acting as a deterrent to the crime of murder. In spite of the imposition of the death penalty, murder has been on the increase. It is further said that in a number of States, where the death penalty has been removed as a possible punishment, more convictions were secured and there were fewer delays in enforcing the punishment. It is the swiftness and certainty of the punishment and not the severity that deters. We are further told that usually murder is the act of the mentally ill and those acting under the impulse of sudden passion and is not the act of the criminal class.

The opposition to the imposition of the death penalty is growing in momentum and today we find an increasing demand from many church and civic organizations, as well as citizens throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, calling for the abolition of the death penalty. This issue is now becoming one of the most important of our times: therefore be it

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That the President Pro Tempore of the Senate appoint three members of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint three members of the House, who together shall constitute a committee to examine the entire issue of the abolition of capital punishment in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and be it further

Resolved, That the committee shall elect a chairman and such additional officers as it may deem necessary, that the committee may hold hearings, take testimony and make its investigations at such places as it shall deem necessary within this Commonwealth. It may issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman, commanding any person to appear before it and to answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee deems necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. Any person who wilfully neglects or refuses to testify before the committee or to produce any books, papers, records or documents, shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such case. Each member of the committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee: and be it further

Resolved, That the committee shall report its findings together with a recommendation for appropriate legislation as soon as possible.

Mr. BERGER, Mr. President, I am not opposing this resolution in any sense. However, it runs in my mind there was a resolution passed last year, directing the Joint State Government Commission to make a study of this same question. Am I not right?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman is correct.

Mr. BERGER. Very well, Mr. President.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The resolution is referred to the Select Committee on Legislation.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HAYS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I might say that this is rather a change of pace from the preceding resolution. I invite sponsorship by all other Senators who wish to join in this resolution, particularly the University of Pittsburgh fans and other fans in the western part of the State.

This resolution is a congratulatory one to the Penn State football team for winning the Second Annual Liberty Bowl Game. Nineteen sixty was a great year for Pennsylvania athletics. The Pittsburgh Pirates brought the national baseball championship to the city of Pittsburgh, the Philadelphia Eagles brought the national football championship to the city of Philadelphia and the Penn State football team brought national renown to all of Pennsylvania.

I would point out that the membership of this team comes from such hamlets, villages, towns and cities as Bradford, Williamsport, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, New Kensington, Northampton, Dickinson City, Shillington, Williamsburg, Morrisville, Jeannette, Clairton, Scranton, Easton, Johnstown, Wilkinsburg, Greensburg, Connellsville, Dauphin, Steelton, Butler, Boyertown, Patton, Swoyersville, Latrobe, Blue Bell, Upper Darby, Pottstown and DuBois, Pennsylvania. This is truly an all-Pennsylvania team. When you consider that a great part of the Service Academy Teams and other good football teams all over the Country have Pennsylvania boys, it seems to me, if football is one measure of physical stamina, we should congratulate the coaches of Pennsylvania high school football for the products they are turning out.

Therefore, I hope that in 1961 the sponsors of the Liberty Bowl will bring to Philadelphia some good team from the Southwest or the Northwest, since Penn State has defeated a good team from the South and one from the Pacific Coast, so that Pennsylvania may truly have a National champion.

SENATE RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO PENNSYLVANIA STATE UNIVERSITY FOOTBAL TEAM

Mr. HAYS offered the following resolution (Serial No. 7), which was read as follows:

In the Senate, January 17, 1961.

Whereas, In the Second Annual Liberty Bowl football game, the football team of Penn State, the Nittany Lions, played and defeated, the Ducks, the football team of the University of Oregon in Philadelphia on December 17, 1960, and

Whereas, By this second consecutive victory in this post-season classic, the prestige of eastern intercollegiate athletics was further enhanced and Penn State's position as a national football power was given added luster; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania extend its heartiest congratulations to Penn State's 1960 football team, its coaches, Charles A. (Rip) Engle, James J. O'Hara, Sever J. Torretti, Frank W. Patrick, Joseph V. Paterno, John T. White, Earl J. Bruce, Daniel L. Radakovich, and its captain, Henry Opperman, and all squad members; and be it further Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to all the players and coaches of this team.

On the question,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 7, ADOPTED

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I move the immediate adoption of this resolution.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I believe that here is a subject in which we can all heartily endorse the remarks made by the Senator from Centre. On behalf of the Republican Members of this Senate, at any rate, I certainly take pleasure in seconding the motion for the immediate adoption of this resolution.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Let us hope this is the first of many such actions.

Mr. BERGER. I hope so, Mr. President.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

The motion was agreed to and the resolution was adopted.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

SB 53. Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. BERGER.

BILLS ON FIRST READING

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the first reading of all bills reported from committees for the first time at today's session.

Mr. DONOLOW. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The bills were as follows: SB 28, 29, 31, 35, 38, 46, 49 and 51.

And said bills having been read at length for the first time.

Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I just have one short announcement to make, if I may, and then I will yield.

I want to take this occasion to recognize the work of the Select Committee. I think they are to be congratulated for working readily on the bills that have been presented, so that we can have a Calendar on which to continue to work.

I am sure that everybody understands that as of the end of this week, when we hope to have all of the committees named and in working order, this committee will go out of business and cease functioning, and all of the bills that they have will be referred to the proper committees. I thought this moment should not pass without recognizing the fine work that was done by this committee.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I certainly recognize the very splendid work that has been done by the Select Committee. I noticed that we just read for the first time several bills. Being interested in what they might be, I sent down for copies of them and found that several of them are not yet in print.

As much as I want to commend the Majority Leader on his zeal for placing a Celandar in front of us, I think he might be a little overly zealous in having on the Calendar bills that are not yet available in order for us to read the provisions contained in the bills. I would respectfully suggest that in the future, we might go just a little slower and at least get the bills in print before we report them from committee.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the gentleman's point is well taken. However, except for these particular circumstances, I think the gentleman will readily agree that every bill we have worked on and passed has been in print, placed on the desk of every Senator and attached to the Calendar for that particular day.

I think the gentleman will also readily agree that we have been very liberal in the policy that any bill they wanted to go over in order was put over in order, so that nothing was pushed through or railroaded.

I do think it is inconsistent with trying to do things in a businesslike manner to come up here and have no Calendar whatsoever, and I will insist that we have a Calendar with a number of bills to be worked on. Otherwise, there is no reason to be here. It is my intention, and I think the intention of the Democratic Caucus, that if there are no bills and there is nothing to do here, we will not come into Session until such days as there are bills to handle.

It is my intention or my hope that if the House has not worked on any of these measures, we will not come in here on Monday. We will come in on Tuesday or Wednesday when there is something for us to do. I think for too long we have been criticized for coming into Session and leaving here without anything being done. It is our hope to have a businesslike Session and a short Session. It is also our hope that we have a full Calendar to work on.

In comparison to previous times,—and this is not a criticism, but merely an observation—we have a heavier Calendar, at this early date, than we have ever had in the past. It is my hope to continue this policy with some of these measures that are not so earth shaking or so important, but are measures for the consideration of the General Assembly so that every Member will have an opportunity to vote on them.

If we have offended the Senator from Allegheny County by this haste, I certainly want to apologize to him. I do not intend to do that to him or anyone else.

Some of the measures that we are leaving on the Calendar are measures that have been controversial in past Sessions. I think everybody ought to have an opportunity to at least see them and have an opportunity to read them before we do anything about them. During the interim,—the time when we are not in Session—the Members may have an opportunity to read them and discuss them, and we will have the benefit of their wisdom which they may have arrived at as a result of reading or looking into these matters.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, the Majority Leader is certainly to be commended for attempting to get a Calendar in front of the Senate of Pennsylvania. However, I still would say, in the interest of good legislative procedure, he may have gone just a little far when he reported from committee, bills which are not yet in print.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, during the past month or so we have been reading a great deal about the courts in Allegheny County, the great overload that they have and the fact that they want to put in an administrator. During the discussions, various judges have made some statements.

I would like to present, from The Pittsburgh Legal Journal, so that it may be spread on our Legislative Journal, some remarks that were made by Judge Samuel A. Weiss, who is a Democrat and a very, very fine judge. These are remarks he made regarding Judge Frank Graff, from my county, who happens to be a Visiting Judge in Allegheny County and hears a great many cases.

I think it is appropriate that I do this because those of you who are interested in the judiciary of the Commonwealth know that Judge Graff is the oldest judge in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in any of the courts. He is the oldest in the sense of service, not in age. He has been re-elected to four ten year terms. Not only Republicans, but Democrats alike, are very proud of Frank Graff and the very fine work that he has done, not only as a Visiting Judge but in our own court as well.

I want to say, too, that I am very happy that the seat which I now hold was, at one time, held by his father, Senator Graff, and his brother, Peter Graff.

I am not going to read it, but I do want included in the minutes, the report on page 7 of the Pittsburgh Legal Journal relative to "Instructions to Petit Jurors by Judge Samuel A. Weiss."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. This article will be spread upon the Legislative Journal.

INSTRUCTIONS TO PETIT JURORS

By

Hon. Samuel A. Weiss

Presiding Judge, Criminal Court

January 3, 1961

I am sure, ladies and gentlemen, that the general instructions you receive from this Court are not only informative but interesting, and jurors look with great anticipation towards active jury service wherein you play such a key role in the proper administration of law and order in this great metropolitan community. The great volume of work is unbelievable to many of you when you observe the slow progress involving due process. We are grateful to members of the Bar who encourage their clients to waive jury trial in order that a Presiding Judge can dispose of 15 to 25 non-jury cases every day that would normally take a month to try before a jury. I just completed this past year, 15 years on this bench. Ladies and Gentlemen, I must confess to you that sometimes I feel like I can hardly carry on my work from day to day, the worry and work. I expect to be relieved in a little while, but I want to assure you ladies and gentlemen that while many of you have been reading about how some Judge may not carry on his load, having his load carried by others, I assure you it isn't this Judge. Every lawyer in this County and every newspaper in this County knows that.

So do not feel discouraged because you are compelled to sit, and wait, before you are selected as jurors, because some defendants sit in jails months before they have their day in Court. Judge Lewis and I are reducing this wait to weeks and in some less.

None of this would be possible in a great County like ours without the aid of visiting jurists from neighboring communities in the Commonwealth, for Judge Lewis and I, the only two Judges assigned to Criminal Court for a year, could never dispose of approximately 3,000 backlog cases and approximately 500 to 600 new cases returned by the Grand Jury each month.

On February 1, 1958, with 3,575 cases awaiting trial, Judge Lewis and I, later aided by Judge O'Brien, and with the help of visiting Judges, reduced this list in September, 1958, to approximately 1,000 cases, the normal current case load. The same list that was on the calendar in 1930. The same list was on calendar in 1940. The same should have been listed in 1950, but it wasn't. It was around 2,500 cases then. These visiting Judges do not cost the taxpayers of Allegheny County a single penny. They are only sent here when their home County lists are current and their work complete, and they are paid per diem and expenses, far less than it would cost the taxpayers if full-time judges were appointed.

I want to say to you candidly, that two additional judges are badly needed in the Criminal Courts of this County. You just can't kill a jurist who is able and willing and wants to work. I don't enjoy giving a man 35 to 70 years or giving a man the death sentence as I was required to do just a month ago. That is a hard task in this assignment and I take inventory with the Almighty just as you do on the Sabbath. It requires solace. It requires understanding to make sure that no mistake is made, because I'd rather have 9 guilty men go free than to have one innocent man spend time in the penitentiary or institution. These two judges are vitally needed, and I say this from having had 15 years experience on this bench including 8 terms in the Criminal Court.

It would be unfair for this Court to single out any particular visiting judge, for we are grateful to all of them, from near and far; but I am compelled to necessity to single out one visiting judge who stands as a symbol for all visiting jurists. He stands out as a beacon light as the Mistress of Liberty stands out in the harbor of New York. He is the Honorable J. Frank Graff of the 33rd Judicial District representing Armstrong County. He was elected Common Pleas Court judge in that County in 1924 and for 37 years has faithfully served the people of his County and this Commonwealth with great honor and distinction. He has presided in almost 300 murder cases in this Commonwealth; over 100 in this County and he has only been reversed once, a phenomenal record. I wouldn't believe any of you if you told it to me, but you've got to believe me because that's the record.

I, as a Democrat, say this about a Republican, but above all Judge Frank Graff, when he presides, is a great American and the real proof of this fact is that during World War I, as a young Lieutenant, he was actively engaged in combat with the 28th Division during its service overseas, and was promoted to Captain and later to Major, and many Allegheny Countians who served with him and under him—and I will say one of the greater distinguished gentlemen of our own Court can tell you word for word that what I am relating here—and I refer to Fred Wertenbach and Colonel Shenkel, great Americans as you will find anywhere, both these gentlemen are prominent men, and I say to you that in Judge Frank Graff, no more gallant or greater American ever lived.

We are privileged to have Judge Frank Graff as one of the visiting jurists this week; and it will be a rich reward for any of you to serve as a juror in his courtroom, and I hope all of you have that privilege before the expiration of your two weeks service with us.

Jury service is a sacrifice, but how could you compare it with the sacrifice of your boys and girls who are sent away to service. Uncle Sam calls them. You don't challenge Uncle Sam. If you do your're brought into Federal Court. It's one of the privileges in this day of living to serve Uncle Sam. Both are necessary to preserve our democratic way of life, and your jury service is a real display of citizenship and you will long remember this service to see that justice for all prevails in our Courts.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I just want to say to the Senator from Armstrong that I am glad he is getting to the point of becoming enlightened, because he is quoting Democrats. I hope that he will become more accustomed to this. As he makes more use of this, he will find that some of them are people who can be quoted very readily and are even on the right side a good bit of the time. I hope he will not let this custom fall into disuse so that he will not have the benefit of these sage and wise remarks of these gentlemen.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, during the campaign, the illustrious gentleman on the other side was in my county, and I am sure they told him of the many times that I have quoted Democrats.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Monday, January 23, 1961, at 3:00 p.m.

Mr. DONOLOW. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 12:05 p.m.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, January 17, 1961

The House me at 10:00 a. m. EST.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

The SPEAKER. Unless this House directs otherwise this House will convene at the appointed time.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend David R. Hoover, offered the following prayer:

Eternal God, in the midst of the press of the world about us, we thank Thee for an opportunity to pause in a moment of meditation. Enable these servants of Thine to reflect upon those things which are in keeping with Thy way of life. Fill them with the vision of that greater service which Thou wouldst have them see. And use their talents to Thy honor and glory as well as for the welfare of all the peoples of this great Commonwealth. Through His precious Name, we pray. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the approval of the Journal for Monday, January 16, 1961 will be postponed until printed.

The Chair hears none.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. WORLEY. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 4.

In the House of Representatives, January 16, 1961.

A comparison of the final results of the popular vote with the Electoral College vote in the 1960 Presidential Election has again focused the attention of the people of the United States on the realization that a candidate for the office of the President of the United States could be elected to office although he did not have a majority of the popular vote.

To say that it cannot happen is to flaunt history in the face, for our history reveals that it is not only possible but a fact that in 1888 Grover Cleveland, a Democrat seeking reelection, got more votes than Benjamin Harrison, the Republican candidate, but lost because Harrison carried states which had a bigger electoral vote.

While the Electoral College as conceived was to serve a useful and necessary purpose in choosing the President of the United States, it has long outlived such usefulness and has become a dangerous anachronism ready and able to defeat the will of the majority of the citizens of these United States; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the General Assembly of thet Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States to support and enact Constitutional amendments abolishing the Electoral College and providing for the election of the President of the United States by popular vote; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of each house of the Congress of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mrs. S. A. ANDERSON. RESOLUTION No. 5.

In the House of Representatives, January 16, 1961.

It is a well known fact that the Eastern State Correctional Institution is located within a very thickly populated residential section of the city of Philadelphia. This institution is bounded by Brown Street, Fairmount Avenue, Corinthean Avenue and Twenty-second Street. This institution has a history of twenty-five attempted breakouts since 1908. The most recent attempt took place on January 8, 1961 when a riot took place of sizeable proportions and another breakout was narrowly averted.

Many of these inmates are hardened criminals under life sentences. The location of this prison and its inmates presents a constant danger to the immediate area and its inhabitants; therefore be it

Resolved, That a committee of five members be appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives to make an immediate study into the feasibility of removing the Eastern State Correctional Institution from the city of Philadelphia to a less populated area in the State; and be it further

Resolved, That this committee shall report its findings and recommendations for appropriate legislation as soon as possible.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mrs. PASHLEY, Messrs. FRASCELLA, MULDOWNEY and McCANN. RESOLUTION No. 6.

In the House of Representatives, January 16, 1961.

No one knows exactly how many of the mentally ill could be discharged from our hospitals unless there is an opportunity to find out. The Philadelphia State Hospital (Byberry) carried out a small project in 1947 to find an answer to this most important question by taking 20 of its most disturbed patients from the worst building and gave them enough attendants to meet their needs, to teach them to take care of themselves, to take them for a walk, to talk to them, to help them back to reality.

At the end of six months five of the 20 were out of the hospital. Another five were able to take care of themselves and were allowed the freedom of the hospital. Over the next year several more were discharged. This result is highly encouraging. In fact many authorities estimate that with good treatment and care, almost 85% of all patients in the average mental hospital can be released in a year or two.

Why cannot the successful pilot project carried out by the Philadelphia State Hospital (Byberry) be applied to all mental patients? The answer is simple—it can—provided sufficient funds are available.

The American Psychiatric Association has set standards for the number of doctors, nurses, and attendants needed to give patients good treatment. To meet these standards the Philadelphia State Hospital (Byberry), which currently operates on $3.10 a day per patient, would need to spend about $6.00 per day, per patient. Pending legislation will raise the amount to $3.45 per patient at Byberry and all of the other 16 State hospitals in Pennsylvania will receive $4.00 or more.

Byberry cannot do more for less just because of its size. Each of its 6,600 patients needs as much care as any other patient in a smaller hospital. Byberry, the largest State hospital, has long passed the point where large purchases result in reduced prices.

Insufficient funds mean improper treatment for our mentally ill with a proportionate decrease in the number of persons who can return to normal living; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission make a study of the cost of caring for the mentally ill in the Philadelphia State Hospital (Byberry) and investigate and compare the financial aid supplied to the Philadelphia State Hospital (Byberry) with the amount of assistance given other State Hospitals; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report its findings and recommendations for supplying the Philadelphia State Hospital (Byberry) with ample funds for its proper operation and maintenance, together with drafts of such legislation as may be necessary to carry its recommendations into effect to the next regular session of the General Assembly.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

SENATE MESSAGES

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented extracts from the Journal of the Senate:

Senate Bills for concurrence Nos. 1 and 2.

SENATE MESSAGE

CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE RESOLUTION

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 16, 1961.

Whereas, The National Legislative Conference has functioned effectively for more than a decade; and

Whereas, The membership is comprised of legislators of the States and Territories of the United States and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the legislative officials and staff members of legislative service agencies; and

Whereas, The purpose of the Conference is to cooperate for more effective service to the legislatures and to aid in improving legislative processes and procedures; and

Whereas, The annual meetings have afforded an invaluable and unequalled opportunity for members and staffs of American legislatures to become more intimately acquainted with legislative organization, procedures, and services of the several states; and

Whereas, These meetings have materially increased the effectiveness of the legislative process over the years; and

Whereas, The significance of the National Legislative Conference has grown over the years to the extent that some 49 States and Territories participated in the 1960 Conference; and

Whereas, The States of Illinois, Washington, D. C., Wisconsin, New Mexico, Louisiana, California, Florida, Washington, Oklahoma, Massachusetts, and Colorado have served as host states for the annual meetings of the Conference; and

Whereas, the Fourteenth Annual Legislative Conference is to be held on September 6, 7, and 8, 1961; Now Therefore Be It

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That an invitation be extended to the National Legislative Conference to hold its Fourteenth Annual Meeting in Philadelphia, the cradle of American liberty and the birthplace of our American representative government; and Be It Further

Resolved, That the President Pro Tempore of the Senate appoint three members of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint three members of the House to comprise the Pennsylvania Host Committee to cooperate with The Secretariat in making the necessary arrangements to assure that the 1961 meeting in Pennsylvania will be a profitable and memorable one for the participants.

COMMUNICATION

RESIGNATION

The SPEAKER laid before the House a communication which was read as follows:

January 12, 1961.

Hon. Hiram G. Andrews
Speaker of the House of Representatives
Harrisburg, Penna.

Dear Mr. Speaker:

I have made a decision not to take my seat in the House of Representatives to which I was elected in November by the voters of the Third Legislative District of Montgomery County.

You may accept this communication as my official resignation to this seat.

Sincerely,
(s) F. K. Brenninger

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Greene, the Majority Leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, in view of the official communication presented to the House today from the elected Representative to this House, I would like to place into the record a plan, since there is no precedent in the history of the Hall of this House to answer such a situation should it ever arise in the future.

It was contemplated that the Speaker of this House would send a registered communication to any elected Representative who had been elected and refused to take the oath of office. In that communication he would request a reply in writing and such communication and such reply would be spread upon the records upon receipt of that reply. If no reply was received, then upon the given date indicated in the letter, the Speaker would declare the seat vacant and under his authority he would call for an election in that legislative district.

This action, of course, in which the elected Representative has submitted his resignation in writing to the Speaker of the House of Representatives does not, therefore, clearly establish a precedent, for in the annals of the history of the House of Representatives there has been no precedent on this subject.

Therefore, I hope that the suggestions I am making here, should the occasion ever arise again, can be applied in accordance with this precedent.

Mr. Speaker, the letter of resignation from the elected Representative does not in this case permit us to proceed to establish for the record a precedent regarding a Member who fails to take his oath of office after being elected by the citizens of his legislative district.

The SPEAKER. We will now prepare to take up today's calendar. Do the respective Leaders desire that we call for leaves of absence?

Mr. McCANN. Yes, Mr. Speaker, and also at this point, we had agreed yesterday, we would caucus and then take up the calendar.

The SPEAKER. That is contrary to the information the Chair received.

The next order is a caucus?

Mr. McCANN. Yes, Mr. Speaker, but I desire to inform the membership of the House regarding organization of committees, which will take place later in the day.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield until we take leaves of absence?

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mr. Eilberg for Mr. DOUGHERTY because of illness.

Mr. Eilberg for Mr. STANK because of illness.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the Majority Leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, upon return from the caucus, the Standing Committees of the House will be divided into six groups. We realize quite well in trying to do this that some Members in any group will be on two committees which will be organizing at the same time. But we have tried to do it in such a manner that the least number of Members would be on committees, both Republicans and Democrat Members, which would be organizing at the same time.

When we return and are organizing committees, I will call out the committee groups. I ask that they organize as quickly as possible. Upon their return the Chairman of each committee will report to the House that the Committee on—we will take them alphabetically—Agriculture and Dairy Industries is organized and ready for the business of this House. Then we will go to the second group, third group, fourth group, fifth group and sixth group until we have organized the committees. I will ask that they do it as fast and as efficiently as possible so that they will, without any question of doubt, complete the organization today in an orderly manner.

Mr. Speaker, other than that, I will ask for a Democratic Caucus beginning at 10:30 a.m., but I believe, first, the Minority Leader desires to be recognized.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the Minority Leader.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I would like to announce a Republican Caucus starting in approximately five minutes, if we are going to adjourn promptly.

The SPEAKER. For what duration should the caucus be?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the Minority Leader if he has any suggestion as to length of time. We estimated 45 minutes.

Mr. AGNEW. Forty-five minutes, Mr. Speaker, should be more than enough time for us.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I will ask for a Democratic Caucus in the New House Caucus Room, beginning promptly at 10:30, for 45 minutes. I ask that every Member proceed immediately to the New House Caucus Room.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the Chair will declare a recess of one hour for the purpose of holding a Democrat and a Republican Caucus.

The Chair hears none, and a recess is declared.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired, the House was called to order.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WALSH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, Members of the House, I am very much disturbed and I have had a lot of inquiries from people in Allegheny County in reference to an article that appeared in Sunday's Post Gazette labeled, "Pitt Professor Compares Castro Cuba to Crucified Spain in 1930." Now this gentleman is a professor of history, teaching in our university at Pittsburgh.

I noticed in the headlines of this morning's paper that in President Eisenhower's budget he is asking for $47.392 billion for national security. This is 58 cents of every tax dollar of the American citizen for national defense. Yesterday we listened to our Governor tell us all the policies on a state level to appropriate funds for education. Education of our young people, not only is the ways and means of a livelihood, but in modern day of political activity this is an essential factor to be considered in order that we and our youth may survive. Governor Lawrence yesterday stressed education and in his message he asked that we Appropriate a sum of $469,055,-501, or 47.147 of every tax dollar of the people in the state of Pennsylvania for education. Last year, the biennium, we asked and appropriated close to $7 million to the University of Pittsburgh. This year the appropriation that they are asking for is close $6 million.

If we continue to appropriate funds for education, I feel we must be sure that these funds will be spent properly and will be so channelled as to aid and abet the American way of life and the ideals of objectives of decent Americanism. To allow supposed educational activity to undercut the objectives of our total activity, and for the Commonwealth to appropriate money to institutions harboring leftists who preach communistic doctrines, is a woeful waste of the money of the people of Pennsylvania and the United States of America. The tax money appropriated by this body for educational activities must be spent on education which is wholesome and beneficial to the community, and not for the payment of salaries of pro-communists.

Dr. Robert Colodny, a history professor at the University of Pittsburgh, fought with the Communist forces in the Spanish Civil War. He was a member of the Abraham Lincoln Brigade, which still tops the Attorney General's list of subversive organizations seeking to overthrow the United States government by force and violence. He states, "The Spanish Republic was just an agrarian reform movement." He made it plain that he considers Fidel Castro's revolution in Cuba just another case of "agrarian reform."

Last April he was one of some thirty signers of a statement issued by the "Fair Play for Cuba Committee," an openly pro-Castro organization founded to tell the American people the "true facts" about Cuba. He claims that the American Press is surpressing the true facts.

Some of the other signers were Kenneth Tynan, who staged a British TV program last spring featuring, among other "distinguished American dissenters," Alger Hiss.

Now I feel that any so-called professor who confuses the dirt of the Castro regime, and incidentally I heard over a newscast that Castro has just executed his 380th person, is a butcher in my estimation. Anyone who confuses his regime with an agrarian policy is a confused person.

I am presenting this resolution, the Senate concurring, that the Speaker of the House appoint a committee to investigate these colleges and universities where our money is being appropriated to see that none of our money is spent to pay teachers who are teaching this pro-Communist doctrine.

RESOLUTION

JOINT COMMITTEE

Mr. WALSH offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk under the Rules.

NEWLY ELECTED MAJORITY WHIP

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I wish to announce to this House that the Democratic caucus today elected Mr. Josh Eilberg as Majority Whip, in place of James Dougherty who was announced at an earlier date. I announce this so the record would indicate clearly the election of Mr. Josh Eilberg, Philadelphia, Majority Whip of the Democratic members of the House of Representatives.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 3, entitled:

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I hope everyone has their committee list in front of them that was mimeographed yesterday. We are going to call for the first group to leave the House. There will be six groups. Please organize as quickly as possible.

Group No. 1, Agriculture and Dairy Industries, Mr. Farabaugh, Chairman, Room 131 A.

Insurance, Mr. Hamilton, Chairman, Room 522. To the new members, 522 is on E Floor.

Judiciary Special, Mr. Leonard, Chairman, Room 131 D.

Mines and Mineral Industries, Mr. Rovansek, Chairman, Room 131 E.

Railroads and Railways, Mr. Taylor, Chairman, Room 521.

Congressional Apportionment, Mr. Sherman, Chairman, in the Appropriation Committee Room 245-246.

Will all the members of those committees please go to the organizational meetings immediately and the Chairman report on the Floor when they return?

INTERROGATION

Mr. BLAIR asked and obtained unanimous consent to interrogate Mr. McCANN.

Mr. BLAIR. I am a little bit confused and I would like to have this question answered. On the pamphlet I received by mail at my home, it listed the legislative and congressional reapportionment Committees. I signed that slip of paper requesting that appointment. I returned to Harrisburg and I find they have divided that committee into two separate committees. That did not appear on the slip that I had, which I signed, requesting the various legislative appointments to which I hoped to be appointed. What was the purpose of dividing that after we were not previously informed of that move?

The SPEAKER. The Chair might answer that. In the opinion of the Chair a better job could be done due to the immensity of the task by dividing the committee, and the leadership of the House agreed that probably was the wisest course.

Mr. BLAIR. I am sorry, Mr. Speaker, but whether or not the rank and file was informed of that move I am unable to say, but I can tell you honestly that this was all news to me and I was disappointed because I would certainly have changed my request for committee assignment had this knowledge been made available to us previous to the change.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is very sorry if any Member has been either discommoded or disappointed, but there is need for haste.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Taylor.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. Speaker the Committee on Railroads and Railways has organized and is ready for business.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman and thanks the committee.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sherman.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, the Committee on Congressional Apportionment has organized and is ready to do business.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman and the Committee.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman form Clearfield, Mr. Breth, to preside temporarily.

Mr. BRETH IN THE CHAIR

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Leonard.

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, the Committee on Judiciary Special is organized, present and ready to go.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Rovansek.

Mr. ROVANSEK. Mr. Speaker, the Committee on Mines and Mineral Industries has completed its order of organization and is ready to do business.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Farabaugh.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Mr. Speaker, the Committee on Agriculture and Dairy Industries has organized and is ready for business.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

Mr. McCANN. Group No. 2: Cities-Counties Second Class, Mr. Lutty, Room 131-B;

Cities Third Class, Mr. Walsh, Room 131-C;

Boroughs, Mr. Filo, Room 324;

Municipal Corporations, Mr. Polaski, Room 331;

Workmen's Compensation, Mr. Capano, Room 131-G.

In this group there are five committees, balancing it out. Please organize those committees and report back on the Floor.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Hamilton.

Mr. HAMILTON. The Committee on Insurance has been organized and is ready to do business.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair thanks the gentleman and reminds him that he is a little late. The report was conveyed to the Chair about ten minutes ago.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Capano.

Mr. CAPANO. The Committee on Workmen's Compensation has met and organized and we are ready to do business if any bills are assigned to us.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. GREMMINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a resolution to be introduced by him.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS

Messrs. GREMMINGER, GALLAGHER, J. A. SULLIVAN, AGNEW, DONALDSON, KAMYK, FOERSTER, KRAMER and McCANN offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The rseolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 17, 1961.

The Pittsburgh Baseball Club, better known as the Pirates, won the National League Championship and by defeating the New York Yankees Baseball Club in the World Series became the baseball champions of the world.

This was accomplished under the managership of Danny Murtaugh, a native of Delaware County, Pennsylvania. This signal honor to the State of Pennsylvania was in a large measure attributable to the ability and efforts of Danny Murtaugh at Manager. As a result of this achievement Danny Murtaugh was named by the Baseball Writers Association as Manager of the year; therefor be is

Resolved, That Danny Murtaugh be congratulated and commended for his receiving this outstanding award; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to Danny Murtaugh at his home in Chester, Pennsylvania.

So they will be the corrected vote totals which will go into the Legislative Journal and the record.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. FILO. I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I think that Mr. Ominsky should hear this. Sometimes during the night some of the papers have disappeared from my desk. I recall one time in the last Session that I saw a woman cleaner just scraping the papers off the desks of the Members. It might be a good thing to instruct those people not to touch anything on the Members' desks.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chief Clerk observes that the women are as careful as they can be. However, each Member has keys to various compartments of his desk and any important papers which he wishes to preserve should be kept within the desk, under lock and key, except the calendars and the other papers which are automaticallly kept on top.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair thanks the gentleman and wishes him lots of action.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Mills.

Mr. MILLS. Mr. Speaker, the Committee on Public Utilities has been organized.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Reidenbach.

Mr. REIDENBACH. Mr. Speaker, the Liquor Control Committee is organized and ready for business.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Maxwell.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation has met and is now organized and ready for business.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the Majority Leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, this completes the list of organizational committee meetings for today. They have all reported.

I do ask that every Committee Chairman notify the Chief Clerk as to their secretaries, for the publication which the Chief Clerk's Office is preparing.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. SIMMONS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, January 23, 1961, at 3:30 p.m. EST.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 2:16 p. m. EST), the House adjourned.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1961. 145th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 38. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, JANUARY 23, 1961. No. 8.

SENATE

MONDAY, JANUARY 23, 1961.

The Senate met at 3:00 p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, REV. LESTER C. UPDEGROVE, Pastor of Bethany Evangelical United Brethern Church, Palmyra, offered the following prayer:

O God, our help in ages past, our hope for years to come, we return thanks unto Thee for Thy many blessings unto our Nation and State. Wherein we have been guilty of shortcomings, forgive us, we pray.

Grant Thy heavenly benediction upon the President of our beloved Country and his Administration. Undergird him and his associates with Thy unfailing power. May all our people be united to support those efforts which will be for the welfare of all mankind.

Remember the Governor of our Commonwealth and every Member of the Assembly with Thy guidance and understanding. Grant, O Lord, that through their mutual labor Thy name can be enhanced and all our citizenry blessed.

This we ask through the name of Him who said: "I am the Way, the Truth and the Life." Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. WEINER and Mr. LANE, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

He also, from the Select Committee on Legislation, returned to the Senate, SB 45, 56, and 57, which were rereferred to the Committee on State Government.

He also, from the Select Committee on Legislation, returned to the Senate, SB 5, 55, and 63, which were rereferred to the Committee on Appropriations.

He also, from the Select Committee on Legislation, returned to the Senate, SB 60 and 61, which were rereferred to the Committee on Labor and Industry.

SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 5, REREFERRED

Mr. WEINER, from the Select Committee on Legislation, returned to the Senate, Senate Resolution, Serial No. 5, which was rereferred to the Committee on Education.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 101, REREFERRED

Mr. WEINER, from the Select Committee on Legislation, returned to the Senate, Senate Concurrent Resolution, Serial No. 101, which was rereferred to the Committee on Judiciary General.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. EHRGOOD asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, one of the great keystones of democracy, of course, is education and the opportunity to pursue higher education need not be belabored by me. Presently, there is a means by which scholarships are granted to schools of higher education in this Commonwealth. The State Council of Education awards, on the basis of merit and competitive examination, a scholarship to each county or each Senatorial District.

The bill which I am about to introduce, on behalf of Senator Silvert, Senator Stroup and myself, would extend that. It would grant additional scholarships to each district and, on the basis of competitive examination, it would allow the State Council of Education to award 1,000 scholarships to schools of higher education in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, regardless of whether or not they are State-aided.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SILVERT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I have cosponsored this scholarship bill, which is being introduced by Senator Ehrgood, because it directs itself to an area in our society that is requiring more and more of our attention, and that is the area of college education.

We all know that tuition fees have gone up and we are rapidly approaching a situation where only the sons and daughters of the well-to-do will be able to go to college. Certainly we in Pennsylvania would not like to see such a situation arise.

I believe the bill being introduced by Senator Ehrgood is good for two reasons: First, it is based upon competitive scholarships and, secondly, it goes to the area of ability to pay. In other words, there must be financial need in the family before a student can qualify for these scholarships.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair now recognizes the gentleman from Northampton, Senator Rooney, who is standing at a different microphone than at which I am accustomed to seeing him.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. ROONEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, I agree with you. I am in a rather unaccustomed spot in introducing this bill. However, I can assure you this bill is probably the bombshell of this Legislative Session because the bill which I am about to introduce, along with my colleague, Senator McCreesh, is a bill that will amend The Vehicle Code, authorizing the use of radio-microwave equipment in timing speed. In other words, this bill will permit the State Police in Pennsylvania to arrest motorists by the use of radar. This method, Mr. President, has been very successful in other States.

This bill, Mr. President, will implement the Governor's Highway Safety Program, a program that the Governor and the Democratic Party campaigned for in 1958.

I personally feel if this bill is reported to the floor of the Senate, it will pass. I know many of my Republican colleagues on the floor of the Senate have assured me they will vote for radar, and I think eventually it will eliminate many of the highway deaths in Pennsylvania which are due to an excessive rate of speed.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. ROONEY and McCREESH presented to the Chair SB 79, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 29, 1959 (P. L. 58), entitled "The Vehicle Code," authorizing the use of radio-microwave equipemnt in timing speed; further regulating convictions; prescribing powers and duties of the Secretary of Revenue; and prescribing penalties.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

Mr. PROPERT presented to the Chair SB 80, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Department of Highways with the approval of the Governor to construct a highway and to erect and maintain a bridge over the Schuylkill River in Montgomery County between a point in the Borough of Norristown or a township adjacent thereto, and a point in the Borough of Bridgeport or a township adjacent thereto; and to provide the necessary approaches and connections with State highways empowering the county to pay certain damages and making an appropriation therefor.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

Messrs. PROPERT, KESSLER and KELLER presented to the Chair SB 81, entitled:

An Act providing for a referendum to determine the will of the electorate on certain contracts between any political subdivision and Authorities.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

Mr. HAYS presented to the Chair SB 82, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 22, 1931 (P. L. 594), entitled "Rural State Highway Law," adding a new route in Centre County.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I have two resolutions to be presented to the Chair. One of them was delayed from the last Session. However, with the Chair's permission, I would like to say a few words about the other resolution.

Mr. President, one of the deplorable conditions in Pennsylvania is that this Commonwealth is completely apathetic or lethargic when it comes to the question of celebrating the Centennial of the Civil War. While just the other day, the Eisenhower Administration, despite the defeat, appropriated a substantial sum of money to commemorate the Centennial, here in Pennsylvania nothing has been done.

On February 22, 1861, President-elect Lincoln honored the city of Harrisburg and the State Legislature by appearing here at a Joint Session of the General Assembly.

The purpose of this resolution, which I am offering on behalf of my colleagues, Senator Chapman, Senator Kessler, Senator Mahady, Senator Shafer and myself, is to arrange for the commemoration of this great event.

Mr. President, I am offering this resolution and requesting its immediate adoption.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

COMMEMORATING LINCOLN'S VISIT TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY ON FEBRUARY 22, 1861

Messrs. STIEFEL, KESSLER, CHAPMAN, MAHADY and SHAFER offered the following resolution (Serial No. 102), which was read as follows:

In the Senate, January 23, 1961.

Whereas, the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by joint resolution adopted on January 28, 1861, appointed a committee to invite Abraham Lincoln to visit Harrisburg on his way to Washington to be inaugurated as President of the United States; and

Whereas, the President-elect graciously accepted the General Assembly's invitation and arrangements were made for his visit to coincide with a celebration of Washington's Birthday; and

Whereas, at the appointed hour the Speaker and the Members of the Senate were introduced into the House of Representatives, and a Committee of Reception introduced Abraham Lincoln, President-elect of the United States and the Governor and heads of departments of this Commonwealth; and

Whereas, the Speaker of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives greeted the President-elect with speeches promising the support of Pennsylvania in his efforts to save the Union from disruption, and were thanked by Lincoln for their generous words; and

Whereas, this occasion, one hundred years ago, marked the beginning of Pennsylvania's strenuous efforts as the Arsenal of America to preserve the Union, THEREFORE BE IT:

Resolved (if the House concur), That a Committee of three members from each body be appointed to ararnge for a suitable commemoration and re-enactment on February 21, 1961, of the reception to Abraham Lincoln a hundred years before, in which re-enactment the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the President pro tempore of the Senate shall deliver the speeches of welcome addressed to Lincoln, and in which the part of Lincoln shall be impersonated; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee shall invite the Governor and the heads of departments of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to attend these aforementioned ceremonies in order to re-enact the event of a century ago.

On the question,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 102, ADOPTED

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I move the immediate adoption of this resolution.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, apropos of the resolution just introduced by Senator Stiefel, on behalf of himself and others, I just was remarking to him—and I recommend it for the reading of the Senate—about the communication or greeting which the gentleman sent at Christmas, relative to the Civil War.

I would like to call his attention to the fact that I understood the date was the twenty-second rather than the twenty-first. He explained to me that because we could not be here on the twenty-second, we had to have it on the twenty-first.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, we will not be in Session on February 22. This is the reason why circumstances dictate this resolution.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The motion was agreed to and the resolution was adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr STIEFEL asked and obtained uanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, this resolution, which I am about to introduce, speaks for itself. It is being sponsored by three Senators who join me; namely, Senator Sarraf, Senator McMenamin and Senator Kalman.

This resolution pays homage to the Philadelphia Eagles Football Team and its splendid victory. Somehow, we overlooked this.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS

CONGRATULATIONS OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO THE PHILADELPHIA EAGLES FOOTBALL TEAM

Messrs. STIEFEL, SARRAF, KALMAN and McMENAMIN offered the following resolution (Serial No. 103), which was read, considered and adopted:

In the Senate, January 23, 1961.

Whereas, the Eagles on December 26, 1960 defeated the Green Bay Packers at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, by a score of 17-13 in the annual National Football League Championship Game before a sell-out crowd of 67,325; and

Whereas, The Championship Contest was a tribute to the Eagles' management in securing the type of player needed to mold the championship team; a tribute to the coaches of the team, a tribute to the players themselves for their great spirit and courage during the 1960 season; and

Whereas, the Championship Contest was viewed on nation-wide television by more than 60 million people, more than 220 television stations in all corners of the United States; broadcast on radio nationally and to the Armed Forces wherever they may be, thus bringing the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the City of Philadelphia into world-wide focus; and

Whereas, by their stirring victory the Eagles have greatly strengthened Philadelphia's position as the Sports Capital of the Nation and given the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania its second championship athletic team of 1960—their fame echoes that of the Pittsburgh Pirates who won he world championship of baseball; now be it therefore

Resolved (if the House concurs), That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania extend its congratulations to the owners, management, coach and players of the Philadelphia Eagles for their outstanding achievement in winning the 1960 World Football Championship in the National Football League game played at Philadelphia on December 26, 1960; and be it further

Resolved, That a certified copy of the instant Resolution be forwarded, upon its adoption, to Mr. Frank L. McNamee, President of the Philadelphia Eagles, as evidence of the profound appreciation by the membership of the Senate and House of Representatives of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania, of the fame and glory the Eagles football players and coaches have brought to the City of Philadelphia and to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

WELCOMING FORMER PRESIDENT AND MRS. EISENHOWER

Messrs. HAWBAKER and BELL offered the following resolution (Serial No. 104), which was read as follows:

In the Senate, January 23, 1961.

On January 20, 1961, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower returned to Pennsylvania from which his ancestors came prior to the migration which led them to Texas where he was born in 1890.

He gave all of his life to our Country and brought honor to the Pennsylvania of his origins.

From a humble beginning, his boyhood, life and training led him in the direction of his Country's service to the United States Military Academy at West Point from which he graduated in 1915.

He served the Armed Forces in the Canal Zone under General Fox Conner, in the Philippines with General Douglas MacArthur; was placed in command of the Allied Forces for the North African Invasion in 1942 and, on December 31, 1943, he was named Commanding General of the Allied Powers for the European Theatre of Operations. Later he served as Chief of Staff of the United States Army and was placed in command of the NATO Forces in Europe.

A scholar and administrator, he served as President of Columbia University before ascending to the greatest height of our time, the Presidency of the United States.

As our Chief Executive and Commander in Chief of the Armed Forces, he kept the peace through eight long troublesome years.

After half a century of distinguished service to the nation and to the world, it is mete and right that he should return to Gettysburg, there to dwell in his first permanent home with his good wife Mamie, overlooking the field of the great decisive battle which preserved the Union of these great United States.

Resolved (the House concurring), That it is with great pride and enthusiasm that the General Assembly of Pennsylvania welcomes Dwight D. Eisenhower and Mrs. Eisenhower to the soil of Pennsylvania.

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Eisenhowers at Gettysburg.

On the question,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 104, ADOPTED

Mr. HAWBAKER. Mr. President, I move the adoption of this resolution.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I wish to second the adoption of this resolution. On behalf of the Democratic Party, we are happy, indeed, to have such a distinguished resident in Pennsylvania. As a matter of fact, Pennsylvania can go down in history in so far as distinguished persons are concerned.

I wish President Eisenhower, his wife, his children and his grandchildren a happy, long and useful life. I am quite sure that the people of Pennsylvania are, indeed, proud that we have this great ex-President as one of our neighbors and one of our residents.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The motion was agreed to and the resolution was adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HALUSKA asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I am about to offer a Concurrent Resolution memorializing Congress. I would like to have it read and then sent to the proper committee for its final disposition.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

MEMORIALIZING CONGRESS TO ESTABLISH A CIVILIAN CONSERVATION CORPS

Mr. HALUSKA offered the following resolution (Serial No. 105), which was read as follows and referred to the Committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations:

In the Senate, January 23, 1961.

Pennsylvania is proud of the many beautiful forests that dot our countryside. No other State can boast of such preserves, but without conservation some day our beautiful woodlands will be a barren area.

The same is true of our water supply. Today it is abundant, but without care and conservation we might find ourselves faced with a shortage of water in the future.

A way to solve these problems would be to re-establish the Civilian Conservation Corps which worked so well during the thirties. The creation of this force would not only help our forests and water supply, but it would also aid in the curbing of juvenile delinquency, and the problems of unemployment which we face today; therefore be it

Resolved (the House concurring), That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania memorialize Congress to establish a Civilian Conservation Corps; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of each house of the Congress of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

SB 41—Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I request that this bill go over in its order, due to a printer's error.

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order.

BILL ON THIRD READING, DEFEATED ON FINAL PASSAGE

SB 43—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting against this measure. I intend to vote against all Joint Resolutions amending the Constitution of Pennsylvania. Since the Constitution was adopted in 1874, eighty-one amendments have been submitted to the people and sixty-three have been adopted. This Constitution has now become a patchwork of amendments.

Since I am sponsoring a measure to call a Constitutional Convention, which will evolve and result in the submission to the people of an entirely new Constitution, it would not be logical for me to cast my vote for piecemeal amendments. For this reason, I am voting against this bill.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The PRESIDENT. The Clerk will call the roll.

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, before everyone becomes exercised about this measure, I would like to state that there is very little difference whether it does or does not pass.

The entire purpose of introducing this legislation is to show how ridiculous are some of the things which we have in our Constitution. It shows how long ago the Constitution has outlived its usefulness. The railroads, the canals and the business corporation laws are all enmeshed into what is supposed to be a basic document for the operation of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Therefore, Mr. President, whether we vote for this bill or not will not make any difference. The I.C.C. happens to regulate this particular provision. However, if we can get the people of the Commonwealth to understand what is happening, we can call a Constitutional Convention and deal with these problems at one time.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, with respect to Senate Bill No. 43, I am going to vote "no" on this bill. However I am not going to vote "no" because of the reasons given by the Democrats. I am against the giving of free passes by the railroads.

That is my reason for voting "no" on this bill.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I think we can get rid of passes on the railroad by passing an Act of the Legislature. I do not see any reason why we should have the Constitution cluttered up with a lot of little legislative restrictions which should not be in a constitution.

The PRESIDENT. The Clerk will continue with the roll call.

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 43 go over in order.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Haluska, as far as I know, we have reached the point of calling the roll. The calling of the roll has been interrupted twice. Therefore, it is beyond the ability of the Chair to allow the bill to be passed over in its order.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I then move that the vote by which this bill passed finally be reconsidered.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, may we be at ease for a moment?

(The Senate was at ease.)

The PRESIDENT. The Clerk will please proceed with the roll call.

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I desire to change my vote from "aye" to "no."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will be so recorded.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I desire to change my vote from "aye"to "no."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will be so recorded.

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—17

Camiel,	Lane,	Mullin,	Silvert,
Devlin,	Mallery,	Murray,	Staisey,
Donolow,	McCreesh,	Sarraf,	Weiner,
Hays,	McGinnis,	Seyler,	Yatron,
Kalman,

NAYS—29

Bell,	Keller,	Pechan,	Stiefel,
Berger,	Kessler,	Propert,	Stroup,
Chapman,	Kromer,	Rooney,	Taylor,

Flack,	Mahady,	Sesler,	Wade,
Fleming,	McMenamin,	Shafer,	Wagner,
Haluska,	Miller,	Stevenson,	Ware, III,
Hawbaker,

Less than a majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the negative, and the bill was defeated.

RECONSIDERATION OF SB 43

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill No. 43 failed of passage on final passage.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PPRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

SB 43 PLACED ON FINAL PASSAGE CALENDAR

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I request that Senate Bill No. 43, Printer's No. 9, be placed on tomorrow's Final Passage Calendar.

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection, Senate Bill No. 43 will appear on tomorrw's Final Passage Calendar.

SECOND READING CALENDAR

BILL OVER IN ORDER

SB 28—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. DONLOW.

BILL ON SECOND READING

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjorn until Tuesday, January 24, 1961, at 12:00 m.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 6:00 p. m.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, January 23, 1961

The House met at 3:30 P.M., E.S.T.

The Speaker (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplin, Reverend David R. Hoover, offered the following prayer:

At the beginning of this new week's session, we come before Thee in deepest humility. We recognize the great task which faces these legislators in this hour. Endue them with Thy power from on high, and grant them the insight to know and do the things which are pleasing and right to Thee. For each of us, we humbly pray that Thou wilt mercifully look upon our infirmities and in all our dangers and necessities stretch forth the right hand of Thy Majesty, to help and defend us; through Jesus Christ, Thy dear Son our Lord, Who liveth and reigneth with Thee and the Holy Ghost, ever One God, world without end. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the approval of the Journal for Tuesday, January 17, 1961 will be postponed until printed.

The Chair hears none.

Referred to the Committee on Judiciary.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. GALLAGHER and FINEMAN. RESOLUTION No. 7.

In the House of Representatives, January 17, 1961.

During the early part of the month of January, 1961, it has been reported that fourteen people have died from Serum Hepatitis. Of these unfortunate people who have succumbed, four have been residents of Pennsylvania, particularly, Levittown and Bucks County.

It has been reported by officials of the State of New Jersey, who are conducting an investigation in this matter, that the deaths were due to injections. They state that these people contracted this disease, Serum Hepatitis, after receiving injections of drugs used in the practice of psychiatry. The Attorney General of New Jersey has uncovered the fact that a person known as a "carrier" of the disease received injections of drugs from the same source and, subsequent to this, other patients were administered drugs with the same instruments, thereby transmitting the disease to other patients and causing the unfortunate death of these fourteen people. It is a medical fact that Serum Hepatitis can only be contracted by injection into a person's bloodstream. The use of improperly sterilized instruments can cause this to happen. Attention should be given to the fact that other deadly diseases can be transmitted in the same manner to unsuspecting people; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby directs the Pennsylvania Department of Health and all of the regulatory licensing boards, i.e., the State Dental Council and Examining Board; State Board of Medical Education and Licensure; State Board of Osteopathic Examiners; State Board of Nurse Examiners and Practical Nurse Examiners of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, to investigate the possibility of requiring the use of a newly developed instrument known as a "sterile disposable syringe" as a means of preventing a recurrence of this disaster; and that the Department of Health shall compile a report of the findings of all such boards and shall make a report to the House of Representatives as soon as possible. In the event legislation is necessary to correct this problem, this fact should be clearly stated in the report; and be it further

Resolved, That the House of Representatives direct the Chief Clerk to transmit a copy of this resolution and a copy of the report of the Department of Health to the Governor of the State of New Jersey and to the State Legislature of New Jersey.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. WORLEY and TOMASCIK.

RESOLUTION No. 8.

In the House of Representatives, January 17, 1961.

Whereas, There are many obsolete laws upon the statute books of this Commonwealth, and

Whereas, These obsolete laws should not be repealed without a careful study first being made thereof; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission is hereby directed to make a study of the laws of this Commonwealth for the purpose of ascertaining which laws are obsolete; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission shall make a full report of such obsolete laws with their recommendations to the next General Assembly.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. DONALDSON and MAGEE.

RESOLUTION No. 9.

In the House of Representatives, January 17, 1961.

Various groups of consumers have long questioned the high price of milk and cream in Pennsylvania.

The Milk Control Act, enacted during the depression to assure the constant supply of fresh milk, has now become an oddity in that it authorizes the Milk Control Comcission to fix minimum prices for milk and cream. The present economic atmosphere creates a need for maximum limitations on prices, not a minimum or floor for prices; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint a committee of three members of the House to study the price fixing policies of the Milk Control Commision in the various areas of Pennsylvania; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee make a report of its findings and recommendations to the General Asembly as soon as possible.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. WILLAREDT and HAMILTON.

RESOLUTION No. 10.

In the House of Representatives, January 17, 1961.

The Tall Cedars of Lebanon of the United States of America, an organization of Master Masons promotes, as its national charitable objective, muscular dystrophy research and in connection therewith, sponsors a research metabolism unit for muscular dystrophy occupying an entire floor of the Institute of Muscle Diseases in New York City.

During the week of March 5 of this year, the Tall Cedars of Lebanon will sponsor various activities including emphasis on programs promoting muscular dystrophy research.

Every assistance should be given to any program which has as its objective the reduction and elimination of the crippling disease of muscular dystrophy; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Governor of this Commonwealth is hereby requested that he issue a proclamation setting apart the week of March 5, 1961 as "National Tall Cedars of Lebanon Week" in order to promote muscular dystrophy research and to urge that the occasion be appropriately observed by the citizens of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Governor by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. WALSH. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 11.

In the House of Representatives, January 17, 1961.

For the past several years, a large portion of our Federal tax dollars has gone towards National defense. President Eisenhower and responsible leaders of both major political parties have indicated that we must continue to spend a large part of our tax revenues for defense against communist aggression. In President Eisenhower's budget this year, he is asking for a total of $47,392,000,000 for National security. This is 58¢ of every tax dollar for National defense.

On a State level, funds for aid to education have long been given a top priority. Education of our young people, not only in the ways and means of earning a livelihood, but in modern day political activity, is an essential factor to be considered in order that we and our youth may survive. Governor Lawrence, in his message yesterday, asked that we appropriate a sum of $469,055,501, or 47.147¢ of every tax dollar, for education. Every year we appropriate large sums of money to the University of Pittsburgh to help maintain this fine university. This year's appropriation is approximately $6 million.

If we continue to appropriate funds for education, we must be sure that these funds will be spent properly, and will be so channelled as to aid and abet the American way of life and the high ideals and objectives of decent Americanism. To allow supposed educational activity to undercut the objectives of our total activity, and for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to appropriate funds to institutions harboring leftists who preach pro-communist doctrine, is a woeful waste of our substance. The tax money appropriated by this body for educational activities must be spent on education which is wholesome and benefical to the community, and not for the payment of salaries of pro-communists.

Dr. Robert Colodny, a history profesor at the University of Pittsburgh, fought with the Communist forces in the Spanish Civil War. He was a member of the Abraham Lincoln Brigade, which still tops the Attorney General's list of subversive organizations seeking to overthrow the United States government by force and violence. Dr. Colodny has stated that "The Spanish Republic was just an agrarian reform movement." He has made it plain that he considers Fidel Castro's revolution in Cuba just another case of "agrarian reform."

Last April he was one of some thirty signers of a statement isued by the "Fair Play for Cuba Committee," an openly pro-Castro organization founded to tell the American public the "true facts" about Cuba, which, it claims are being "suppresed" by the American press.

Among others signing the statement, were novelist Norman Mailer, Jean Paul Sartre, French existential leftist; writer Truman Capote; French leftist author Simone de Beauvoir, and drama critic Kenneth Tynan, who staged a British TV program last spring featuring, among other "distinguished American dissenters," Alger Hiss.

Any so-called professor who confuses the dirt of the Castro regime with the earth of any agrarian policy is a confused person, and unreliable as a teacher. The institution employing such a person must be informed of the attitude of this General Assembly toward him and his attitudes. He is subverting the respected institution employing him and insulting the intelligence of all citizens of this Commonwealth by preaching his drivel concerning "agrarian reform;" therefore, be it

Resolved (The Senate concurring), That the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint three members of the House, and the President Pro Tempore of the Senate appoint three members of the Senate, who together shall constitute a joint committee to make a thorough investigation of schools, colleges and universities receiving State aid, to determine whether subversive doctrines are being fostered; and, be it further

Resolved, That the University of Pittsburgh is hereby requested to investigate the above charges against Dr. Colodny, to determine the extent of his guilt, and if found guilty of teaching subversion of government, to ask for his resignation; and, be it further

Resolved, That the committee make a report as of their findings to this Session of the General Assembly as soon as possible.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

STATEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair has declined to accept the resignation of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Muldowney, as Chairman of the Committee on Cities—Counties First Class, and the Chair expects that the gentleman will serve.

COMMUNICATION

REQUEST FOR SPECIAL ELECTION

The SPEAKER laid before the House a communication which was read by the Clerk as follows:

REPUBLICAN STATE COMMITTEE of PENNSYLVANIA

HARRISBURG

January 17, 1961

Honorable Hiram G. Andrews
Speaker of the House of Representatives
Commonwealth of Pennsylvania
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

My dear Mr. Speaker:

I am adviced that there was submitted to you yesterday, January 16, 1961, the resignation of Floyd K. Brenninger, Representative-Elect to the General Assembly from the Third Legislative District of Montgomery County.

May I respectfully request that a Writ of Special Election be issued, fixing the date of the Primary Election, May 16, 1961, as the date upon which the Special Election will be held to fill this vacancy. In making such a request, we are keeping in mind the additional cost to the taxpayers of Montgomery County if this date is not selected.

Since the Republicans are in the minority in the House, Mr. Brenninger's absence will not necessarily have any effect on legislation pending prior to May 16.

I have always appreciated your fine cooperation, and I am sure that you will give me every consideration in this request.

Sincerely yours,
(s) GEORGE I. BLOOM

GIB:cp

The SPEAKER. The request of the Republican State Chairman will be complied with.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mr. Eilberg for Mr. MURPHY because of illness.

Mr. Eilberg for Mr. DOUGHERTY because of illness.

Mr. Tompkins for Mr. KESSLER for the remainder of the week because of illness.

Mr. Tompkins for Mr. AUKER for today's session.

Mr. Tompkins for Mr. ODORISIO for today's session because of illness.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TOMPKINS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I wish at this time to make a statement.

Mr. Speaker and Members of the House.

On January 16, 1961, his Excellency, the Governor of Pennsylvania delivered his budget message to this General Assembly.

As I have read and re-read this message I am more and more impressed with it being a document of abdication—an abdication of our powers and responsibilities as a sovereign State to the Federal Government.

I find no less than 17 references in said document to the Federal Government. Let's take a look at some of them.

Change Fiscal Year of Pennsylvania to bring it into accord with the Fiscal Year observed by the Federal Government.

Urban Renewal and Industrial Development—"we anticipate a stronger combined operation with Federal support".

Education—"will discuss this vital area (later) in relationship to possible programs of Federal assistance".

Education—we "Hope for Federal augmentation to Education".

Highways—In addition to matching funds of $106,360,000 in Federal aid for Federally assisted highways—we "anticipate Federal reimbursements to come".

Highways—"short term borrowings made in anticipation of Federal repayment".

Unemployment—"We must be prepared to take full advantage in this State of any programs which are passed by Congress or effected by executive order".

Unemployment compensation—"We have a vital concern in the extension of unemployment compensation payments by Congress on a grant basis."

Housing and Urban Renewal—"The Housing and urban renewal programs, which are so important in Pennsylvania also are largely dependent upon Federal action".

Medical Care—"This budget assumes that Congress will so alter the present legislation as to eliminate the need for further state appropriations."

Education—"We may then consider such further action as may be indicated by Congressional decisions."

Anticipate, possible, hope, vital concern, dependent, assume, further action. Just what kind of a budget is this?

Is the present administration here in Harrisburg seeking to continue itself in power by riding on the tiger's back of the Federal Government, which would inevitably find the Commonwealth inside and consumed by the tiger?

Without pointing out how we should be further immersed in Federal dependency and control—why is not some effort made to point the way as to how we can extricate ourselves from the clutches of further centralized and remote control?

While attending the Inaugural last Friday I hope the Governor heard that portion of the Inaugural Address which laid down the challenge—"and so, my fellow Americans: ask not what your Country will do for you—ask what you can do for your Country".

For too long we have rendered many of our people to an apathy and indifference to their responsibilities as individuals in the ever intensified urging and encouragement to reliance upon a paternalistic Government. These are unsightly ink spots on the fabric of our liberty and Freedom. What can we do to inspire our people to a better sense of self responsibility? In my opinion this is the most worthy function of any society or government.

Then too, bait in the form of subsidies and matching funds have been held out for so long and extended so far to lower levels of Government by succeeding higher levels of Government, that lower levels of Government have been rendered almost impotent and helpless to do anything for and by themselves.

The proposed Federal Budget for the coming year will take $5,620,000,000 out of Pennsylvania. Why this is enough on the basis of the proposed Pennsylvania Budget to finance our State Government for almost 6 years.

In 1959 Pennsylvania received $489 million in Federal Aid at an estimated cost of $622 million, or a net loss in the transaction of $173 million.

The relationship between grants and costs indicates that it costs Pennsylvania $1.40 in Federal taxes to receive $1.00 in Federal aid. For Highway grants alone, the ratio is $1.33 for each $1.00, and for all other grants it is $1.45 per $1.00.

Why the net loss alone of $173 million is just about the figure required to meet the approximate $180 million additional which the Governor's budget indicates is needed to balance the budget.

And don't overlook the fact that 55% of the $489 million Federal aid which came to us was derived from graduated individual income taxes: and 25% from graduated corporate income taxes, or a total of 80% of $391 million was derived from graduated taxes. So the taxes which the people of Pennsylvania have thrice rejected and which this General Assembly has repeatedly rejected is by subterfuge and indirection to become the head of the corner.

So what does the Governor suggest, urge and advise—haste, speed, hurry up, accelerate—why?—There are no less than 12 exhortations in the Budget message to haste and speed. Why?

So we can sit around Harrisburg and wait for the anticipations, possibilities, hopes, assumptions, further actions and decisions of Congress? And if Congress makes no decisions, or if Congress does not make the right kind of decisions, then what? Will we then get a revised budget or a supplemental budget covering Education, unemployment relief, medical care and others? If so what will it look like? The Governor doesn't say—all he does is hope and anticipate and waits for decisions not his own. I ask you, is this any way to run a government?

And what else is there in this budget that the Governor does not want us to find out with a little bit of study? I wonder. Perhaps it is what is not in the budget that should be there that we should be looking for. Is this the Governor's whole budget—or is he going to come along with a series of Sunday Punches?

Thank you.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I have just listened to the distinguished gentleman rom Cameron and I am wondering if he would want us here in Pennsylvania to not take advantage of the Federal funds that are made available.

First, I would like to say, Mr. Speaker, outside of the Federal aid or education, which has been proposed, none of these programs is new. The acceptance of them in Pennsylvania was not started under either the Leader or the Lawrence Administration. It seems to me that here in Pennsylvania, where we pay hundreds of millions of dollars in income tax, as the gentleman stated, we should receive some of it back in benefits. I do not know how he would propose to finance the various projects in Pennsylvania that we do with Federal aid if they were entirely thrown upon the resources of this Commonwealth.

Mr. Speaker, whether we like it or not, the Federal government has an income tax, they are going to collect the income tax in Pennsylvania, and I believe it is up to this administration to get for the people of Pennsylvania the benefits which the Federal government makes available to the states.

REPORT OF LEGISLATIVE BUDGET AND FINANCE COMMITTEE OF 1960

Mr. POLEN presented a communication and the report of the Legislative Budget and Finance Committee of 1960.

The communication was read by the Clerk as follows:

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
LEGISLATIVE BUDGET AND FINANCE COMMITTEE
HARRISBURG, PENNSYLVANIA

January 23, 1961.

To the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

Pursuant to Section 3 Paragraph 4 of Act 195 (P. L. 587) approved August 4, 1959 there is transmitted herewith the first summary report of the activities of the Legislative Budget and Finance Committeee and of the Legislative Analyst and staff for the calendar year 1960 including financial statements and other schedules.

/s/ M. HARVEY TAYLOR, Chairman

(For report see Appendix)

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. POLEN asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Appropriations to meet during the session of the House.

SUPPLEMENT REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON COMMITTEES

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, with the consent of all parties involved and the Speaker of this House, we would like to announce some changes, two changes, for the record which will be incorporated in the supplement to the committee on Committees report.

William Renwick, listed as Chairman of the Fisheries Committee, is to be replaced by Charles Jim, Westmoreland County as Chairman of Fisheries. Charles Jim, listed as Vice-Chairman of Game and Conservation Committee is to be replaced by William Renwick of Elk County as Vice-Chairman of Game and Conservation. The two committees involved are Fisheries and Game and Conservation. When the Fisheries Committee meets, the Fisheries Committee would be under the Chairmanship of Charles Jim of Westmoreland County. This will be a supplemental report of the Committeee on Committees.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEES TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. KAMYK asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Ways and Means to meet during the session of the House.

Mr. RUDISILL asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Judiciary General to meet during the session of the House.

INTERROGATION

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN asked and obtained unanimous consent to interrogate Mr. McCANN.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, is the Majority Leader a member of the Legislative Budget and Finance Committee as established by the Act of 1959?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I am a member of the Committee.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, as a Member of the House, I am interested in finding a detailed statement of the proposed appropriations as presented by the Governor, can I secure them from the Legislative Analyst without delay?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman repeat the question again?

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker I am interested to know whether I can receive a detailed statement of the appropriations from the Legislative Analyst as provided for by the Act of 1959.

Mr. McCANN. I would say, Mr. Speaker, that I question very much if you could receive a detailed report from the Legislative Analyst, Mr. Truman Thompson, of the budget which you have requested. I could not answer affirmatively that he would have such information ready at this point or that he would be preparing such information.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, was it not the purpose of the Act of 1959 that the Legislature would be armed with sufficient knowledge whereby it could intelligently vote upon any fiscal measure?

Mr. McCANN. Yes, I would say that the Membership of the Legislature could intelligently vote on every single measure proposed by the Governor or proposed by any Standing Committee of this House.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I have the two budget meassages as presented, both the General and the Highway budgets. Is it not true that these are blanket figures and not a detailed statement?

Mr. McCANN. I am sure, Mr. Speaker, that they are general statements and figures, not complete in detail as to every fine point. That would be true.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Is it not true, Mr. Speaker, that the purpose of this legislation was to make the House and the Senate a coordinate body so that we would not be given legislation of a fiscal character as a blank check?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would say, for the information of the House that, one, the Legislative Budget and Finance Committee was formed after a great delay; number two, that it is its intention not to specifically talk about figures, but new programs, as to their value, or existing program, as to their value, in the Legislative Budget and Finance Committee, to make their recommendations to the General Assembly in these fields and in other fields dealing with specific subjects that are approved by the Executive Committee to be looked into, information gathered, to adopt a policy or a program on any of these specific subjects.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, is it not specifically provided for under the Act of 1959 that this Committee will analyze the budget and give each and every Member of the Legislature, who is interested enough, information whereby he can make an intelligent vote of yes or no?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the answer to that specific question would be yes, as you read the law.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, is it not true that we spent $200,000 in the last biennium for this particular committee?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, it would not be true exactly that we spent $200,000. I believe there was appropriated the sum of $200,000. We did not spend $200,000 of that amount appropriated, sir.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. I am getting a little far afield. I think I read the Joint State Government Commission report. Is it not true that the money appropriated for the Legislative Budget and Finance Committee was transferred to the Joint State Government Commission?

Mr. McCANN. No, Mr. Speaker. There was no money transfered to the Joint State Government Commission in the sense of a transfer. The Legislative Budget and Finance Committee did engage the Joint State Government Commission to do specific parts of reports on which they paid for those services—period.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, when we passed the Legislative Budget and Finance Committee legislation in 1959, we appropriated $200,000 for a specific purpose, for the purpose of giving the Legislators intelligent information as to our fiscal problems. I recall that our learned Speaker, from time to time, stated that legislation of this character was necessary so that we would not continue the practice of the past, but so that every one of us would know why we were voting for certain legislation.

I say that right now, with $108,000 contemplated in the coming budget for this Committee, I am entitled to receive from Truman Thompson, or any other person, a detailed statement of this budget. To ask me or anybody else to vote on a budget with blanket figures and with no detailed information as to whether the amount requested is either too low or too high, I say is improper and not in the public interest, and any legislator who does vote under those circumstances is not performing his duty as an independent legislator.

I suggest that the Legislative Budget and Finance Committee start performing its duties immediately and give every Member the detailed statements they are entitled to under the provisions of this Act.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I certainly can say I am most pleased with the remarks of the gentleman from Allegheny regarding the Legislative Budget and Finance Committee, regarding the remarks that I thought he might be leading into about the Joint State Government Commission, but which he did not. That I assume he reserves for another day and another time. May I state to you that I believe such a report should be presented here in this House and I think that very likely the Legislative Analyst—which I believe is the correct title—Mr. Truman Thompson, should have such a report forthcoming. I will also say to you that perhaps the Legislative Budget and Finance Committee did not get started to do too much work under the present law which started this Committee. But I do believe that as years go on it will serve a very useful and excellent purpose, that each of us is entitled to know what they are doing, what subject they are working on, and what reports they may have to present to every Member of the House and the Senate. I certainly am most pleased to answer any question the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein, may have in his mind at any time regarding this or any other Commission in which we serve in any way in an executive capacity.

The SPEAKER. The Chair might say anytime the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein, desires to call at the Speaker's office, he will tell him the history of that organization that he talked about, in all its details.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. HAMILTON asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to bills to be introduced by him.

The SPEAKER. The House will have to pass a rule about this matter of additional sponsors, how many should be on a bill, what is the limit, and then decide whether we want to enforce that limit or whether we leave the question open and have innumerable Members rising to ask for additional sponsors, if the rules should permit any number of sponsors, or should we limit it. If we have a rule we should live within the rule.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. MAGEE from the Committee on Judiciary, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 2, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article three section sixteen of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania authorizing cash refunds without appropriation in certain cases.

Mr. McCANN from the Committee on Rules, reported as committed, House Resolution No. 1, (not printed).

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Kamyk.

Mr. KAMYK. Mr. Speaker, I am reporting fourteen bills from the Ways and Means Committee that are numbered 88 to 101, inclusive, with the request that they be read for the first time.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the Minority Leader.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I thought I was informed by the Majority Leader that such a request would not be made.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the Majority Leader.

Mr. McCANN. At the time the discussion was held, the Committee on Ways and Means was in their meeting and I could not attend the meeting. The motion passed was that the bills be reported from committee with a request that they be read for the first time. If you object, the objection will then be taken into consideration.

Mr. AGNEW. I thought we had an understanding. Is the Majority Leader going to request that the request of the Chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means be withdrawn or do you want me to make the objection?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I request that he make the objection.

Mr. AGNEW. I then make the objection.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the bills then be just reported from the Committee.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objections to the reading of the bills for the first time.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the Minority Leader.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I think the membership is entitled to know why the Minority objected to the reading of the bills reported from Committee today on first reading.

The plan of the Majority was to report the bills from committee today on first reading and to pass them finally this week on Wednesday.

The operation of this House is subject to the desires of the Majority. That the Minority admits. However, House Bills Nos. 95 to 101, the key bills in the Governor's new tax program, the new tax bills, were introduced last Tuesday, were available here in the Capitol on Thursday and were kept under lock and key in the Chief Clerk's office and were not released until this morning.

I had my administrative assistant make a verbal request for copies of these bills which I thought, naively perhaps, the Minority might be able to inspect on Thursday and again on Friday. He was denied copies of the bills for perusal in my office and on Saturday I had him deliver a written request to the Chief Clerk asking for copies of the bills.

The Chief Clerk's office informed Mr. Calkins, who was making a request in my name, that their instructions were that nobody, I repeat nobody, was to receive any copies of the bills.

This House has never been operated on that basis before and I might add that House Bills 102 to 134 which were given later numbers and which were submitted certainly no earlier than House Bills 95 to 101, were in print and were available upon request by any interested party, any citizen of the Commonwealth, or for that matter, any citizen of New York, I suppose.

But House Bills 95 to 101, key measure administrative proposals, were not available for use by anybody. I think we have a legitimate right to complain inasmuch as the Minority represents some 47.5 percent of the Membership of this House. Not only do we have the right to complain for ourselves, we have a right to complain for the people of Pennsylvania. Nobody was able to get a copy of these bills and to study them.

They are tax proposals, and I suppose are not considered important pieces of legislation. We thought otherwise. We were told by the Chief Clerk's office that the instructions concerning the withholding of these bills came from the Majority Leader's office. We will assume that is true unless the Majority Leader wishes to deny it. But in connection with that I would like to say that I believe that deliberately an iron curtain was placed around the Governor's Tax Program. Not only were the Members of the General Assembly denied their right and privilege of studying these bills, but the public, the people of Pennsylvania, were deprived of their right to know exactly what the Governor was proposing.

These are steamroller tactics which the Minority will not stand still for. There is an attempt on the part of the administration to thwart and deny the rights of the peoples' chosen representatives, to say nothing of the people themselves, to study carefully these revenue raising proposals.

I would like, in respect to the withholding of the copies of these bills which were available here in this Capitol and which, since time immemorial, have been available to any Member of the House, certainly, upon request, to interrogate the Majority Leader and attempt to find out from him if in fact his orders were that the bills be withheld and if there was any reason for it, and if in the foreseeable future during this Session such a practice will be repeated.

I request permission to interrogate the Majority Leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would ask that the Minority Floor Leader yield to permit me to make a statement.

Mr. AGNEW. I yield to the Majority Leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, of the total package involved, 82 to 101 inclusive, a portion of those bills went to the printer first, were checked and were in the Capitol and released on Thursday. You are in error when you say the other numbers were here on Thursday. They were delivered by the printer to the custody of the Chief Clerk, where all bills are delivered, on Friday. Yes, those bills were held at my request to be checked, including 82, which, after being checked, were released as were the others after they were checked. The bills were released on Monday morning, this morning, and your office, I believe, received ten copies of each of the bills. I was present when they were picked up and turned over.

Now then, as to this type of legislation, there is no measure being taken to withhold from the public, but there are measures being taken to see that the House and Senate Members have copies of this legislation and that not all the lobbyists come in and take all the copies all the time on important legislation and then it is not available to you and your constituents when you need it. This I say to you is not a measure to try to hide in any way. I did issue such order on all of the bills. The first package, beginning at 82 to that number, was checked. From that number the balance of the package, that was delivered on Friday, was checked as to its printing on each one. Yes, this could have been released then on Sunday. I was here Sunday. I was here Sunday evening, working, at nine p. m. and I worked until midnight last night. I had no knowledge at any time other than when I talked to a certain gentleman at midnight, between midnight and one o'clock this morning, about these measures. I assure you, in every way, this was done as a helpful precaution and if this is a situation where you say we are withholding, we are printing all bills in Committee right now. There are no pink bills. Your copies cannot, in any way, in the future be withheld. When they arrive from the printer, they will go straight to the offices.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, in view of the lateness of the hour I withdraw my request to interrogate the Majority Leader. He has answered in some fashion the questions I would have asked him anyway. I do want him and the officers of the House to know that any time bills are in print and they are not available at the request of any Member of this House, we are going to make it a matter of a permanent record of this House during the next Session. That is why these comments are being made today. If they were held up and kept under lock and key merely to determine whether or not there were any mistakes in the bills, I think that is an excuse and not a reason. If there are any mistakes in the bills they can always be corrected by amendment, and I think the Majority Leader knows that as well as I do.

We very much object to what was done over the week end. If I was mistaken and the bills were not here Thursday, I apologize, but they were definitely here Friday and they were not available on request from my office; they were not available upon written request of my office on Saturday, and, of course, they were not available for study at all by anybody until this morning.

Now I might say in respect to lobbyists, I am not beating the drums for them anymore than the Majority Leader is, but these lobbyists represent groups of people in this Commonwealth. Labor lobbyists represent labor organizations, business lobbyists represent business organizations and so on, and as such they have a legitimate interest in the legislative proposals of the general Assembly. Certainly we Members do. I do not wish to prolong this past the normal hour of closing, but I do want the permanent record of the House to show that the Minority very strongly objects to the keeping of these important tax bills under lock and key over the week end.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. CANDLESS asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would like at this time to indicate that each day, or each session, the Whip will send up the notices for committee meetings that are scheduled for the following day, and at this point we have committee meetings to be announced for Tuesday, tomorrow, in this House.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I would like to announce at this time a Republican Caucus immediately after today's adjournment and, for the benefit of informing our Members, I wonder if the Majority Leader can give us any information on how many sessions the House will have this week?

The SPEAKER. Does the Majority Leader desire to respond at this time to the question of the Minority Leader, or does the Majority Leader desire now to proceed to caucus?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I cannot respond at this time to that question, before caucus, but I do, before we go to caucus, ask that the rule changes that were proposed and that are now mimeographed, be distributed and that every Member take them with him and that the Committee Meetings for tomorow be announced at this time.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, may I point out that the proposed amendments to the House Rules are being distributed now and I would ask the Republican Members to please bring their copies to caucus also.

COMMITTEE MEETINGS

CITIES—THIRD CLASS, Mr. Walsh, Chairman, Room 131 C, Tuesday, January 24, at 12:30 p. m., E. S. T.

EDUCATION, Mrs. Reibman, Chairman, Room 324, Tuesday, January 24, at 9:45 a. m., E. S. T.

ELECTIONS, Mr. Eilberg, Chairman, Room 323, Tuesday, January 24, at 11:00 a. m., E. S. T.

FISHERIES, Mr. Jim, Chairman, Room 323, Tuesday, January 24, at 11:00 a. m., E. S. T.

JUDICIARY GENERAL, Mr. Rudisill, Chairman, Room 149, Tuesday, January 24, at 10:00 a. m., E. S. T.

GAME AND CONSERVATION, Mr. Curwood, Chairman, Room 323, Tuesday, January 24, 11:15 a. m., E. S. T.

DEMOCRAT CAUCUS

The SPEAKER. The Majority Leader has not yet announced his desire as to a caucus.

Mr. McCANN. I will now, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Speaker, I will request a Democratic caucus in the New House Caucus Room. Such caucus will be completed by 6:30. I will ask that every Member bring with them the mimeographed copy of the proposed amendments to House Rules which they have on their desks. We will proceed immediately and I ask that everyone attend the caucus.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. KRAMER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Tuesday, January 24, 1961 at 1:00 p. m. EST.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 5:40 p. m. EST) the House adjourned.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1961. 145th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 38. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, JANUARY 24, 1961. No. 9.

SENATE

TUESDAY, JANUARY 24, 1961

The Senate met at 12:00 m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, REV. LESTER C. UPDEGROVE, Pastor of Bethany Evangelical United Brethren Church, Palmyra, offered the following prayer:

Our Father, Who art in Heaven, with grateful hearts we acknowledge Thy renewed mercies in our lives this day.

In light of the solemn responsibilities confronting this legislative body, impart Thy wisdom and leadership so that during the weeks of this legislative session, notable strides will be accomplished for the moral, social and temporal betterment of our State.

Make us willing to daily appropriate Thy grace, which is always sufficient for our every need. Then, assuredly, it can be said of us, as was spoken of Thy servant, David: "'He served his own generation by the will of God."

These petitions we ask in the Name of God, the Father; God, the Son and God, the Holy Spirit. Amen.

ANNOUNCEMENT CONCERNING PROPOSED VISIT TO WYETH LABORATORIES

The PRESIDENT. The President pro tempore has requested the Chair to make this announcement for the benefit of those Members of the Senate who are going to visit the Wyeth Laboratories in Radnor, Pennsylvania. Please be advised that the special train will leave the Harrisburg, Pennsylvania Station at 3:00 p.m., this afternoon. The train returning to Harrisburg will leave Radnor at approximately 10:30 this evening.

I am reminded to advise you of one more thing. The Senators are asked to please be at the station on time. You never can tell, but the train might leave on time.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. WEINER and Mr. HALUSKA, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

REQUESTING CONGRESS TO ADD A NEW ARTICLE TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES

Messrs. PROPER and KESSLER offered the following resolution (Serial No. 106), which was read as follows and referred to the Committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations:

In the Senate, January 24, 1961.

Be it resolved by the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania (the House of Representatives concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania respectfully request the Congress of the United States to propose to the people an amendment to the Constitution of the United States or to call a convention for such purpose as provided by law to add to the Constitution an Article providing that:

ARTICLE .....

Section 1. The Government of the United States shall not engage in any business, professional, commercial, financial or industrial enterprise except as specified in the Constitution.

Section 2. The Constitution or laws of any State, or the laws of the United States shall not be subject to the terms of any foreign or domestic agreement which would abrogate this amendment.

Section 3. The activities of the United States Government which violate the intent and purposes of this amendment shall, within a period of three years from the date of ratification of this amendment, be liquidated and the properties and facilities effected shall be sold.

Section 4. Three years after the ratification of this amendment the Sixteenth Article of amendments to the Constitution of the United States shall stand repealed and, thereafter, Congress shall not levy taxes on personal incomes, estates, and/or gifts.

Resolved, That a certified copy of this Resolution be forwarded by the Secretary of the Commonwealth to the President of the United States Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and to each member of Congress from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

STATEMENT BY THE CHAIR

The PRESIDENT. The Chair would like to call to your attention the difficult situation he is in.

In an effort to keep order in this august Chamber, I broke a gavel yesterday and, today, I have broken another one. I have only half of a gavel left, so I will expect your cooperation. I cannot pound very hard. Therefore, please, a little more quiet.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

SB 41. Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. WEINER.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WEINER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, yesterday the microphones or the audio system were not working too well and it might have been that some of the gems, which we expounded here from time to time, might have been lost. Therefore, I wish to make our position perfectly clear.

Mr. President, we are introducing measures which deal with amendments to the Constitution. In order for anyone to understand these bills and what they are doing, you not only have to read the bills, but you have to go back and read the original amendments which have been made to the Constitution.

We are not in favor, as among some of these other measures, of giving free passes to the Members of the Legislature or anyone else. If free passes were to be given for airplane travel, I could understand that some of the Members might feel inclined in that direction. However, the time has come when we feel that the Constitution under which we are living is far outmoded. It does not fit our mode of life. It does not fit what we are doing today. We are going back almost ninety years under this Constitution. We have tried, in vain, to call Constitutional Conventions and have never met with any success or popularity in either of the two Chambers. The bill always gets bogged down in one place or another.

On the Democratic side, both in the House and Senate, we are hopeful of introducing a bill, which I think is already in the works, and have it passed, providing for a Constitutional Convention. However, every time we have discussed a Constitutional Convention, we have always been told that the Constitution maintains and has within it its own mechanism for correcting the ills which exist. As we have demonstrated here, week after week since we have been in Session, for us to do this, a great number of changes would have to take place. These measures would have to pass both Chambers on two succeeding Sessions. The Sessions would not necessarily have to be ones which follow each other, even though we are in annual sessions. Thereafter, they would have to appear on the ballot. If these measures were to pass, we would have thirty-odd amendments on which the people could vote. Some people have difficulty even ascertaining who the candidates are. This would be an extra burden on them and many of them would never get to the point of actually pulling the proper lever on these different amendments. We have seen some of those go astray in past elections.

It is not our desire to rend asunder the Constitution or to prove that the measures in the Constitution should be corrected piecemeal. We feel that the entire document should be rewritten and oriented to our form of life. That is why we are asking for this to be done. There is no other ulterior motive or purpose behind it.

There has been some difficulty in getting this position across to the people. I am sure the Members of the Legislature well understand our position. However, that is the reason we have introduced these measures for consideration. We wish to show how a measure dealing with corporations, for example, is in the Constitution. This should be part of our laws and it is a part of the B.C.L. now, which is the Business Corporation Law. These matters should be codified. We should set up statutory laws where they belong, in order for amendments to be made. For example, if our corporation setup changed or we wanted to make any changes, we practically would need a Constitutional amendment in order to do that.

That is what we are trying to demonstrate by these measures.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BERGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I appreciate the candor which the Majority Leader used in describing the purpose they have in presenting these constitutional amendments. I am sure he is too good a lawyer to attempt to do indirectly what he has been unable to do directly.

However, Mr. President, I want to say that the Constitution of Pennsylvania is a very living document and it can always be altered or amended by this method. However, I do want to say that it appears to me, at this present stage of the legislative process, there are some other important things which should be occupying our attention on the Calendar other than repealing some of these constitutional provisions.

Mr. President, I do not intend to labor this, but there are a number of provisions in the corporate laws, and in other laws, which are there only because the Constitution requires that limitation to be in the law. I can pick out one or two bills on this Calendar that are very salutary. For instance, the requirement to have an office in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by foreign corporations is in the law. It is certainly in the law, but it is in there because the Constitution says that is what you have to do. I see no reason in the world why you should repeal a provision like that.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WEINER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe the gentleman has pointed out the very purpose which I am trying to bring to the attention of the General Assembly; namely, that we already have it in the law. It might very well be that it stems from this document. However, there is no reason to have it twice in order to do the very same thing that has been done.

Also, in this same context, these are the measures which we were able to have reported out and you can see the difficulty we are having in moving these along. I agree that there are many other important things and I am trying to get them out of committee. However, in doing that, we have been criticized for moving too hastily. The Legislature usually is damned because it does not move fast enough but, in this context, we are being damned because we are moving too quickly. I think one of the things which the gentlemen of this Chamber should make up their minds about is whether or not they should be impervious to that type of criticism, especially if they are doing the right thing.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BERGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, my point is that many of the salutary provisions which are in the Acts of Assembly are there because the Constitution requires it. If the Constitution did not require it, they might not be in there.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. FLEMING asked and obained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, since the Majority Leader has outlined the philosophy of his Party and why they are putting out these various constitutional amendments, I would like to draw his attention to the fact that only a litle over a year ago we had a Consitutional Revision Commission, which was co-chaired by two very eminent lawyers from Pennsylvania; namely, former Chief Justice Stearne and Judge Robert Woodside.

The Commission had a membership of fifteen, fourteen of whom were highly qualified for the job. I say that because I happen to have been the fifteenth member. I was not in the same class with the others. However, we had very fine men and women from all over Pennsylvania who made a thorough study of this subject. That Commission recommended not a Constitutional Convention, but it recommended that certain changes be made in the Constitution by amendment to it.

I would suggest to the Majority Leader, and to the Committee on Constituional Changes and Federal Relaions, that they consider the recommendations of that Constitutional Revision Commission, get some of those amendments into bill form, present them to the Legislature and, in that way, attempt to make some of the necessary or, a least, recommended changes to the present Constitution.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WEINER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I might point out to the gentleman who just spoke that many of these bills which we have introduced have been recommendations made by the Constitutional Revision Commission. I also would like to point out to the gentleman—without my doing the arithmetic, because I know he is quite capable of doing it for himself—what the numbers were in this Senate Chamber and who the chairmen of the committees were. I think we merely have to go back, look into the little History and we will find out what happened to all these measures.

I do not want to belabor what has taken place in the past. However, I do think we now have, in the present, an opportunity to do what we think should be done and do it in a correct manner. I think we should bring this to the attention of the public, as well, in order for the public to give us the support which we need on some of these measures. By merely avoiding some of these issues or problems, I do not think we are helping anyone, most noteworthy of whom are the citizens of Pennsylvania, who I think must live under this Constitution.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SEYLER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, there are various ways of amending the Constitution. The people who oppose a Constitutional Convention, which is the method which I believe would be most efficacious, have always said that it is better to use one of the other methods. The only thing that a person in my position then can do, it seems to me, is to take them at their word and support efforts to amend our Constitution in a desirable way by whatever method is proposed. This does not mean that I believe the method offered here, of separate amendments, is the best. I do not think you will get as integrated a product. I think it is predictable that what is happening here—a confusing of the issues by confusing the attempts to take out of the Constitution things which should not be there, with an attempt to do the substantive changes suggested by the various amendments—will also arise in people's minds. I think this is an inferior method but, nevertheless, as one who—as I—believes that it is very necessary to do something to improve our Constitution is bound, it seems to me we must use any means that is offered, provided the ends are desirable.

I would like to say to the gentlemen who vote against these amendments that unless they can offer arguments as to why the separate amendments should be in the Constitution as constitutional provisions, rather than in the statutory laws as an enactments of the Legislature, I do not think they have a justification for voting against them.

I would hope that in this Session, when the Members see what is happening to these separate attempts to amend the Constitution and what chaos you will get in the thinking of the Members about it—and I have no part in proposing these separate attempts—they will thereby be convinced that we should take the step, which is really necessary, of having a State Constitutional Convention which will take the whole Constitution and look at it and prepare a new Constitution, removing the obsolete portions, bringing it up-to-date, streamlining it in view of the modern demands of government and then we will really have something.

Therefore, Mr. President, while I will vote for these separate amendments, as I consider them meritorious, I would like to be on the record as saying that I believe the method of a State Constitutional Convention would be the preferred method which should be used.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHADY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I think the object of the introduction of these amendments has been achieved. I think Senator Weiner's pronouncement is correct in that this is a matter of education and that it is believed this will draw the attention of the voters to the fact that there are obsolete spots in the Constitution. There are spots in which people disagree as to whether or not they are fundamental, and on some I am with one side and on others, I am on the other side. That is a matter of individual judgment.

The basic problem I think is best expressed in this way: There are many of us who will spend years in the academic halls, and we are prone to have the academic approach. There are others who have spent part of their life, or a good part of it, in the practical world, and they have an extremely practical approach.

You must have both of these views in mind when you consider the Constitution. The biggest fundamental difficulty, and a violation of the basic concept of a Constitution, is in individual amendments. The basic concept of our Constitution, whether it be Federal or State, is the check and balance system. If you propose three amendments which, as a whole, will still provide the check and balance system, and the voters turn down two of them, then you are running the risk, if this happens, of having a provision which has removed the full effect of the check and balance system. In other words, your document must be as a whole and not as parts. It is the old fasces of the Romans, where there is a bundle of sticks bound together and each stick is important because it holds the other in place, as well as the boughs which surround it.

If we are to preserve the check and balance system, and if we are to preserve the idea that we must make haste slowly when we change fundamental principles, it is obvious from the debates of yesterday and today that some of us have forgotten our history and that there are reasons why these things were put into the Constitution.

As legislators at the present time, we trust each other and we know each other, but from time to time in the future, and sometimes in the past, there could be and there have been, forces which creep in and possess the legislature and they act in an arbitrary manner, contrary to the interests of the fundamental rights of the people. In a quick and decisive moment, when feelings run high and passions rule rather than thought, they will pass something quickly. Anything which is fundamental—not because of the fact that it is in a law, but the fact that it is fundamental—means that it must be preserved so that it takes a greater length of time for consideration and for amendment.

I have said that if the check and balance system is to be preserved, then we must have a Constitutional Convention or something similar where, in one stroke or a period of time, long or short as it may be, you may have a complete document bearing the checks and balances that you desire, and not run the risk that the mores of the moment will give you something like a woman's hat or a woman's dress that is in style for the moment, but rather something that keeps historically the checks and balances that we put in here, as well as the fundamental principles upon which the Commonwealth was founded.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BELL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I am a little confused as to which section of our Constitution provides for a Constitutional Convention. I see in our Constitution that Article XVIII says that we may change it by individual amendments.

I would like to have—not today, but maybe in the next week or so—someone who is a constitutional authority in this Senate point out where in our Constitution there is a provision authorizing the Legislature to call a Constitutional Convention. I could see how it could be done. We could amend the existing Constitution to provide a way. However, I do not see, under our Constitution, any provision whereby we can pass a simple law calling for a Constitutional Convention which would rip out this Constitution, Under Article XVIII, to make a single change, an amendment has to pass two Sessions of the Legislature and go to the voters.

I would like to have that answered some day.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WEINER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I am not an authority on the Pennsylvania Constitution nor am I a constitutional lawyer. However, I would like to point out to the gentleman that we can have a Constitutional Convention by having the Legislature pass an act providing for a convention to meet for the purpose of studying our Constitution and providing either amendments or changes to that Constitution. If the final result happens to be a new document and the people approve this and ratify it, it is as simple as adding amendments to the present Constitution of the United States, which have changed many of the original provisions in it to where it now reads almost as a new document; to wit., your income tax laws and amendments, just to name one phase of it.

Even our Constitution of the United States, which is probably one of the greatest documents ever written, immediately had put into it the first ten amendments which deal with the Bill of Righs, and they had not been included by the very founders of this great Country and were thought upon as an adjunct or an addenda.

At some stage of the life of this Commonwealth, we wrote a new Constitution—somewhere around 1870. If we saw fit to do that at that time, there certainly must have been a Constitution before that time which was changed or amended and so the new document was substituted.

I do not think there is anything sacred in this document so that we here, knowing each other as we do and knowing the people in this Commonwealth as we do, could not sit down and concern ourselves with some of the problems that we face today, problems which in 1870 were not even considered or thought about.

We certainly did not have super highways at that time. We certainly did not have the modern way of living that we do today or the complexity of life as it has become in this Commonwealth. That was not even considered by the people who wrote the Constitution of 1870.

I think we would do well to concern ourselves and update some of our present institutions so that they fit the present situation in which we find ourselves.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BELL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I fear the Majority Leader has misunderstood my simple words.

My only problem is this: Where in the Constitution of Pennsylvania is there a provision that this Legislature can discard this document through means of a Constitutional Convention? I say that our Constitution provides that we will change it by amendments and I would like very much to be given law on this subject because we are a government under law.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WEINER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, maybe I was not very clear. That was my fault. I will try to speak a little more clearly.

A Constitutional Convention would not at all be for the purpose of ripping out or tearing up this Constitution. There are certain basic premises in that Constitution which we want to keep. They are good and they do fit and will always fit the human behavior and the behavior of men among each other, and, of course, of conduct, which is part of the Constitution or charter under which we operate.

However, there are certain provisions which are outmoded, and the convention would merely meet to consider those amendments or remove those parts that are outmoded. This would then be referred to the people to be ratified by them in a manner similar to what has been done. There are precedents that are available to us on how that has been handled.

I am sure the gentleman from Delaware County would agree with me that we have very little difficulty with canals these days. The only thing we have to be concerned about is that they do not overflow their banks or that they do not run into the center stream or cause other difficulties. Canals have long since been outmoded. They are only used today in general areas for forms of recreation. I am sure there are many other similar areas.

Our corporations are basically the creature of the crown. They go back to the days in England when the king was the only one who could give a commission, or the king was the only one who could charter a company. That day has passed. Today, it is a very simple procedure to form a corporation. It can be done by merely filing forms with the Secretary of the Commonwealth or the Federal Government, if that becomes the problem. It is a very simple thing. It certainly does not have to clutter up an entire document such as the Constitution of the State of Pennsylvania.

I admit that the safeguards placed in there, and the positions taken, were well taken. However, we have passed that day. We have passed that time, and we can make our document, upon which this Commonwealth is founded, a very simple one and one that meets the needs of the present conditions in which we find ourselves. It might save us many legislative days if we could put certain things in that Constitution.

The great fear—and I think that I would be less than candid if I did not voice it—is that you will change the Constitution to possibly provide for an income tax. I think if that is the basic fear which people have against a Constitutional Convention—and that fear is held in some quarters—you could very easily, when you set up your convention machinery, decide that you are not going to touch this problem or take up this part of the problem, and concern yourself with all of the other problems. I think that would lay to rest some of the real feeling that people have on this matter.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SILVERT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, if Senator Bell's contention is that it would be illegal and unconstitutional to call a Constitutional Convention, then in carrying it through logically, our present Constitution is unconstitutional because in 1870 we called a Constitutional Convention and that is how we obtained our present Constitution.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BERGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, it was my intention to request the Majority Leader's permission to interrogate him, but I find difficulty in seeing him right at the moment. So, I waive the privilege.

The PRESIDENT. Perhaps we could have him brought back for that interrogation.

Mr. BERGER. No, Mr. President, I would not care to do that. I only wanted to ask him, Mr. President, whether it was his conception that a Constitutional Convention could be called in limine and to consider only the elimination of certain provisions in the existing Constitution which might appear to be ridiculous and repugnant. I doubt very much if he meant that.

The PRESIDENT. He is not here for us to ask him. Therefore, if there is no objection, we will proceed to the bills on second reading, appearing on page two of the Calendar.

SECOND CALENDAR READING

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

SB 28—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. DONOLOW.

SB 31—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. BERGER.

SB 35, 38, 46, 49 and 51—Without objection, the bills were passed over in their order at the request of Mr. LANE.

SB 53—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. FLEMING.

INTERROGATION

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Fleming.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Fleming, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FLEMING. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Senator, in order for us to plan a Calendar for next week and our work load next week, may we be assured that we can work on this matter, specifically Senate Bill No. 53, Printer's No. 10? There is a great deal of feeling about this matter on all sides. May we be assured that we can work on this on Monday and Tuesday of next week?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I can assure the gentleman that on Monday of next week, I will ask for no further delay. I cannot, however, speak for the other twenty-four Members on this side of the Senate. One of them may or may not desire to have it go over at that time.

Mr. WEINER. Thank you, Senator.

FURTHER ANNOUNCEMENT CONCERNING PROPOSED VISIT TO WYETH LABORATORIES

The PRESIDENT. May I repeat the announcement given at the beginning of the Session?

The special train to take Members of the Senate to the Wyeth Laboratories in Radnor, Pennsylvania will leave the Harrisburg, Pennsylvania Railroad Station at 3:00 p. m., this afternoon. The train returning to Harrisburg will leave Radnor at approximately 10:30 p. m.

Senators are asked to please be at the station on time. That is in one hour and twenty-six minutes, according to the clock on the wall of the Senate Chamber.

HOUSE MESSAGE

HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, informed the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate, entitled:

Weekly Adjournment.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Monday, January 30, 1961, at 3:00 p. m.

Mr. KALMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 1:45 p. m.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, January 24, 1961

The House met at 1:00 p. m. EST.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, REVEREND DAVID R. HOOVER, offered the following prayer:

Eternal and Everloving Father, Thou Who dost continually watch over and care for the needs and necessities of mankind, and Thou Who dost show Thy abiding love in every hour of trial or tribulation, we turn to Thee and Thy throne of mercy in this moment of reverence. We extend our deepest sympathy to the family of John H. Light, who passed to his eternal rest and pray for Thy blessing upon them. The Hon. Mr. Light served this House of Representatives as a Member from Lebanon County for 10 years, and previously served as the Secretary of Agriculture of this Commonwealth. Strengthen each one of us with the awareness of the importance of living our lives to the fullest. And use us and the talents we dedicate to Thee in Thy service as we seek to serve our fellowmen. In Jesus' name, we pray. Amen.

JOURNALS APPROVED

The SPEAKER. Are there any corrections to the Journal of Monday, January 16 and Tuesday, January 17, 1961? If not, and without objection, the Journals are approved.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the approval of the Journal for Monday, January 23, 1961, will be postponed until printed.

The Chair hears none.

STATEMENT BY CHIEF CLERK

The CHIEF CLERK. Mr. Speaker, I wish to note that 27 Members took with them, when they left the Floor of the House yesterday, the bills which were intended for the daily calendar books. Therefore, they may be missing in their folders. It is suggested that when bills are placed on the Members' desks by the Sergeants and the pages that they be left on the desks and, if the Members want extra copies, they may request them from the document room.

Members are also requested to leave the daily calendar books on their desks, thus expediting the work of the Sergeants and the page boys in keeping the calendar current.

I trust that the Members will cooperate in this respect in order to make the system work.

Thank you.

SENATE MESSAGE

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, January 24, 1961.

Resolved, (the House of Representatives concurring), That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, January 30, 1961, at three o'clock p.m., E. S. T. and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, January 30, 1961, at three-thirty o'clock p.m., E. S. T.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

SENATE MESSAGES

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented extracts from the Journal of the Senate:

Senate Bills for concurrence Nos. 39 and 40.

Resolutions for concurrence Senate Serial Nos. 102, 103 and 104.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to report from the Committee on Rules the proposed amendments to House Rules other than voting rules.

The SPEAKER. Does the Majority Leader desire the amendments read at length, or does he want them considered item by item, or adopted as a whole?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I wish to inform the Membership of two rules that have been taken out of the mimeographed copy which they have on their desks. Then I am going to ask that they be considered as a whole.

Mr. Speaker, I bring to the attention of the House, in the mimeographed copies of the proposed rule changes you have on your desks, that withdrawn from this amendment was the proposal dealing with the changes to House Rule 46 and House Rule 48. It was understood following the caucuses yesterday that the Republican Members were not providing any votes for House Rule 46 or House Rule 48, which dealt with the reading of bills the first time out of committee. They have been withdrawn from this report, so the mimeographed copies you have in your possession cover all the rule changes except for 46 and 48, which you should cross off your mimeographed sheet.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the Minority Leader and wonders whether there is an agreement that the amendments can be acted upon as a whole?

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, there is such an agreement as long as the proposed amendments to Rules 46 and 48 are deleted. We can act on the rest of them on one motion.

The SPEAKER. The Chair understands that the amendments to Rules 46 and 48 are not before the House.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO HOUSE RULES OTHER THAN VOTING RULES

In the House of Representatives, January 24, 1961.

Resolved, that the Rules of the House be amended as follows:

RULE 6 OATHS TO EMPLOYES

Rule 6 is hereby amended by striking out in line 1 after the word "The," the word "Speaker," and inserting in lieu thereof the words "Chief Clerk."

Also, by adding thereto a new paragraph, as follows:

"Each employee of the House, after taking the oath of office, shall sign his name in the 'Oath Book' in the presence of the Chief Clerk."

RULE 11 HOUR OF MEETING

Rule 11, which reads:

"The House shall convene on Mondays at 4:30 o'clock P.M., E.S.T., unless otherwise ordered by the House.

"On other Legislative Days, the House shall convene at the Hour to which the House adjourned at the last sitting."

is hereby amended by substituting therefor the following:

"The House shall convene on Mondays at 3:30 o'clock P.M., E.S.T., and adjourn not later than 5:30 o'clock P.M., E.S.T., unless otherwise ordered by a majority vote of the House.

"On other days the House shall convene at 1:00 o'clock P.M., E.S.T., and adjourn not later than 5.30 o'clock P.M., E.S.T., unless otherwise ordered by a majority vote of the House."

RULE 15 RESOLUTIONS

Rule 15 is hereby amended by striking out paragraph 5, which reads:

When a resolution originating in the House (except resolutions of sympathy or congratulations), is reported from committee, it shall be printed, filed on each Member's desk and placed upon the calendar—after which it may be called up under the regular order of business for consideration by the House.

and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"A resolution introduced in the House ond referred to committee shall be printed and placed in the House files. Resolutions of sympathy and congratulations shall not be printed.

"When a resolution is reported from committee, it may be called up by a member for consideration by the House under the order of business of resolutions."

Rule 19 COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE

Rule 19 is hereby amended by adding thereto the following:

B. QUESTION TIME

The House, upon motion made only by the Majority Leader and seconded only by the Minority Leader, may by majority vote resolve itsef into a Committee of the Whole for "Questions and Answers," relating exclusively to departmental legislation pending on the House calendar.

Questions must be in writing, signed by the members requesting information and be sent to the Majority or the Minority Leader.

The Majority and Minority Leaders shall present questions received from the members to the Committee on Rules for examination. When approved by the Committee, a copy of the question shall immediatetly be forwarded by the House leaders jointly to the head of the department affected, together with a written request that he appear before the Committee of the Whole House at a designated time to answer the questions submitted to him. The Committee may, at its discretion, ask for a written reply.

Questions for oral answer which have been approved by the Committee on Rules shall be printed, each with a number under an appropriate heading on the House calendar at least two legislative days in advance of the time fixed by the House for the sitting of the Committee of the Whole.

Members will be recognized by the Chair to ask the questions in the order they are listed on the House calendar, after which the head of the department to whom the question has been directed will be recognized for reply.

When the head of a department has answered a question, the Speaker, at his discretion, may permit members to put supplemental questions arising out of the reply, but there shall be no debate.

When the Committee of the Whole is sitting for "Questions and Answers," the Speaker shall preside.

A motion may be made in the House to print the "Question and Answer" proceedings in the Legislative Journal.

RULE 37 HOUSE CALENDAR

Rule 37, which reads:

"Bills and resolutions reported by committees to the House with an affirmative recommendation shall be placed on the calendar in numerical order. House bills and House resolutions shall precede Senate bills and Senate resolutions."

is hereby amended by substituting therefor the following:

"Bills and non-privileged resolutions reported from committees to the House with an affirmative recommendation shall be listed on the calendar by title in numerical order. House bills and House resolutions shall precede Senate bills and Senate resolutions."

RULE 39 BILLS REFERRED TO COMMITTEES

Rule 39 is hereby amended by striking out the last paragraph, which reads:

"Bills shall not be considered beyond first reading until the latest print thereof is on the desks of the members."

and transposing it as the last paragraph of Rule 46.

RULE 50 RECONSIDERATION

(a) Rule 50 is hereby amended in paragraph 1, line 3, after the word "of," by inserting the words, "a division or."

(b) And in paragraph 6, line 1, by inserting after the word "question," the word "defeated."

RULE 51 MOTIONS

Rule 51 is hereby amended by striking out paragraph 3, which reads:

"All motions, except for the previous question and reconsideration, may be made without a second."

and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"All motions, except for the previous question, motion to go into the Committee of the Whole for Question Time and motion for reconsideration, may be made without a second."

RULE 56 PREVIOUS QUESTION

(a) Rule 56 is hereby amended in the last line of paragraph 2, by striking out after the word "of," the word "the," and inserting in lieu thereof the word "a."

(b) And by adding in the last line of paragraph 2 after the word "bill," the words "or resolution."

RULE 61 DEBATE

Rule 61 is hereby amended by adding thereto a new paragraph to read:

"With the unanimous consent of the House, a member may make a statement not exceeding ten minutes in length concerning a subject or matter not pending before the House for consideration, providing the Majority and Minority Leaders have agreed on a time the member is to ask for recognition."

RULE 85 RULES

Rule 85 is hereby amended by striking out the last paragraph, which reads:

"The Committee on Rules shall report to the House any resolution proposing an amendment to the Rules with an affirmative or negative recommendation within five Legislative Days from the date the resolution was referred."

A new rule is hereby added to the Rules of the House as follows:

MEMBERS' EXPENSES

A member summoned to the State Capitol or elsewhere by the Speaker, or the Majority or the Minority Leader of the House to perform legislative services when the House is not in session shall be reimbursed at the rate of twenty ($20.00) dollars per day for each day of service, plus mileage to and from his residence. These expenses shall be paid by the Chief Clerk out of the contingent funds of the House under his jurisdiction upon a written request signed by the Speaker of the House, or the Majority or the Minority Leader of the House.

The SPEAKER. As the House knows, it requires 106 votes to amend the Rules. Would it be the pleasure of the respective Floor Leaders that we use the electric roll call?

Mr. McCANN. Will the Chief Clerk ring the bell for the roll call vote throughout the halls of the House and then we will wait a little while. The elevators were jammed coming up.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report of the Rules Committee on amendments to the Rules?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry, in the first place, and then I would like to inquire into one aspect of the proposed rules.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, as Rule 19 presently stands in this House, may the Committee of the Whole be used only in connection with pending legislation?

The SPEAKER. That is the understanding of the Chair.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, that is not the correct answer, sir.

Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Erie perhaps should repeat his question so that you hear it clearly.

Mr. SCHAAF. I will do so, Mr. Speaker.

As Rule 19 is presently constituted in this House, is the use of the Committee of the Whole limited to matters of pending legislation? Or, to express it a different way, Mr. Speaker, can we resolve ourselves into a Committee of the Whole and take up any subject that we should desire to take up?

The SPEAKER. The answer is yes. The Rule provides for a Committee of the Whole for a special purpose, but the Rule still holds—it is not wiped out—and means the House at any time can resolve itself into a Committee of the Whole.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, having done so, could the Committee of the Whole compel the attendance of witnesses before the Committee to give testimony on such matters and for such purposes as the Committee has resolved itself?

The SPEAKER. It is not the primary intent of enabling or promoting the idea of subpoenaing anybody before this particular Committee of the Whole session. Department heads will be invited to appear. If they decline to appear, then it would be up to the House to take action. Initially, they would not be required to appear. It would be a mutual arrangement. This House has a right at any time to take action to call anybody before its various committees or before it as a Committee of the Whole.

Mr. SCHAAF. Then, am I correct, Mr. Speaker, that having appeared, they could speak to this House if the House at that time has been resolved into a Committee of the Whole?

The SPEAKER. They would appear before the House under the rule that is proposed, they would answer particular questions that were on the question calendar.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I make no reference to the proposed rule. I refer to the present Rule 19. Could, for example, a department head under present Rule 19 be interrogated at such time as this House has been resolved into a Committee of the Whole?

The SPEAKER. The Chair would not be under the impression that it would be a proper function of the Committee of the Whole, under Rule 19, to subpoena anybody. The purpose of this Rule is to convene the Members of this House into a Committee of the Whole. The Committee of the Whole could instruct the House or bring a recommendation to the House of further action.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, am I not correct that at such time that this House would be resolved into a Committee of the Whole, it could be vested with subpoena power?

The SPEAKER. The House goes into Committee of the Whole for a particular purpose.

Mr. SCHAAF. I understand that.

The SPEAKER. Only the House has the power to subpoena. The Committee of the Whole does not have the power to subpoena. The House can subpoena.

Mr. SCHAAF. My question is, Mr. Speaker, is not the Committee empowered to issue under the Seal of this House a subpoena compelling the attendance of a given department head who could give testimony, if you will, on the matter for which the Committee resolved itself?

The SPEAKER. This House, through the proper agencies, can subpoena anybody. It can empower a committee to subpoena. Any committee of the House can be endowed with the power to subpoena, and the House can subpoena.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, then may I ask this: Do I understand Rule 19 correctly as it is presently constituted states that at such time as this House resolves itself into a Committee of the Whole the Speaker gives up the Chair to such person as is appointed or elected as Chairman? Am I correct in that?

The SPEAKER. That is right.

Mr. SCHAAF. Now, Mr. Speaker, I refer to Rule 19 (b), as presently proposed. Is there not an inconsistency?

The SPEAKER. Under the rule as proposed the Speaker presides during the question time and only on the matter of the questions. Only on the matter of the question calendar the Speaker presides.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, may I ask this: assuming we do not adopt this rule, is there any mechanical reason why we cannot have the same relief that this rule would afford us? By that I mean, Mr. Speaker, are we not presently entitled to resolve ourselves into a Committee of the Whole and to question department heads or any other person in this Commonwealth who could give information and is possessed of facts which may be of interest to us?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is quite right. We did not want to approach the matter from that angle. Of course, this House can subpoena anybody it wants to and it can so instruct the Committee of the Whole, but this is a consent arrangement, initially. There is a bill pending before the House of major importance, concerning which Members desire information. Unless we subpoena him before the Committee, we cannot bring the head of the department into the Hall of this House, into the Well of the House, to answer questions. We can do that through the Committee of the Whole.

Mr. SCHAAF. That is correct as it is presently constituted? Am I correct there, Mr. Speaker?

I will repeat, Mr. Speaker. I appreciate and understand your last remarks, but is it not true that we can do that under Rule 19 as unamended?

The SPEAKER. That is right. It would be a compulsory matter if we did it under the present Rule; it would be an agreement if we did it under the proposed rule.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, may I ask this, sir: From the point of view of the individual Members of this House, who would again be individual Members of this Committee of the Whole, is not the proposed Rule 19 (b) a restriction on the freedom and the question of choice that individual Members might have?

The SPEAKER. It is not a restriction. It is a greater liberty, a different form, because they do not lose any of their liberties by going into the Committee of the Whole under the rule as proposed. They still enjoy the same powers. They can come back into the Hall of the House and proceed to take affirmative action to compel attendance before certain committees.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I do not refer to that, particularly. Let us assume that I do have a given question which requires enlightenment. Under the proposed Rule 19 (b), I would be compelled to submit that question in written form and it would filter down through a committee process and an approval process and then would come on a calendar, as I understand the proposal, at which time it would be taken up by the Committee. But my point is this: under present circumstances and under the present Rule, I can simply move, can I not, that this House resolve itself into a Committee of the Whole to take up a given subject and so long as this House sits as a Committee that subject can be discussed fully?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman should know that the Members do not lose their rights through this proposed amendment. They can still, as you say, do as they like in a Committee of the Whole, but this simply provides for a question calendar. That is the difference.

Mr. SCHAAF. I respectfully disagree with the Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is entitled to disagree as much as he likes.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, is the Chair informed at this date as to whether or not this device has been adapted in any other state in these United States?

The SPEAKER. As far as I know, this is an advanced step, not contemplated as yet by any other legislative group other than our own.

Mr. SCHAAF. And that would include, Mr. Speaker, the Federal Congress, would it not?

The SPEAKER. You ask whether the Federal government has adapted this system? The answer is no. It is not properly adapted to the Federal situation. It is, in the opinion of those who formed the rule, adapted to the procedure of this House.

Mr. SCHAAF. And this, Mr. Speaker, am I not correct is the procedure used by the mother of all parliaments, that of England?

The SPEAKER. Did the gentleman ask if this is the procedure used by the British Parliament?

Mr. SCHAAF. That is correct.

The SPEAKER. It is substantially the same. It limits debate. There is no debate on the question calendar.

Mr. SCHAAF. I thank the Chair.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. TOMPKINS. The gentleman from Erie has been talking about the right of the Committee as a Whole to subpoena. My question is, does the House of Representatives or the General Assembly have the right to issue subpoenas against the executive department to compel attendance?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman asks, does the House have the right to issue a subpoena to the department heads. It would be the opinion of the Chair, yes.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I would merely call the attention of the Chair to the Supreme Court case of the Commonwealth vs. Hartranft, which says that the legislative body cannot compel attendance by subpoena of the executive department.

The SPEAKER. Is the gentleman raising a point of order?

Mr. TOMPKINS. I am not raising a point of order, I am trying to clarify the issue. The question is can you compel attendance under the subpoena?

The SPEAKER. What the remedy will be if the Chair and the General Assembly invited a department head and he did not appear. I think it is within the power of this House to require a department head to appear before a proper committee.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would seriously question that, under that decision, because I happen to have run into that a couple years ago myself when we attempted that very thing.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will, if the gentleman so desires, have that explored by various legal authorities. We will ask an unofficial opinion from the Attorney General, which the House will not be obliged to regard; we will ask for an opinion from the Legislative Reference Bureau, an opinion that the House would not be obliged to regard; and we will even ask if there are any Supreme Court decisions.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I was merely trying to clarify the issue, Mr. Speaker, because there is a serious question in my mind, whether we have that power.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, what is the basic reason for the amendment to Rule 61, which reads as follows: "With unanimous consent of the House a Member may make a statement not exceeding ten minutes in length concerning a subject not pending before the House for consideration providing the Majority and the Minority Leaders have agreed on a time the Member is to ask for recognition."

The SPEAKER. The Rules of the House now provide that a Member, who wants to talk about potatoes when the House is considering oranges, can only do so by unanimous consent of the House, and very frequently the leadership contends that when important measures are pending and someone desires to make a talk there ought to be time limitations about matters that are foreign to the question before the House. It was the desire, or the intent, to have a period in which any Member who wanted to talk about anything that occurred to him that was not outlawed by the laws of decency could have a time to be heard.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, is it not a fact that if we get a certain type of bipartisan legislation, such as increasing the legislative payroll, and the matter is not before the House at the time and a House Member desires to discuss this matter . . .

The SPEAKER. By unanimous consent the Members may do so. They have changed the rule.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. I cannot do so unless I get the permission of both leaders?

The SPEAKER. The House can suspend the Rule any time it wants.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Isn't that a throttle to the democratic process of this House?

The SPEAKER. The Chair thinks it is an orderly process and does not think it is a throttle to the democratic process on an important question in which the Members of the entire House are interested and should not be interrupted by an extemporaneous discussion of a question wholly foreign from the matter before the House.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, we will agree, there is no contention. Let me give you this example . . .

The SPEAKER. And the gentleman will recognize the fact that when a Member wants to talk about something not before the House he must obtain unanimous consent, and the intent of the rule will give him a chance to be heard, no matter who objects.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Yes, but when I ask unanimous consent and I get a negative answer, I get it in public. But when I want to be heard I first have to go and plead with my leader and the leader on the other side to have a time allotted to me. I am not talking about a time when we are discussing a bill. Only matters pertinent to the bill should be discussed. But we do have these open discussions which sometimes are constructive and sometimes the constructive measures are opposed by both parties, then I have to get their OK to speak. We do not think this is democratic.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will express this opinion and then recognize the Minority Leader.

If we are to expedite business, if we are to proceed with all celerity that is possible, someone must have some sort of control over the priority of the questions and matters considered by the House, and it was the impression of the Chair that this amendment simply made it easier for the Floor leadership to determine the priority of the matters that came before the House. I think it is a good move.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I would say for the benefit of my friend, the gentleman from Allegheny, that the whole intent of this amendment is to facilitate opportunities for Members of this House to speak on any subject not then pertanent or in order.

What is proposed by this amendment is that once a week we will set up some time during one of the daily sessions, and the members of each caucus will be so informed, whereby they can address the House on any given subject, we hope, not to exceed ten minutes. This would ordinarily be enough time for anybody who wanted to address the House on any subject. The intent of this amendment is not to gag the Members of the House, but, rather, to facilitate opportunities for Members of the House, whether in the Majority or the Minority, to address the House on any fit and proper subject.

That is our understanding of it. That, I believe, is the intent of the Majority that proposed the rule amendment. I know that is the Speaker's intent, and I am quite certain that is the way we will operate under this new amendment. It is merely to try to present an orderly time during the weekly sessions whereby any Member of the House, for any purpose whatsoever, can address this House.

I want this as a matter of permanent House record right now: that it is my understanding, as the Minority Leader, that I give my consent automatically and as a matter of routine, and that the Minority Leader does also, when any Member on either side of the House wishes to address the House.

The only control that either the Majority Leader or the Minority Leader has over any request by a Member to speak during the designated time that week is on the length of time the Member wants to speak. If the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein, wants to address the House for an hour and we just do not have the time to let him talk for an hour that day, then the Majority Leader and I have the prerogative of cutting his time. Now I think that this House—the Majority Leader, for instance—could object any time the gentleman from Allegheny wanted unanimous consent to address the House, and I could object any time, we will say, the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Schaaf, wishes to address the House.

I want it understood, and I want the Majority Leader to agree with me, if he will, that this new rule is merely to facilitate opportunities for Members to address the House on any subject they desire, at some given time during the week, and that the consent of the Majority Leader and the Minority Leader will not be withheld for any reason whatsoever, except on the length of time a Member may desire to speak.

The SPEAKER. Could the Chair say a word for the benefit, perhaps, and to clarify the thinking of the gentleman from Allegheny. At the present time the gentleman from Allegheny might rise to make a remark that the Speaker did not consider was in accordance or in line with the pending business. The Chair would say that the gentleman's remarks are out of order. Then the gentleman could ask the unanimous consent of the House. The Chair, being a Member of the House, could object, and then the gentleman would have to take up the matter of suspending the rules. Now the amendment is designed to somewhat curtail the powers of the Speaker and to give the Members of the House an opportunity to talk about what they want to without the Chair being able to say they are out of order.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to make a brief statement, if the Majority Leader will pardon me for making it, and then I will be through.

We, in this House operate in a government of rules and regulations and not in a government of party leaders. The fact that my Minority Leader is compelled to get a gentlemen's agreement from the Majority Leader to allow me to have a democratic right to speak indicates that the rules may be written and can be used for an improper purpose at some time.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I hope that the gentleman from Allegheny will particularly pay attention to what I am going to say.

The rule in no way can be made applicable to what he stated, in no way, shape or form. The sole intent of the rule was, as the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Agnew, stated for the purpose of trying to have a period in which Members can speak in planning the operation of this House. He, at no time, would be coming to me to speak on any subject under any conditions, neither would the Members from this side be going to the Minority Floor Leader to request to speak on any subject.

If the gentleman, or any gentleman, were going to speak on a subject he would notify his Floor Leader that he wishes to speak in a broad term on any subject. He just states what it is and that is it. And he has notice, then, of Mr. Goldstein, Mr. Wilt, or someone else who wants to speak. I have the list of those who wish to speak on this side. No bad rule could be imposed under such a system nor was such ever intended or ever could be done, but it would help in the operation of the House. If the rule is written vaguely, then, may we say for the record, this is not the intent and it will never be used in the operation of this House.

The SPEAKER. Does the Majority Leader on this roll call deside a record vote or simply an ascertaining of the totals?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, there is a gentleman at the microphone, but I will be pleased to answer.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman from Greene is not finished, I will be glad to wait until he is finished.

Mr. Speaker, I agree wholeheartedly with my colleague from Allegheny County. I do not like this rule and I do not intend to vote for it.

You say a rule could not be imposed, and I say, under my interpretation of the rule, it could be imposed. wherever there has to be a meeting of the minds such as there has to be here, a gag rule could be imposed, and I am against it. I see no reason for a rule of this kind and I intend to oppose it.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Schaaf.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I appreciate the comments of both Floor Leaders, but I am at a loss to understand how they can express their intent, their individual intents, as Floor Leaders, when a rule states precisely that it is applicable only in the case of, or relating exclusively to, departmental legislation on the House Calendar.

I question whether these two Floor Leaders speak on this particular rule in expressing their intent, their meaning, at this time.

Mr. Speaker, I respectfully move at this time that this Rule 19 b, as proposed in this document before us, be tabled.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I was not speaking on Rule 19A. I was speaking on the rule that the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein, had raised, which was not Rule 19. It was Rule 61, sir.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, as the Minority Leader, and I am sure the Majority Leader will agree with me, I have no desire to withhold consent from anyone who wants to address the House. I have been here too long and I have taken advantage of these opportunities too many times myself. If there is any question on anybody's mind that this gives the Majority and the Minority Leaders any more authority or control or restriction over a Member who desires to address the House, I personally would like to see this rule held up until we can get it ironed out.

As it was explained to me and as I understand it, this is written to make it easier for the Members of this House at some given time during the legislative week to address the House on any subject they so desire, whether or not it pertains to legislation presently before the House. I do not want any additional authority and I am sure Mr. McCann does not want any additional authority. Either one of us or any other Member of this House right now can withhold unanimous consent.

But due to the suggestion on the part of the membership and the Minority or the Majority, I would suggest to the Majority Leader that he also delete Rule 61 and give us a little time to discuss it. I am sure I do not want any additional authority and I am sure Mr. McCann does not either.

MOTION TO DELETE AMENDMENTS TO RULES 19 and 61

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, there have been debates on two rules in this House today, Rule 61 and Rule 19. So there will be no question about it, I hereby move that Rule 61 as amended in Rules report and Rule 19 as amended in the Rules report be deleted from the report at this time, and that we vote on the balance of the rule changes.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move for the adoption of the balance of the rules in the committee report on the revision of rules, excluding the ones that were made on this motion now adopted.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, just so we clearly understand, 19, 61, 46 and 48 are out of the mimeographed report and we are now voting on all other rules but those four?

Mr. McCANN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker, because Rule 46 and 48 were withdrawn from the report that is before this House. Therefore, we are voting on the rules now except as he stated, 46, 48, 19 and 61. All other rules have been agreed to with no debate.

I ask, Mr. Speaker, that we move to adopt these rules.

The SPEAKER. Does the Majority Leader desire a record vote or simply a record of the total?

Mr. McCANN. Just a record vote. Any way at all is satisfactory, sir.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the report of the Rules Committee on amendments to the Rules?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. AGNEW and McCANN, and were as follows:

Mr. MULDOWNEY asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Cities—Counties, First Class to meet during the session of the House.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Maxwell, rise?

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, due to the new roll call system that we have in operation, I was in the Hall of the House but unable to get to my seat in time to throw the switch in order to be recorded as voting on the last resolution. I know that I cannot be recorded, but for the sake of the record I would like to have it noted that I am present, that I was in the Hall of the House, but could not reach my seat in time to flip the electrical switch. Thank you.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman on the question of personal privilege will be spread upon the record.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, we have witnessed thus far during this Session a General Assembly by emergency, by crisis. It seems that every week we must hurry up and pass some important legislation, perhaps not giving it the complete consideration that we owe to the people of Pennsylvania as their duly chosen representatives.

This is not a political speech, but there are some who would call this sort of an operation a steam roller; there are some who will say we are acting as a rubber stamp for the Governor; and there are some who will say we are railroading legislation. I prefer, in the vernacular, the last phrase, that we are operating a railroad job when we push through major legislation without giving it due consideration.

The Members of my caucus agree with me. If we are going to operate the General Assembly like a railroad, then the Majority Leader is the legislative engineer and my caucus has asked me to deliver to him the appropriate equipment. We have part of it and I will ask one of the pages to present this gift to the Majority Leader from the Minority, emblematic of the uniform of a railroad engineer.

The SPEAKER. Might the Chair inquire, since the Majority Leader has gotten his insignia as a legislative engineer, what should be done to the gentleman who pulls the spikes from the rails so the Majority Leader cannot engineer?

Mr. AGNEW. We are the brakemen, Mr. Speaker. We are on the caboose.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I certainly accept this in the light of the humor in which it was rendered, but instead of the situation as the Minority Leader so generously stated, using various terms of phraseology, perhaps it would be more like saying it is strictly business and it will be run like any business, businesslike at all times.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I want the last word. I want to make a suggestion to the Majority Leader. Make sure the train does not get going so fast that you are derailed.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. W. JAMES LONG, from the Committee on Fisheries, reported as committed, House Bill No. 42, entitled:

An Act repealing the act of March 9, 1771 (1 Sm. L. 313) entitled "An act to prevent the destruction of rock-fish and oysters."

Mr. McCANN, from the Committee on Rules, reported as committed, House Bill No. 132, entitled:

An Act relating to the establishment, operation and maintenance of the State Library and public libraries in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; amending, revising, consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto; imposing duties upon public officers; providing for State and local cooperation and assistance in the establishment and maintenance of libraries; prescribing penalties; and repealing existing laws.

Mr. McCANN, from the Committee on Rules, reported as amended, House Resolution No. 11. (Not Printed.)

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mr. Eilberg for Mr. DOUGHERTY because of illness.

DEMOCRAT CAUCUS

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, if all the committee reports are in, I am going to ask this House for a recess of approximately two hours. There are no roll calls planned upon the return. An immediate Democratic caucus will be held in the New House Caucus Room. I would ask that we adjourn promptly. We are having no roll calls or no votes on anything but will return at 4:15 p.m. Nothing will be voted in any manner on anything following the return at the end of the recess.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I have an idea that the Majority Leader cannot tell us anything at this time, but our Members would like to make plans for the rest of the week, so I would ask him if he can at this time give us any indication of what the plans are for the rest of the week.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I cannot, but immediately following the caucus I certainly will answer each of those questions.

Mr. AGNEW. I would ask the Republican Members to report to the third floor immediately after recess. We will have no formal caucus. There will be no formal roll call votes when we return, is that correct?

Mr. McCANN. That is correct, sir.

Mr. AGNEW. Just the first reading bills in the calendar?

Mr. McCANN. That is correct.

Mr. AGNEW. Anyone who has made arrangements to go to the Philadelphia Drug dinner can go ahead and complete those arrangements, is that correct?

Mr. McCANN. The people from your side who have made such arrangements may proceed accordingly and go forward with any plans you have talked over with them.

Mr. AGNEW. The unfortunate part of it is, they will be leaving here at 3:00 o'clock and we will be unable to tell them what the plans are for the rest of the week.

Mr. McCANN. When they return this evening, Mr. Speaker, or whatever the case may be, perhaps the Minority Leader can pass the word, because it really moves around in the hotels pretty fast. Everybody is deeply interested.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, can the Majority Leader tell me at this time if there definitely will be a session tomorrow? If today's session is the last session of the week, those who live down east and attend this dinner will not want to come back tonight.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the tentative plan is for a session tomorrow. That was on our announcement which went out, and also yours.

This, of course, Mr. Speaker, is an item which will be discussed in caucus regarding the situation as it has been presented to me and about which I must inform my caucus. I do reserve the right when we come back from caucus to announce the plans as soon as possible and I hope that they can then proceed, if such would be the case, to either go home or plan for the sessions.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, can the Majority Leader make arrangements to call the dinner this evening and notify the Members of both caucuses what the plans are for the rest of the week?

Mr. McCANN. I will do the following, Mr. Speaker, I will call the gentleman's office so his office may call the dinner. Since he will be there, they will be able to relay the information to him. I will be most pleased to do it in that manner.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman wish us to tell his Members who are at the dinner, too, or just tell our Members?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I appreciate the gentleman's generous hand of helpfulness in relaying the information.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I appreciate the fact that the Majority Leader is going to let my office know.

Can we at this time state that there are two possibilities for the remainder of this week, one, that todays sesison is the last session of the week, or, two, that there will be a post-midnight session Wednesday, or Thursday A. M.?

Mr. McCANN. Would it not be more correct, Mr. Speaker, to say that there will be three possibilities? This would be a session tomorrow, the possibility of a post-midnight session and the possibility of this being the last session this week. I think it would be more in line to say there are three potential possibilities that will be covered in caucus.

Mr. AGNEW. And we should have the answer in approximately two hours, is that correct, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. McCANN. In the neighborhood of 4:15 or 4:30, yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, the Members of the House would like to make plans for the rest of the week, and I think that they should know as soon as possible.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thinks their plans should be contingent upon the developments in the House and the matters that are before the House. The Chair is not in sympathy with the idea that the plans of this House should depend upon the desires of private agencies to entertain members of the House.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, that is not the point I was making. We want to know when this House plans to meet this week. If you are going to call sessions through Saturday, just let us know about it. We do not know at this time whether today is the last day, whether we are having a session tomorrow, or whether we are having a session Thursday. All we are trying to find out is information.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. Without objection, the Chair will declare a recess until 4:30 p. m.

The Chair hears none, and a recess is declared.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired, the House was called to order.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR.

SENATE MESSAGE

SENATE BILLS FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented for concurrence, bills numbered and entitled as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 39.

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article twelve of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania repealing section three thereof which disqualifies persons from public office for dueling.

Referred to the Committee on Judiciary Special.

SENATE BILL No. 40.

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article nine of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania repealing section seventeen thereof, which authorized the borrowing of money to defray State Government expenses for the biennium beginning June 1, 1933.

Referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. DAVIS, (Concurrent) GRAMLICH and ASHTON. RESOLUTION No. 12.

In the House of Representatives, January 24, 1961.

The Secretary of Highways, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, reports a progressive stringency in funds with each year.

When the Pennsylvania Turnpike bonds are finally retired, toll receipts will cease. Thereupon the Department of Highways will be saddled with large additional maintenance charges.

The Keystone Shortway, when completed, will place upon the State Highway budget an increasing maintenance burden as the Shortway ages. Much the same sequence will follow with completion of the limited access highway systems currently being built; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That in view of this darkening highway-upkeep fiscal picture which lies ahead, the Joint State Government Commission be authorized and directed to investigate the feasibility of setting up the collection of toll charges by the Commonwealth, or its agencies, on such limited access highways, for the purpose of maintenance and upkeep, as well as continuance of toll charges on the Pennsylvania Turnpike after the retirement of bonds; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission cover in their investigation the various legal involvements with other agencies, States and the Federal Government; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission cover in their investigation the various legal involvements with other agencies, States and the Federal Government; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations, with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. WORLEY, VARNER, EWING, McCANN and TOMPKINS. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION (Not Printed)

In the House of Representatives, January 24, 1961.

Dwight D. Eisenhower is now a private citizen with his premanent residence in Gettysburg, Pennsylvania. He has completed two terms as President of the United States of America, thus rounding out a life of unparalleled public service to the Nation as a whole.

It seems quite proper that we as Members of the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania should commend President Eisenhower on his successful completion of his two terms as President of the United States of America; for his unstinting efforts toward world peace and international harmony among nations.

It seems quite fitting that we as Members of this House should welcome President and Mrs. Eisenhower as permanent residents of Adam County; therefore be it

Resolved, That an invitation be given to President Eisenhower to address a joint meeting of the House and Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania at an early date; and be it further Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to President and Mrs. Eisenhower at their home in Gettysburg, Pennsylvania.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

SENATE MESSAGE

SENATE RESOLUTION SERIAL No. 102

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

SUGGESTED RESOLUTION

COMMEMORATION OF LINCOLN'S VISIT TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Whereas, The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by joint resolution adopted on January 28 ,1861, appointed a committee to invite Abraham Lincoln to visit Harrisburg on his way to Washington to be inaugurated as President of the United States; and

Whereas, The President-elect graciously accepted the General Assembly's invitation and arrangements were made for his visit to coincide with a celebration of Washington's Birthday; and

Whereas, At the appointed hour the Speaker and the members of the Senate were introduced into the House of Representatives, and a committee of reception introduced Abraham Lincoln, President-elect of the United States, and the Governor and heads of departments of this Commonwealth; and

Whereas, The Speaker of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives greeted the President-elect with speeches promising the support of Pennsylvania for his efforts to save the Union from disruption, and were thanked by Lincoln for their generous words; and

Whereas, This occasion one hundred years ago marked the beginning of Pennsylvania's strenuous efforts to preserve the Union; therefore, be it

Resolved (if the House concur), That a committee of three members from each body be appointed to arrange for a suitable commemoration and reenactment on February 21, 1961, of the reception of Abraham Lincoln a hundred years before, in which re-enactment the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the President pro tmpore of the Senate shall deliver the speeches of welcome addressed to Lincoln, and in which the part of Lincoln shall be impersonated; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee shall invite the Governor and the heads of departments to attend these ceremonies, the better to re-enact the event of a century ago.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

Referred to the Committee on Rules

SENATE MESSAGE

SENATE RESOLUTION SERIAL No. 103

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, January 23, 1961.

Honoring the Philadelphia Eagles Football Club, owners, management, coaches and players for bringing great glory to the City of Philadelphia and to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in winning the World Football Championship for 1960.

Whereas, The Eagles on December 26, 1960 defeated the Green Bay Packers at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, by a score of 17-13 in the annual National Football League Championship Game before a sell-out crowd of 67,325; and

Whereas, The Championship Contest was viewed on nation-wide television by more than 60 million people, more than 220 television stations in all corners of the United States; broadcast on radio nationally and to the Armed Forces wherever they may be, thus bringing the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the City of Philadelphia into world-wide focus; and

Whereas, By their stirring victory the Eagles have greatly strengthened Philadelphia's position as the Sports Capital of the Nation and given the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania its second championship athletic team of 1960—their fame echoes that of the Pittsburgh Pirates who won the world championship of baseball; Now Therefore Be It

Resolved (If the House concurs) that the General Assembly of Pennsylvania extend its congratulations to the owners, management, coach and players of the Philadelphia Eagles for their outstanding achievement in winning the 1960 World Football Championship in the National Football League game played at Philadelphia on December 26, 1960; and be it further

Resolved, That a certified copy of the instant Resolution be forwarded, upon its adoption, to Mr. Frank L. McNamee, President of the Philadelphia Eagles as evidence of the profund appreciation by the membership of the Senate and House of Representatives of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania, of the fame and glory of the Eagles Football players and coaches have brought to the City of Philadelphia and to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

SENATE MESSAGE

SENATE RESOLUTION SERIAL No. 104

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, January 23, 1961.

On January 20, 1961, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower returned to Pennsylvania from which his ancestors came prior to the migration which led them to Texas where he was born in 1890.

He gave all of his life to our country and brought honor to the Pennsylvania of his origins.

From a humble beginning, his boyhood, life and training led him in the direction of his country's service to the United State Military Academy at West Point from which he graduated in 1915.

He served the Armed Forces in the Canal Zone under General Fox Conner, in the Philippines with General Douglas MacArthur; was placed in command of the Allied Forces for the North African Invasion in 1942 and, on December 31, 1943, he was named Commanding General of the Allied Powers for the European Theatre of Operations. Later he served as Chief of Staff of the United States Army and was placed in command of the NATO forces in Europe.

A scholar and administrator, he served as President of Columbia University before ascending to the greatest height of our time, the Presidency of the United States.

A scholar and administrator, he served as President of Columbia University before ascending to the greatest height of our time, the Presidency of the United States.

As our Chief Executive and Commander in Chief of the Armed Forces, he kept the peace through eight long troublesome years.

After half a century of distinguished service to the nation and to the world, it is mete and right that he should return to Gettysburg, there to dwell in his first permanent home with his good wife Mamie, overlooking the field of the great decisive battle which preserved the Union of these great United States.

Resolved (the House concurring), that it is with great pride and enthusiasm that the General Assembly of Pennsylvania welcomes Dwight D. Eisenhower and Mrs. Eisenhower to the soil of Pennsylvania.

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Eisenhowers at Gettysburg.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. J. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. J. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, at the time of voting on the amendments to the Rules this afternoon, I, together with some of my constituents, in accordance with a previously made appointment, was in conference with Dr. Maurice Goddard, Secretary of Forests and Waters, and I was unable to be present to have my vote recorded. Had I been present, I would have voted "aye." May I file the statement, please?

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman will be spread upon the Journal.

RESOLUTION

CONDOLENCE

Messrs. SELTZER and MANBECK offered a resolution and aked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 24, 1961.

The death on January 21, in the Good Samaritan Hospital at Lebanon, Pennsylvania, of the Honorable John H. Light, a former member of this House of Representatives from 1951 to 1960, ended a notable and illustrious career of public service.

Mr. Light attended Annville Normal School and West Chester State Teacher's College, and did graduate work at several colleges. He taught in public schools for eight years.

Mr. Light's chief interest was in farming. He owned and operated farms throughout his entire life. His association with the State Grange covered many years. He served this association as lecturer, secretary, legislative representative, editor of the Grange News, and as a member of the executive committee.

Mr. Light's public life, in addition to membership in this House of Representatives, included service as registry assessor, justice of the peace, school director, deputy register of wills, county commissioner, member and director of the State Farm Show Commission, and State Secretary of Agriculture.

His ability and devotion to duty marked him as a distinguished and exemplary citizen of this Commonwealth; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the members of this House of Representatives extend their individual and heartfelt sympathy to Mrs. Ellen Light, widow of the Honorable John H. Light, and to the Reverend Harvey M. Light, his son; and, be it further Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to Mrs. Ellen Light and to the Reverend Harvey M. Light.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. LAMB, from the Committee on Judiciary, reported as committed, House Bill No. 77, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article six, section four of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, providing for the removal of the superintendent of Public Instruction from office.

Mr. McCANN, from the Committee on Rules, reported as committed, Senate Resolution Serial No. 102. (Not Printed.)

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inform the Membership of this House as to our schedule for this week. This House will be in session tomorrow, Wednesday, beginning at 1:00 p. m., and then at 12:01 a. m., Thursday.

Mr. AGNEW. The Minority just wishes to comment that we are amazed and, therefore, speechless.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I am ready to move all the bills up on the calendar if all the gentlemen who had resolutions which were being prepared have had a chance to introduce same.

BILLS ON FIRST READING

REPORT OF COMMITTEE

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Muldowney.

Mr. MULDOWNEY. Mr. Speaker, the Committee on Cities—Counties—First Class has organized and is ready to work.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

CAUCUS OF PHILADELPHIA DELEGATION

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, I should like to call an immediate caucus of the Philadelphia delegation in the office of the Chief Clerk.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg, desires to call a caucus of the Democratic Members from Philadelphia immediately in the office of the Chief Clerk.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, when the House convenes tomorrow at one o'clock I desire permission to call a caucus of the Democratic Membership from the floor of this House. Such caucus very likely will be of one-hour duration. We will convene at 1:00 p. m., tomorrow.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Greene mean that as soon as we convene at one o'clock he is going to call a Democratic caucus?

Mr. McCANN. No, Mr. Speaker, I will not be calling a Democratic caucus immediately at one o'clock. I will be calling a Democratic caucus probably in about one hour, roughly about two o'clock, sir.

Mr. AGNEW. If we are going to work from one to two and then you call a caucus, our plans are to have a caucus at the same time.

The SPEAKER. I presume that can be arranged.

COMMITTEE MEETING

STATE GOVERNMENT, Mr. Fineman, Chairman, Room 522, Wednesday, January 25, at 11:00 a. m., E. S. T.

Mr. McCANN. I desire to say to our Democratic Members who live close enough to be able to travel home each night, we will see you tomorrow for sure and tomorrow night.

Mr. AGNEW. The Minority would just like to say that we think the orderly processes of the Legislature would call for a meeting, if there is to be a Thursday Session, sometime Thursday morning, about 10:00 a. m., and not post-midnight Wednesday. This is a little ridiculous this early in the Session and should only be done if an emergency were facing the Commonwealth. But if you want a Thursday Session, I think the orderly legislative process calls for a Session at approximately 10:00 o'clock Thursday morning, and not post-midnight, Wednesday.

However, we are in the minority and will convene when the Majority calls the Session. I think it is well to point out that it does not make much sense, if it makes any sense, unless you are accommodating a certain group of Majority legislators, to have a post-midnight Session this early in the legislative year. Common sense will dictate that we call a session for 10:00 o'clock Thursday morning. We have no objection to a Thursday, or a Friday, or a Saturday Session if you want to work, but to call a session at post-midnight flies in the face of common sense.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. STITELER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Wednesday, January 25, 1961 at 1:00 p. m. EST.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 5:05 p. m. EST) the House adjourned.

Session 1961. 145th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 38. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 25, 1961. No. 10.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, January 25, 1961.

The House met at 1:00 p. m., EST.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend David R. Hoover, offered the following prayer:

O God of all life, and Lord of all creation, we turn to Thee this day in the realization that we are far from sufficient unto ourselves. We are dependent upon Thee for all the gifts of life and even for life itself. Enable us, we humbly pray, to use this previous gift to the glory of Thy Holy Name. Increase our faith that we may thrust our souls into the ever hidden future without fear or dread. And guide us to the fulfillment of Thy greatest good for our lives. This we ask knowing that Thou art our ever-flowing source of power which never runs dry. In Thy Dear Name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the approval of the Journal for Tuesday, January 24, 1961, will be postponed until printed.

The Chair hears none.

COSTA RICAN MINISTER OF LABOR WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. We are honored today by having with us the Honorable Franklin Solor Zano, Minister of Labor of Costa Rica.

The Minister is visiting the United States under the auspices of the International Cooperation Administration, United States Department of State.

Our guest is President of the Board of Directors of the Social Security Administration of Costa Rica and formerly a Congressman in the Costa Rican National Legislative Assembly.

He is particularly interested in becoming better acquainted with our education programs and problems of labor administration.

I am sure that the Members of the House would be pleased to have our distinguished guest address us. So, without objection, the Chair will declare a brief recess.

ESCORT COMMITTEE APPOINTED

The SPEAKER. The Chair appoints the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky, and the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Lippincott, to escort the Minister and his interpreter, Mr. Riveros, to the rostrum.

ADDRESS BY COSTA RICAN MINISTER

MINISTER FRANKLIN SOLOR ZANO. Honorable Mr. Speaker, Honorable Members of the great State House of Pennsylvania, it has been a great honor for me to be able to have the opportunity to address this great Chamber of the State Congress of Pennsylvania.

I come from one of the smallest countries in the world. I come, as Mr. Speaker has announced to you, from the country of Costa Rica.

I came to this country under the auspices of the State Department agency which is called the International Cooperation Administration, otherwise called Point 4.

I have had the opportunity on several visits to different representatives of the Federal government and the different agencies of the same to be in contact with the American people and to admire not only the greatness of this Democracy but the feeling of this country toward the liberty of the peoples and to admire at the same time the natural and the simple way in which you live and act.

I have known for many years the greatness of this country from many different sources of information such as books, newspapers, magazines, personal contacts, but now that I have come to this country, I have confirmed all those opinions and good feelings that I felt for this country all through my life.

I want to take the opportunity to pay due homage to this country and to bring salutations from the President of my country and the government towards this country and this State.

I am sure that all through these visits I shall have the opportunity to learn much about this country and, when I return to my country, I assure you I will try to put into practice the teachings and the knowledge that I will acquire.

Again, I wish to thank the Federal Government for the invitation they extended to me and thank you for the patience that you have today with me.

The SPEAKER. Mr. Minister, it is my hope, as I know it is your hope, that our two countries may continue to march shoulder to shoulder in defense of the liberties and the privileges of the hemisphere in which we live, in the promotion of peace, of economic prosperity, of sound morality and liberty and equality for all men, based upon individual human dignity.

SENATE MESSAGES

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented extracts from the Journal of the Senate:

Senate Bills for concurrence Nos. 49 and Serial No. 105.

The SPEAKER. I understand both parties desire to caucus.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, following the Minority Leader's discussion, I will be requesting a caucus for a period of one hour and, upon return from that caucus, we will proceed with the bills now on second reading on the calendar and, also, to vote on House Resolutions 1 and 11 and Senate Serial Number 102, and to offer the necessary amendments, of which the Minority Leader has received copies, to bills now on second reading. I also will ask the Minority Leader if at their caucus they will determine whether they will debate the bills on second reading, on third reading, or debate on both.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, we will inform the Majority Leader after we return from caucus whether some of the debate will be this afternoon or whether we will be in session all night and all tomorrow morning.

At this time, I would like to call a Republican caucus for a quarter after two, about one-half hour from now. We would request a period of recess of one hour and a half. We will be ready to come back at a quarter after three.

The SPEAKER. Does that suit the desires of the Majority Leader, to come back at half past three?

Mr. McCann. Half past three is all right. I believe that to be an hour and forty-five minutes.

Mr. AGNEW. We can always use another fifteen minutes. We might have a little trouble with our Philadelphia delegation today.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, does not the Minority Leader wish that he had a Philadelphia delegation like the one I have here, 100 per cent attendance that will vote 100 per cent?

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, we do not know whether we do or not.

Seriously, we waited while you had a two-hour caucus yesterday, and we want an hour and forty-five minutes today. I think we should be entitled to that.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I raise no objections. I will ask for a Democratic caucus and we shall return to this House at 3:30 p. m.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is about to call a recess until 3:30 p. m.

The Chair desires to congratulate the House upon the splendid spirit so far exhibited and we hope that state of mind will prevail until the wee small hours of tomorrow.

DEMOCRAT CAUCUS

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I do not know that I have ever felt better in my life. Win or lose, there are times when you feel great. When you have men such as the men in Philadelphia, men like Jim Dougherty, whom we insisted stay home, but he says, "I want to be there tonight to vote 'aye' on every bill," I am as proud as any man can be. I say, Mr. Speaker, I am proud of every Democrat serving in this House today, tonight and every day the rest of this year. It will be a short businesslike session.

Mr. Speaker, I ask that a Democratic caucus be held immediately. Everyone shall proceed to the New House Caucus Room.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, speaking for the minority, we are glad to see Jim Dougherty any time, whether he is coming here to vote on tax bills or not. We hope that the Majority Leader's good humor lasts until the wee hours of the morning.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. Without objection, the Chair will declare a recess until 3:30 p. m.

The Chair hears none, and a recess is declared.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired, the House was called to order.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS

Mr. SCARCELLI offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 25, 1961.

The City of Philadelphia, through its Philadelphia Highway Patrol Unit of the Philadelphia Police Department, has brought a signal honor not only to the City of Philadelphia but to the entire Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. During the past presidential campaign, during the time that President Kennedy was campaigning in the area of Delaware Valley, the members of the Philadelphia Highway Patrol Unit were assigned to guard him.

For a period of four days and nights, during which time it rained every day and night, thus making very hazardous driving conditions, President Kennedy was escorted during the entire time by the Philadelphia Highway Patrol Unit without mishap or injury. This was done in spite of the fact that the route took the President through a thickly populated area of more than two million people.

President Kennedy is reported to have said that that was the best job of police escorting that he had encountered in the entire country. The amazing thing is that in spite of all the people he met, and the appointments which he kept, he was never late for any appointment, TV or radio appearance. As a result of a job so well done, the unit was invited to participate in the inaugural ceremonies on January 20, 1961 in Washington, D. C.

There were only two occasions when the President stood to applaud any units in the Inaugural Parade. First the members of his former crew PT Boat 109, and the second was for the Philadelphia Highway Patrol Unit of the City of Philadelphia Police Department.

This is the first time in the history of our Commonwealth that a unit from any police department from this State has been invited to participate in an Inaugural Parade; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby commend and congratulate the Philadelphia Highway Patrol Unit of the Police Department of the City of Philadelphia on its wonderful showing and splendid work, and for the outstanding honor it has brought, not only to its native city but the entire Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to the Mayor, Commissioner of Police and Commanding Officer of the Highway Patrol Unit.

SENATE MESSAGE

SENATE BILLS FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented for concurrence, bill numbered and entitled as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 29.

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), entitled "Public School Code of 1949," increasing room rentals at State Teachers' Colleges and providing for the disposition of the increased rentals.

Referred to the Committee on Education.

SENATE MESSAGE

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION SERIAL No. 105

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, January 23, 1961.

Pennsylvania is proud of the many beautiful forests that dot our countryside. No other state can boast of such preserves, but without conservation some day our beautiful woodlands will be a barren area.

The same is true of our water supply. Today it is abundant but without care and conservation we might find ourselves faced with a shortage of water in the future.

A way to solve these problems would be to reestablish the Civilian Conservation Corps which worked so well during the thirties. The creation of this force would not only help our forests and water supply, but it would also aid in the curbing of juvenile delinquency, and the problems of unemployment which we face today; therefore be it

Resolved (The House concurring), That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania memorialize Congress to establish a Civilian Conservation Corps; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of each house of the Congress of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

STATEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to make a statement.

We will probably have considerable use in the hours to come in the days to come for the electric roll call. The Rule provides that before the Speaker locks the roll call that a reasonable period shall ensue before the roll call is locked. Some doubt having been expressed in some quarters as to whether the Speaker is or is not a judge of a reasonable period, the Chair will proceed as follows:

As, if and when the Majority Leader believes that a reasonable period of time has elapsed for conducting the roll call, the Majority Leader will request to be recognized and advise the Chair to lock the roll call. The Chair will then inquire, "Is the Minority Leader agreed?" and in that event, the roll call will be locked.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Messrs. POLEN, STRAUSSER and WILLARD offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 1, by striking out "and 9."
Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 7, by striking out "are" and inserting: "is."
Amend Bill, page 3, by inserting between lines 4 and 5:
"Section 2. Section 4.1 of the act, amended December 22, 1959 (P. L. 2004), is amended to read:
"Section 4.1 If the sum appropriated by section three amounts to less than thirty million dollars ($30,000,000) annually during the calendar years 1956 or 1957, 1958 or 1959, 1960 [or] 1961, 1961 or 1963, there is appropriated for each of said years out of the Motor License Fund an amount equal to the difference between thirty million dollars ($30,000,000) and the lesser amount provided by section three, which sum shall be paid to the municipalities in accordance with the provisions of section four.
"Section 3. Section 9 of the act is amended to read:"

On the question:

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER. Has the gentleman from Columbia sent all his amendments to the desk?

Mr. STRAUSSER. Mr. Speaker, I delivered one copy to the Majority and Minority Leaders and the rest to the desk. I think I had a total of nine, so there should be seven.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, that amendment as it ends there at that section is proper where it stops, "is amended to read."

The SPEAKER. The Chief recognizes the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, did I understand you to state there were not sufficient copies of that amendment?

The SPEAKER. Section three of the act is "amended to read," and that is all.

Mr. POLEN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker. That ties in with the bill.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. HOLMAN offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 3), page 3, line 2, by striking out "six cents (6¢)" and inserting: "five cents (5¢)."
Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 9), page 3, line 9, by striking out "six cents (6¢)" and inserting: "five cents (5¢)."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER. He is asking to amend the amendments. The Chair will reconsider. The matter should have been agreed upon. He must amend the amendments. The bill has been amended now in certain form.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, these are the amendments offered to House Bill 92 by the gentleman from Perry, Mr. Holman.

Is that right?

The SPEAKER. That is correct.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I will yield to the gentleman from Perry, whom I understand wanted to speak on these amendments before I speak on them.

Is that correct, sir?

Mr. HOLMAN. Yes, sir.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Perry, Mr. Holman.

Mr. HOLMAN. Mr. Speaker, in the budget message to the General Assembly of Pennsylvania delivered by our Governor, Mr. Lawrence, on January 16, 1961, he stated in part, and I quote:

> "One task is the modernization of what is called the 100 per cent state system—the 20,000 miles of rural and feeder roads for which we receive no Federal assistance. There is a constant pressure, when our funds are narrowly limited in amount, to neglect these roads and to apply all available state money to the Federally-aided highways."

And I repeat, "to neglect these roads and to apply all available state money to the Federally-aided highways."

When I came to my desk this morning, there was a press release from the Secretary of Highways on my desk which says substantially the same thing.

Now, Mr. Speaker, up to this time neither the Governor nor the Secretary of Highways has given this legislative body or the people of Pennsylvania any assurance that the $80 million they ask will be used for this purpose.

Furthermore, the municipal road system of this Commonwealth is also in great, desperate need for funds. Now what this amendment does is to guarantee to a small extent that the Governor of Pennsylvania and the Secretary of Highways will both keep their word to the people. This amendment would insure that 20 per cent of both pennies of the tax proposed would be returned to municipalities of this Commonwealth.

I ask that the Members on both sides of the aisle support this amendment. I say categorically that a vote against this amendment is a vote against the municipalities of this Commonwealth, both city, borough and townships. A vote against this amendment is a vote against the people of this great Commonwealth whom we are all here to serve.

I thank you and I ask for a roll call on the electric roll call system.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the amendments offered by the gentleman from Perry, Mr. Holman, take an initial 20 percent of the additional one cent and allocate it to the communities and municipalities.

Mr. Speaker, under the proposed program and the highway program which we will debate tonight, we are opposing this amendment in giving 20 percent of this other cent to the municipalities of this Commonwealth, and I ask that all the Members vote "no" on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Perry, Mr. Holman.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. HOLMAN and AGNEW and were as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

The title was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the title?

Messrs. POLEN, STRAUSSER and WILLARD offered the following amendment:

Amend Title, page 1, last line of Title, by inserting after "taxation": "and continuing an existing conditional appropriation for the calendar years 1962 and 1963."

It was agreed to.

The title was agreed to as amended.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended,

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 93, entitled:

An Act amending "The Realty Transfer Tax Act" approved December 27, 1951 (P. L. 1742) imposing the tax permanently.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 94, entitled:

An Act amending the "State Highway and Bridge Authority Act" approved April 18, 1949 (P. L. 604) increasing the power of the Authority to borrow money and issue evidence of indebtedness therefor.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following amendments, and at the proper time I would like to give a brief explanation as to what they are.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman desire the amendments read at length or for us to wait until he explains the amendments.

Mr. POLEN. If it is agreeable with the Minority, I will explain the amendments.

The SPEAKER. Does the Minority desire the amendments to be read at length?

Mr. AGNEW. I think you had better—they are not that long—for the benefit of the membership.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. POLEN offered the following amendments:

Amend Section 1 (Section 4), page 4, lines 15 to 19, and page 5, lines 1 and 2, by striking out all of said lines and inserting: "In order that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania may avail itself of the provisions of the act of August 27, 1958 (72 Stat. 885), Title 23, providing for the acceleration of the construction of the Interstate System the Authority is hereby empowered to borrow an additional sum of money not in excess of three hundred million dollars ($300,000,000) at a rate not to exceed fifty million dollars ($50,000,000) in any one year and to make and issue negotiable notes bonds and other evidences of indebtedness or obligations (herein called "bonds") of the Authority for the construction of the Interstate System and the Authority is empowered to secure the payment of such bonds or any part thereof by pledge."

Amend the bill, page 7, by inserting after line 18: "Section 2. This act shall take effect immediately."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, the proposed amendment ties the increased borrowing under the Highway and Bridge Authority to the construction of the Interstate System as indicated in the Governor's message.

Section 2 is added to make the Act effective immediately. The purpose of this is that after it is passed and if the gas tax is passed that immediately bids could be taken for the construction of various projects.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Lippincott.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Washington permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I will, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Delaware will proceed.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman please explain what change is made by the proposed amendment over the amendment in the bill as it appears now on our calendar, disregarding the effective date?

Mr. POLEN. If the gentleman will turn to page four, he will see that lines 15 to 18 on the next page are changed.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I see that. I just do not understand exactly what the change is.

Mr. POLEN. The change is in order to tie it completely into the Interstate System.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. In what respect is it different from the bill as it now appears on our calendar?

Mr. POLEN. We will take the part where it says, "in order that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania may avail itself of the provisions of the Act of August 27, 1958." That is not in the bill as it now stands. Also, for the acceleration and the chief construction of the Interstate System.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. The bill on our calendar now seems to say that you can borrow $50 million a year for six years and there is an overall limit in the proposed amendment of $300,000, rather than having it spelled out in the bill itself. What is the reason for that change?

Mr. POLEN. That is the $300 million increase, at the rate of $50 million a year.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Well, it is still not clear to me. Perhaps by this evening the gentleman will be able to explain the difference between the two proposals. I wish the gentleman could do that this evening.

Mr. POLEN. All right.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

The title was read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended,

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 95, entitled:

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 100, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 1, 1889 (P. L. 420), entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An act to provide revenue by taxation' approved the seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred seventy-nine" continuing in effect for an unlimited period of time the rate of tax of fourteen mills heretofore imposed upon the gross receipts of certain companies limited partnerships associations joint-stock associations copartnerships municipalities and persons and requiring filing of tentative tax reports and the computation and payment of tax.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 101, entitled:

An Act amending the act of July 15, 1897 (P. L. 292), entitled "An act to provide revenue by taxation," increasing the rate of tax on shares of capital stock of banks and savings institutions and extending such tax to the surplus undivided profits and reserves of savings banks without capital stock building and loan associations and changing the date for the determination of the base of the tax.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. POLEN offered the following amendments:

Amend bill, page 7, by inserting between lines 16 and 17: "Section 2. Section 27, Act of June 1, 1889 (P. L. 420), entitled 'A further supplement to an act entitled "an act to provide revenue by taxation," approved the seventh day of June, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine,' as amended, is repealed insofar as it imposes a tax upon savings banks without capital stock."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, the purpose of this amendment is to repeal the act of 1889 which placed a tax of three per cent on mutual savings banks. With this amendment, all types of these institutions would be on the same tax basis.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

The second section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. POLEN offered the following amendment:

Amend Section 2, page 7, line 17, by striking out "2"" and inserting "3."

It was agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The title was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the title?

Mr. POLEN offered the following amendments:

Amend title, page 1, next to last line of title, by striking out "and" where it appears the third time.

Amend title, page 1, last line of title, by inserting after ""tax" and making certain repeals.

They were agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article four, section twenty-one of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania changing the time at which the Secretary of Internal Affairs takes office.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate someone from the Majority side in regards to this bill. I understand that the gentleman from York, Mr. Rudisill, is prepared to answer some questions. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from York, Mr. Rudisill, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. RUDISILL. Mr. Speaker, before the gentleman from Bucks interrogates me, I wonder if he would be so kind as to let me make a statement?

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS. Certainly, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. RUDISILL. The gentleman from Bucks kindly and graciously gave me just a minute ago the question which he intended to ask me. I would like a few minutes to check on it before he interrogates me. I believe that would be perfectly satisfactory to him.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS. It will be perfectly satisfactory to me, Mr. Speaker.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection,

Senate Bill No. 1, Printer's No. 1,

was passed over at the request of Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS.

Agreebly to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 2, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article three section sixteen of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania authorizing cash refunds without appropriation in certain cases.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman from Washington the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee of the House?

Mr. POLEN. I am, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, as such is the gentleman familiar with the 1961-1962 budget presented to the General Assembly last week?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I have reviewed the budget briefly. I will be frank to say that I am not as familiar with it today as I expect to be within the next two weeks when we will have hearings.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, does the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee now state that he is unable to give me a detailed explanation of this budget?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, a detailed explanation of the budget would be the amount that is contained in it. I, at this time, have no figures or anything I could say as to whether we are going to make any change until after we have our hearings.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I ask the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee to look at page 14 of the Governor's message.

Mr. POLEN. I have page 14, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I mean the 1961-1962 budget, Summary of Apppropriations by Purpose.

Mr. POLEN. I have that, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I call to the gentleman's particular attention the first column which is $152,564,000 contemplated for General Government, which is substantially payroll. Is that not true?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I would say generally that is correct.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I have divided $152,564,000 by 24 and then multiplied that by 13. Therefore, on an annual basis I get $82,647,000, which would be the corresponding cost for 1959-1961.

In the second column for 1961-1962 the cost for General Government is $96,014,000, or a difference of $13.5 million.

Does the Chairman have any idea, however vague, as to the basis for this increased cost of General Government other than the five percent horizontal increase for State employes, which would amount to $4 million? In other words, there is $9.5 million to $10 million left over. Where is that money going to be spent?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, the 1961-1962 budget is for 13 months.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker, and I have tied it in with 13 months for the year before and there is a gap of $13.5 million, appproximately. I would like to know, since you are asking me to vote on a tax revenue bill tonight, what is the basis for the increase of $13.5 million other than approximately $4 million for the horizontal increase for state employes, which I have calculated on the basis of that $80 million payroll per year?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, it would be pretty hard for me to take all these departments of the Executive branch, and others, and give you at this time what the increase covers. I will say, however, that we do have increases in the State Police. That is one that I recall. There will be an increase in expenditures for mental health. I believe the largest area in which we will have an increase in expenses will be in mental health.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, this page 14 has nothing to do with the increase for mental health. This has to do with payroll. The page covering mental health and expanded services to the needy is covered on page 13. This contemplates an increase in the payroll of the Governor's Office, the Secretary of Internal Affairs and the Milk Commission. I would like to know whether the increased payroll is going to be for 1,000 employes, 500 employes, or 800. Do you not think I am entitled to this knowledge before I vote on the revenue measure?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, it is very hard for me to take this large number and explain where the increases are. We intend to start appropriation hearings next Monday and we will develop what these figures cover. As I stated frankly, I have only reviewed the budget briefly.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker. I always am grateful to the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee for a frank answer.

May I continue, Mr. Speaker?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman may proceed.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, we have a situation in this Commonwealth where the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee has little, if any, knowledge as to the basis for the increase in the cost of General Government. Is that sound government? Are we here to protect the taxpayers? I am entitled to know. I can say parenthetically that the gentlemen on the other side have received my support at times when I thought they were right, but they cannot ask me to vote carte blanche on an unknown, indefinite, unestimated revenue measure. The Chairman of the Appropriations Committee does not know whether there is going to be 50 more employes in the Governor's office, 100 more in the Secretary of Internal Affairs and 5 or 6 in the Milk Commission. As a matter of fact, we were told when the Secretary of Internal Affairs campaigned that the office of Secretary of Internal Affairs was an archaic office and should be eliminated.

Why are we asked for more money? I am not contesting anything about more money for schools, nor money for the mental health program. I am protesting the padding of the payroll and I say it is a sad state of affairs in this Commonwealth when we vote tax measures and we do not know how we are going to spend the money and for what purpose. For that reason and for that reason only, I intend to vote against these tax measures, although some of them are sound.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Washington desire to be recognized?

Mr. POLEN. I do, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, after thinking over the situation, I was rather taken off guard when Mr. Goldstein brought this matter up. I recall now that the greater part of the taxes that we are voting on today is to pay off a deficit and not for new expenditures.

Getting back to the increase which he mentioned, I think his figures are correct so far as the totals are concerned. I want to say as to these increases for state employees, I believe he mentioned it was $4 million. It is actually a little over $10 million. So that would take up a good part of the funds.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I claim a lot of that was in reference to salaries because the total payroll is $80 million, approximately. And five per cent of $80 million, including the executives, is only $4 million.

Now Mr. Polen has the figures. If he can break it down in detail with the aid of the office of administration by midnight, I will be glad to study it.

We have in this budget some matters which I think are very unsound, and I make a statement which may displease people on both sides of the House. We have a contemplated appropriation which needs additional legislation for $520,000 extra expenses for the House Members.

I am glad you are for it and you may have an opportunity to vote on the bills for it, if you care to. But I think the basic proposition here is this: that we are voting on a tax measure and we have no idea whether we are overestimating our needs or underestimating our needs.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on second reading?

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I call up Senate Serial No. 102 for the benefit of the Speaker and the Members of this House who will participate in this great event.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

COMMEMORATION OF LINCOLN'S VISIT TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

In the Senate, January 23, 1961.

Whereas, The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by joint resolution adopted on January 28, 1861, appointed a committee to invite Abraham Lincoln to visit Harrisburg on his way to Washington to be inaugurated as President of the United States; and

Whereas, The President-elect graciously accepted the General Assembly's invitation and arrangements were made for his visit to coincide with a celebration of Washington's Birthday; and

Whereas, At the appointed hour the Speaker and the members of the Senate were introduced into the House of Representatives, and a committee of reception introduced Abraham Lincoln, President-elect of the United States, and the Governor and heads of departments of this Commonwealth; and

Whereas, The Speaker of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives greeted the President-elect with speeches promising the support of Pennsylvania for his efforts to save the Union from disruption, and were thanked by Lincoln for their generous words; and

Whereas, This occasion one hundred years ago marked the beginning of Pennsylvania's strenuous efforts to preserve the Union; therefore, be it

Resolved (if the House concur), That a committee of three members from each body be appointed to arrange for a suitable commemoration and re-enactment on February 21, 1961, of the reception of Abraham Lincoln a hundred years before, in which re-enactment the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the President pro tempore of the Senate shall deliver the speeches of welcome addressed to Lincoln, and in which the part of Lincoln shall be impersonated; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee shall invite the Governor and the heads of departments to attend these ceremonies, the better to re-enact the event of a century ago.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, there is no objection to this resolution by anyone. I assume it is a unanimous vote. I ask the Minority Leader how he desires to have the vote.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, we are glad to hear that all the Members of the Majority are for Abraham Lincoln. We certainly are, and I would like to point out that the Members of the House will be interested in this commemoration, which I believe is February 20th or 21st. I know the officers of the House are going to be attired in the dress of 100 years ago.

Please don't miss that day if you want to see Hi Andrews and Steve McCann in a so-called stove pipe hat, and, Mr. Speaker, I might comment that there is only one way a Speaker can get out of this and that is to resign his commission.

We want the Speaker of the House to be dressed up on February 20th just like the rest of us. That's all there is to it.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. BRETH asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

Mr. VARNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. CAPITOLO, MULLEN and ESHBACK.

RESOLUTION No. 13.

In the House of Representatives, January 26, 1961.

The "State Employes' Retirement Code of 1959," approved June 1, 1959 (P. L. 392), specifies two groups of State employes having membership in the Pennsylvania State Employes' Retirement System and/or the Federal Social Security System as follows:

(1) Joint coverage group having integrated membership in the retirement system and the Federal Social Security System with reduced retirement contributions and consequent reduced retirement benefits.

(2) Single coverage group having membership in the retirement system only.

There are members of the single coverage group who are not excluded from Social Security coverage under the provisions of the Federal Social Security Act, together with various members presently in the joint coverage group who would elect to enter a dual coverage group, defined as having separate and complete membership in the retirement system and the Federal Social Security System with full contributions to both and without reduction in benefits from either system, if such optional group were created; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to ascertain, with the assistance and cooperation of all the departments, boards and commissions of the State government, the individual choice of each and every State employe if such options were granted.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I have no other requests to bring before the House except that all the Democrat Members will be here at midnight tonight, on the dot.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mrs. KERNAGHAN. I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The lady will state it.

Mrs. KERNAGHAN. Mr. Speaker, I have been informed by my colleagues that in a roll call vote on the amendment on House Bill 92 I was not registered on the board at my left. I would like to know, Mr. Speaker, how I am registered as voting. I voted "yes," Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the lady on the question of personal privilege will be spread upon the record.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the Minority Leader a question about tonight's schedule?

The SPEAKER. Will the Minority Leader permit himself to be interrogated about tonight's schedule?

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, this is a twist, but I am ready to be interrogated.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, since we do consider the wellbeing of all the Members of this House, there was a time not too long ago when I was informed in an unofficial manner that the bills on final passage at the midnight session could possibly go for many hours. I am considering whether we should have debate before we vote on each of these bills, pass certain hours, and provide some coffee for the Members. If it went on to other hours, to provide the necessary breakfast. I was wondering if the gentleman would care to assist me in determining what I should do in that field.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I understood that the Majority Leader had made preparations not only for coffee during the night, but for breakfast at the usual hour in the morning, and I thought the only question to be determined was whether or not provision should be made for a late lunch tomorrow.

Mr. McCANN. We can be prepared, Mr. Speaker, if necessary, for the lunch also, if that is the situation. I was meaning this in a serious manner and I was hoping the debate would end by three or four o'clock in the morning. Each bill is being debated separately or interrogated separately. Should we finish at four o'clock, five, six or seven—I eat breakfast at seven—I thought we would provide breakfast.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, we are always interested to hear the personal habits of the Majority Leader, particularly that he usually eats breakfast at seven o'clock in the morning. Frankly and seriously, we have no idea how long tonight's session will take. In the first place, we did not call it for post-midnight. We suggested in plenty of time that it be called for the usual hour of ten o'clock in the morning. All we are doing is having the usual third reading debate and interrogation for each bill. I think you will have to admit that this is the Administration's major tax program. We do not want to run these bills through without adequate debate, without protecting the rights and interest of the people. We will have an interrogation and debate, perhaps on each bill. We have the convenience of our own Members in mind certainly, as much as the Majority has the convenience of its Members, but we want to make sure that each bill is adequately debated and sufficient interrogation is made.

We Members of the Minority feel that we have an obligation to our constituents to try to find out what these bills are all about. Now there has been an attempt to pass these bills finally through the House before anybody has had a chance to study them. We have made an almost superhuman effort during these past two days to acquaint our membership with what is in the bills. We feel it is their obligation as representatives of their constituents to find out what these bills are all about before we vote on them finally tonight. I think the fact that we have an electric roll call, if it works, will save us considerable time tonight, Mr. Speaker. I have no idea how long tonight's session will take. I personally hope that we can get it over between 3:30 or 4:00. If it takes any longer than that in the interest of knowledge concerning the bills, then it will have to take its usual course. I hope we can all have breakfast, not in the Hall of the House, at the usual hour, whether it be seven or eight o'clock. I would suggest that those of you who have plans to go back home tomorrow morning make other arrangements. I do not think you will be able to stay here and vote on these bills and get back home and be in court or be in your office or perform your usual business or domestic chores tomorrow.

May I repeat that we had nothing to do with calling a post-midnight session this January 25th or thereabouts. We see no reason for such hasty ill-conceived action. As far as we are concerned, the Majority can take the blame and bear the shame.

Mr. McCANN. I thank the Minority Leader very kindly. We are prepared then, according to what you have indicated, and we shall abide accordingly from 12:01 o'clock on.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. CAULEY. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Thursday, January 26, 1961, at 12:01 a. m. EST.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 5:40 p. m. EST) the House adjourned.

Vol. 38. HARRISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, JANUARY 26, 1961. No. 11.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

THURSDAY, January 26, 1961

The House met at 12:01 a. m. EST.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend David R. Hoover, offered the following prayer:

As the lengthening shadows of evening begin to lessen and the hope of a new day appears on the horizon, help us, O God, with steadfast trust and assurance in the days which lie ahead, to move with the confidence of those who work earnestly for the accomplishment of Thy goal for mankind. Make known to these Thy stewards the things which Thou wouldst have them do, and guide them with Thy presence in the accomplishment of the same: through Jesus Christ, Thy dear Son our Lord. Amen

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the approval of the Journal for Wednesday, January 25, 1961 will be postponed until printed.

The Chair hears none.

RESOLUTION No. 14.

In the House of Representatives, January 25, 1961.

Be it resolved by the House of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania (the Senate concurring) that the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania respectfully request the Congress of the United States to propose to the people an amendment to the Constitution of the United States or to call a convention for such purpose as provided by law to add to the Consttiution an article providing that:

Article .....

Section 1. The Government of the United States shall not engage in any business, professional, commercial, financial or industrial enterprise except as specified in the Constitution.

Section 2. The Constitution or laws of any state, or the laws of the United States shall not be subject to the terms of any foreign or domestic agreement which would abrogate this amendment.

Section 3. The activities of the United States Government which violate the intent and purposes of this amendment shall within a period of three years from the date of ratification of this amendment, be liquidated and the properties and facilities affected shall be sold.

Section 4. Three years after the ratification of this amendment the sixteenth article of amendments to the Constitution of the United States shall stand repealed and thereafter Congress shall not levy taxes on personal incomes, estates, and/or gifts.

Resolved, That a certified copy of this Resolution be forwarded by the Secretary of the Commonwealth to the President of the United States Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and to each member of Congress from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection,

Senate Bill No. 1, Printer's No. 1,

was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

CALL OF THE HOUSE

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Agnew, suggests the absence of a quorum.

The Sergeant-at-Arms will close the doors of the House. Only Members will be admitted during the calling of the roll.

The roll was called and was as follows:

ABSENT—9

Dougherty,	McInroy,	Murray,	Sullivan, T. F.,
Down,	Murphy,	Odorisio,	Wescott,
Kessler,

The SPEAKER. One hundred and ninety-nine Members being recorded as present, a quorum is present.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I move that further proceedings under the call of the House be dispensed with.

The motion was agreed to .

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Murray.

Mr. MURRAY. Mr. Speaker, I wish to be recorded as being present.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will be recorded as being present.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I assume at this point we are ready to vote and debate on the first bill on third reading, House Bill 82. I ask the Minority Leader if he will permit himself to be interrogated.

The SPEAKER. Does the Majority Leader desire Leaves of Absence recorded?

Mr. McCANN. I would like to do this before Leaves of Absence. Mr. Speaker, will the Minority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. AGNEW. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, before we finish the debate on the first bill, House bill 82, and vote on the first bill, Mr. James J. Dougherty is here and will come into the House. I ask now if, when he casts his vote of "Aye" on Bill 82, that vote will be acceptable on the other bills up to 101 on page 9, or will he have to be brought back each time into the House to vote each bill?

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, the humanitarian instincts of the Minority are equally as strong as those of the Majority. We want to do everything we can to accommodate any Member of this House. I must ask the Parliamentarian if we can permit absentee voting in this manner.

The SPEAKER. The Chair begs the pardon of the Majority Leader. He did not catch the point under discussion.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, before I would vote on the first bill, I would like to know if Mr. Dougherty of Philadelphia, who will come into the Hall of this House to vote on bills beginning with House bill 82, the first bill, will have to be brought back here to vote on every bill to each time, or will the Minority, with the full consent of this House, permit him to cast his vote so that I will not have to bring him in a total of 19 times? He is voting "Aye" on every bill beginning with 82 to 101 on page 9.

The SPEAKER. Has either of the Leaders asked the Chair's opinion?

Mr. AGNEW. The Majority Leader has asked a question, which, in effect, is a Parliamentary Inquiry. I have asked the Chair for an opinion as to whether or not, under the Constitution, we can permit such a form of absentee voting.

RULING BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Constitution would not be governing in this particular situation because it does not cover this particular point. In the past this procedure has been sanctioned by the House, and the Chair is very distinctly of the opinion that this procedure can be sanctioned by the House. It would require, I believe, either unanimous consent or suspension of the Rules to permit him to vote in that manner. If they have the votes they can suspend the Rules which would require the Member to be present. It has been done.

Mr. AGNEW. If it has been done and there is precedent for it and the Chair so Rules, the Minority is more than willing and agreeable that such an accommodation be made.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I thank you very kindly for the ruling, and I was referring the question to the Chair with the Minority Leader's discussion. I would ask then, at the right time do I make a motion, Mr. Speaker, or what do I do to permit this to carry properly from the first bill and to count for all of them?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman has asked the unanimous consent of the House, and, apparently, from where this Chair stands that unanimous consent has been accorded.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, then it has been granted and it is in order in that manner?

The SPEAKER. The Chair would have to designate someone to cast the ballot and would suggest either the Minority Leader or the Majority Leader to cast that ballot for Mr. Dougherty.

Mr. AGNEW. I would like to have the honor but I think, under the circumstances, it should be the Majority Leader, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair therefore designates for and on behalf of Mr. Dougherty the Majority Leader as his proxy.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, then if I can call up at this point the next bill, House bill 82, which is the first bill in the series. Would there be some estimated time of debate, just on the first bill? I ask this because of bringing Mr. Dougherty up here into the Hall of the House from the hotel room.

The SPEAKER. Since we took the call of the House, would the Floor Leaders now permit the Chief Clerk to read the absentees so they may be recorded? We will then follow with requests for Leaves of Absence, if that is desired.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mr. Eilberg for Mr. T. F. SULLIVAN because of illness.

Mr. Eilberg for Mr. MURPHY because of illness.

Mr. Tompkins for Mr. ODORISIO because of illness.

Mr. Tompkins for Mr. DOWN because of illness.

Mr. Tompkins for Mr. McINROY because of illness.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the Majority Leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I ask this question before I even know if we are ready on House bill No. 82, could you possibly give me a period of time, 20 minutes, 30 minutes, whatever it may be, for the timing for Mr. Dougherty?

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I would say we would be ready to vote on it in 10 or 15 minutes. If we have to kill five or ten minutes we are perfectly willing to bide the time of the House.

I might say at this time, and it might be appropriate, I think it is a shame that a sick man has to be brought into the Hall of House under these circumstances. A more orderly process would have called for consideration of these bills for perhaps a minimum of two weeks, when we might have studied them as Legislators should and let the people of the Commonwealth know what they are all about. Then this spectacle of bringing a sick man into the Hall of the House and asking the Minority to waive the Rules, which under the circumstances we are more than willing to do, would not have to have been done at all, especially at one o'clock in the morning.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 82, entitled:

An Act amending "The Administrative Code of 1929," approved April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177) making certain changes in the fiscal period.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, in the interest of saving time, I have asked for permission to make some general remarks at this time which might apply to all the bills on third reading tonight. We apparently will have to wait for a short period of time for Mr. Dougherty to be brought to the Hall of the House. My remarks have not been prepared so as to be lengthy. However, under the circumstances, I may indulge myself and the Members of the House by extending them from my usual two minutes to three or four. I do not think that under the circumstances the Majority Leader or any of the members of the Majority might object.

First, Mr. Speaker, the Members of the minority, being proud of their positions as Members of this House, Representatives of the people of Pennsylvania, would like to apologize to our constituents and the people generally for the sorry legislative spectacle that we are witnessing tonight. It seems that everytime the Majority has a tax program to pass they call a post-midnight session. It is sort of a psychological thing, like sweeping their collective conscience under a rug. They are passing the bills under the cover of darkness; they have taken the position that we must shed no daylight on any of these proposals.

Mr. Speaker, we are not angry with the Majority. We are saddened by what we consider to be an improper perversion of the legislative process. We view the Majority much as parents might view a prodigal son or a wayward daughter. We know, at least we hope, because we are brothers, that there is much good in you. We can only wait patiently for you to grow up and start acting as Legislators and not as rubber stamps for the front office. Since we are all Members of this House, which we feel is a great fraternity of the Representatives of the people, we are sorrowful that our brothrs in the Majority have seen fit to become rubber stamps for Governor Green—Governor Lawrence.

We feel that you as individuals have demeaned your positions as Legislators and have prostituted yourselves before the people of Pennsylvania in a naked display of legislative irresponsibility.

If there was some way we could test this, we would be willing to put it to a test. I believe the average Member of the Miniority knows a lot more about what is in these bills than the average Member of the Majority. We have made an honest effort in the last two days, and that is all we have had; we could not get some of these important bills until Monday morning. We have made an honest effort to study these bills, to learn all that we could about them, to learn about their impact on industry in Pennsylvania and upon the people of Pennsylvania.

The Majority Leader pretends, and with some justification—he is proud and I do not blame him—that his troops are all heroes. We do not think you ar heroes; you are our friends. We think you are more like toy soldiers who are marching under orders.

We are disturbed about one thing. We would like to know what effect the acceleration of these business taxes will have on business and industry in Pennsylvania. What will be the effect on ecomonic development, the industrial growth in the Commonwealth?

There is one thing that the Members of the Majority and the Members of the Minority have in common. We are not interested in business as such; we are not interested in appropriate balance sheets. We are interested in jobs for the people of Pennsylvania. There is only one way that we can provide jobs for the people of Pennsylvania, and that is to create and maintain a healthy economic climate in this Commonwealth.

Now industry generally, apparently, is not too much disturbed by this acceleration. There has not been any great wave of protest. Perhaps they have not had sufficient time to realize the impact of the bills. You could not blame them for that. However, this is just one example of punishing, harrassing, business in Pennsylvania.

You have a responsibility, as do we. The state government has the major responsibility of creating a healthy business climate in this State so that the people in this State who want a job can get a job and can support themselves and their families. It seems to me that the whole approach of the Democratic Party is to provide ways to give public assistance to people who are out of a job. It is a negative approach. We want you to do something positively by creating an industrial climate in this state so the people who are out of work can get work and support themselves and their families.

I do not think anybody in this Commonwealth has anything but a vague idea of the impact of these bills on Pennsylvania generally. Whose fault is it? A tax program has been submitted; the tax program has come out of committee without any consideration or study by these legislative committees or by the Legislators who are members of the committees. We could not get copies of the bills until Monday, and now you are asking us to vote on them tonight. We Republicans are not opposing this program or any part of it as such. We are very definitely opposed to the methods you have used, which might be smart politics, but, Mr. Speaker, it is not good government.

On House bill No. 82, Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. AGNEW. Will the gentleman explain, for the benefit of the Members of the House, the purpose of this bill?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, the purpose of the bill is to change the present fiscal year so it will commence on the first day of July of each calendar year and then the thirtieth day of June of the next calendar year in order to provide for an interim in the fiscal period of June 1, 1961 to June 30, 1962. I might state, Mr. Speaker, that this is to bring it into conformity with the fiscal periods which the majority of the states have, which the Federal Government has, and which the school districts of this Commonwealth have. I might state there are only three other states besides Pennsylvania that have a fiscal year different from the one we propose, and in two of those states they are proposing to change their fiscal years to make them the same as we are proposing in House bill 82.

Mr. AGNEW. I thank the gentleman for the explanation. We have no general objection to this bill and we are prepared for a roll call vote on it at this time.

If the Majority Leader would like to take a short recess, we are perfectly willing.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would at this time like to use a minute or two for a general statement dealing also with House bill No. 82 and the entire program.

Mr. Speaker, on the entire package of revenue raising measures before this House tonight, there is certainly one thing we have been mindful of and that is the industries of Pennsylvania. We certainly have to have the industrial climate to help employ people, to create jobs so that these people, in turn, will not be on the unemployment rolls and the public assistance rolls.

Concerning the industrial climate in Pennsylvania as far as taxes are concerned, it is wonderful to be able, under the Democratic administration in Pennsylvania, to read such papers as the Cleveland Plain Dealer, where they speak of the tax climate in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania as being more favorable than that in Ohio.

In the last Democratic administration and the present this has occurred under the revenue raising measures which have been enacted and are being proposed here tonight. Yes, industry and all the people of Pennsylvania have carefully been consulted. We can say for the record, a great number of major industries in Pennsylvania—and you know it to be a fact because they have spoken to you—will say that they have absolutely no objection to any revenue raising measure now on the House calendar here tonight.

I also say to you, Mr. Speaker and Members of this House, that these are the things we also believe in and we speak of them factually because we support them, that here in Pennsylvania we are always mindful of this situation.

Mr. Speaker, I will eliminate my debate and I ask that Mr. Dougherty be given the Floor for a minute.

The SPEAKER. The Majority Leader yields to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Dougherty.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Dougherty.

Mr. DOUGHERTY. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, someone tried to get my family to hold me back tonight in Philadelphia. I do not know who it was, but nothing could stop me from getting up here to cast a vote for a program for road construction that I think is second to none. I am speaking now as a former general superintendent of road construction and I think the Governor has more knowledge of the needs for roads and the upkeeping of roads than any man in this House. For that reason I would have crawled here if I had to in order to get here to cast my vote for the Governor's program. Thank you.

Mr. AGNEW. On behalf of the Minority we would like to welcome Mr. Dougherty, Jim, to the Hall of the House. It is good to see him. We are sorry he had to come.

I have about thirty seconds of remarks, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair begs the pardon of the Minority Leader. We thought he had finished. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. AGNEW. I would like to point out that this House bill No. 82 is the bill we should be rushing through with haste this week. The rest of these bills are predicated upon a thirteen-month fiscal year. House Bill 82 gives the Commonwealth the legal authority to change the fiscal year basis. What will happen to the rest of these bills we pass tonight, if pass them we do, if the other Chamber does not pass House Bill 82, for the life of me I cannot tell you. The rest of these bills, the Governor's real budget, means absolutely nothing unless House bill No. 82 becomes law. It is the bill we should be pushing through, the bill we should be rapidly passing, so we will know what our fiscal year will be. Then we should take a good, cold, sober look at the rest of the budget. That is why we were not opposed to haste on this bill. We are ready for a vote.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the porvisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NAYS—2

O'Dell,	Williams, A. D.,

NOT VOTING—7

Down,	McInroy,	Odorisio,	Wescott,
Kessler,	Murphy,	Sullivan, T. F.,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 83, entitled:

An Act transferring money from the Banking Department Fund to the General Fund.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Lehigh desires to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.

The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. BACKENSTOE. Mr. Speaker, in the interest of saving time and with the permission of the Speaker and Mr. Polen, I would like to interrogate at this time on House bills Nos. 83, 84, 85, 86 and 87, which I believe deal with the same issues.

The SPEAKER. The Chair can see no objection to that.

Mr. POLEN. No objection, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BACKENSTOE. Mr. Speaker, what is the nature of the Banking Department funds which are to be transferred?

Mr. POLEN. Did I understand the question to be, what was the nature, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BACKENSTOE. Mr. Speaker, the policy has been for many years that the excess funds earned by the Department of Banking, which is on a fee basis, are returned to the General Fund.

Mr. BACKENSTOE. Mr. Speaker, was this figure known on January 3, 1961, when House bills Nos. 1 and 2 were introduced?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I could not say whether it was known or not, but I believe it would have been known.

Mr. BACKENSTOE. If it was known, why were these monies not used to decrease the amount borrowed from the State Teachers' Retirement Fund?

Mr. POLEN. We did not need it for that purpose because the amount that we did transfer was sufficient. This is effective for the next biennium, as you will notice. It has been the custom to transfer it in the next biennium.

Mr. BACKENSTOE. May I ask the gentlemen if it would not save the State money and expense by paying these monies into the Retirement Fund now and thus reduce our debt?

Mr. POLEN. The amount at issue would be so small that I do not believe it would make any saving and at the same time it would disrupt the way it has been handled of transferring it effective in the new biennium.

Mr. BACKENSTOE. These bills under the lapses that were appropriated over to take care of the Public Assistance Fund, would they not normally, if that had not been the case, have been transferred into the General Fund?

Mr. POLEN. I do not understand the question, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BACKENSTOE. Mr. Speaker, would not the lapses that were appropriated to the deficiency appropriations for Welfare Assistance have gone normally into the General Fund?

Mr. POLEN. The lapses that were made were from the General Fund. They were General Fund lapses.

Mr. BACKENSTOE. In regard to House bill 84, would you explain to the House the nature of these monies?

Mr. POLEN. On House bill 84 there was a sum remaining of $152,107.19 from the Unemployment Relief Fund. This is just a static fund, it cannot be used, and this bill is to close this fund and to transfer this money into the General Fund to meet existing appropriations for general assistance.

Mr. BACKENSTOE. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman why these funds were not used to reduce the amount that was borrowed from the Teachers' Retirement Fund?

Mr. POLEN. Again I would say that the amount was insufficient to make any appreciable change in the amount that we would have had to transfer. Really, the purpose now is to get these funds, these various funds, which are inactive and cannot be used, into the General Fund as given in the Governor's Budget. This is one of those items. In other words, we are going to close the fund out and use it for general purposes in the General Fund.

Mr. BACKENSTOE. In regard to House bills 85 and 86, does the gentleman from Washington have any idea as to the amount which would be transferred over to the General Fund from the Toll Bridge Fund and the Veterans' Compensation Fund?

Mr. POLEN. Yes, Mr. Speaker. The estimated amount that will be transferred under House bill 85 is $159,000. The reason it is not shown in the bill is because, as you will note, the act is effective November, 1961. For that reason no amount is shown in the bill, but the amount remaining will be transferred and it is estimated at $159,000. In House bill 86, which is the same type of bill, to close out the fund, it is estimated that there will be $115,089 available to transfer to the General Fund from this special fund, which is no longer active.

Mr. BACKENSTOE. Again, Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if it would not have been possible to use these monies to reduce the State debt?

Mr. POLEN. I would presume that these monies could be used for any general purpose and the reduction of the State debt would be a purpose for which they could be used, if appropriated.

Mr. BACKENSTOE. Mr. Speaker, in regard to House bill 87, could the gentleman explain the purpose of this bill, please?

Mr. POLEN. House bill 87 raises the limit which can be transferred from the General Fund to the State Stores Fund from $15 million to $30 million. This, in effect, is to make it possible to pay for the large purchases on time.

Under the present system, when these purchases are made it is impossible to pay them on time at certain times with only the $15 million limit. With this limit it will make it a revolving fund wherein purchases can be made and paid for and the money returned to the General Fund and it can go up as high as $30 million. In other words, this is to expedite the payment of invoices, to make the whole situation more flexible and to permit discounts to be taken. In other words, it is to expedite the entire system of purchases and payments in connection with funds which must be transferred from the General Fund to the State Stores Fund because all the profit from the State Stores is returned to the General Fund.

Mr. BACKENSTOE. The speaker mentioned possible savings. Does he have any idea of the amount of the savings by reason of this transfer?

Mr. POLEN. It would be hard to figure on anything where there are discounts. I would not have the amount. If you are able to take the discounts and the discount is one percent on $100,000, you would save $1,000. I could not say the extent to which this might work other than if you have the funds available and you can transfer them. We have these invoices to be paid, and, in all fairness to the people that sell to the State Stores Fund, we should be able to pay their invoices promptly. That is one of the main purposes of this bill, to create a fund sufficiently large that the invoices can be paid and not have to be held.

Mr. BACKENSTOE. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman have any idea of how long a period the General Fund money would be tied up in this?

Mr. POLEN. It is the intention, Mr. Speaker, to make this a revolving fund. In other words, if there is $20 million advanced and the fund can pay back $15 million, or the entire $20 million, or if it runs to $25 million, there is no date except that it must be paid back in thirty days after the end of the fiscal year.

Mr. BACKENSTOE. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, as a new Member of this Body, I have heard the Majority proudly proclaim their business astuteness and their belief in fiscal resposibility. I do not believe there is fiscal resposibility when the State is heavily in debt and has an opportunity to reduce its debt easily and at little cost by an amount of $436,000 and does not.

This might be considered minor by certain individuals, but, certainly, I do not consider it minor, nor do my constituents in Lehigh County consider it minor, especially at this time when we have enough money that we can invest $30 million in liquor.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, just one minute on these points. We are not going to debate the situation. I would sincerely suggest that the men who are speaking on fiscal matters have a pretty good knowledge of the situation. As to the $30 million investment in liquor, this is a peculiar situation. This is the money they operate with in making purchases and payments and which the State Store Fund must pay. This is actually good fiscal responsibility in creating more profit for the liquor fund, which goes into the General Fund, to which all profit must go, by law.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NOT VOTING— 8

Down,	Manbeck,	Murphy,	Sullivan, T. F.,
Kessler,	McInroy,	Odorisio,	Wescott,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 84, entitled:

An Act transferring money from the Federal Unemployment Relief Fund to the General Fund and providing that such money transferred shall be used for the payment of public assistance.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cameron will proceed.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, this bill provides for the transfer of money from the Federal Unemployment Relief Fund to the General Fund. My inquiry is whether or not there are any restrictions in the Federal law under which this money came to us which forbid the transfer of this money for the use which the bill provides?

Mr. POLEN. There is not, Mr. Speaker. The money actually will be used for the same purpose as was originally enacted.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I would like to ask the gentleman another question generally on this series of bills.

As I understand it, all of these bills, Nos. 82, 84, 85 and 86 are all special funds and not part of the General Fund, is that right?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct.

Mr. TOMPKINS. The purpose of this is to eliminate completely these particular funds?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. These funds, under the special funds, are not reflected anywhere in the General Budget?

Mr. POLEN. No, these are reflected.

Mr. TOMPKINS. In the General Budget?

Mr. POLEN. I believe I am in error. They were in the Governors' message, but they are not reflected in the budget. Mr. Speaker, I might state that they, of course, are shown as revenue. Presently, as they stand now, they will be in the General Budget as a receipt or revenue.

Mr. TOMPKINS. That is what I am talking about. Nowhere in the entire budget are these amounts reflected —in the General Budget, that is what I am talking about.

Mr. POLEN. Yes, they are reflected as a receipt or as revenue in the General Budget.

Mr. TOMPKINS. That is just in the current proposed budget?

Mr. POLEN. Beg your pardon?

Mr. TOMPKINS. In the current proposed budget?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Just for a little information—do I understand there are about 63 of these special funds that are in being in the Governor's . . .

Mr. POLEN. I believe the gentleman is correct and a study is being made to eliminate every one that is no longer necessary, although they have served their purpose, such as the ones we are appropriating to the General Fund today.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Do I understand that it will take legislation to eliminate any of those funds?

Mr. POLEN. I believe there is one fund that does not take legislation as shown in the Governor's message, but there are others which are being studied which will require legislation.

Mr. TOMPKINS. May I interrogate—perhaps this is outside of the bills on the calendar, but it is in general line with this series of bills which we are considering. In the special funds to be eliminated which was handed to us at the time of the briefing on this budget, there is an item of Public Building and Construction Fund of $2,562,674.86, and you state there that it is going to be reappropriated to some other sources. Will that not have to be done by legislation?

Mr. POLEN. I believe that item does not require legislation.

Mr. TOMPKINS. It is not before us now, but I certainly want to ask at the appropriate time, why?

Mr. POLEN. That is the item of Public Building and Construction Fund?

Mr. TOMPKINS. That is right, $2.5 million.

Mr. POLEN. This is a balance left over from the bond issue authorized in 1947 for $50 million. The full amount of the bond issue has been appropriated. The balance remaining consists of premiums and interest earned on these bonds. The bond is being eliminated by appropriating $1,926,260 to the Public Building Construction Sinking Fund and $636,415 for Capital Improvements to the Department of Forests and Waters. The original bond issue was allocated between the Department of Public Welfare and the Department of Forests and Waters. No legislation is required in connection with it.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I would like to know how and why it can be reappropriated, a sum of money of this kind, without legislative action?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, these particular amounts are being appropriated by new appropriation bills. They go into specific funds. They are for specific appropriations and the ones that we have handled here tonight, the previous bills, are going into the General Fund.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, do I understand, then, that there will be legislation in the form of the appropriation bills, reappropriating these funds?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

O'Dell,

NOT VOTING—7

Down,	McInroy,	Odorisio,	Wescott,
Kessler,	Murphy,	Sullivan, T. F.,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. AGNEW. Some of the Members have called to my attention the fact that we have some distinguished visitors on the Floor of the House. No other visitors are on the Floor of the House but the shock troops from the Governor's office who are over there behind the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen. We are not objecting specifically to their being there, except we want to call the Chair's attention to the fact that they are present. We thought the Rule was that nobody not a Member of the House, or an Officer or Page of the House, would be permitted on the Floor of the House during a Session.

The SPEAKER. The distinguished visitors are members of the press gallery.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I want to see their press cards.

Mr. McCANN. The gentlemen are from the publication Office of the Administration from which is published and furnished every month to every Member of this General Assembly a publication known as the Fiscal Accounts of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I am just calling attention to the fact that they are on the Floor of the House. We are not objecting; we are calling it to the attention of the Chair. The Chair can take whatever action the Chair sees fit.

The SPEAKER. For the benefit of the Members and visitors, Rule 81 says:

"Persons admitted to the House floor, other than Members and attaches, shall not be permitted to stand while the House is in session, but shall be seated in chairs provided for them.

"Visitors will not sit at the desks of the Members, or confer with them while the House is in session."

As long as there are chairs in the Hall of the House available for visitors, visitors can sit in them.

Mr. AGNEW. We feel discriminated against. We would like to have some of them over here advising us. I do not know why they are over there if they are not conferring with the gentleman from Washington.

The SPEAKER. The Chair might observe that probably that side of the House is impervious to advice and is a hopeless case.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 85, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 22 1949 (P L 711) entitled "An act authorizing the issue and sale of bonds by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to defray the cost of acquisition of toll bridges creating a special fund in the State Treasury to be known as the Toll Bridge Fund * * *" providing for the transfer to the General Fund of all moneys remaining in the Toll Bridge Fund after redemption of all bonds and certification thereof by the State Treasurer.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NOT VOTING—7

Down,	McInroy,	Odorisio,	Wescott,
Kessler,	Murphy,	Sullivan, T. F.,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 86, entitled:

An Act amending the act of January 5 1934 (1933-34 P L 219) entitled "An act authorizing the issue and sale of bonds by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for the payment of compensation to certain veterans * * *" providing for the transfer to the General Fund of all moneys remaining in the Veterans' Compensation Fund after the redemption of all bonds and payment of compensation and certification thereof by the State Treasurer and Adjutant General, respectively.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, rise?

Mr. McCORMACK. To make a brief statement regarding these bills and what transpired before on the last bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, in light of what the Minority Leader, Mr. Agnew, said with respect to members of the Governor's staff being on the floor, I think the real significance of that was lost in that here we have two members of this Administration before us on the floor. There has been a serious question raised about the Democrats trying to push through something which we have not had the opportunity to read. I know that these gentlemen are personally acquainted with all the provisions of all these bills that we are called upon to vote on tonight. I know they are standing ready, and they are willing and are able and quite capable of answering any question by any Member of the House. I think it is a real fine thing when you can get high Administration officials to come into this House at such a late hour and stand ready and willing to serve all the Members.

The SPEAKER. If the Chair was not such a sincere friend and admirer of the gentleman from Philadelphia, the Chair would have had to remind him that his remarks were out of order and not pertinent to the subject before the House.

Mr. AGNEW. Does the Minority Leader have the privilege of commenting on the gentleman's remarks briefly?

The SPEAKER. Since the gentleman has opened the door, I presume that the Minority Leader can walk in.

Mr. AGNEW. I am already inside, Mr. Speaker.

I would like to say that we think it is above and beyond the call of duty that these gentlemen would be willing to come out in the middle of the night, particularly since they are not Members of the House. What districts do they represent, Mr. McCormack? We only want Members of the House to be on the floor and participating during legislative debate. I agree with the gentleman from Philadelphia that I also thought the significance of my remarks was lost.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN.

The remarks of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, only accentuate the interrogation I had yesterday of the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee. His remarks would indicate that nobody, nobody, has any knowledge of these bills, including the leaders on the Majority side and they must go to the source to find out what they mean. That is a travesty as far as the passage of revenue measures is concerned.

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Isaacs, rise?

Mr. ISAACS. To make some remarks on the subject under discussion, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Do I understand that the gentleman intends to speak about the bill or about other matters?

Mr. ISAACS. About the subject the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, spoke about and the subject the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Agnew, spoke on.

I could not think, Mr. Speaker, of a poorer reason than that advanced by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, to abrogate a Rule of this House. Insofar as the gentlemen sitting in their seats, I have no objection, but the gentlemen were conferring with the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee, Mr. Polen, as I observed it. I thank you.

On the question, recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILLS CALLED OUT OF ORDER

Mr. McCANN asked and obtained unanimous consent to call up bills on the calendar out of order.

Mr. AGNEW. May I request the Majority Leader to list the bills in the order he intends to call them. I would like him to do it slowly and distinctly and I request the Members of the Minority to mark their calendars, particularly those of you who are going to debate or interrogate on each one of the bills. The Majority Leader will now indicate whether or not he will call the rest of the third reading calendar.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I ask now that the Majority Members mark on their calendars the bills in order as I start.

House Bill No. 93 will be No. 1. No. 2 on page 6 will be House Bill 88. No. 3 will be House Bill 89 on page 6. No. 4 on page 7 will be House Bill 90. No. 5 on page 7 will be House Bill 91. No. 6 will be House Bill 92. No. 7 will be House Bill 94. No. 8 will be House Bill 98. No. 9 on page 9 will be House Bill 101. No. 10 on page 8 will be House Bill 99. Mr. Speaker, these are the 14 bills that will be called out of order in that manner to be voted on tonight. Each bill, I understand, is going to be debated.

Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 7, House Bill No. 93 for the first bill.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 93, entitled:

An Act amending "The Realty Transfer Tax Act" approved December 27, 1951 (P. L. 1742) imposing the tax permanently.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I want to inform the Members of the House that I do not think they are going to be here tonight quite as long as some might have anticipated. We have no plan of delay or anything of that sort. We want to debate and interrogate, as briefly as possible, most of these bills. They are important bills and there are some things we would like to get into the record.

If the Majority Leader has plans for breakfast for the Members, I think he might as well cancel them unless he would like to invite us all to be his guests at one of the hotels later today. I do not think we will be here too late. It is very difficult to say but I do not think we will be here too late tonight.

I will ask the Members of the Minority who have asked to speak, debate and interrogate on these bills and those who have been assigned to these bills, to cover the subject but do it as briefly as you possibly can. None of us are accustomed to staying up all night and we have a job to do. It is too bad we have to do it in the wee hours of the morning, but we have been called into session for that purpose.

Now, I would like permission to comment briefly at this time on the rest of the bills on the calendar. I think we can save time because then I will not be up here too much the rest of the night and I know the Members of the Majority will be glad to hear that.

I would like to say, in answer to some earlier remarks of the Majority Leader, I do not quite understand his comments relative to Ohio. Anybody who reads the newspapers knows that Ohio has a pretty good business situation with relatively low unemployment, and that is more than you can say for Pennsylvania, which has had Democratic Governors for the last six years.

I might also comment, perhaps it is true that the business leaders in Pennsylvania presently do not have any general opposition to this acceleration of business taxes. The Majority Leader indicates that they have been consulted and they have approved and he indicates by his comments what we have long suspected, that the Democratic Party is the Party of big business in Pennsylvania. I will admit that things have changed in the last twenty years but change they have.

I might also say that the Governor's program seems to take care of everything else but shoves the big problem facing the Commonwealth, education, finances and so forth, into the background. He wants to pass this program and then he wants a special committee on Education to make its report, and I predict—I repeat, I predict—that the Governor will not make a recommendation, but that the Governor will merely submit his program to the Legislature and say, if you want to take this, you will probably have to raise some tax money to pay for it.

I do not believe the Governor is in any position to take the lead as he has not taken the lead on any single subject since he has been in office, with the exception of Highway Safety. We give him credit for having a program there: we give him no credit for having a program anywhere else.

Now, there will be another tax program proposed by the Majority, if not by the Governor's office, sometime later this Session. That is a prediction. Whether we have a short businesslike Session or whether we are here for the best part of the year, I want you to remember my remarks. I am taking a calculated risk. You may be able to throw them back at me later on, but, on the other hand, I am on the record right now with my prediction and I can assure you and I will remind you of my remarks tonight when additional taxes are proposed later in the Session. We have an idea that the Governor, "the silver fox from the Golden Triangle," has a few legislative proposals up his sleeve which may be of some interest to the Members of this House later on this year.

Now we are ready to have you roll your bills tonight. We have Members slated to debate and to interrogate. I repeat, I ask them to be as brief as possible although we want the subjects covered and we hope we can be out of here within a reasonable time.

House bill No. 93, as I understand the bill, merely makes the realty transfer tax of one percent, a State tax, permanent. Now, the people have a saying that when their Representatives impose taxes on them there is no such thing as a temporary tax. All our taxes have a habit of becoming permanent and I notice that several of the bills tonight impose what are now temporary taxes on a permanent basis. I think the Democrats are proving the saying of the people to be true and they are making the taxes permanent in six or eight instances tonight.

I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen on House bill No. 93.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Washington permit himself to be interrogated once again?

Mr. POLEN. I will, Mr. Speaker, but I would like to ask permission of the Chair and the Minority Leader to make a brief statement explaining my role in this House tonight.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is at liberty to make a brief statement at any time he desires.

Does the Minority Leader yield to the gentleman from Washington?

Mr. AGNEW. I yield to the gentleman.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, the Majority Leader, Mr. McCann, asked me if I would get as many of the facts together as I could for the information of the House on this particular series of bills. I want to say I have done that in no partisan nature. I have attempted to get the facts in connection with these bills so they are available for all the Members of this House. And it is no partisan debate so far as I am concerned. I am attempting, to the best of my ability, to give you the facts. I will say that it was quite a difficult job to assemble them. I certainly do not know all the answers. I have had to call on many people to help me get them, and I think the Minority Leader recognizes I am just a poor farm boy down here in the city trying to make good, and, if he will, I ask him to be as lenient as possible with me.

The SPEAKER. The Chair now recognizes the Minority Leader, who desires to interrogate the gentleman from Washington.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, we know the role of the gentleman from Washington. He may not know too much about this budget but he knows more about it than anybody in this House. We give him credit for that. We sympathize with his predicament. Nobody, not even the gentleman from Washington, can absorb this budget or these tax proposals in 8 hours. Ordinarily he would have had three or four weeks or more to study them and, with his knowledge of the subject, he would have been more adequately prepared at a more normal time. We do give him credit, though, for knowing more about the subject than any other Memebr of the House.

Mr. POLEN. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. AGNEW. The simple interrogation I have for the farm boy from Washington County is merely to ask him to explain the purpose of the bill. I am sure he can do that.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, this bill makes permanent the present one percent tax on realty transfers. The tax has been reenacted on a temporary basis since 1951. The estimated yield of this tax during the '61-'62 fiscal period, thirteen months, is $23 million.

Mr. AGNEW. The gentleman's answer took care of my second and third questions and I thank the gentleman. I believe we are ready to vote on this bill at this time.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I am sorry to see this type of tax made permanent. It is a special tax upon special transactions and there are many, many instances where this kind of a tax works a very distinct hardship on widows and orphans who have to sell their properties which they have inherited and are penalized by paying a tax to the Commonwealth.

A specialized tax of this kind is never a good tax, in my estimation. I had hoped to see the time, sometime, when this particular tax could be repealed and the revenue dervied from it to be assimilated in a more broad-based tax structure, or into our broader-base tax structures which are now on the books of this Commonwealth and which went on under the Republican administration of 1953, when we were the Party who initiated the broad-base tax and eliminated the posibility of any increased taxes, properly, on business in this state.

That was initiated and instituted by the Republican program when we passed the sales tax in 1953, and for which we received not one vote from the Democratic Party in the State. I thought I had it licked in the '53 Session. I was in a position where I was fairly sure we were going to get this particular tax repealed since we were passing the broad-based sales tax, but, unfortunately, "there is many a slip between the cup and the lip," and something slipped there. So we did not get it done.

I regret that this tax is being made permanent. I think it ought to be repealed. It is a poor tax and it certainly works a hardship on many individuals in this Commonwealth who ought not to be taxed or have their estate taxed by a special tax under this kind of legislation.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NOT VOTING—7

Down,	McInroy,	Odorisio,	Wescott,
Kessler,	Murphy,	Sullivan, T. F.,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 6 of today's calendar, House Bill No. 88.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 88, entitled:

An Act amending the "Corporation Income Tax Law," approved August 24, 1951 (P. L. 1417), increasing the rate of the tentative and the annual tax.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman.

Mr. BOWMAN. I yield to the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Kistler.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Kistler.

Mr. KISTLER. Mr. Speaker, Governor Lawrence, speaking before the Joint Session of the General Assembly on January 16, said, and I quote: "The final deficit . . . will be substantially reduced from its beginning total, in spite of the effects of business recession and growing unemployment.

"It will be approximately $86,000,000 as estimated on our present judgment of revenues and expenditures to the end of the biennium. That is $56,000,000 less than the deficit with which the fiscal period began and, consequently, represents a substantial improvement in our position.

"We are confronted, however, with necessity of paying off this accumulated deficit in one fiscal year, instead of in the twenty-four months of a biennium, and of doing this over and above all the operating requirements of the General Fund.

"I now suggest to the Legislature that it take what we consider appropriate measures to prevent the deficit from actually occurring. This can be substantially accomplished without the imposition of additional taxes. We recommend, instead, that a major group of present business taxes—specifically, the corporate net income tax, the tax on bank shares, the utilities gross receipts taxes and the tax on foreign life insurance companies—be accelerated to a base of 80 per cent prepayment before the new fiscal period begins on June 1.

"The increased yield in revenue to the Commonwealth will be $82,000,000—an amount which approximates the remaining deficit which must otherwise be carried over and discharged in the new budget period.

"No increase in rate, or in total tax burden is involved. It is simply a matter of timing, in which the anticipation of the taxes ultimately due gives the Commonwealth the opportunity to wipe out a non-recurring deficit with a non-recurring tax payment advantage."

Mr. Speaker, may I respectfully state, no administration that claims to be fiscally responsible should predicate the expenditures of this Commonwealth upon 80 per cent of anything so illusive as a tax based on estimated corporate net income. This is not sound, nor is it fiscally responsible.

Under this proposal corporate net income may be paid that may never come due. Should this occur on a large scale, as it could in a marked recession, this Commonwealth would accumulate a deficit in its anticipated revenue that would make the current $82,000,000 deficit look very good, indeed.

For example, let us suppose that a corporation incurs an estimated State income tax liability of $5,000. Under the Governor's proposal the corporation would pay $4,000 towards its 1961 estimated State income tax liability. At the end of the year, let us suppose, the final State tax liability is only $2,000. The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania will receive no further revenue from that corporate taxpayer in subsequent years until the $2,000 tax credit, thus earned, has been absorbed.

Extend this figure to millions, for we speak in terms of millions and hundreds of millions when we discuss the State budget, and then ask yourself, is this administration fiscally responsible when it asks this Legislature to enact House Bill 88, or is it playing Russian roulette with the State's finances while it prayerfully hopes that we will suffer no substantial recession until this administration reposes in the history books?

You cannot meet State payrolls nor any other form of State obligation with corporate taxpayers' credits, no matter how many, many millions of dollars they may be.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Washington permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I ask the gentleman under House Bills 88 and 89, will the passage of these bills bring in any additional revenues during this current biennium?

Mr. POLEN. They will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. AGNEW. Approximately how much?

Mr. POLEN. The amount under House Bill 88 is very small, but, under House Bill 89, during this biennium it is estimated that it will bring in $35 million. That is due to the additional acceleration from 50 to 80 per cent.

Mr. AGNEW. I thank the gentleman and I would like to point out that the bills we are passing tonight are not entirely for the next fiscal year. They are bringing in additional revenue during the present biennium.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I hear some voices from the other side. Maybe they do not live in a depressed area like I do. Maybe they are not concerned with people having jobs, like I am. That is why I am up here speaking.

I live in a labor-depressed area of eleven per cent, and we have been trying to lift ourselves by our own bootstraps. We did make a considerable start before the State intercepted with their Industrial Redevelopment Program, and we were recognized by the State for so doing in the Blair County-Altoona area.

Here is a fact that has been made prominent again on the increased one per cent. I had hoped to see the time when that one per cent could be dropped, and that the industrial tax upon business and corporations in Pennsylvania could not be made just equal, possibly, with other states, but be put in such a position that we would be more than favorable as compared to other states to attract new industries into this State. What we need in Pennsylvania, as I believe anybody recognizes, is more employment and more opportunities for employment. Otherwise we would not have 412,000 people on the relief rolls, and would have possibly only 200,000 people on the relief rolls. Now let us consider the matter just for a minute. If we would have such a favorable business climate in Pennsylvania that corporations expanding in other states that do not now do business in Pennsylvania, and our business climate and tax climate in Pennsylvania would be so favorable that they would like very much to come in here, there would be a good possibility, probably not a probability but at least a good possibility, that half of that relief roll could be wiped out. That would not only help the State from a fiscal standpoint by not having to appropriate millions and millions of dollars to carry those 200,000 but it would likewise bring in considerable annual revenue from the purchasing power of those 200,000 that were gainfully employed. That is the problem in the State today, to get these 212,000 people employed, and not keep them permanently on the relief rolls.

I possibly could be prodigious and backed up by the remarks made by our Floor Leader, Mr. Agnew, that possibly there is a trend to keep these people on the relief rolls by this administration. I do not know. It seems to me sometimes that the trend is leading that way. I hope not; I hope that is not the situation.

Here is a tax that is making it permanent now at six per cent. I still say that while we are getting fairly competitive with other states taxwise on business in Pennsylvania, we still are not in a position to really be in a good biddable condition to attract industries into Pennsylvania. Certainly we are not getting as many into Pennsylvania in the same way as other big industrial states are getting them into their states. That is a foregone conclusion and, I believe, a basic fact.

What we should try to do, as I said before, is to make our industrial climate and our tax climate so favorable that it would be a comparatively easy matter to attract industry into this State. I am not talking now about industry expanding in Pennsylvania, those industries that are already situated here. I believe we have created and are gradually creating a climate whereby they are not moving out as fast as they did for a while. That was the case during some of the past years. But, I want to say, Mr. Speaker and Members of this House, when you are trying to help an unemployment situation in a depressed-labor area, it is not just a matter of approprating money and saying, here is money, go ahead and get industries into your area. It is not that easy. It is not as easy a matter as growing a head of green lettuce, in an area that is a depressed-labor area and saying, here it is, go ahead. Now you are all fixed up and industry has got to come in, and that is going to solve your unemployment proposition. It is not that easy. It takes a lot of know how. It takes a lot of plans. It takes a favorable labor climate. It takes a favorable tax climate. It takes a favorable industrial climate. It takes a favorable social one. It takes all of these things in order to get new industries into an area.

We must remember that attracting industry into an area is a very, very highly competitive proposition today. One area is doing it and every other area is trying to do the same thing, all over these United States. So we have very stiff competition.

I do not believe for a minute that by passing this kind of legislation the depressed areas of this State are made happy in their efforts to attract new industry into the State. Not inside the State, but to get new industry in from outside the State and get them to expand in our local depressed labor areas. That is the point. I do not believe, and I am firmly of the conviction, that this kind of legislation is not good insofar as our overall industrial development program is concerned. There was talk last Session of dumping this extra one per cent, that is only temporary, but it did not come to pass. And here we are now in this fiscal period making it permanent. That means it will never be taken off. I am sorry to see it; I do not like to see it. I would rather have had it stay temporary, at least, and maybe in another biennium we could have seen fit to drop this extra one per cent. Certainly that would have created a more favorable tax-wise and industrial climate for new industry to come into our State and settle in these depressed labor areas. Right now in Altoona we have a building, as I think some other depressed areas have. We are ready to put a new industry into that building if we can get it in, but we have got to get these industries from other states to move in here first, and they have to be satisfied on all these counts before we do that. Here we accelerate corporation taxes.

I am wondering about a corporation, perhaps a business, that is thinking of coming into Pennsylvania to settle from another state, and I am going to preface my remarks on that by saying that I do not believe there are very many, if any, there may be a few of the states in this Union that have as high an acceleration of corporation taxes as you propose under these present bills, these two bills that we are now considering, 88 and 89. I am wondering what they are going to say when they come in and say, what is your tax climate here? And they ask around and find out that they are going to have to eccelerate their taxes by 80 per cent, where they do not have to now. Can you tell me that will not be a distinct deterrent to bringing corporations and business from another State into this State? I say that it will, and I say that this hasty legislation you are passing here now is ill-conceived and ill-thought out on a long-range program on your overall development program. I say that it is a disadvantage to attracting industry into this State. I say it is a disadvantage to developing your industrial program—development program—in this State, and I believe if there had been time to think it out and it had been somewhat delayed and business in general could have been consulted about this type of tax as to how it would affect the industrial development program, that if the Administration had been sincere in what they are trying to do, to put these people back to work, they would not have proposed this kind of a tax. I certainly hope it will not pass, but I suppose it will.

NOT VOTING—7.

Down,	McInroy,	Odorisio,	Wescott,
Kessler,	Murphy,	Sullivan, T. F.,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 90, entitled:

An Act amending the "Fuel Use Tax Act" approved January 14, 1952 (P. L. 1965) increasing the permanent rate of tax and eliminating the temporary tax.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, the other day I was talking to Chairman Dean Polen. I said "You won't hear very much from me this Session from the microphone." He said, "Oh, you are just like a horse at the starting gate. You will be out there at that microphone before we know it." So here I am tonight and I am going to say a few words about House bill 90 and I might just as well say something about House bill 91, too.

First of all, I am sorry Representative Dougherty has left the House. Everybody has made a little speech tonight, and I think I can indulge for the moment.

I am amazed at the tremendous zeal and alacrity with which he risked his health to come here and vote these taxes. I am sorry he has left. I would like to address myself to him.

Let us talk about the tax program as a whole. That, in effect, is what is being done.

Here we are tonight on this gasoline tax. Personally, I would like to have been able to interrogate the Secretary of Highways about this program. Why? Because it is an important thing to the people of Pennsylvania. That goes without saying. Roads are an important thing. Earlier this week we were told there would be no hearings this week on the Highways budget, so, therefore, we would not know just what the gasoline tax would bring in, how you are actually going to spend the money, and so forth.

So tonight we are being asked to vote on this gasoline tax. the innuendo again being, you vote the tax in now and we will tell you later how we are actually going to spend it. Now, folks, that is not right. That is not the way you should do things. Our Minority Leader has said you have a thing going on here which has never been seen before in the history of Pennsylvania, early in January putting these taxes on the people of this State without any thorough preparation by any of us as to what the real impact is. Sure, it is $82 million you are asking business to pay now. It is $82 million. That is going to be a tremendous blow to the economy of this State, plus the $102 million that business will pay anyhow in normal taxes now before April 15 and May 15. It is going to be a big blow to the economy of Pennsylvania. I can see why you probably need the money, but it is too bad that good bookkeeping and good husbandry has made it necessary to accelerate this $82 million.

Let me just tell you quickly something about this Highway budget, about this demand for the two cents. It may be right, I do not know, I do not have the figures, but let me tell you something about the biennium which has just ended. The figures that we got in 1959 showed that there would be $481 million coming in from existing taxes and revenue of the Motor License Fund. How much did come in? Fve hundred two million. Of course, I grant you that we doubled up on the operator's license and made it double the fee, which would bring in more money, but there was $502 million to spend, not counting Federal aid. That total is $20.5 million more than was estimated.

Likewise, Federal aid. You know everybody said last biennium that this coming biennium, unless we went ahead and raised gasoline a penny and put $5 more on the license plates we would lose Federal aid. Did we lose Federal aid? No, we did not. The Administration estimated in the budget that Federal aid would be $197,-280,000, the innuendo then being that if you put on the extra penny and the extra $5 that is what we would get to match the Federal money. What did we get? We got $214,300,000 in Federal aid, or $17 million more than the Governor's Budget called for, and, mind you, without putting on the penny gas tax and without raising the license plates $5, which makes a total of $37.5 million more money that came in than was estimated in the budget that we are working on now for the Highway Department.

Here are some other figures which you will be interested in:

The Governor's Budget estimated that if that new tax went on 100 percent state roads would get $124.2 million. How much money did you spend on 100 percent state roads this biennium? $90.3 million. So we were told, we rural people, that if we did not go for this gas tax and go for the $5 on the license plates, on the 100 percent state roads there would be no money for us. The fact remains that the Highway Department—and I think it very commendable that they did it—spent $90.3 million on 100 percent state roads in this current biennium, actual and estimated expenditures.

I am pointing these things out because I tried to analyze the present budget, cut it down to 12 months, so we could get a comparison, and it has been quite a job. You must first divide by 13, then multiply by 12, or arrive at a percentage of 9.23, and you can cut it down. There is not an awful lot of difference in this Highway budget this time and the time before, except I grant you that if the two percent gasoline tax passes you say we will give you $79 million in one year on your 100 percent state roads. There is not an appreciable increase in the other items on roads except the urban roads which would be $20 million more money, which I suppose is what Representative Dougherty is talking about in Philadelphia. We are not able to properly know about this budget, what the revenue is going to be and what counties the 100 percent state roads would be built in. We have not been afforded that opportunity.

I know there are some here who would be disposed to vote for a gasoline tax because of the critical condition, but as it has been thoroughly pointed out here, here we are at now ten minutes of three in the morning, there have been no hearings on this gasoline tax budget, and nobody knows what they are voting for, or just what the impact will be on business or on the community, or just what roads are going to be built.

Therefore, at this point I am not going to vote for this two-cent gasoline tax. I think we should know more about it. We should have a chance to talk to the Secretary of Highways and find out just what he has in mind, just what the program is, just what the plan is, how the rural counties are going to fare.

We would like to know whether there is a plan to take over these roads in the city of Philadelphia, the city roads, and make them state roads. How many do they plan to take over in the city of Pittsburgh? How much will it cost? What kind of deals have they made with various communities and with various cities?

I do not know what you did in your caucus, you people last night who caucused, what demands were made, what is the situation? Goodness knows what might have happened, but the fact remains we do not know much about this gasoline tax budget and we should know. We should have more facts and should have been able to listen to and interrogate and find out from the people who know what they are doing, just what they have in mind.

I cannot complain of the job they did in the last two years. I think it is commendable that they spent $90 million on 100 percent state roads. I think it is wonderful they were able to get $214 million in Federal aid when they thought they could only get $197 million. And they did it without raising any taxes, mind you. As I say, I think they have done a good job and I assume they will do a good job in the next year, but we do not know. We have not been able to find out and, therefore, that is one reason I am here at this microphone tonight.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, on the two bills, House Bill No. 90 and House Bill No. 91, known as the revenue raising measures for the Motor License Fund, these are the proposals that, if enacted into law at this time will ensure to the Secretary of Highways, whom everyone agrees is a man who is doing the job that needs to be done in Pennsylvania, the necessary funds and will give to him and to this adminstration the green light to proceed with contracts in every county on the 100 percent state highways as well as the Federal and Interstate System highways.

Tonight, as we meet here in this House, the major associations, such as the Anthracite Expressway Association, on its AP wire release that came across the teletype endorsed this 100 percent. President William Yoder of Mount Carmel said the Association assumed a fair share of the money allocated, if this program is adopted would be spent on the Anthracite Expressway construction. That assumption is right. If we spend it. The Keystone Shortway Association, has approved this program at its board meeting and, yes, there have been public hearings, over 200 in Pennsylvania, at which the Secretary of Highways has spoken in counties of every Representative in this room, including McKean, the home of Mr. Johnson. He has said before these groups that he cannot build the roads without the revenue, that to do this he must have the revenue measures that will enable the Department of Highways to properly proceed.

By doing this tonight—this is not haste—we are saying to the Secretary of Highways, we like what you have been doing, we want you to proceed in a proper manner to build Pennsylvania's roads and, yes, we approve of the one cent for work on the 20,000 miles of state highways that receive no other funds for repairs or replacement than our own state funds. These you will find in every county in Pennsylvania. I am here tonight as a rural Representative from a small county, and many of you are in the same position as I, in that you know how many bridges there are that need to be replaced, you know how many miles of state 100 percent highway is in your county.

Many of you and your constituents at various times and in various places have met and spoken to the Secretary of Highways and his representatives in asking for these projects, and these are the projects you want. If we proceed in this manner tonight, we are saying that we do believe in this because it will do something for Pennsylvania's industries, the basic home of steel, of cement, that it will do something towards building the roads which we need to bring industrial corporations and companies into Pennsylvania, because many of you have said that we need the highways to locate these plants in our counties. Last, but not least, and most important, the contractors who build these roads, when they have the contracts, do employ people. They do have people working, and this, in turn, you know quite well, is an industry that has not at this point moved at its highest peak.

When this passes tonight, what is ready to go now? In February, $6 million worth of projects; in March, $73.5 million in projects; in April, $28 million worth of projects; in May, $21 million worth of projects; and planned up to June 9th of this year at this point three and some tenth millions, or, roughly, $131 million worth of projects are ready to move in Pennsylvania to the contractural and bidding stage. Then comes the steel and the cement and the employment, and I hope the people will be taken from the UC rolls and the Public Assistance rolls. This is why we are for the program. The Secretary of Highways has outlined, time and time again, the need for these funds. He has outlined in many cases the programs that you, yourself, have talked about.

Tonight at this hour my memory is not hazy. I can name county by county projects for which people of your county, organizations of your county, Chambers of Commerce of your county, industrial development groups of your county, county organizations of many names and titles are seeking help for, and they have met with that man called the Secretary of Highways regarding their projects. Always the answer has been honest and factual, "I can only build it if I have the revenue to pay for it." This you cannot deny.

Here is a man whose fiscal responsibility is bound by a separate fund under our Constitution. Each of you are aware of that. This is a proper tax because it is we, the users of the highway, who pay this tax, including all who travel, whether they be Pennsylvanians or not. If you say this tax increase is out of line, you have in your possession the record which shows from the Budget on January 16th what the tax is in other states, the present tax, and where there is proposed an increase in any state, whether you talk about New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, West Virginia, Ohio or California. I have always liked the theory that is advocated by many people. Sometimes it makes the most remarkable answer, when a man will speak to you, as they have often spoken to each of you and say, "You are a Representative. You can help us get this road." You have heard that many times. You have always stated that you will try, because it is in your legislative district. That is a very logical answer. And you have tried to help, there is no question about that. But tonight you have your choice as rural Members, as I am. To all Representatives in this room who have no controlled access highways program in their areas, I say there are counties in which there are none, and then there are in each of those counties the 100 percent State highways and bridges. This revenue raising measure covers the rural areas, which I say has long been needed to be taken care of because the last man who did the most for this highway program in Pennsylvania was a Governor by the name of Gifford Pinchot, and the next man will be one whose name is David Lawrence.

I am only speaking in general terms. Your papers back home, in many small areas, have taken editorial positions and have been working hard for highway projects that they want. They have spoken openly of their position. We have them here and so do you. You read your own newspapers. That is the first thing you do as a Representative. I read it after you do to see what position they take, because you generally know ahead of time what that position is going to be.

I say to the people of Pennsylvana, to all the people of Pennsylvania, that there is no haste to this program, only sincerely in getting it accomplished and getting the green light to proceed, because what you do now in winter affects your construction period which starts in the spring. Our goal is that in this spring construction period the projects will move and they will move in every county of this Commonwealth, including those counties for which you have asked for these projects.

Mr. Speaker, I, of course, had hoped that there would be far greater expression regarding support of these tax measures, revenue raising measures, on which so many people have asked you to help, which you want to give and which we want to give, because each of those counties is a part of our great Commonwealth and we want roads to be built in this Commonwealth. Therefore, I say to you honestly and sincerely, this is the tax measure that you yourself have in the palm of your hand to move in the direction you want, it to move, and you can do it.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Williams.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I want to make just a few remarks regarding this proposed two cent increased tax on gasoline embodied in House Bill Nos. 90, 91 and 92. My remarks will partially cover all three bills and I hope that is in order.

Before I do, I would like to make just one comment. I would like to be consistent in my advocacy of economy. However, whoever installed these microphones forgot that some of us grew over six feet. There is not enough bar and there is not enough wire to get it up where it should be. I would appreciate the Chief Clerk looking into it.

I would like to ask a few questions and these are rhetorical questions and I doubt if we are going to get any answers that we have not gotten so far this evening.

Is the immediate doubling of construction work on the rural roads necessary to be accomplished in the space of a single year? Can the Highway Department, in fact, actually spend in one year the enormous amount allocated to it in the Lawrence Budget, particularly the almost $80 million earmarked for the feeder roads?

Is the Governor not, in fact, trying to get a two-year budget in a one-year budget, in a first one-year budget?

These are not my questions. Most people recognize these questions already having been printed on the editorial pages of one of the leading papers of this State, a paper in a city represented by, I think, 38 Members of this House, the Philadelphia Inquirer. Excuse me, 38 Members of the other side. Mr. Lee reminds me he is here as well.

I would just like to quote one other sentence from that editorial and then I would like, for brevity, to have this article reproduced in the Legislative Journal. This is the quotation that I think is most important to the people of Pennsylvania:

> This—what we are participating in tonight—"exhibition of contempt for the public has not made the gasoline tax rise look any better. It is being jammed down the consumer's throat, without any proof of its necessity."

It looks like, regardless of what I or any of us say here tonight, we are going to get a two-cent gasoline tax if they can get it through the Senate. Most intelligent prognosticators indicate that there will probably be a cent and a half increase at the Federal level. As far as I am concerned, this is going to be a boon to only a very few people. The foreign car maker and perhaps those of you of the public who were smart enough to buy or operate Larks, Ramblers, Corvairs and Valiants will be able to smirk. However, the vast majority of us who are still driving old Chevrolets and Fords are going to suffer.

Another question I would like to ask, I wonder if the Majority has checked with their friends of organized labor to consider the effect of this levy on automobile manufacturing in Pennsylvania.

Because I come from the fastest growing county in this state where the road problem is fantastic, I cannot describe it in figures. I was one of those, quite frankly, who was thinking seriously of voting for increased funds for the Highway Department. In fact, I would like in good conscience to be able to do so if I had some facts on which to base my vote. The people of my county, Bucks, and of most other sections of Pennsylvania, need better highways and they need increased maintenance and repair of existing highways. However, Governor Lawrence would have us believe that on his word alone that an increased gasoline tax of two cents per gallon is the answer and, apparently, the only answer.

He has provided us no facts and he has showed us no program, regardless of what the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, may say tonight. I, for one, refuse to participate in this railroading of new taxes upon the citizens of my county and of this State.

Before voting for an increased gasoline tax, I think both the public and this House are entitled to know how the funds are to be spent. At the present time, as Mr. Johnson has so eloquently explained, we just have no information.

The Highway Department in this State, so far as I am personally concerned, is the refuge for thousands of faithful Democratic party workers rewarded for political prowess rather than professional skill.

In my personal opinion until some form of civil service is enacted to remove our Highway Department and our highway system from the political football arena, I, for one, cannot vote to allow Governor Lawrence to fulfill his political obligations. I have in the past and will continue in the future to introduce bills to enact a civil service program so that our Highway Department can be operated on a twentieth century basis.

Finally, I believe this is going to be a shock to the borough councilmen and township supervisors all over Pennsylvania when they learn that they are going to be robbed or have stolen from them approximately $7,400,000 per year if these three bills pass.

These bills, 92 specifically, will deny these boroughs and townships, the small municipalities in this state, their customary twenty percent of one cent of this additional two-cent levy. I think that these, among many other reasons, are reasons why we in good conscience cannot vote for this program at this time. I would appreciate it if the clerk would have this printed in the Legislative Journal.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS submitted the following editorial for the record:

NO RAILROADING OF STATE 'GAS' TAX!

"It is a good rule for any legislative body when it receives a budget program from the executive branch, to establish the need of the appropriations requested, before approving them. This is all the more desirable in the public interest when the budget proposals call for additional taxation.

The rule has been thrown to the winds by the Democratic leadership at Harrisburg in its attempt to railroad to passage Governor Lawrence's plan to raise the State tax on gasoline from five to seven cents a gallon. This abrupt increase of nearly 50 percent in the State levy would mean a total tax on the motor fuel in Pennsylvania of 11 cents—with further Federal increases on the way.

The need for this boost has never been satisfactorily explained, although it would be grossly unfair to an already heavily taxed industry and would add new burdens to the operators of motor vehicles. No luxury, but an indispensable product, gasoline has been continuously picked on as a subject of added taxation, without regard to equity.

Total highway requirements in the two-year 1959-61 fiscal period were $715,000,000. Yet for the one-year 1961-62 period for which the new budget is to operate, Governor Lawrence places total highway requirements at $473,102,026.

In order to produce that amount, he says that an additional income of $73,100,000 must be furnished to the motor license fund, and his recommended 2-cent boost in the gasoline tax would conveniently raise $74,000,000.

A large part of this additional revenue would be used to support a Lawrence project for "doubling" highway department work on the 20,000 miles of rural roads for which the State receives no Federal aid.

Now it would seem obligatory for the Legislature to ask Governor Lawrence and highway revenue aides some pertinent questions about his proposals. Is the immediate doubling of construction work on the rural roads necessary, to be accomplished in the space of a single year? Can the Highways Department, in fact, actually spend in one year the enormous amount allocated to it in the Lawrence budget, particularly the $79,900,000 earmarked for the feeder roads?

A corollary question may be pressed as to whether the Governor, in this and other portions of his budget, is seeking to obtain a two-year supply of funds in a one-year budget.

What has happened in Harrisburg, instead of any legislative scrutiny of the budget or public hearings on it, has been an exhibition of railroading almost without parallel. The Governor submitted his budget on January 16. The next day the gas tax bill was introduced in the House. Back in session this week, the House Ways and Means Committee quickly cleared the bill and reported it to the floor. The party leaders in their hurry to pass the measure may call it for final action at a special aftermidnight session of the House on Wednesday. Holding a majority in that chamber, they hope to override a Republican-backed amendment cutting the tax rise from two cents to one cent.

This exhibition of contempt for the public has not made the gasoline tax rise look any better. It is being jammed down the consumer's throat, without any proof of its necessity.

If the House persists in its reckless speed on this bill, we can still hope that the more closely divided Senate will call a halt to the railroading and act only after getting all the facts."

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walsh.

Mr. WALSH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to direct a few questions to the Floor Leader, Mr. McCann.

Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Gallagher.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walsh, yields to the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Gallagher.

Mr. GALLAGHER. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I am amazed at the remarks of my colleague from Bucks County, especially when he prefaces those remarks by saying that Bucks is one of the fastest growing counties in the state, which it is, when we are in such dire need of highway improvements, that he can get up here on the Floor and say that he opposes this tax because it does not give us what we are after.

I have here in my hand a list of eight primary highways that are in dire need of reconstruction, which I have been assured by the Highway Department and by the Governor that under the new program they will be taken care of.

I am amazed, also, that he can get up there and say that he is opposed to this program because we have not had this type of road program in the past, and then because of civil service and because of an antiquated Highway Department that we are away behind the times.

I asked the gentleman if he would care to be a cosponsor to a resolution I introduced this evening calling for the removal of the district engineer of District 6, who happens to be a member of his party, appointed eight years ago by predecessors in his party and who has failed to recognize the problem in Bucks County through these six or seven years of great expansive growth.

I think the gentleman should clear up his own reasoning on these matters. Possible, the newspapers will overcome this. In our county we happen to have a newspaper that likes to take his side of the story and not the practical side of things.

We have a tremendous problem in Bucks County and that problem is one of reconditioning, rehabilitating and rebuilding the 100 percent state roads. We cannot do it without money. I think the first thing, and the first honest obligation of any Legislator in Bucks County, is to recognize this problem and to provide the money necessary to do the job. Then, if that is not the answer, if that is futile, he should get up here and criticize the Administration and the Highway Department, and not try to hang his hat on some type of proposed civil service for the Highway Department. I think the gentleman is much in error, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WALSH. Mr. Speaker, I think I have the floor. I yielded to Mr. Gallagher. I would like to direct a few questions to the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WALSH. Mr. Speaker, it is my understanding that on these 100 per cent State roads, the 100 per cent financed State roads, that Pennsylvania labor, Pennsylvania cement and Pennsylvania steel would be specified in the contracts?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, under the 100 per cent State road program the Secretary of Highways has and will do everything possible to bind into each contract wherever possible the Pennsylvania labor clause, which you find in some contracts now, and the Pennsylvania products, however it can be worked in.

In fact, may I say to the gentleman from Allegheny that the Secretary of Highways and the Governor also appeared in Washington dealing with the Bureau of Public Roads decision on the use of foreign products which set aside the order dealing with that very item, cement and steel, in trying to help Pennsylvania's industry, the major home of cement and steel being here in Pennsylvania, and through the testimony that was given that order was set aside at that time. I assure the gentleman that the Secretary of Highways has indicated that he will do everything humanly possible in this direction.

Mr. WALSH. I thank the gentleman.

My reason for asking these questions, I am a former road contractor and I know in competitive bidding the contractor is going to go out and buy his supplies wherever he can get them the cheapest. When I was in the game, I know there was cement brought in here from Belgium. I know there was steel brought in from other countries.

I do not like to vote for this two-cent gasoline tax any more than anyone else does. But I feel, and I come from a steel town, that it is going to bring some work to our men, it is going to build these roads and I think it is worthwhile.

I thank you.

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Williams, rise?

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to reply to the remarks of the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Gallagher.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is in order.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is obviously privy to certain agreements which I do not have the contact to be privy to. He apparently has an agreement with Governor Lawrence and the Secretary of Highways, Park H. Martin. I wonder if the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Gallagher, would permit himself to be interrogated?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Gallagher, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GALLAGHER. I will, Mr. Speaker, although the hour is late.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I wonder if the gentleman from Bucks, Mr Gallagher, would be so kind as to read into the record the list of the eight highway improvements which we in Bucks County can expect under this agreement which he has achieved with Governor Lawrence and Secretary of Highways Park H. Martin? I think it will be of great interest to my county and to my constituents.

Mr. GALLAGHER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to say this in answer to the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Williams, that I have been assured that the 100 per cent state roads in Bucks County and all over Pennsylvania will be improved under this program. Included in this are the main problems that we have in Bucks County. We who are Legislators from Bucks County have a duty to our county, very true, but we have a duty to the State of Pennsylvania and we should not be looking narrowly or parochially to just one county. I am satisfied, Mr. Speaker, that my county will be well taken care of under this program, as well as the rest of the State. I am sure, Mr. Speaker, that the roads that we have problems with in Bucks are those that are going to be considered as part of the program by the Secretary of Highways under this proposed tax program.

Mr. A. D. Williams. Mr. Speaker, is it my understanding from the gentleman from Bucks that he then has no written or oral agreement with the Governor and the Secretary of Highways regarding our road situation in Bucks County?

Mr. GALLAGHER. Mr. Speaker, as a single Representative of this great Body, it would be very derelict on my part, I think, to try to extract from anybody a written agreement as to thus and so in any tax program.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, is it then my understanding that when the gentleman stated earlier in the evening that he had the promise of eight projects in Bucks County that he was in error?

Mr. GALLAGHER. No, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS. Then is it my understanding that he refuses to disclose those projects for the people of Bucks County?

Mr. GALLAGHER. No. I would like to say that the Secretary of Highways at the proper time, when the tax measure is passed and the money is available, will disclose to our constituents in Bucks County those roads which so sorely need repairing that will be repaired.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I have finished my interrogation of the gentleman. I would just like to say that I am as much in the dark about the road situation in Bucks County as I was when the gentleman first rose.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, perhaps in line with the interrogation on the Floor, I received in my mail tonight, and I think maybe most of the Members did, because I have seen a great many others who have had this sheet from the Secretary of Highways indicating the 1960 allocation of money to boroughs and townships and the proposed increase under this bill. I did not receive and I have not talked to anybody who has received names of the roads that are promised to be built with this money, where they are, the kind of roads they are and how much of the roads will be built.

I think that is a very essential element of any information necessary to convince me that we should vote for this gasoline tax. I do not know why we have the secrecy of holding up where these roads are going to be built. If there are to be roads built, let it be known where they are to be built and when they are to be built.

Mr. SPEAKER, I want to read into the record and to interrogate, after I read this letter. Under date of January 17, 1961, I wrote to Andrew M. Bradley, Secretary of Property and Supplies in Harrisburg: "Dear Secretary Bradley: In January of 1960 you said the State was going to test fifty compact cars to see if any money could be saved. You stated, 'a maintenance and cost record will be kept on each compact car. We plan to assign these cars to as many state uses as possible. This will be done to get the best results.'

"I am writing to inquire the result of your experiment and study to date. How much money, if any, has been saved? How does the maintenance and operation cost of a compact car compare to a conventional car?"

Mr. Speaker, I have had no reply to that letter as yet upon which I can base any information, but it is indicative to me of some of the statements that have been made from this Floor tonight. I wonder if we are reaching the point of diminishing returns in our gasoline tax by the increased use of the compact cars on our highways? If we are, then we are at a point where we are not going to get increased revenues by the imposition of an increased tax, we are going to level off revenues where they are because of the decreased sales because of the increased use of compact cars. When you do that, you also level off the steel industry, which manufactures the steel for the building of the larger cars, and you set off a chain reaction affecting all industry in the State of Pennsylvania.

I would like very much if the Majority Party would get for me the result of that study. This is merely another in the series of information we ought to have before us for consideration of a measure of this kind. We do not have it and it has not been furnished to us, even though I requested this as much as ten days ago.

I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, but, first of all, from the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, there is one point I want to clear up.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Greene permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, the Majority Leader stated that due to efforts on behalf of governmental officials in Pennsylvania a ruling of the United States Department of Commerce was set aside which would have authorized the use of foreign materials in the construction of Pennsylvania highways. Is that ruling still in effect?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I believe I am correct when I give these facts. The date had been set by the Bureau of Public Roads at which it would go into effect that when you are using foreign products under our Highway Rules and Regulations there is no source of inspection. That date was set and then the hearing was held in Washington. At that hearing the date was set aside as the date on which it would go into effect. To answer you, if it is to come up again at another date, I would not know that answer. It was at that moment when this ruling came out that particularly the cement and all of the steel industry combined in support in this meeting in asking that it be set aside, and it was done at that time. Whether it is to come again at some future date, I could not answer. But to clear the point, Mr. Speaker, this had to do with the bidding in which the Bureau of Public Roads funds were involved, where you bid with one figure dealing with American products and, if you used foreign products, the bid had to show both and, therefore, the bid could go to the one using the foreign products, had the order been made effective at that date.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman confuses me a little right now. Do I understand that on roads constructed with Federal aid funds they still can bid with the use of foreign materials?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I believe there are still situations in which they can bid, particularily—I will be frank—with the situation that confronted us in Pennsylvania, to help enlighten you.

Cement arriving from Israel and Belgium could be delivered to projects at a lesser cost than the purchase price of cement per barrel at factory source in the United States. This then confronted us with this problem: We in Pennsylvania, of course, have our own basic rule about inspection of material at its source, which means that the inspectors can inspect the steel at the steel plant or the cement at the cement plant in Lehigh County. I am not trying to confuse you to say to you that at that point, when this effective date was set aside, it can place them right back in the position they were in before, which was what the cement and steel industry asked, was seeking and did receive.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, let me put it this way: Must a contractor on Federal aid loans bid with the use of foreign materials if they are available, or may he bid today. You say the thing was set aside. Is that order still in effect or can a person on Federal aid roads today go out and bid with the use of foreign cement, foreign steel, and so forth?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I believe I am correct in this when I say he can today bid with the use of the foreign-made products.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Then what was the effect of setting it aside?

Mr. McCANN. Because I believe the order specifically said that if the bid was lower, the use of foreign material was to be awarded in that manner.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I take it, Mr. Speaker, that Federally-aided highways can still be constructed with the use of foreign materials? I think that is a simple answer, yes or no?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I do not believe the answer would be that simple. This is where you are taking a positive approach under the order at that time that this is what shall be and will be done. That order was set aside by which, at this time, in many states, including our own, contracts go to American-made products.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I am going to take the gentleman's summation that they can still bid with the use of foreign-made products on Federally-aided highways.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I believe I am correct on the actual percentage. I was going to quote it, to be sure, when the bid with foreign products was six percent less than with American products, in which both had to be computed, you then had to use that product—six per cent. It was that which was set aside, sir. That affected the steel and cement industry. I am specific now about it, I was afraid to quote the percentage. Six is the correct percent.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Then, if they have a bid below that six percent they can still use foreign-made products, do I understand that to be correct?

Mr. McCANN. The other way, sir; the other way around.

Mr. TOMPKINS. They can use the foreign-made products.

Mr. McCANN. The other way around; they cannot use it.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Does the Majority Leader know of any instances on the construction of Federally-aided roads in Pennsylvania today in which foreign-made products are being used?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I know of no road projects in Pennsylvania in which Federal money is used in which foreign-made products are used, and on the 100 per cent state, the answer is emphatically, no.

Mr. TOMPKINS. We have complete control of that. I am talking about the Federal-aid program now which this order affected.

Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, in the Governor's Budget Message, on the top of page 9, the Governor stated that they would get Federal matching funds this year of $106,-360,000. The Highway budget, however, indicates that we will get $124 million.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, could I ask the gentleman on what page that is? I presume he is referring to special fund budget. Is that what you are referring to?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Yes, I am. I will have it for you in a minute. No, on page 8 of the budget—$124,800,000 is indicated as the Federal matching fund that will come in this year, and the Governor said it would be $106 million. I wonder if the gentleman can explain that discrepancy of $18 million?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I cannot explain that discrepancy but I have the budget here before me. I do not have the message and I cannot reconcile that at this time.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Would it not be a substantial amount of money? I do not know which figure is correct.

Mr. POLEN. If it would be $18 million, certainly, that is a substantial sum. I will be glad to develop this for the gentleman though and advise him later.

Mr. TOMPKINS. On page 8 of the Governor's message this $124,800,000, and the Governor's message on page 9 says $106,360,000, I certainly think that is a discrepancy large enough that we ought to have an answer on it. That is all I have, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the Minority Leader.

Mr. AGNEW. I yield to the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Isaacs.

The SPEAKER. The Minority Leader yields to the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Isaacs.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, I, along with Representatives Gibbons, Lippincott and Odorisio represent the Third Legislative District of the County of Delaware. In that County is located one of the great oil refineries of this nation—the Sun Oil Company. This evening I received three telegrams, as did the other Members, from three different unions representing different classes of employes of th Sun Oil Company, which I would like to read into the record.

The first one. "Our 250 members urge you to vote against the proposed additional two cents gasoline tax. Sun Refinery Salaried Employes Association."

Another one. "The proposed two cent gasoline tax increase is unwise, unneeded and unwanted. We wish for you to vote against this increase. We believe that this tax will decrease our job opportunity. Sun Oil Accounting Employes as representing 325 members. Oliver R. Long, Secretary."

A third one. "In reference to House bills Nos. 90 and 91 the Refinery workers Union of Marcus Hook representing 2600 employes at the Sun Oil Refinery protest any additional tax on gasoline. We think this product is already taxed to the breaking point. Further tax may reduce employment in an industry that is already curtailing job security. Gene Degioris, president, William Greener, vice president, Harold Cawley, Secretary."

Mr. Speaker, and I particularly direct these remarks to the other side of the aisle where we have ladies and gentlemen who, and I say this with considerable reservation, have advocated they are friends of labor. Of course, this House has passed a number of ridiculous bills. I have heard some of these ladies and gentlemen say, the other House will kill them. This morning you are not in this position. You are in a position to prove your point.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I have heard some praise, and I am glad to hear it, for the Pennsylvania Department of Highways this morning. I wish I could make similar remarks representing the County of Delaware. Unfortunately that is not the case. The Pennsylvania Department of Highways in my county is a disgrace to the county, to the State and to the Nation.

Just recently I received a protest from the Rose Tree Union School District about a clover-leaf intersection connected with a State highway, where one week after the snow storm, December 9th and 10th, it had only one lane of traffic. Late in December, Hook road which is within a mile of my home, froze over at a place where traffic during the morning and evening hours is bumper to bumper. The people were stranded for hours with not even the benefit of a cinder truck, and I received numerous protests at that time which I directed to Secretary Martin with the recommendation that he abolish the highway department in our county and start rebuilding it from scratch.

Now, I, too, like other Members who have spoken here this evening, might be inclined to vote for an increase in the gas tax if I believed we were going to get something for it. However, in my own borough we have a State highway where pot holes have been patched and hills made out of them year after year to the extent that it is questionable at times whether you are going to cross it at an intersection without your bumper hitting the rise in the highway.

Last June, a year ago, I believe, June 1959, I interrogated the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee concerning the amount of money which has been spent for outside engineering services in the last decade. I asked to have an answer on the Floor of this House, which I did not receive, but I received it by letter. I do not have it before me but, as I recall, the figures were something like $1 million to $12 million.

I understand today we are spending about $20 million for outside engineering services. If I am incorrect I will be glad to be corrected. However, I do know we have increased the deputy secretaries of highways from one to six or seven receiving salaries in five figures. I do not think the Department is doing much, if any, engineering on their own and I wonder, should we vote for this package, just what we would be paying for. As to what we are receiving in my county, ladies and gentlemen, we would be wasting our money.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I will have to be brief, I realize that, but I do have a few remarks that I would like to make. I am almost willing to ask the Majority Leader to reorder the breakfast.

The Secretary of Highways press release dated January 25, this was probably yesterday, on page 3 says and I quote: "If we know by the first of February that the revenue requested will be enacted, we can being advertising for construction on the 100 percent state system as well as on the Federally-aided projects on February 10." Well now, if the Secretary of Highways is ready to advertise in the next two weeks, certainly he not only has his program ready, project by project, but he has the specifications ready.

What is the matter with letting the Members of the Legislature know what the program is? I think that as Members of the Legislature we have abdicated our responsibilities in this respect. When the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Gallagher, cleverly said, "We give the Secretary of Highways the revenue, and then he will tell us what the program is," there was a smattering of applause from the other side. I say those of you who applauded have not only abdicated your responsibilities as Legislators, but you do not even know that you have done it.

You are asking us to buy a pig in a poke—two cents gas tax—two more cents on every gallon of gas that the people of Pennsylvania buy. We are not talking about the rich people; we are not talking about the poor people; we are talking about everybody in Pennsylvania. That is about $20 a year to the average motorist if he drives 1,000 miles a month and gets 12 miles to the gallon—that is $20 a year additional tax you are putting on the average motorist in Pennsylvania. Now if you were asked to increase the license fee by half of that you would scream, but you have no hesitancy to put $20 a year on the average motorist in Pennsylvania.

Now we are not opposed to this program. We could go for two cents. Everybody is tired of traffic jams in Pennsylvania. I live in a metropolitan area. I am tired of traffic jams. If we were absolutely certain that all this money from this new revenue would go into the construction and maintenance of highways, we could vote for the program. But what is this program? We do not know what the program is. You have not extended us that courtesy.

Perhaps the gentleman from Bucks has been told what eight roads in his district are going to be taken care of. I would suggest he is being a little naive if he believes that he will be taken care of. I understand other Legislators have been promised that they would be taken care of in the past and it just has not occurred.

In the Governor's Budget Message, in a rather grandiose maner, he said, and I quote from page 9, "I am personally unwilling to wait for a decade or for 15 years or more for highways which can physically be designed and completed in half that time or less."

Well, Governor Lawrence, we are not willing to wait that long either. Continuing to quote:

"We urge this session to permit us to go forward full speed ahead on such projects as the following which are of tremendous importance to our economy."

Now I would ask the Majority generally, I am going to repeat these five or six projects which are of great interest to everybody in Pennsylvania, and particularly to Members of this House. If you have any information on it, why did you not give it to us tonight? Why did not we, as Legislators representing the people of the Commonwealth, have some of this information before tonight? What has been done? What money has been spent? Where are your plans? What do you plan to do this year on the following projects listed in the Governor's Budget Messege on page 9: the Anthracite Expressway, from Scranton to Harrisburg; the Cumberland Valley Freeway from Harrisburg to Hagerstown; the Delaware Expressway from Morrisville through philadelphia; the Keystone Shortway from Sharon to Stroudsburg; the Erie-West Virginia Freeway?

Why don't you tell us what the plans are? Are we Legislators just a bunch of dummies, stooges, rubber stamps, who are to give the Governor another $75 million in the gas tax on his word that these projects are going to be completed? Why do we not know what your plans are for the rest of the year? I think as Legislators we are entitled to know and I say it is to your everlasting shame that you have not bothered to give us any information on it. You just say, put another $20 a year on every motorist in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

We could vote for this tax if we knew for a fact that all the money was going into the construction and maintenance of highways and for other necessary things like snow removal. And I might comment here, that on maintenance of highways and snow removal, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has been extremely lax in recent years.

We could vote for it if we knew the money was going to be used for highways, but we greatly fear that the "Silver Fox from the Golden Triangle" and the smiling Irishman from the city of Brotherly Love will use it to further pad the political payroll. That is the way you have operated in the past, and we have no reason to believe that you will not operate that way in the future. The burden of proof is on you to prove to us that you need the money and that you are going to use it for the construction and maintenance of highways and you have not done it, but you ask us to put $20 a year more on the average motorist in Pennsylvania. We are not prepared to do it.

Mr. McKEEVER. In the brief talk of Representative Isaacs, he appeals, I recall, to the union laboring class on the Democratic side, to kill the present bill. Although I have been a labor official for 23 years, I have not to date received one telegram, one telephone call, nor one letter from any union objecting to this bill. He also, as I recall, read the name of William Green. I hope he is not confusing that with our William Green, the Congressman.

Secondly, if I did, and thank God I did not, receive a telegram from the Sun Oil, I would vote twice for this bill.

Mr. A. M. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I just wanted to observe that if that was THE William Green's name on that telegram, we could lick this bill pretty good.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I have the answer to Mr. Tompkins' question regarding the discrepancy between the $124 million shown in the budget and the $106 million mentioned in the Governor's message. If you refer to it, starting on page 8 and continuing on page 9, the $106 million is for construction. The difference of $18 million covers right-of-way acquisition, engineering and administration.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, a little while ago the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Williams, had occasion to refer to an editorial in yesterday morning's Philadelphia Inquirer. This, I suppose, is intended as great authority for the proposition that he represented. I would like to call to his attention and the attention of all the Members of this House that the position of the Philadelphia Inquirer has been exactly wrong in four out of the last five elections in Philadelphia.

I would like to say, further, Mr. Speaker, that Mr. Wililams evidently did not read the entire editorial page because right under the editorial he referred to, in which Governor Lawrence was castigated for the so-called hasty program, the very next editorial was on the subject of unemployment and what are we going to do about it. The point of that particular editorial, if Mr. Williams recalls reading it, was, let us study the situation.

It seems to me, Mr. Speaker, that the Inquirer is confused and wrong and I think the Inquirer is hardly any authority on the very important subject before us.

On the question, recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. KING offered the following reasons for his vote on House Bill No. 90:

Mr. Speaker, I wish to make the statement that I am not in opposition to good roads, but I am opposed to the lack of legislative scrutinizing and of public hearings on the Governor's budget. My "no" vote here this morning represents my opposition not to progress, but to the high handed tactics which are being employed in ramming legislation through this House.

Under present procedure we from the rural counties have no assurance of receiving any new roads.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 91, entitled:

An Act amending "The Liquid Fuels Tax Act" approved May 21, 1931 (P. L. 149) increasing the permanent rate of tax and eliminating the temporary tax.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. KING offered the following reasons for his vote on House Bill No. 91:

My "no" vote here this morning represents my opposition not to progress, but to the high handed tactics which are being employed in ramming legislation through this House.

Under present procedure we from the rural counties have no assurance of receiving any new roads.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 92, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 1, 1956 (P. L. 1944) entitled "An act providing a permanent allocation of a part of the fuels and liquids fuels tax proceeds to cities boroughs incorporated towns and townships for their road street and bridge purposes * * *" making an additional appropriation conditioned upon an increase in the rate of taxation and continuing an existing conditional appropriation for the calendar years 1962 and 1963.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, it seems our only objection to this bill is that there is no provision on the six cents for a refund to the municipalities. If it were not for that we could easily vote for it, of course. I just point that out. We feel that consistency demands that there be the usual refund to the municipalities of the liquid fuels tax. You have left it out of the six cents: you have put it on the seventh cent. That means that we back home get the refund on the first 4½ cents and on the 7th cent, should this finally become law. I think perhaps we are ready to vote on it now.

On the question, recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NOT VOTING—8

Down,	Kessler,	Murphy,	Sullivan, T. F.,
Gramlich,	McInroy,	Odorisio,	Wescott,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 94, entitled:

An Act amending the "State Highway and Bridge Authority Act" approved April 18, 1949 (P. L. 604) increasing the power of the Authority to borrow money and issue evidences of indebtedness therefor.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I should like to inquire as to what the present authorized borrowing capacity is of the Highway Bridge Authority.

Mr. POLEN. One hundred and twenty million, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. How many bonds have been issued pursuant to that authorization?

Mr. POLEN. All of the bonds of the Authority have been used. Bonds have been issued for the entire $120 million.

Mr. TOMPKINS. How many of the bonds are still outstanding?

Mr. POLEN. I do not have that information, Mr. Speaker,

Mr. TOMPKINS. What is the annual rental on the outstanding bonds today?

Mr. POLEN. It is approximately $10 million, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Ten million dollars a year?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Could the gentleman get me the information as to the number of bonds still outstanding?

Mr. POLEN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. How much estimate would the annual rental be on the $50 million annually authorized under the provisions of this bill?

Mr. POLEN. I would say it would be approximately $5 million.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Then with each succeeding year that would add another $5 million until you reached your $300 million, is that right?

Mr. POLEN. It would depend somewhat on the interest rate, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I appreciate that. I said the estimated amount, having that in mind.

Mr. POLEN. I would add at least that amount, I would say, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. These bonds, I understand, are issued for a thirty-year period?

Mr. POLEN. I think the longest term for these bonds is intended to be 20 years.

Mr. TOMPKINS. No, I am speaking about the current bonds outstanding. Is it 30 years?

Mr. POLEN. I think they have different maturities, but it is anticipated that the bonds issued under the increase of $300 million will be 20-year bonds.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Do I understand that there are different maturity dates on the bonds presently outstanding?

Mr. POLEN. I believe that is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. They might have been issued at different times, but is the length of the bonds now outstanding the same, 30 years, or is there a variation in the length of the bonds?

Mr. POLEN. There are various maturities on the bonds, Mr. Speaker. They mature serially over a period of years.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Then what is the life of the bonds outstanding, 30 years?

Mr. POLEN. That would be the average life. Is that what you are referring to? You see, for instance, in an issue of bonds of this nature, some would mature one year, some in two years, it could be.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Yes, but what is the life of the bond issue?

Mr. POLEN. I do not believe there is any limitation on this.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I am talking about the bonds that are presently outstanding.

Mr. POLEN. Under this legislation, the life of the longest bond to be issued is expected to be twenty years.

Mr. TOMPKINS. What is the life of the bonds now outstanding?

Mr. POLEN. I do not have that information, Mr. Speaker. I believe the gentleman is correct when he states 30 years.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Eventually then, the rentals, on an estimated basis, would reach $30 million under this program, is that right? I am just speaking about an estimate now. I know some bonds will be retired at different interest rates and so forth in each $50 million issue.

Mr. POLEN. It is anticipated that the rental after the sixth year will be approximately $23 million plus.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Twenty-three million plus?

Mr. POLEN. Yes, it would be the smaller sums in the year before that—

Mr. TOMPKINS. Well now, is that not just about the amount that a one-cent gasoline tax would produce annually?

Mr. POLEN. It would produce more than that, Mr. Speaker. Well, no, not annually. You are correct. That is approximately right.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Am I right in my assumption then that that is perhaps the reason why you would not allocate the six cents of the gasoline tax for distribution to your townships and boroughs?

Mr. POLEN. No, Mr. Speaker, it is the intention that the Federal money will reimburse for this, that they will be used for this purpose.

Mr. TOMPKINS. How much Federal money do you expect to get annually to apply toward these bonds?

Mr. POLEN. You are familiar with the amount we are getting, and to accelerate this program we would issue these bonds and retire them out of the rentals paid, using the money that is received by it from the Federal Government. Mr. Speaker, I might say that could be used as far as that is concerned, or any other moneys in the Motor License Fund.

Mr. TOMPKINS. How much a year do you anticipate will be received from the Federal Government that can be applied toward the liquidation of these bonds?

Mr. POLEN. I believe the Federal program is now set up to extend for approximately 13 years, and, of course, the amount that we receive will depend upon the amount that is allocated by the Federal Government and by the amount of maximum money that we have available.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Now as I understand it, these bonds will be issued only on the Interstate System on which we have to match 10 percent, is that right?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Now, can you tell me what the Governor meant in his budget message on this subject when he said "We do not anticipate any ultimate expenditure by the State in this program beyond its normal 10 percent matching requirement, except the sum that it will pay in interest for short-term borrowings made in anticipation of Federal repayment"? Now, what did the Governor mean by "short-term borrowing"?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I, of course, do not know his definition of the term "short-term borrowing," but I would say that the borrowing we would make from one to twenty years would be short-term borrowing.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Now, Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask this question: you say that all of the $120 million authorized at the present time is outstanding in bonds or the entire issue has been sold?

Mr. POLEN. The ceiling of $120 million has been used, the authorization.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Do not your leases between the Commonwealth and the Highway Bridge Authority provide to have and to hold under the Commonwealth for terms commencing on blank and ending on blank, provided however that the Commonwealth may, at its option, cancel this lease at any time after all the bonds of the Authority outstanding on the date of execution hereof shall have been paid and discharged. Now I ask you if that provision in the lease is not made in pursuance of Section 8.04 of the bond resolution under which the present bonds are outstanding?

Mr. POLEN. I believe the gentleman is correct.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Then do I understand Mr. Speaker, that you can issue bonds for 20 years when you have this provision in your present leaseholds and your present bond resolutions that are in force? How could you issue bonds to retire ahead of any outstanding bonds on the $120 million that are now outstanding?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, if the Commonwealth, the Department of Highways, would have the funds available to pay off all the bonds the lease could be cancelled and the roads then revert to the State with no further payment.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I agree with the gentleman there, but where will you get that money? Will you use any part of the Federal funds for the purpose of retiring any of the presently outstanding bonds?

Mr. POLEN. I have no knowledge of any such intention. I do not think that is the intention. The intention of this bill is to authorize it in order that we can preceed with the program and be reimbursed with Federal funds to pay the rentals to retire the bonds.

Mr. Speaker, as a matter of fact, if you read the bill as now amended, the basic issue is confined to the interstate system.

Mr. TOMPKINS. That is very true, but the point I am trying to make is, you have $120 million of bonds outstanding that have not been redeemed under the issue. There are presently $120 million of bonds outstanding. How can we by legislation destroy the security of the outstanding bonds by passing legislation here to issue bonds of a shorter term duration and to be paid from other sources, contrary to the leaseholds in existence and contrary to your bond resolutions under which your bonds are presently outstanding?

Are we not, in effect, destroying the security and violating the provisions of the present bond resolutions and the present leases when we do something like this?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I do not think that we in any way do that. The bonds that have been issued have been secured by the pledge of the rentals from the Highway Department for those bonds and issuing more bonds, which we do in the General State Authority and the Public School Building Authority, which does not in any way destroy the effectiveness of the lien of the bond issue.

We have increased the General State Authority bonding limitation many times and we have also increased the Public School Building Authority's borrowing capacity. And when we issue new bonds we do not destroy in any manner the bonds that have been previously issued or in any way affect their liens.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I agree with the gentleman there as long as they are issued on the same par basis as the outstanding bonds are, but here you are setting up under the same Authority $300 million over a six-year period which you intend to issue on a short-term proposition, which you say is 20 years.

Mr. POLEN. To not exceed 20 years. And this $300 million would be against additional projects, new projects, for which the rentals would be pledged for the payment of the bonds. The Highway Department could pay that out of the funds received from the Federal Government or they could pay them out of Motor License revenues.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Does the Federal Statute authorize money to be used for this purpose?

Mr. POLEN. The Federal Statute does.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I thank the gentleman.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. GRAMLICH. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. GRAMLICH. Mr. Speaker, I am very tired but I certainly was not asleep. I pressed my button over on the red side, meaning I voted for the previous bill, 92. I am advised now that I am not recorded. I wish to be recorded and spread upon the record that I voted "no." I pressed my button over here and I thought I was recorded.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is now recorded.

Mr. GRAMLICH. Thank you.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NOT VOTING—7

Down,	McInroy,	Odorisio,	Wescott,
Kessler,	Murphy,	Sullivan, T. F.,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 8 of today's calendar, House bill No. 98.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 98, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 13, 1907 (P. L. 640) entitled "An act to provide revenue by levying a tax upon the shares of stock of companies incorporated under the provisions of section twenty-nine of an act entitled 'An act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain corporations' * * *" increasing the rate of tax on shares of capital stock of every title insurance or trust company bank and trust company or trust company and changing the date for the determination of the base of the tax.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polan.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. BOWMAN. Am I correct in assuming that the acceleration provisions of this bill will accelerate monies into the current biennium?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BOWMAN. Then how much?

Mr. POLEN. Approximately—the yield is estimated at $10 million.

Mr. BOWMAN. What allocation has been made of that $10 million?

Mr. POLEN. That is contained in the Governor's message which will reduce the $86 million, approximately the $86 million deficit. Those are the items that reduce it to $4 million.

Mr. BOWMAN. Is there any estimate of revenues for the thirteen-month period ensuing with respect to uncollected taxes for the 1959-1960 biennium?

Mr. POLEN. They are included in the budget.

Mr. BOWMAN. At what amount?

Mr. POLEN. I would have to refer to my budget and look that up for you.

Mr. BOWMAN. Please do.

Mr. POLEN. That would be approximately $12.4 million.

Mr. BOWMAN. And does that estimate represent 100 per cent of the uncollected taxes for the 1959-1960 biennium?

Mr. POLEN. It anticipates full collection.

Mr. BOWMAN. Then it anticipates the success of the current litigation as to the liability of the banks for this tax?

Mr. POLEN. Yes, Mr. Speaker, we feel that with the passage of House Bill 101 it will eliminate the objection as it has been raised by the national banks.

Mr. BOWMAN. In the future, you mean it will eliminate it for the years 1959 and 1960?

Mr. POLEN. We believe so, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BOWMAN. Have you been advised by any of the banking interests to that effect?

Mr. POLEN. I have been advised by fiscal experts to that effect.

Mr. BOWMAN. Fiscal experts?

Mr. POLEN. That is right.

Mr. BOWMAN. I thank the gentleman for taking the word of fiscal experts in legal matters. It shows great perspicuity.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I might say that I think the fiscal experts were advised by the legal experts.

Mr. BOWMAN. Then do I understand that to be the—are you still consenting to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN. Certainly. I thought you were through.

Mr. BOWMAN. If you are tired, you may sit down. I have no objection.

Then do I understand that the legal expert in this case is the Attorney General?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BOWMAN. If the Attorney General is then incorrect in her position, we would then immediately have a $12.4 million deficit built right into the budget, is that correct?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, if for any reason the tax would not be paid, it certainly would create the deficit for that amount that we had anticipated.

Mr. BOWMAN. Well, then we would have a built-in deficit of that amount, is that correct?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct.

Mr. BOWMAN. And based on the legal opinion of the Attorney General, without any court decision in this matter, the Governor has assumed that the Attorney General is correct and that we will have no problem in the ensuing biennium with that fully allocated as a receipt?

Mr. POLEN. We have been advised that it is the belief that the passage of House Bill 101 will eliminate the difficulty and the objection of the banks who have not made payment.

Mr. BOWMAN. Well, I agree with you 100 percent as to the future, but I certainly do not agree with you with respect to the fiscal year of 1959-1960. I thank the gentleman for his answers.

This is another example, in my opinion, Mr. Speaker, of the fiscal magic which we have been subjected to here tonight. The Governor, in effect, now tells us that we have a possible over $12 million built-in deficit right in his budget today.

I certainly must disagree with the opinion of the Attorney General. This is more fiscal magic, as I said. It is just another example, in my opinion, of this Legislature accepting carte blanche all these statistics and figures without any substance or proof behind them whatsoever of the entire tax program and presumably the budget program of the Governor.

It would seem to me that if the Governor of Pennsylvania stopped talking so much about snow in Harrisburg and stopped snowing the people of Pennsylvania, we would be a lot better off.

Thank you.

NOT VOTING—7

Down,	McInroy,	Odorisio,	Wescott,
Kessler,	Murphy,	Sullivan, T. F.,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 9 of today's calendar, House bill No. 101.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 101, entitled:

An Act amending the act of July 15, 1897 (P. L. 292) entitled "An act to provide revenue by taxation" increasing the rate of tax on shares of capital stock of banks and savings institutions and extending such tax to the surplus undivided profits and reserves of savings banks without capital stock building and loan associations and federal and state savings and loan associations changing the date for the determination of the base of the tax and making certain repeals.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, on this particular bill, House bill 101, we are taking a step here in taxing funds that have long been immune from taxation in this State. I do not know for how long. Certainly longer than 20 years, if my memory serves me correctly.

This is a tax on savings and building and loan associations of people who put their money in there. The ordinary average wage earner put in five, ten, fifteen, twenty dollars a month. I think if you will look over the records of the building and loans and the savings associations of this State, you will find that that is where the bulk of their money comes from.

At the present time it is paying interest rates possibly from three, three and a half, some of them possibly as high as four or five percent. There may be one or two that are paying four and a half percent. Some small associations that do not have big overheads are paying higher than that. Of course, they are in the very small minority.

I can see, Mr. Speaker, by putting this 8 mill tax on this particular class of savings that there is a big probability, not a possibility, but a probability, that money is going to be drained out of these sources and go into tax free bonds and other tax free savings. There are plenty of bonds such as the different Authority bonds that are being floated now that are paying 3.8, 4, 4¼, some of them 4½, that are absolutely free of state tax and also free of Federal Income Tax.

Naturally these people are going to seek where they can get their best investments. They are not foolish. They are looking things over very carefully.

Now you take the ordinary association that pays the 3½ percent dividends, and if you put an 8 mill tax on it, you are going to drop that person's income down to about 2.8 percent. They will take that money out of building and loan and put it into authority bonds, and more and more and more of them are being floated every day. We just had a sample here tonight of $300 million worth of highway bonds of our own being floated over the next six years. And constantly there are new authorities being formed and new bonds being floated that will pay 3.8 and as high as 4.25.

I can see a very heavy drain by this kind of legislation draining the resources of these building and loans and savings associations which have been a bulwark and a very big fortress in the matter of savings in communities throughout this State, for years and years and years.

And then I was wondering, Mr. Speaker, whether that would not have a greater impact because, if this supposition holds true, then we are going to lack funds for loaning and mortgages for erecting private residences and, in some cases, many cases, combinations of residential and business buildings. And that could probably and possibly dry up sources for mortgage money in this Commonwealth, and that could slow up the labor market very considerably.

I say again, Mr. Speaker, that here is a piece of legislation that I charge the Democratic Administration has not thought out, has not thought through and has not given any kind of due consideration as to the impact upon our people here in Pennsylvania when we pass legislation of this kind. I think it is ill-advised. I think it is poor legislation and I do not think it should be passed. I think we will regret it in the years to come.

That is all, Mr. Speaker, and I am sorry that there has not been more time. I still say that it is a case, as my colleagues have said here on the floor tonight, of fiscal irresponsibility on the part of this Democratic Administration, a lack of responsibility and a lack of sincerity for the welfare and the employment conditions in this Commonwealth by the party in power in this State today.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to speak in regard to this bill.

If you do not examine this bill and read the title very carefully you are liable to think that this is a tax on the big banking and lending institutions in this state. But if you know what a savings and loan association is, if you know what a building and loan association is, if you know what a mutual savings bank is, you know that this is a tax, in this instance, on savings and loan associations—and I am going to speak mainly for them or about them, but the same things apply to the other two types of institutions.

This is a tax in Pennsylvania on the people who are saving money, who have put that money in almost two million accounts in Pennsylvania. Most of these accounts are husband-wife accounts, so we are going to be taxing approximately four million Pennsylvanians.

There are, in Pennsylvania, 835 of these savings and loan or building and loan asosciations. As I understand it, this tax is going to raise approximately $4 million. That means that the average savings and loan association in your township, your county, or you town, is going to pay a tax bill of approximately $5,000.

Now this is a first in Pennsylvania. This is the first time that savings and loans have been taxed. This is a principle that we are violating that was never violated before. We are taxing the mutual associations. There is no stock in these associations. There is no income to entrepreneurs of any sort. It is a tax on thrift. It is a tax on savings.

It will be unfair because they will not even receive the same advantages that the stock companies receive when they are allowed to reserve for future loss. Excuse me, let me say that again. The savings and loan would be taxed on large incomes. Now this income is income to the people who put their money in the savings and loan. It is for payment to them to cover future losses. This is a Federal direct tax on people with coverage savings of only $1,700.

Many of these savings and loan associations back in the thirties failed because they did not have sufficient reserves. Now today the reserves on an average are only 7.5 percent. Yet we are going to tax these very reserve funds which provide the safety margin for the savings of four million Pennsylvanians.

Fifty percent of the mortgage home loans on homes over $20,000, and even more than 50 percent in Allegheny County and Philadelphia County, come from savings and loan associations. It would appear to me that a tax detriment will act as a stimulant to the flow of mortgage bonds out of Pennsylvania.

One thing I want to point out is that in Pennsylvania we have an interest ceiling on mortgages of 6 percent. It would make a lot of sense for people to invest their money outside of this State. It will make it much more difficult for savings and loans to compete for the savings accounts of Pennsylvania.

Another thing it will do is to raise the cost of borrowig money from these savings and loan associations. Now another disadvantage to this tax is that the tax does not lend itself to an equal application of the said shares enjoyed by profit-making institutions subject to this tax.

Furthermore, the bad debt reserves of mutual institutions authorized by Congress—that is, the Congress of the United States—would be taxable under this proposal, while we exempt the same reserves for stock companies. Now this is, again, not only are we not treating mutual banks equally; we are treating them worse than we are stock banks, in the State of Pennsylvania.

I think I speak for all the Minority of this House when we say this tax is an unfair tax on the thrifty habits of approximately four million Americans, or Pennsylvanians.

If you pass this act in haste, it is my personal opinion you will repent in 1962.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I may be wrong, but if I understood the remarks of the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker, he indicated this is a tax on the deposits of the savings and loans. Now I may be wrong in that assumption but that is the way I understood his discourse.

I want to make it very plain that there is no tax whatever on the deposits of any of the savings and loan or building and loans under this bill. The only thing that is taxed is the surplus, undivided profits and reserves at the rate of 8 mills.

It would not in any way affect the stability or the dividend payments of any institution, I believe, of that category in Pennsylvania. The interest that was paid, or dividends, in 1959, which is the last full year for which I have figures available, was approximately $100 million. There would be no tax whatever upon that. It would be only upon the amount which they pay no tax on and no Federal tax which is put into the reserves.

So this is not going to be any burden on savings; it is not going in any way to have any detrimental effect on the loaning policies of these institutions or upon their financial stability.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NOT VOTING—7

Down,	McInroy,	Odorisio,	Wescott,
Kessler,	Murphy,	Sullivan, T. F.,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was detrmined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 8 of today's calendar, House bill No. 99.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 99, entitled:

An Act imposing a State tax on gross premiums premium deposits and assessments received from business transacted within this Commonwealth by certain insurance companies associations and exchanges requiring the filing of annual and tentative reports and the computation and payment of tax providing for the rights powers and duties of the Department of Revenue the taxpayers and officers thereof and providing penalties.

Mr. DONALDSON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DONALDSON. Mr. Speaker, this is a new tax, so we want to consider it in a little bit of detail here. Would you tell us, is this tax on the gross premiums collected by domestic companies from sales within the Commonwealth only?

Mr. POLEN. Yes, Mr. Speaker, this tax would be on their gross earnings within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. DONALDSON. The title so indicates that on page two of the bill, in your definition of gross premiums, you talk about "Gross premiums means premiums, premium deposits or assessments received by any insurance company . . . whether collected in this Commonwealth or elsewhere."

I think that would just cover the collection of it.

Mr. POLEN. I am inclined to agree with the gentleman. We want to clarify that part.

Mr. DONALDSON. Mr. Speaker, would this tax apply to the gross premiums of fraternal societies which sell life insurance?

Mr. POLEN. No, it would not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DONALDSON. Would it apply, Mr. Speaker, to the gross premiums collected by mutual life insurance companies if they were a Pennsylvania corporation?

Mr. POLEN. Yes it would, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DONALDSON. Would it be fair then to say that the only exceptions among the domestic life insurance companies would be for those fraternities?

Mr. POLEN. That would be correct.

Mr. DONALDSON. Under the terms of the bill, the tax is retroactive in the sense that it applies to premiums collected since January 1st of this year. Is that correct, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct.

Mr. DONALDSON. And there is an acceleration clause in this tax that is payable, I believe, in March, so that money will be received in this biennium under this tax. Is that right?

Mr. POLEN. That would be correct.

Mr. DONALDSON. Would the gentleman give us that amount?

Mr. POLEN. For the 1960-1961 biennium, with the 80 percent prepayment, there would be an estimated $17 million and it is included in the receipts.

Mr. DONALDSON. And that $17 million like the other acceleration money would be used to reduce the deficit for this biennium?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct.

Mr. DONALDSON. Mr. Speaker, since the insurance companies, these domestic insurance companies, have been selling policies in January of this year, does this tax mean that in computing their actuary tables they will now actually have to consider a ninety-eight cent dollar?

Mr. POLEN. Of course. I think in 40 of the 50 states they now pay that tax. I believe you would be correct, because the tax is effective retroactive to the first of the year.

Mr. DONALDSON. At least that would be so from the first of the year until the effective date of this Act?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct.

Mr. DONALDSON. Mr. Speaker, this money will, of course, affect the status of the policyholders now and those who may buy insurance in the future? Will it not affect the schedules of annuities and life contracts?

Mr. POLEN. No, it would not affect the payment in any way nor the benefits of any of the policies, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DONALDSON. Well, presumably the insurance companies would have given a better contract with a 100-cent dollar than it can give with a 98 cent dollar. Would that be correct?

Mr. POLEN. Well, of course, the majority of these companies sell insurance all over the United States, the great majority of them do, and they have taxes in 40 of the 50 states and I do not believe it would, in any way, affect the competitive position of the companies nor the financial stability.

Mr. DONALDSON. But it takes away benefits that they had over foreign companies doing business in the Commonwealth.

Mr. POLEN. Yes, that would be correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DONALDSON. Would you call this a new tax?

Mr. POLEN. It is a new tax on the domestic corporations, yes, sir.

Mr. DONALDSON. Would you call it a new tax on business?

Mr. POLEN. No, I would not call it a new tax on business, but it is an extension of the tax that is on the foreign insurance companies and it is now applied to domestic insurance companies as well. It is new to them.

Mr. DONALDSON. Well, I do not want to quarrel over it, but, as far as the domestic life insurance companies of Pennsylvania are concerned, is this a new tax on their books?

Mr. POLEN. It would be, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DONALDSON. One further question, Mr. Speaker. If it should not have been directed to you I will direct it to the proper source. Was a request made to either the Chairman of the Appropriations or the Chairman of Ways and Means on behalf of the domestic insurance companies for a public hearing in regard to this tax?

Mr. POLEN. There was none made to the Chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, and as a member of the Ways and Means Committee I received no request nor heard of any such request. The Chairman of the Committee would have to answer that so far as Ways and Means is concerned.

Mr. DONALDSON. I thank the gentleman for his forthright answers and, Mr. Speaker, since the Bucks County intramurals are over, I think that we should go into Allegheny County, and I would request permission to interrogate the Chairman of Ways and Means, Mr. Kamyk of Allegheny.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Kamyk, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KAMYK. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DONALDSON. Mr. Speaker, in his capacity as Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, was a request made to the gentleman on behalf of the domestic life insurance companies for a public hearing on this measure?

Mr. KAMYK. Mr. Speaker, I did have a verbal request from a gentleman to hold a public hearing on House bill No. 99. However, the written request did not arrive until the bill was reported out of committee.

Mr. DONALDSON. Mr. Speaker, would it not have been virtually physically impossible for anybody to have submitted a written request to the gentleman for a public hearing on this bill between the time the bill was available in print and the time it was reported from your committee? As a practical matter, would it not have been impossible?

Mr. KAMYK. Mr. Speaker, they received the information in the Governor's message and they could have been as speedy as we are for the benefit of the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. DONALDSON. Certainly none of us here denies how speedy the gentleman is. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to speak on the bill.

The Governor's statement for the administration in the House of Representatives, of course, will admit, if they must, that this must be a new tax on business. The statesmen for the administration when they travel around the State, however, do not say this, and I have a clipping from the Pittsburgh Press of this morning wherein Secretary Davlin, who, incidentally, does a pretty good job in the Department of Commerce says that Governor Lawrence in his recent Budget Message did not propose any new tax on business.

I think in many ways this is perhaps the worst tax bill of the entire package because I think it indicates a great deal of fiscal schizophrenia on the part of this administration. They are going to tax Pennsylvania corporations for the first time to raise a certain amount of money, substantially the same amount of money that they want to give to the Department of Commerce and the Industrial Authority to attract new business into the Commonwealth. And yet you say by this bill, you have said previously, Mr. Majority Leader, that we have adopted a sound business tax climate in Pennsylvania, and your Secretary of Commerce goes all over and insists that you have adopted a sound fiscal tax policy. As a matter of fact, as I recall it, a great deal of that fiscal tax policy was enacted in 1957, the only year of the Democratic governships that the House and Senate were controlled by the Republican Party. But you say, in effect, that you cannot depend on our promise to maintain a sound business policy because we once gave these life insurance companies that were incorporated here a bit of a break, as soon as we were a little short of money we took the break away from them.

Mr. Speaker, I thought the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker, particularly, did an outstanding job, and other Members have spoken of the necessity of doing something at State level to stop unemployment and distressed areas in Pennsylvania. You are familiar with it in the railroad areas, you are familiar with it in the coal areas, and we in Allegheny County and in western Pennsylvania fear it is going to be in the near future a critical problem in the big steel area, if it is not a critical problem right now.

The danger of this tax, as I see it, is not so much its limited impact in this instance, but it is a breaking of faith with those people whom you have tried to bring in here by saying that you are having an effective tax climate. You are not going to bring them in here solely by asking for them in Washington, D. C. You are going to have to get down to business here and sincerely indicate a real desire to bring these people in and to adopt a sensible tax climate.

We have come to a point, it seems to me, in this Commonwealth, that the day is long past when, because of our geographical location and our natural resources, business and industry and employers are going to gravitate here naturally. That day is long past and not likely to return. We must start to effectively compete with other states. The day is going to come when we are giong to have to consider exempting new employers from certain real estate taxes as they do in many states. And yet, in this very instance, limited though it may be, you say, we are not going to give you any advantage, you may as well go wherever you want to go.

You have accelerated so fast and you are accelerating so fast, and you are going through so much so soon, that I am afraid you are going into orbit. Because of the lateness of this hour—I am glad that I spoke so if my wife ever reads the record she will know that at five o'clock in the morning I was really here doing something—I would ask permission, Mr. Speaker, to insert into the record a prepared statement which I will not bother to read.

Mr. DONALDSON submitted the following statement to be inserted in the record:

STATEMENT ON THE PROPOSED PREMIUM TAX ON PENNSYLVANIA INSURANCE COMPANIES

House Bill 99 seeks to depart from the policy long established by the legislature that Pennsylvania insurance companies should be favored in the application of the gross premium tax. This bill would extend the tax to Pennsylvania life insurance companies. It is opposed by Pennsylvania insurance companies for the reasons indicated in this statement, which is submitted on behalf of The Insurance Federation of Pennsylvania and the life insurance companies listed below. These companies account for most of the insurance business done by domestic life insurance companies. A public hearing before the Ways and Means Committee is requested so that Pennsylvania's life insurance companies will have an opportunity to explain the effect this proposal would have on them.

Pennsylvania's Established Policy Should Be Continued—Equal Treatment for All Pennsylvania Companies

Pennsylvania insurance companies oppose H. 99 because of their firm belief that the legislature's pattern of protection and encouragement of Pennsylvania's domestic insurance companies should be continued and because it would further complicate the present discriminatory effect of capital stock, corporate net income and marine profits taxes imposed on domestic stock companies. To hinder domestic companies through enactment of H. 99 is inconsistent with the purpose of economic development of the state. The bill is additionally objectionable because of its discriminatory effect as between competing lines.

The insurance industry means much to our state, and Pennsylvania has taken its place in the forefront of insurance states. To continue this growth and the attraction of additional money to our state through insurance will require the continued development and growth of new and smaller companies as well as the expansion of the larger companies into new fields to keep pace with the growing economy. The proposal would retard this development instead of encouraging it. The proposal would retard this development instead of encouraging it, and we want to stress this strongly because a temporary tax gain could do irreparable damage to the future development of the local insurance industry.

Development of Policy of Encouragement to Pennsylvania Companies

The policy of different treatment of domestic companies in premium taxation extends back over 75 years, culminating in the exemption of all Pennsylvania companies since 1953.

This policy was initiated by the 1877 Act (P. L. 6) which imposed a rate of 8 mills on domestic companies, as compared with 2% for foreign companies, but excluded companies on a "purely mutual" plan without accumulated reserve.

In 1895 (P. L. 408) this was broadened to exempt all companies on a mutual plan without reference to reserves. In 1931 (P. L. 1408) domestic stock life insurance companies as well as mutuals were exempt. The current exemption for all domestic companies followed temporary emergency legislation of 1951.

The basic purpose of the policy developed by this legislation is to offer encouragement to the development and growth of Pennsylvania companies regardless of the type or classification of the company, and the policy has had this desirable effect. This policy is an important factor in the development of a new insurance company formed in Pennsylvania and conducting the bulk of its business in Pennsylvania. It is of great importance also to older established companies which are extending their operations into new lines or branches of the insurance business.

Extension of the Tax to Life Insurance Companies Will Retard Their Growth and Development

The proposed enactment of a premium tax on domestic life companies is of concern to all Pennsylvania insurance companies. Such a premium tax, which increases the cost of accumulating the funds necessary to provide policy benefits, is in effect a tax on thrift. In the case of domestic stock insurance companies this bill would add a burdensome tax on top of the capital stock tax which already taxes funds used to support the company's business in other states as well as Pennsylvania. Thus it is not only a tax on foresight by individuals in making provision against the misfortunes of life without governmental help, but in the case of life insurance companies it can have an adverse effect on the stability of the company itself, since it applies to premiums received on old and new policies alike, fixed by contract for long periods in the future. The greater part of a life insurance premium is required to build reserves behind the insurance policy and to provide reasonable margins of safety to guard against unknown contingencies. When a company has once sold a policy, it may not thereafter increase the premiums on that policy simply because of some new expense or tax. Therefore, while a tax of 2% on the premium might at first seem small, the fact is that it represents a large proportion of the available margin in the premium after the actual cost of the insurance and the expenses of the business have been taken care of. Its application to premiums fixed by prior contract and not subject to change would impose a serious burden on the companies.

Effect on New Companies

Particularly is this so in the case of a small growing company whose business is largely written on the lives of Pennsylvania residents. A 2% premium tax would really be an extremely large percentage of the margin in its premium receipts over and above the amount required to maintain its insurance obligations. In the case of some smaller companies such a tax would seriously deplete the amounts available to maintain and strengthen their contingency reserves. In other words, what might seem to be a relatively modest premium tax is in reality a tremendous tax on net operating margins.

Effect on Expansion Into a New Line

The imposition of a premium tax at this time will also have a dampening effect on the programs only recently inaugurated by a number of domestic life insurance companies for entry into the field of group life and group accident and health insurance. In this endeavor they are in the same position as "new" companies and have to absorb the initial expense inevitably involved in breaking ground for a new enterprise in which high unit costs must be faced while volume is developed. At the same time they must compete with large out-of-state companies which have long since established their position in this field. Pennsylvania's existing policy of exemption of its own companies is a very important aid to its companies in bringing this business to the state with the attendant benefits which accompany the attraction of funds here and the expansion of home office activity within the state.

Premium Tax Not a Deduction from Taxable Investment Income

It is a common error to assume that only half of any new state tax imposed on a life insurance company will actually be borne by it because of an offsetting deduction under the federal income tax. The fact is that life insurance companies are taxed under a special provision of the Internal Revenue Code which does not permit the deduction of state premium taxes in determining taxable investment income. The bulk of the federal income tax on life insurance companies comes from this source, and for most companies the impact of the premium tax would thus not be tempered by a deduction. Furthermore, life insurance companies have already had to adjust to a greatly increased tax under the Life Insurance Company Income Tax Act of 1959.

The Proposed Tax Will Discriminate as Between Pennsylvania Companies

If H. 99 were enacted certain types of Pennsylvania Insurance companies will be subject to the premium tax while other types are not (an inequitable result in any event) but the result will also be an actual competitive advantage given to one type of insurance operation over another where their fields of operation overlap. Life insurance companies and casualty insurance companies are in active competition in the accident and health insurance field. While only life insurance companies may write life insurance, both life and casualty companies are authorized to write accident and health or accident and sickness insurance and both do so. This bill would tax premiums paid to life insurance companies for this form of insurance but not if paid to a casualty insurance company. It seems clear that the legislature will not intend to pervert the policy of encouragement to Pennsylvania companies into one of favoritism of one type of domestic company (not sought by it) over another competing domestic company.

Effect of Retaliatory Laws of Other States

In considering the taxation of insurance companies it is extremely important to keep in mind the "retaliatory" provisions of the insurance laws of other states. The effect of these unique provisions is that—if Pennsylvania imposes a burden on insurance companies from, for example, State A, which State A does not impose on Pennsylvania companies—then State A will retaliate by imposing the same burden on Pennsylvania companies doing business in State A. Thus if, in addition to the premium tax on foreign insurance companies, Pennsylvania adds to the burden of acceleration of payment of premium tax, this burden may be returned many-fold upon Pennsylvania companies doing business in other states in the form of application of their retaliatory laws to require acceleration of premium tax payments in the other states, since no other state provides for such acceleration.

NOT VOTING—7

Down,	McInroy,	Odorisio,	Wescott,
Kessler,	Murphy,	Sullivan, T. F.,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 100, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 1 1889 (P L 420) entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An act to provide revenue by taxation' approved the seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred seventy-nine" continuing in effect for an unlimited period of time the rate of tax of fourteen mills heretofore imposed upon the gross receipts of certain companies limited partnerships associations joint-stock associations copartnerships municipalities and persons and requiring filing of tentative tax reports and the computation and payment of tax.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, do I understand that the provisions of this bill make permanent a 14-mill tax on gross receipts of public utilities which heretofore was levied upon by an 8-mill permanent tax and a 6-mill temporary tax?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. And that this bill also accelerates the payment of that tax?

Mr. POLEN. This bill accelerates the prepayment of the 8-percent estimate of the current year's tax.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Heretofore public utilities had none of this gross receipts tax accelerated?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. This is the first time that you are trying to accelerate the payment of taxes on gross receipts of public utilities?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, this bill is typical of so many others we have had before us tonight. I am not going to repeat the arguments regarding this acceleration program.

I do want, however, to point this out. Public utilities are on a little different par than the corporations on your acceleration feature and the other acceleration taxes which have been voted on here tonight.

This tax is made effective as of January 1, 1961. Back in 1959, when they imposed a gross receipts tax on gas companies for the first time, they had it effective as of January 1, 1959. That was amended to make it effective as of January 1, 1960. That was because of the fact that this was on the gross receipts of your public utilities. They cannot pay this tax except out of their own reserve funds or their surpluses or their earnings as it is built into the rate structure. They cannot pass it on to the consumer such as you do on your sales tax, add it on to the price of the product which they deliver.

They have no method particularly on acceleration. They will pay their tax within the required time now this year for last year's gross receipts. But you are now accelerating the tax on the public utilities, which in this case, in my opinion, is not a tax upon gross receipts, but a tax upon their capital assets, because they have had no opportunity to make provisions for any such tax and they have not been able to work it into their rate structures in order to protect themselves from the tax which you, in my opinion, are unjustly burdening the utilities with, which will eventually find itself with very much higher utility rates when they have to adjust the rate structures. I think it is most unfair.

On the question, recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NOT VOTING—7

Down,	McInroy,	Odorisio,	Wescott,
Kessler,	Murphy,	Sullivan, T. F.,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 7 of today's calendar, House bill No. 95.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 95, entitled:

An Act amending the "Selective Sales and Use Tax Act" approved March 6, 1956 (P. L. 1228) eliminating the provision for commissions for collection and remittance of the tax.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. O'DELL. Mr. Speaker, I think the previous speakers have exhausted Mr. Polen. I am going to ask if the Majority Leader will permit himself to be interrogated.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. No, Mr. Speaker, I yield to Mr. Polen. I do not mind admitting that I am absolutely numb. I have only slept about three hours in three nights in a row.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Greene yields to the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.

Mr. O'DELL. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman in the retail business?

Mr. POLEN. I am not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. O'DELL. Is the gentleman familiar with any of the operations of a retail store?

Mr. POLEN. Yes, I am, Mr. Speaker. I worked in my father's store when I was a boy. It was a long time.

Mr. O'DELL. That was before tax.

Do you have any indea of the work involved in keeping the present four percent State tax records?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I know it would certainly involve some work.

Mr. O'DELL. Mr. Speaker, have you ever read these twelve pages of rules and regulations that the average small merchant as well as the big merchant is compelled to read and abide by in reporting his tax?

Mr. POLEN. I have read the regulations, Mr. Speaker. I am not certain they are the same ones the gentlemen from Erie has, but they would be—

Mr. O'DELL. They are the same ones, twelve pages, on the regulations of the four percent sales tax.

Mr. Speaker, I should like to talk further on the bill.

I am a retail dealer, probably one of the two retailers in the House. I am speaking for probably in excess of 100,000 merchants. I understand there are a little over 100,000 merchants registered with the sales tax bureau.

When this tax was enacted, it was necessary for many, in fact, most of the larger stores, to go to great expense in buying new cash registers on which to keep their tax collection as a separate item. I think a lot of you realize that this is a selective tax; it is not a general sales tax. The point I want to bring out is that the two percent we are allowed for the collection of this tax is little enough. I have had several communications from some of the larger dealers saying the best thing would be the dropping of the two percent and even suggesting that it be increased to three and four percent. This is a big item in many of the larger stores.

The argument is used about other states, but we are not in other states, we are in Pennsylvania. By the way the law is written, thusly, we must report by coded sales, cash and credit. We must pay to the Commonwealth four percent of our total sales, cash and credit. There is no provision made to make a refund to us if any of our credit accounts go sour. I think some of the attorneys here will bear me out that personal bankruptcies are on the increase. There was a time when the only person who went bankrupt was a merchant. Today many young couples are getting so saddled with debt that they are going into personal bankruptcy. At the present time I have one account of $100. I was notified last week that this particular young couple has gone into bankruptcy. I have already paid the State its four percent, and there is no provision made to get that four percent back again.

I have a friend in Erie who is an accountant, and he has over 50 small business people who cannot afford to hire an extra person to do their accounting, keep track of their tax. He does their work for $25 a month. That is a very small amount, but it means a lot to these small merchants.

On the other side of the House the Democrats are always talking about being friends of the little people. You will find the little people, the little merchant, is going to be very, very hard hit if you take away his two percent. It is expense that cannot be passed on to the consumer. That two percent is little enough, and I beg of the other side of the House, The few of you who have some small merchants in your areas, think about it and give us a "no" vote on this bill. I thank you.

Mr. PIPER. Berks County would like to be heard. Representing 500 retail grocers in this Berks County area, we most vigorously oppose passage of House bill 95, eliminating the small retailer's commission on sales tax. I urge you to oppose this measure. I urge you folks to think. This is the small fellow, the small businessman, who gets his pennies in competition with the big chain stores. I urge you to oppose this tax.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I do not know why the Members of the Minority are expressing surprise that the Democratic tax program is hurting the little man. Did we not have all this settled earlier this morning that the Democrats are a big business administration?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I had rather a long speech prepared on this matter because as the prior speakers have indicated, this bill has received more opposition in the form of communications, I think, than almost any other bill in this package. I have here the Minority Leader's file containing a tremendous number of letters and telegrams from all over the state, in opposition to the bill. I would merely like, instead of giving a speech, to offer for the record a letter from the Pennsylvania Retailers' Association in opposition to the bill, together with a statement giving a breakdown which indicates that in four-fifths of the states having sales taxes, every one permits a commission up to five percent. Every one of the four-fifths of the states. Thank you.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT submitted the following letter for the record:

PENNSYLVANIA RETAILERS' ASSOCIATION, INC.

January 20, 1961

Hon. Willard F. Agnew
House Minority Leader
State Capitol
Harrisburg, Pa.

Dear Representative Agnew:

We are writing to urge your support in opposing the enactment of H. R. 95 which would repeal the 2% commission for collecting the State Sales Tax.

This is wholly unfair to retailers because this commission is more than earned by their services as tax collectors for the State. Most stores, in fact, are out-of-pocket since the present commission does not nearly cover their actual costs of administering this tax.

Many retailers have had to purchase expensive new cash registers and other equipment and have also had to engage additional clerical help merely to maintain the elaborate records of tax collections and of taxable vs. non-taxable sales under our patch-work Selective Sales Tax.

As proof of this, we strongly recommend that you read the enclosed regulation (No. 502a) on record-keeping as promulgated by the Bureau of Sales and Use Tax for a better understanding of what the retailer is up against in collecting and reporting the Sales Tax.

Retailers also sustain substantial losses by being "stuck" with the tax on uncollected credit sales, since the State requires the retailer to remit the tax within 30 days from the date of sale, regardless of when if ever the customer pays his bill.

Aside from the obvious unfairness of this proposal, we submit that it is just plain poor business for the State to eliminate this commission.

This ill-considered proposal can only result in antagonizing the tens of thousands of vendors upon whom the State must rely to collect this tax, who will quite naturally feel that their work and expense in handling the tax has been completely disregarded.

Retailers have always felt that they were bound by a contract with the State to do the best possible job of collecting, reporting and promptly remitting the Sales Tax in order to qualify for the 2% commission.

Without this incentive, it is our firm opinion that great damage will be done to the efficient administration of this corner-stone of the State's revenue program. That the "laborer is worthy of his hire" is just as applicable here as in any other field of endeavor.

All other State and local tax collectors are paid —why single out the retailer and take the cost of collecting over $400 millions annually out of his hide? This is rank discrimination. There is no justification for this proposal and we therefore urge that you use your influence to stop this proposal at the outset—before greater harm is done.

Sincerely,
John E. Means
Executive Vice President

The various States which impose a Sales Tax have two general plans for requiring retailers to remit the tax they collect.

One group of States (14 in number) require the retailer to remit tax collections equalling the rate of tax (2,% 3%, etc.) as applied to his total taxable sales. If he actually takes in more than the rate of tax under the collection bracket provided by law, this is called "breakage" and he is permitted to retain this as an offset to his expense for equipment and employee man-hours in collecting the tax and in maintaining the records required by the State. Also, 4 of these States go further and allow the retailer a discount or commission for prompt payment of the tax.

These States are as follows:

California	Rhode Island
Connecticut	South Dakota
District of Columbia	Washington
Kansas	Alabama —also allows 2% disc.
Maine	Arkansas —also allows 2% disc.
New Mexico	Nevada —also allows 2% disc.
North Dakota	S. Carolina —also allows 1 to 3% disc.

Another group of States (20 in number) require the retailer to remit all of his tax collections. However, 13 of these States (including Penna. up to this time do allow the retailer a collection commission or discount as an offset to his expense in handling the tax. These States are as follows:

	discount		discount
Colorado	5%	Oklahoma	3%
Florida	3%	Penna.	2%
Georgia	3%	Tennessee	2%
Illinois	2%	Arizona	none
Kentucky	2%	Iowa	none
Louisiana	2%	Michigan	none
Maryland	2%	Mississippi	none
Missouri	3%	Utah	none
N. Carolina	3%	W. Virginia	none
Ohio (on prepaid stamps)	2%	Wyoming	none

In summary, 27 (4/5 of total) States do provide some allowance to the retailer for his work, either by permitting him to retain the "breakage" or by a discount or collection commission, ranging from 2 to 5%.

The above information was taken from the "Retailers Mutual of Taxes and Regulations—1960-61," published by the Institute of Distribution, 1441 Broadway, New York City.

Mr. KISTLER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to read into the record a communication received from Philadelphia on January 25th.

> GUY A. KISTLER, House of Representatives
> State Capitol, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania
> Independent Retail Grocers in this state vigorously protest passage of House bill 95. It is unfair to impose tax collecting burdens on small retailers while compelling them to absorb costs involved.
>
> Signed, William A. Hubbs, Jr.
> Secretary, Pennsylvania Grocers Association
> Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

Mr. HOLLIDAY. Mr. Speaker, I have listened with great interest to all the debates tonight and I would just like to read a letter here along the line spoken of by Mr. O'Dell. This is a letter from the largest concern of its kind in Blair County, the William F. Gable Company, a large department store. He says:

This is a letter of protest over Governor Lawrence's proposal to repeal the 2 percent sales tax collection commission.

> This is discriminatory and unfair and places and additional burden upon the retailer for the unsolicited and involuntary job of serving as chief tax collector for the State of Pennsylvania.
> The merchants of this State collected over 400 million dollars a year in sales tax for the State and, certainly, they should not be expected to bear the brunt of this expense entirely, as you do not ask any other taxing agency in the State to do this free. All tax collectors are paid.
>
> Actually, Joe, I don't know how a business like The William F. Gable Company can long endure the constantly increasing burden of taxation. It makes it almost impossible to operate at all. This should be given very serious consideration, as we are big taxpayers in the State of Pennsylvania and all these moves that are being made to increase taxes gradually and insidiously force us out of business, which will mean, of course, no taxes from this company for the State.
> Please give this very serious consideration.
>
> Yours very truly,
> George Gable, President.

There is another one, and these are just a couple out of a number I have received.

> We wish to register our protest to the repeal of the 2 percent sales tax collection commission.
> First, the two percent does not begin to cover the cost of separate records kept, to say nothing about credit sales on which we must pay the four percent sales tax, whether or not we are able to collect the account at some future date.
> We have put forth an effort to be law-abiding citizens, and every report we make has been handled conscientiously and has cost us more than the two percent allowed.
> We feel that every person should be paid for their services rendered, and other tax collectors get considerably more than we could ever hope to get, even though all accounts were paid in full.

That is signed by the President of the hardware store.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I wish to register a protest against the abolition of this commission for collecting this tax on behalf of the small business people. I have received numerous protests through the mail and verbal protests against it. Not only do the merchants receive only 40 measly cents for collecting $20 in taxes, they also have to pay two dollars to the Commonwealth for a license for the privilege of collecting the tax for the Commonwealth. I think this should clearly and unmistakably show the world of business people in Pennsylvania, whether they are large or small, that the Democratic Majority is not for them.

Mr. McNALLY. Mr. Speaker, I heard the gentleman who is a jeweler say he was possibly the only retailer in this House. That is not true. I am a retailer and I did not have to buy two cash registers. I have been collecting the sales tax and collecting two percent for it. I have also been collecting Social Security tax for a good many years for the Federal Government. I have also been collecting the withholding tax for the Federal Government, the income tax. At no time have I ever received any remuneration. We have in our community the tax-everything law in effect. We have 15 political subdivisions with the one-half of one percent for the school board, and the other half for the political subdivision or the township. We receive no remuneration from that. I believe the tax in itself is not a hardship on the retailer. Thank you Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring.

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NOT VOTING—8

Down,	Kessler,	Murphy,	Sullivan, T. F.,
George,	McInroy,	Odorisio,	Wescott,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 8 of today's calender, House bill No. 97.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 97, entitled:

An Act amending the "Pennsylvania Cigarette Tax Act" approved July 8 1957 (P L 594) providing that license fees be paid into the general fund.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, consent to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, is not the collection of the cigarette tax sufficient from other taxes in that the wholesale distributors must advance, in many cases, thousands of dollars in order to purchase the stamps initially?

Mr. POLEN. Let me ask first, Mr. Speaker, are you speaking on House Bill 97?

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Thirteen and fourteen together. I am speaking about the imposition of the tax and the removal of the collection commission of four persent to a reduction of 1½ percent.

Mr. POLEN. They can buy them in advance or they can use a mechanical stamp and file a bond for the amount of payments to be made.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. What is the cost of the bond?

Mr. POLEN. I presume it would be the usual cost of a bond of that nature.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, that answer gives me as much information, I am sorry to state, as the Members have received about the budget so far.

Mr. POLEN. Frankly, Mr. Speaker, I am not too familiar—

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I am serious about this. Has a study been made as to the actual cost on the part of wholesale cigarette dealers in connection with imprinting stamps upon the packages?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I will try to explain it to the gentleman. When the cigarette tax was two cents and the stamps were all applied manually, the four percent commission was given to cover the expenses of applying the stamps manually by employes or by the man himself, who was a distributor, to the cigarettes. Then it was increased to four cents and five cents and six cents, and the commission still remained the same, but with the labor-saving device that went in actually he is receiving far more than he did. He will still receive more than he did originally and he will have less cost in doing it, because he would get one and one-half percent of six cents, which would be .009 and he was originally receiving .008. As the cigarette tax went up the commission remained stationary. It should have been adjusted long ago.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Well, would you give me an answer to my question? Has a study been made as to the actual cost in opening a carton of cigarettes received from North Carolina, imprinting the stamp upon the individual packages, then resealing the package? Do you have any figures?

Mr. POLEN. I know of no study having been made, Mr. Speaker, and I am not in possession of any figures as to the actual cost.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Do you not think that the people in this industry are entitled to have this information?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Schaaf, who is familiar with the cost of doing this.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I have a specific case in mind, if I could use that as an example of how this would work.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Well, Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman from Erie familiar with the actual cost based upon accounting records?

Mr. SCHAAF. Based on one specific vendor, yes.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Well, do you know, Mr. Speaker, that there is a firm in the city of Erie which contends that it actually lays out $60,000—apparently it does not have a bonding setup—and will have to collect this money in due course, ranging from 60 to 120 days, from its various customers.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I have a specific vendor in mind in Erie, who, during the month of December purchased $60,000 worth of stamps, and for the affixation of those stamps would receive a commission, I hope my figures are correct, of $2,400 at four percent, and, as proposed here at one and one-half percent, would receive for the month's affixation of these stamps, $900. Now, I also have some figures that would indicate, at least to me, what the costs in connection with this operation are. Would that be acceptable?

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. I would be glad to be enlightened.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, this gentleman advises me, and I might say that he asked me to oppose this tax, that he has approximately $3,700 invested in a machine which opens these cartoons as they come from the cigarette manufacturer, exposes the ends of the packed cigarettes to the stamping device, affixes the stamp then seals and pastes the carton. This is all done, as I understood it, by one machine. It is in the nature of a I don't mean to advertise—a Pitney-Bowes postage meter, something on that order, and, as I say, his investment in the machine was approximately $3,700. I would assume it has a normal life expectancy, as do most office machines, of about five years.

He also informed me that attending that machine, and this is essentially an automated device, are two girls whom he pays, and here my recollection is a little bit foggy, either $1.60 per hour or $1.68 per hour. So, Mr. Speaker, on that basis, I am inclined to believe, as I was when I completed by conversation with this gentleman, that he profits from the commission paid him by the Commonwealth.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, if this man actually lays out $60,000 of his own money, and the collections are not made by him for a period of ninety days, is not his money worth one and one-half percent? Does he not have to go to the bank to borrow $60,000?

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I have no further information on this subject. I have no means of knowing what the gentleman from Allegheny means when he refers to a ninety-day period.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Well, in the collection of money from an ordinary retailer, when cigarettes are sold and distributed, and taking into consideration the time the stamps are in his possession, the average wholesaler would hardly receive his money before a ninety-day period, if you are familiar with the operation of a retail business.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I will only say this: in this particular case that I cited I am sure this particular retailer is using a profit derived in the form of a commission to cover this—there is an accounting term which is used—"floating profit" or something like that. Anyway, he uses this commission to underwrite the cost of these activities in his particular business. I have no further information on it, and I would prefer to yield to Mr. Polen.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Thank you, Mr. Schaaf. I am not going to interrogate Mr. Polen again because this seems to be the last of the series of bills.

The question of this matter was turned over to me for interrogation. The information I received in part came from a telegram in the city of Erie, addressed to Mr. O'Dell, and according to the statements of these merchants in the city of Erie, they are operating and collecting the commission at a loss, even at four percent, and that is the reason I think there should have been a cost study to determine who was correct. I do not believe either you or I are in a position to so state. That is the trouble with passing legislation when you do not have background information.

I will read the telegram from the Loell Company of Erie:

We are astonished at the Governor's proposal to cut the stamping commission for cigarettes and the businessman's commission for acting as a tax collector in the matter of the Penna. retailers sales tax. This bears a lot of investigation on your part. We as a cigarette distributor cannot afford to invest $60,000 per month in stamps, buy equipment to do the job, police the retailer and hire labor to stamp cigarettes for 1½ percent commission. If this change is made the State will only be forcing more Erie distributors out of business. Erie alone has lost 11 wholesale distributors in the last five years with two more currently in the process of discontinuing business. We ask that you give this proposal your very serious consideration and ask that you advise us how you intend to vote on this issue.

That was addressed to Mr. O'Dell, how he will vote is up to him.

I also have another letter addressed to Mr. O'Dell from the Arthur F. Schultz Vending Company which stated in part:

"We have many thousands of dollars invested in cigarette tax samps, both in stamps or in inventory and accounts receivable. Our records indicate that this is not a money-making proposition for us at 4% and because it is impossible for us to increase our selling price since lower prices prevail both in Ohio and New York States, which are very close to us, this reduction would, therefore, become not only an out-of-pocket loss to us, but also will result in the possible reduction in our sales.

Now, I was visited by a distributor of cigarettes in the Pittsburgh district and he assured me, although he could not get the figures in time for the passage of this bill, for the consideration of the bill, that under no circumstances could any wholesale distributor carry out the obligations under this act for one and one-half percent. There may be some argument in the fact that a businessman should not collect any profit, but we certainly should not burden a merchant with additional cost when he is out-of-pocket.

I repeat myself, we are now voting on legislation and we do not have the background material. I believe there was no necessity for rush; I believe we are entitled to have the facts so we could make an honest and fair decision upon the subject-matter. This morning we do not have these facts. You may be right and I may be wrong, on the other hand, I may be right and you may be wrong. But, I am right in this contention, that we do not know what we are doing here this morning.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 8 of today's calendar, House bill No. 96.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 96, entitled:

An Act amending the "Pennsylvania Cigarette Tax Act" approved July 8 1957 (P L 594) making permanent one of the additional excise taxes and reducing the commission allowed to stamp affixing agencies.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the next bill that I call up will be the last bill, but before the Members leave this House following the roll call on this bill, there are some announcements which I hope they will all stay to hear since they have stayed, so kindly, to this hour.

Mr. Speaker, I call up on page eight, House bill 96, number 14 and the last in the package.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILL ON THIRD READING

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection, Senate Bill No. 2, Printer's No. 2, was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, very briefly, we would like to congratulate the Majority for their show of unanimity during the solidarity-forever display. We think that the Majority Leader has every right to be proud, but so does every Member of this House.

The gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, did on outstanding job. We might also congratulate the members of the Governor's staff. I do not suppose there will be too much work done around this Capitol tomorrow.

I would also particularly like to thank the Members of the Minority and congratulate them. We did not have the same compelling reasons to be here all night that you did, but our Members stayed almost down to the last man until almost six o'clock in the morning. I think every Member of this House is entitled to be proud of the fact that the House acted the way it did during this midnight session.

I would like to say just one more word. I hope before the Majority Leader calls another post-midnight session, it is another cold day in January.

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to congratulate the House upon the decorum. We have watched Houses for a great many years and we have never seen, in all the time we have been in Harrisburg, a Session of this duration in which the Members of the House have maintained the admirable decorum they have maintained tonight. The Chair congratulates the Members of the House and recognizes the Majority Leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the membership of this House, next week beginning Monday, his House will have a three-day Session: Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The following week, the Session will be Monday, February 6, and Tuesday, February 7. The reason for no session on Wednesday is there is not sufficient hotel space in the city of Harrisburg for that date. So for the next two weeks, three days and then two days.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to yield to the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, for announcements.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to announce, for the information of the House, that there will be joint House-Senate hearings of the Appropriation Committees of both Chambers, staring Monday, January 30 at 7:00 p.m. The first meeting will be on the Highway Budget and will be held in the House Caucus Room on the first floor. All Members are invited to attend.

REMARKS BY MAJORITY LEADER

Mr. McCANN. I would like to take this opportunity, Mr. Speaker, in the wee hours of this morning, to say thank you to so many people. To all those who, just as was agreed in caucus, stood faithfully to vote on each bill to accomplish the goals we did tonight. And to say to the Minority, you said there would be no filibuster, but if you begin at twelve and end at six, there is probably another word that fits the occasion. We certainly thank you for being honest and trying to find reason for your position. I think you will find as time goes on that you, too, as you have stated before, wish you could have been able to vote for many of these revenue measures.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. RUTHERFORD. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, January 30, 1961 at 3:30 p. m. EST.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 5:58 a.m. EST), the House adjourned.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1961. 145th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 38. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, JANUARY 30, 1961. No. 12.

SENATE

MONDAY, JANUARY 30, 1961.

The Senate met at 3:00 p.m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. WAGNER:

Our gracious Father in heaven, the poet has written:

"The sun comes up and the sun goes down,
Days are weak or strong;
But somehow as the time goes by,
We seem to get along."

We do get along through difficult times. We do resolve trying problems because Thou dost guide us and direct us and suffer our activities.

We ask, on this opening day of the Legislature, that Thy blessing may rest upon us, that Thy light may shine upon us, that Thy direction and guidance may be ours to benefit by and from.

Bless the Commonwealth. Bless all of those who lead and direct, and to those who are charged with responsibility, give special care and attention.

We ask Thy blessing upon us, upon Thy Servants, upon Thy people, in the Name of Christ our Lord and Saviour. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quoroum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. WEINER and Mr. MAHADY, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

Mr. BERGER asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. PECHAN and Mr. EHRGOOD.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced presented communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows, and referred to the Committee on Executive Nominations:

RECALLING THE NOMINATION OF MRS. ELIZABETH B. WYLAM AS A MEMBER OF THE AIR POLLUTION COMMISSION

DAVID L. LAWRENCE.

HOUSE MESSAGES

HOUSE BILLS FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented HB 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100 and 101, which were referred to the Committee on Finance.

HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 102

He also informed the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate, entitled:

COMMEMORATING LINCOLN'S VISIT TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY ON FEBRUARY 22, 1861

COMMITTEE APPOINTED PURSUANT TO SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 102

The PRESIDENT. The Chair announces, on behalf of the President pro tempore, the appointment of the following committee, pursuant to the above resolution: the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Stiefel; the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Mahady; and the gentleman from Lancaster, Senator Kessler.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF HEARING BEFORE JOINT SENATE AND HOUSE APPROPRIATIONS COMMITTEES

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to take this opportunity to clarify and further explain—in case that is necessary—the announcement that was made earlier this week. There will be a hearing this evening at 7:00 p.m., Eastern Standard Time, in the House Caucus Room before the Joint Appropriations Committees of the House and Senate, consisting of Senator McGinnis, and his Committee of the Senate, and Mr. Polen of Washington County, Chairman of the House Appropriations Committee.

The first person that will be called to testify before this committee is the Secretary of Highways, and they will discuss the Motor Fund and the Motor Fund program.

Also, all persons are invited to this meeting. Every Member of the Senate is invited and they will have an opportunity to ask any questions they may desire. Anybody who is for or against the program may also appear and they will be heard.

There will also be a continuation of these hearings tomorrow morning at 9:00 o'clock in the same room and for the same purpose, so that anyone who cannot me there today will have an opportunity to be there tomorrow. If more time is needed, the hearings will go on during the rest of the week.

I want everyone who is in this Chamber to understand that these hearings are being held. I hope the newspapers will carry it a little more clearly. Most of them I think did carry it, but it was at the end of their stories in some cases, so that some people did not see it.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I just would like to add a statement or two to Senator Weiner's statement.

We wish it clearly understood that the Democratic Majority in the Senate does not plan and will not attempt to do any steam-rolling. We are a deliberate Body. We are going to provide hearings and the people will have a right to speak their piece.

Therefore, if there is any misapprehension, we want it clarified here and now that there will be no steam-rolling.

INTERROGATION

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Senator Lane.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Lane, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LANE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BERGER. I believe I understood you clearly, Senator. However, I would like to make doubly sure.

I believe you said there would be public hearings afforded upon all bills that such hearings might be requested upon. Is that correct?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I said all bills that are controversial. As a matter of fact,—

Mr. BERGER. Oh yes, yes.

Mr. Lane. Not on all of these bills that we have before us because some of them, I believe, are generally agreed on by all concerned. We are going to hold the hearings tonight with reference to the gasoline taxes. Secretary Martin is going to be there, and the Senate Appropriations Committee and the House Appropriations Committee are going to hold the hearings. Everyone will have a right to be heard.

It was agreed that in the event we cannot finish tonight, we will work tomorrow. If necessary, we will work the following day so that the people can be heard.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, may I futher interrogate the gentleman?

The PRESIDENT. Certainly, sir.

Mr. BERGER. Senator Lane, the hearings contemplated, as I understand it, are upon the budget of the Highways Department, which is before the Appropriations Committee. Am I correct?

Mr. LANE. That is correct.

Mr. BERGER. Thank you, Senator.

GENERAL COMMUNICATIONS

RESOLUTION FROM THE STATE OF ARKANSAS

The PRESIDENT laid before the Senate the following communications, which were read by the Clerk as follows:

STATE OF ARKANSAS
DEPARTMENT OF STATE
NANCY J. HALL, SECRETARY OF STATE

TO ALL TO WHOM THESE PRESENTS SHALL COME, GREETINGS.

I Nancy J. Hall, Secretary of State of the State of Arkansas, do hereby certify that the following and hereto attached instrument of writing is a true and perfect copy of

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 2

By

Mr. Fletcher of Saline County

In Testimony Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed my official Seal Done at office in the City of Little Rock, this 24th day of January, 1961.

/s/ Nancy J. Hall
Secretary of State.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 2

By Fletcher of Saline

A CONCURRENT RESOLUTION PETITIONING THE CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES TO PROPOSE AN AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES ABOLISHING THE ELECTORAL COLLEGE SYSTEM AND ESTABLISHING A SYSTEM OF POPULAR ELECTIONS FOR THE ELECTION OF THE PRESIDENT AND THE VICE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES.

Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives of the State of Arkansas, the Senate Concurring Therein:

Section 1. The General Assembly of the State of Arkansas respectfully petitions the Congress of the United States to propose an amendment to the Constitution of the United States abolishing the Electoral College system and establishing a system of popular elections for the election of the President and the Vice President of the United States.

Section 2. The General Assembly of the State of Arkansas further respectfully petitions the Congress of the United States that it provide that such amendment to the Constitution of the United States shall be effective when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several states.

Section 3. The Secretary of State of the State of Arkansas is hereby directed to send certified copies of this Concurrent Resolution to the Secretary of the Senate of the United States, the Clerk of the House of Representatives of the United States, to each member of the Congress of the United States from the State of Arkansas, and to the Chief Executive and presiding officers of the legislative bodies of each of the several states.

The PRESIDENT. These communications will be printed in the Journal.

RECESS

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I request a fifteen minute recess of the Senate in order that the Finance Committee may have an opportunity to consider the bills which have been referred to it today. Immediately upon the recess, the Committee will meet in Room 542, on "E" Floor, for this purpose. I suggest that all Members of the Finance Committee be there as promptly as possible.

The PRESIDENT. Are there any objections? The Chair hears no objections, and declares a fifteen minute recess of the Senate.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT pro tempore (Anthony P. DiSilvestro) in the Chair.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

At this time, the Chair invites the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Mahady, to the rostrum to preside.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Paul W. Mahady) in the Chair.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. SILVERT, from the Committee on Finance, reported, as committed, HB 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100 and 101.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SILVERT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, with respect to the bills which I have just reported from committee, I would like to mention that in this first meeting of the Finance Committee, while there was some expression of difference of opinion, every Member behaved as a gentleman and they got along gloriously.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Mr. Silvert, all of the Members of this Senate are gentlemen.

RECESS

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I now request a recess of the Senate until 8:00 p.m., for the purpose of holding a Republican Caucus.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any objections? The Chair hears no objections, and declares a recess of the Senate until 8:00 p.m.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

MOTION TO ADJOURN

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Tuesday, January 31, 1961, at 3:00 p.m.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I oppose this motion to adjourn. We recessed for the purpose of coming back here at eight o'clock to work. We are here now and we ought to get on with the business of the Senate and at least go through the Calendar. There is a great deal of work to be done here. There are many measures on our Calendar that are important. I can name them if you would like me to. I do not think we came back here for the purpose of adjourning.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I submit that the motion I made is not the subject of debate. I am sorry to suggest that. However, I believe that I am correct. I ask for a roll call on the motion.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Minority Leader has raised a point of order which is well taken. The Clerk will now call the roll.

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to inquire how Senator Pechan is recorded as having voted.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Senator Pechan is not recorded as having voted.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to know how Senator Ehrgood is recorded as having voted.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Senator Ehrgood is not recorded as having voted.

VERIFICATION OF THE ROLL

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I ask for a verification of the roll call.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will call the roll to verify the same.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President—

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There is nothing before the Senate except the verification of the roll.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the verification of the roll call has not yet begun, has it?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. It has not.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe Senator McCreesh wishes to be recognized and I yield the floor to him.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I submit—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I was recognized by the Chair and I yielded to Senator McCreesh, of Philadelphia. Therefore, I believe the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Fleming, is out of order.

THE PRESIDING OFFICER. That is true.

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as having voted "no".

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, the verification of the roll call had been started before Senator McCreesh came into the Senate.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Senator McCreesh was in the Senate and had looked up and drawn my attention before the roll call was started. I am, therefore, under the apprehension that he would answer to his name.

Mr. McCreesh. Mr. President. I would like to state that I was in the hall of the Senate, but I did not hear my name called. Therefore, I would like to be recorded as having voted "no".

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, may we proceed with the verification of the roll?

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "no".

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will be so recorded.

Mr. KALMAN. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "no".

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will be so recorded.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "no".

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will be so recorded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will now proceed to call the names of those recorded as having voted in the affirmative.

The Clerk read the names of those recorded as having voted in the affirmative as follows:

Bell	Kessler	Stroup
Berger	Kromer	Taylor
Chapman	Madigan	Van Sant
Confair	Mallery	Wade
Flack	Propert	Wagner
Fleming	Scott	Ware, III
Hawbaker	Shafer	Wolfe
Keller	Stevenson

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any corrections? The Chair hears none. The affirmative roll will stand as verified.

The Clerk will now call the names of those recorded as having voted in the negative.

The Clerk read the names of those recorded as having voted in the negative as follows:

Camiel	McCreesh	Sesler
Devlin	McGinnis	Seyler
Donolow	McMenamin	Silvert
Haluska	Mullin	Staisey
Hays	Murray	Stiefel
Kalman	Ripp	Weiner
Lane	Rooney	Yatron
Mahady	Sarraf

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any corrections? The Chair hears none. The negative roll will stand as verified. The roll now stands verified.

The roll was called and resulted as follows:

YEAS—23

Bell,	Hawbaker,	Propert,	Van Sant,
Berger,	Keller,	Scott,	Wade,
Chapman,	Kessler,	Shafer,	Wagner,
Confair,	Kromer,	Stevenson,	Ware, III,
Flack,	Madigan,	Stroup,	Wolfe,
Fleming,	Mallery,	Taylor,

NAYS—23

Camiel,	Lane,	Ripp,	Staisey,
Devlin,	McCreesh,	Rooney,	Stiefel,

Haluska,	McMenamin,	Sesler,	Yatron,
Hays,	Mullin,	Seyler,	Mahady,
Kalman,	Murray,	Silvert,	Presiding Officer

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Less than a majority of the Senators having voted "aye," the motion to adjourn falls for the lack of a majority.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. SEYLER, KESSLER, HAYS, KALMAN and WAGNER presented to the Chair SB 119, entitled:

An Act amending the act of January 18, 1952 (P. L. 2111), entitled "An act to provide for minimum compensation and increments for administrators and members of the faculty of State Teachers Colleges; ....." further regulating leaves of absence for presidents and faculty members of State Colleges.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

Mr. SEYLER presented to the Chair SB 120, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 13, 1925 (P. Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. RIPP asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. RIPP. Mr. President, when the fall term of school opened in September 1960, many of the students returning to their respective universities or colleges were required to purchase textbooks to meet their course of study. In going to the various schoolbook stores, in order to purchase textbooks, it was noticed that they were required to pay a sales tax on textbooks.

My attention was called to this matter and, in the dying days of the 1960 Session, I introduced a bill to eliminate from the Sales and Use Tax, the tax on textbooks. Of course, that Session ended before consideration could have been given to that bill.

Accordingly, Mr. President, I am presenting to the Chair another bill of a similar nature, amending the Sales and Use Tax, to eliminate therefrom textbooks and related educational material.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. RIPP presented to the Chair SB 135, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 6, 1956 (P. L. 1228), entitled as amended, "Selective Sales and Use Tax Act," exempting certain textbooks and other instructional materials form the tax.

Which was committed to the Committee on Finance.

Messrs. WEINER, DiSILVESTRO, SILVERT, MULLIN, CAMIEL, STIEFEL, McCREESH and DONOLOW presented to the Chair SB 136, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), entitled "Public School Code of 1949," increasing the debt limit of school districts of the first class.

Which was committed to the Committee on Finance.

They also presented to the Chair SB 137, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 25, 1941 (P. L. 159), entitled "Municipal Borrowing Law," increasing the debt limit of school districts of the first class.

Which was committed to the Committee on Finance.

Messrs. BERGER and LANE presented to the Chair SB 138, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 4, 1927 (P. L. 519), entitled "The Borough Code," validating certain actions of boroughs heretofore taken with respect to the appointment of policemen.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

They also presented to the Chair SB 139, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 15, 1951 (P. L. 586), entitled "An act regulating the suspension, removal, furloughing and reinstatement of police officers in boroughs and townships of the first class having police forces of less than three members, and in townships of the second class," validating certain actions of townships and boroughs heretofore taken with respect to the appointment of policemen.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

Messrs. LANE and DONOLOW presented to the Chair SB 140, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177), entitled "The Administrative Code of 1929," creating the State Board of Examiners for Boiler Engineers.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

They also presented to the Chair SB 141, entitled:

An Act relating to boiler steam machinery and refrigeration machinery engineers and firemen providing for their licensing conferring powers and imposing duties upon the State Board of Examiners for Boiler Engineers and the Department of Public Instruction; providing for the issuance, revocation or suspension of licenses and prescribing unlawful acts and penalties.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

SENATE RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO THE PHILADELPHIA HIGHWAY PATROL UNIT OF THE POLICE DEPARTMENT OF THE CITY OF PHILADELPHIA

Messrs. McCREESH, CAMIEL, DiSILVESTRO, DONO-

LOW, MULLIN, STIEFEL and WEINER offered the following resolution (Serial No. 8), which was read as follows:

In the Senate, January 30, 1961.

The City of Phliadelphia, through its Philadelphia Highway Patrol Unit of the Philadelphia Police Department, has brought a signal honor, not only to the City of Philadelphia but to the entire Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. During the past presidential campaign, during the time that President Kennedy was compaigning in the area of Delaware Valley, the members of the Philadelphia Highway Patrol Unit were assigned to guard him.

For a period of four days and nights, during which time it rained every day and night, thus making very hazardous driving conditions, President Kennedy was escorted during the entire time by the Philadelphia Highway Patrol Unit without mishap or injury. This was done in spite of the fact that the route took the President through a thickly populated area of more than two million people.

President Kennedy is reported to have said that that was the best job of police escorting he had encountered in the entire Country. The amazing thing is that, in spite of all the people he met and the appointments which he kept, he was never late for any appointment, TV or radio appearance. As a result of a job so well done, the unit was invited to participate in the inaugural ceremonies on January 20, 1961, in Washington, D. C.

There were only two occasions when the President stood to applaud any units in the Inaugural Parade. First the members of his former crew, PT Boat 109, and the second was for the Philadelphia Highway Patrol Unit of the City of Philadelphia Police Department.

This is the first time in the history of our Commonwealth that a unit from any police department from this State has been invited to participate in an Inaugural Parade; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the Senate of Pennsylvania hereby commend and congratulate the Philadelphia Highway Patrol Unit of the Police Department of the City of Philadelphia on its wonderful showing and splendid work, and for the outstanding honor it has brought, not only to its native city but the entire Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; and be it further

RESOLVED, That copies of this resolution be sent to the Mayor, Commissioner of Police and Commanding Officer of the Highway Patrol Unit.

On the question,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, having watched the Inaugural Parade in the comfort of my living room, I would merely like to comment that I suspect there might be a string band from the city of Philadelphia which might be disappointed that a resolution was not offered on its behalf too.

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, would you include the names of the Senators from Philadelphia as co-sponsors of this resolution. I did not have the time to get their signatures prior to offering this resolution.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Their names will appear in the record as co-sponsors of this resolution unless the Chair hears an objection.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

The resolution was adopted.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

MEMORALIZING CONGRESS TO SUPPORT AND ENACT A TEMPORARY UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION ACT

Messrs. STAISEY, DEVLIN, DONOLOW and RIPP offered the following resolution (Serial No. 107) which was read as follows:

In the Senate, January 30, 1961.

RESOLVED (the House of Representatives concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States to support and enact a temporary Unemployment Compensation Act which would extend unemployment compensation benefits for an additional period of three months within each unemployed's benefit year for each eligible unemployed who has exhausted, or will exhaust, all benefits to which he is entitled under the act of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania approved December 5, 1936 (1937 P. L. 2897), known as the "Unemployment Compensation Law" during each such unemployed's current benefit year and which would grant the necessary funds to the State's Unemployment Compensation Funds to carry out said extension; and be it further

RESOLVED, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officer of each house of Congress of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

Mr. STAISEY asked and obtained unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of this resolution.

On the question,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

The resolution was adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

BILL ON SECOND READING

REQUEST THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER

SB 53—Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I request that Senate Bill No. 53, Printer's No. 10, go over in its order.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I object to this bill going over in its order, and the reason for my objection is as follows:

We spoke last week when this bill was put over in order on a number of occasions. I believe I asked one or two of the gentlemen on the other side whether they would be ready to move this measure this week. This is a controversial measure. It is an important measure in this Commonwealth. I think we might as well face the issue today, and if we can pass this measure up to Third Reading, I think that would be perfectly in order. If this measure goes down or is defeated, I think that ought to be also noted in the record, showing exactly who is for and who is against this measure.

I see no further purpose in dragging it on or delaying its passage any longer. One of the reasons for passing the other bills over in order was because I am aware there is a hearing going on downstairs and I would like to see as many Members go to it as quickly as possible. I did not want to make this a Special Order of Business, but I think we have gotten to it and we ought to face the issue and do whatever has to be done on this measure.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I agree with the Majority Leader that this is a controversial piece of legislation in some respects. It might occupy considerable time in the Senate if it were taken up at this time, which is the very reason he assigned for putting other bills over and the reason I assign for requesting this bill to go over, and no other.

There is a hearing going on, and we were assured at the committee meeting this afternoon that we would be able to attend that hearing in order to acquaint ourselves with the subject matter of certain bills. That, Mr. President, is not available to us. Consequently, we will lose even the opportunity for a hearing on those particular bills. Therefore, I requested that this bill go over in its order.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I am going to renew my objection. This bill has been around for some time. It is only on Second Reading. I would be very happy to agree that the bill be moved up to Third Reading, and if any amendments are made at that time, I will be very happy to take care of them at that time. I do not think anybody on this side has ever objected to that nor will they object tomorrow. At least it would put the bill in a position so that we can act on it tomorrow or act on it finally this week before we leave here.

If there is any reason for it to go over for another week, I am sure nobody will worry about that or decry that, if there is a good, compelling reason. This is important. I think the House ought to work on it, and I think we ought to get it to them as soon as we can.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I merely want to acquaint the Majority Leader with the fact, so he cannot plead surprise, that if he continues his objection to Senator Berger's request that this bill go over, I intend to offer an amendment to the bill on Second Reading.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I am very happy to have the amendments at this point. I think if they are ready and prepared, we ought to offer them this evening so we can work on this matter. If there is a desire to do so tomorrow, let us move this bill up to Third Reading and let us offer the amendments tomorrow. The same number of men will be here tomorrow as are here today.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being objection to Senate Bill No. 53 going over in its order, the Senate will proceed to the consideration of this bill.

AMENDMENTS OFFERED

Mr. FLEMING offered the following amendment:

Amend Bill, page 22, by inserting after line 19:

"Section 4. The provisions of this act relating to discrimination in housing and places of public accommodation, resort or amusement shall not become effective in any county of this Commonwealth until the following question is approved by a majority of the electors of the county voting on such question: 'Shall the provisions of the act of October 27, 1955 (P. L. 744), as amended, which prohibit discrimination in housing and places of public accommodation, resort or amusement be effective in the County of .....?' Such question shall be submitted to the electorate of each county at the next general or municipal election occurring at least sixty days after the effective date of this act, in the form and manner provided by the general election laws of this Commonwealth for the submission of similar questions."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to point out to the Members of the Senate that this local option amendment, which is the basis for the amendment offered by the Senator from Allegheny County, I feel has no place in this bill for the following reason:

This is a matter that concerns the entire Commonwealth and all of the people who live in it. I know that most of the gentlemen sitting in this Hall have made speeches on behalf of democracy and have verbalized its benefits, but I think we ought to go beyond that stage at this point.

I think you actually have to get down and declare whether it is public policy and to actually state what you are for, other than just verbalize it on historical occassions like Memorial Day, the Fourth of July and other days of that nature.

As long as any member of this Commonwealth is discriminated against,—and I do not care what we are talking about, whether you discriminate against people with blonde hair and green eyes—you have already taken away the rights of people who have blonde hair and brown eyes. This will continue unless we do something about it.

I think we are mature enough here and I think the Commonwealth is mature enough to face up to these problems. I think you cannot close your eyes and say that these differences do not exist. It may be a long way between Harrisburg and what is happening in Africa.

I do not know whether any of you saw, about two or three weeks ago on television, a program called, "The Red and the Black," the title of which was taken from a very famous novel. The purpose of it was to show how communism is creeping into the new countries of Africa, and how it is gaining footholds .

The most interesting part of the program was an interview of two heads of state. They interviewed the people in their cabinets, they interviewed the ambassadors who had been to this country, and they stated why they had not felt as strongly toward the West or were not as pro-West as had been indicated earlier when their country was founded and was getting a foothold, since we had been one of the people who had spoken about and on behalf of their independence, especially in view of the fact that our own Country came into being by people fighting to be free and establishing their independence.

The thing they stated was the amount of discrimination that went on in this Country and the treating of our citizens at diffenent levels and in different places, depending upon where they went.

I think we have outgrown that. I think also the Supreme Court decisions have come to recognize what is basic in this Country.

I know there are many men sitting in this room who went to law school the same as I did, and when they heard the decisions which were rendered about equal accommodation and about the other facets of this, —and the mumbo jumbo that absolutely meant nothing, and they realized they were dealing in things that were foreign to the people who were actually involved—they were not anxious to face the realities of the situation.

I think this is what is before us here today. To try and evade or avoid this type of a consequence by saying that it is up to each local community, I think is sort of begging the issue all over again. What are the people of the community going to be asked to do, to tell us what we ought to have as public policy?

This law will not change anybody's feelings. This law will not have anybody act in a different manner. You will not have people moving or shifting in the population no matter what happens with this measure.

The only thing that the F.E.P.C. in this State has done in all of the years that we have had it has been a process of education, which is the entire problem because there are many countries in this world where, if we went there as individuals or as people of other religions, we would be the minority group. It is a matter of geography.

All we are saying here is to give the rights to the people, which you have guaranteed them under the Constitution and the Bill of Rights.

I say to you that it is a shame we have to waste the time of this Senate and spend time talking here about a measure of this type, when everybody sitting here agrees this is the proper thing to do.

I have heard many of these builders and I have heard many of these other people tell me about the great chaos that is going to come about in this Commonwealth as a result of passing this measure. This will not happen because the conduct of people is not changed by any law. People have to be educated. Under the F.E.P.C., no one has ever been indicted, no one has ever been arrested and there has not been issued a cease and desist order, which is the remedy given under this measure.

What is the great fear? What is it that we have to avoid? What is it that we are afraid of facing up to? What is it that we cannot hope to put across? Why can we not be one of the groups who are leading this parade and who are asking that men actually treat each other as human beings? Is there anything wrong in that? Must I stand up here and preach about this or discuss this thing? Must there be any discussion or argument about this problem? What does this bill really do? How many men here have actually taken the trouble to read it and can tell me what their fears are?

The biggest problem is that some of these men are afraid they might suffer an economic loss. Actually, this is not the fact. The fact is that when the neighborhood changes, they suffer an economic gain because every house in that area goes up. I do not think anyone has to be afraid. If people can afford to move into certain areas, they should be allowed to live there.

Suppose I said to some of you gentlemen, sitting on the other side of the aisle, that you can only live in certain areas or restricted areas. I do not think you would be very happy with that.

We have outgrown that. We have to be mature. We have to behave as mature people do. We hear a prayer here every day, at the beginning of the Session, and I think the basic thing of all these prayers is to treat your fellow man as you would have him treat you, and this is the way you begin. This is merely a declaration of public policy. You are not forcing anyone to do anything they do not want to do or do not already do now.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I would certainly strongly disagree with the Majority Leader. I do not feel this is a field in which we should legislate. I am joined in that feeling by some very prominent legal minds, notably the former Dean of the Law School of the University of Pittsburgh, Mr. Charles B. Nutting, and various others who have said that legislation is not the proper approach to this problem.

I am not anti anything. However, there is a fundamental right given to us under the Constitution of the United States to own and dispose of property as we see fit. I believe we are tampering with the economic good of this Country when we say to any citizen that he cannot dispose of his property in the manner he chooses.

Certainly, it is very apparent that it is the right of anyone, myself or any other person, to own property and to dispose of it and to sell it to any person to whom we want to sell. I do not agree with the Majority Leader when he says this is now prohibited by law. I would like to see, on any statute books of Pennsylvania, a law that says you cannot dispose of property to anyone you want to. There is no restriction now in any law that forbids the selling of property to any person regardless of race, creed or color. That is entirely up to the owner. That is a fundamental, free right of the American people to do that. Yet, here we are tampering with that right.

What is wrong then in submitting this question back to the local counties to see whether or not the people in the individual counties want to restrict the right of private ownership? I can see nothing wrong in letting the majority rule. I believe this Country has become great by majority rule and by the minority going along with the majority. That is all this amendment does. It submits back to the electorate of each of the sixty-seven counties, before the law would become operative, the decision of whether or not they want this.

If the proponents of the measure think it has such widespread approval of all the groups in Pennsylvania, then they have nothing to fear, submit it to the voters. If such is the case, it will be overwhelmingly approved by them.

That, of course, Mr. President, I do not believe. I believe if the people of Pennsylvania have the opportunity to vote on this measure, they not vote for it. I think they will retain unto themselves one of the fundamental rights given by the founders of this Country to the citizens of this Country, which is to own and to dispose of private property as they see fit.

I would urge every Member of this Senate to vote for this amendment, which would give to the people of each and every county of Pennsylvania the right to decide whether or not they want this change made.

Mr. DONOLOW. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, it was not my intention to participate in the debate on this bill this evening. However, I think the last speaker,—although he is generally sincere in his approach and I respect him for the position he takes—from the way he views this problem, was not necessarily correct nor necessarily American.

We are not going to submit to the people of any county, or to the people of Pennsylvania a vote to make any of our citizens second class citizens. It is a direct insult. For any man who has been sent here by the people of his community and by the people of his district to put his vote to a bill to submit back to his people the question of whether to make any group of people second class citizens, I feel he is failing to fulfill his obligation in this Hall this evening.

Is it a fundamental right to do with property as you see fit, to the detriment of another American? We do not maintain, because my skin is white, that I possess the fundamental right to neglect or vote against a man whose skin is brown. He lives, he breathes, he eats, he exists and sends his children to school, the same as all the rest of us. Therefore, I think we are losing the place of fundamental rights.

We have a fundamental right and we have it here in this Hall this evening, as one of the States of the Union. Our fundamental right is to send out to the world, and to the rest of the Country, the message that every man, woman and child has the same equal rights, regardless of the church he attends or the color of his skin. This is the fundamental right with which we are charged and not the economic fundamental right, which is a secondary guarantee under the Constitution, so far as equal rights are concerned.

Again, Mr. President, I want to say that I respect my friend's position. However, I think it is being looked at from the side and not squarely in the eye.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would just like to point out to the gentleman who was speaking on property rights that I am not against individual property rights. However, suppose you had a fire which took place in the community, in a block of houses, and in stemming the fire, they would blow up the house at the end of the block, which as yet was not on fire. Would property rights prevail or would the rights of the community stand out?

Mr. President, I think that is all that is before us this evening.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, it is my opinion that the gentleman are going far afield from a reasonable approach to the problem which faces us here this evening.

First of all, we are reaching into a field which inherently, traditionally and historically, down through all the centuries, has been a human property right. This has been one of the fundamental rights of all our people in this Nation, in the Anglo-Saxon Nations and in the Romance Nations across the world. Today, my good friends, we tamper with that fundamental right and we place that tampering on the altar of that which we like to call "humanitarianism" or human relations. These are terms in luring fireflies to cause us to do that which, in the long end and in the past of a Republic and a representative government in a Democracy, we could well live to regret.

It must be remembered, my friends, that this right of holding and disposing of property, as one sees fit, is inalienably a part of a Democracy, it is inalienably a part of a Republic, and it is inalienably a practical right which has come to us now for many, many centuries. Here, tonight, we say that we should disregard it forever.

There is no one who would be so foolhardy or so cruel as to discriminate by reason of race, color or creed and stand up and repeat that this is a policy. There is no one in this Senate who would even think of approaching the problem from that standpoint. There is no passion or revolution involved in this particular issue. It is a question or reason. It is a question of deliberation. It is a question, my friends, of whether or not here, tonight, Mr. President, we desire to take away from the citizens of Pennsylvania a human property right, woven into the web and into the woof of all the rights of our people.

Therefore, Mr. President, I think the gentlemen of the opposition are in error in the position which they take. I ask you to support the amendment which was submitted by my colleague, Senator Fleming.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the negative, and the amendment was defeated.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, I now desire to offer an amendment to Senate Bill No. 53, Printer's No. 10.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will read the amendment.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 4), page 7, lines 1 to 12, by striking out "housing accommodations" in line 1, all of lines 2 to 11, and "(1)" in line 12, and inserting: "(1) housing accommodations comprising or containing five or more housing units, owned or otherwise subject to the control of one owner, whether or not contiguous, or (2) any parcel or parcels of real property or lot or lots, whether or not contiguous, available for the building of five or more housing units, owned or otherwise subject to the control of one owner.

Such "commercial housing" includes housing accommodations held or offered for sale or rent (1) by a real estate broker, salesman or agent, or by any other person pursuant to authorization of the owner; (2) by the owner himself; or (3) by legal representatives.

(k)"

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Bedford, Senator Stroup.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Bedford, Mr. Stroup, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STROUP. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman advise us as to where he obtained this amendment?

Mr. STROUP. I will, Mr. President.

It is taken from the Pittsburgh Housing Act, an ordinance which was passed I believe on December 15, 1958. Presently, it is in full force and effect in that city.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman further advise us whether he copied this, himself, or whether he turned it over to the Legislative Reference Bureau to have it drawn up?

Mr. STROUP. I had this amendment drawn by the Legislative Reference Bureau.

Mr. WEINER. Would the gentleman please answer my question, Mr. President?

Mr. President, did he turn this over to the Legislative Reference Bureau or was this handed to him by someone who prepared it?

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, I requested that it be drawn for me.

Mr. WEINER. I wish to thank the gentleman, Mr. President.

Mr. President, I do not doubt that what the gentleman said is absolutely correct, but it seems odd to me that this is the same amendment which had been offered by certain people who were desirous of seeing this measure destroyed or seeing this measure defeated.

There is nothing sacred about the numbers five, six, eight or ten which are contained in this measure. However, it just seems odd to me that this is the very same amendment which was floating around here during the last Session. Last Session, it was an amendment which was testified to in committee by certain people who were not in favor of the bill, but were using this as a subterfuge to, perhaps, amend it to death.

Therefore, Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to vote "no" on this amendment.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, in explanation of the amendment which is offered, I wish to state that it will reserve unto us, at least, a modicum of private property right.

In the ordinance in the city of Pittsburgh, housing accommodations are defined as five or more units, whether contiguous or not. In the bill before us, Senate Bill No. 53, housing accommodations are limited to a persnal residence, or two units, if the owner should occupy one of those units.

This amendment, which I offer, will bring Senate Bill No. 53 into conformity with an ordinance already effective and, from my limited investigation and inquiry, which has functioned very well. Yet, at the same time, it will permit one who owns four residences, one who owns an apartment building, having four units, or one who builds four units, to dispose of them by selling to whomsoever he may see fit, without coming within the purview of discrimination, as set forth in Senate Bill No. 53.

I think it is eminently fair. I think it preserves certain of the property rights, at least, for our people and, therefore, I ask the Members of the Senate to vote in favor of this amendment.

One thing further, Mr. President, is that I would like to advise the Majority Leader that when I submit legislation from whatsoever source it may come, it comes from me, particularly, because that is my feeling and my belief on that legislation. I happen to have participated in House Bill No. 322 and I was opposed to the measure then—and this bill is almost identical to that—for the same reasons which I submitted to the Senators here this evening. I must say that I resent the implication which the Majority Leader placed here on the floor tonight.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I am sorry if I offended the gentleman. However, I wanted to make sure that we were all apprised of from where the measure had come. I believe I stated when I discussed this matter with the gentleman on the floor a moment ago, that I had no doubt that what he was saying was absolutely true and I did not bother to question him any further. I hope he will not take it personally.

The problem which he discussed is a social problem. I do not believe it can be solved by the amendment offered here. I think all social problems are the type of thing on which you have to declare a basic public policy and try to work within that realm. Suppose we had taken the same attitude when we were dealing with unemployment compensation, workmen's compensation, social security, the problem of mental health, the clinics and the entire setup. Property rights certainly prevail there and you are surely taking them away from each of these people. You are then insisting that other people do certain other things which are inimical to what we have been doing or what is known in this Country as individual rights.

There comes a time in all of our lives when we must mature, grow up, face reality and do what is best. We must mellow. A long time ago in this Country, I think we gave way to some of those things, because the overall group of people were to be bettered by what we thought was best for the community. It so happened that those things have worked out very well. Many people looked with great sorrow toward what they thought was the ending of a great democracy when we got into the area of Social Security and other areas of that type. They thought that the initiative would be destroyed. They also thought if unemployment compensation were enacted into law, we would be ruining the working man. None of these things has happened. This Country has flourished and has continued to grow, and I am sure it will continue to do so.

Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to vote "no" on this amendment.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the negative, and the amendment was defeated.

The first, second and third sections of the bill were read and agreed to.

The title was read and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

MOTION FOR FIRST READING OF BILLS

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the first reading of all bills reported from committee for the first time at today's session.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, earlier in the day we were assured that in connection with certain bills which were sent over from the House of Representatives, after having passed last Thursday, there would be a full and complete opportunity for everybody to acquaint themselves with their contents and, unless my ears deceived me, there would be opportunity for both the proponents and the opponents of such bills to be heard.

It so happens, Mr. President, that these bills came over this afternoon and a meeting was called by the Chairman of the Finance Committee. He held a very nice meeting, but the result was a complete denial of the requests for a public hearing upon certain of those bills, and they were reported out to the floor this afternoon.

Consequently, Mr. President, I am constrained to refer a little bit to the remarks which I understand were made by the President of the United States today in which he said, in effect,—and I do not attempt to quote him—that too much speed in passing legislation indicates legislative irresponsibility.

Because this evening we have been denied the opportunity to attend the exposition by certain members of the Highways Department on some of the bills that have been reported from committee,—and which I presume will be read for the first time here tonight and placed on the Second Reading Calendar tomorrow—I must, therefore, object to the reading of these bills for the first time tonight.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe if the gentlemen on the other side will look on their desks, they will find a complete set of the tax measures which were placed on their desks this afternoon. They include every House Bill that was sent over. I requested that they be distributed so they would have an opportunity to look at them and to study them.

What has happened here today is no different than what has happened here ever since I have been in this Senate. I would be very happy to hear from any gentlemen on the other side—many of whom have been chairmen of committees—if they could tell me when once in the past nine years there has ever been a hearing on a tax bill, at any time. I have previously made requests for public hearings, as a member of the Minority Party. I have gone to the committee hearings and I have gotten nowhere with them.

Why, at this point, do they ask for these measures when they are on their desks, which, number one, was never accorded to us; number two, when the bills have been reviewed in committee; and, number three, I have stated to the gentlemen on the other side that I will make available to them—through the Administration—the Secretary of Administration, the Secretary of the Budget, the Secretary of Highways or anyone else whom they wish to explain these measures to them.

I am sure that no matter how much time we take, we are not going to convince anybody, who is against these measures, to be in favor of them.

I might say, parenthetically, there is not one new tax measure in this entire batch. Every one of these taxes is a tax that has been levied in this Commonwealth and has been on the books back as far as the 1930's. Not one of them has been changed. All we are doing is increasing the amount in some cases, making them permanent in other cases and enlarging the number of people who are included in a few other cases.

Therefore, there are no new measures. There is really nothing new to study. There is nothing new being brought to this Body that has never been here before.

If this is the basic problem, I do not object. If the gentlemen want the bills to go over and be read tomorrow for the first time, I am not going to complain about it. We can remain here until those things are done.

The committee hearing is still going on downstairs I am assured that anyone who gets down there even twenty minutes from now will have an opportunity to ask any questions they want to ask or bring up anything they want. This committee hearing will continue even tomorrow, so that nothing has been lost. I understand that one or two Members on the other side have been downstairs attending the hearing. Therefore, actually nothing has been harmed, and no less information has come to the gentlemen on the other side.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, it appears to me that the speed with which the House passed these bills precluded a very extensive study on the bills, particularly in view of the fact that when I tried to obtain copies of some of the bills earlier, when they were first printed, I could not obtain them. They were impounded over there and withheld not only from nonMembers of the House, but from the House Members themselves.

Consequently, Mr. President, I believe this extreme steam-rolling of this tax legislation should be slowed down. That is the only reason I have made objection to reading the bills for the first time.

Therefore, Mr. President, I must renew my objection.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would just like to point out to the gentleman and his colleagues that this measure was mentioned in the newspapers prior to the week of the 16th of January. Many of the newspapers carried quite a good deal on this tax, a good bit of which was accurate. Some of it was in the realm of guessing and some of it came out immediately when the Governor spoke about this thing.

We are now in the last week of January. Now if this is speed—when you are not enacting any new measures and when you are not dealing in any new areas—I fail to see it, as point number one. Number two: These measures carry with them provisions that certain things have to be done and certain planning has to take place. I think one of the things you have to do is to allow the people who are going to do this planning and do this work to understand or, at least, have some knowledge of when this thing can come about.

There is nothing sacred about passing this bill this week that will not keep until next week or the following week. However, I certainly think this will not help the measure any if the purpose is to sort of drag your heels on this thing.

I think we have been through this business of eighteen month Sessions, a year Session and so on and so forth. I think that should come to a halt. I think we ought to try it the other way; having a Session of four or five months and see how that works out. It might be a change. It might be a change that is not a good one, but at least we ought to try it.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I certainly do not intend to conduct a debate on these bills because they are not debatable. However, on the other hand, the gentleman says there are no new taxes. Any tax that you increase forty per cent has some impact upon the public of Pennsylvania, and they ought to be allowed to examine it just a little bit.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Senator Berger, in the interest of good order, do you intend your objection to extend to all bills today, or just to certain bills?

Mr. BERGER. It extends to all bills, Mr. President.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Then may the Senate be at ease for a moment? Will both Floor Leaders come up to the rostrum, please?

(The Senate was at ease.)

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being objection to the first reading of the bills reported from committee at today's session, the bills will appear on tomorrow's First Reading Calendar.

HOUSE MESSAGE

HOUSE BILL FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented HB 42, which was referred to the committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I am a firm believer in strong and active opposition on the part of minorities. I may say that I have had a lot of experience in this kind of practice, both as a member of a minority and as a minority of one, in many cases. However, it seems to me there are certain amenities, civilities and courtesies which are necessary if we are to have the most effective operation of our business.

It seems to me that the motion to adjourn which was made today, at a time when a regular committee of this Senate was meeting in a scheduled meeting, was something which was lacking in the amenities, civilities and courtesies to which this Senate has been accustomed. There are many occasions during a Session when a committee meeting is called during a part of the regular agenda of the Senate, which carries no controversial matters, in the interest of making time.

If we are to be on the alert, as per the example that was offered today, so that in the future at any time,—even though we have a duly authorized committee holding an announced meeting— we are to be subject to bringing a vote such as was brought today, then I think, if we are thus forewarned, we are going to have a much more rough and a much less courteous procedure than we have been accustomed to having.

I say this believing that every means—every legitimate means— open to a minority should be used to defend their point of veiw. However, I do not think that principle should be carried to the point where it amounts to sharp practice, as it seems to me the instance we had today does.

Therefore, I ask, in the interest of the future conduct of our business, that on similar occasions we be spared this kind of a test.

I may say that at the time this vote was called, there were about a half a dozen Members of the Majority Side who were attending that meeting which had been called and announced, and we had not yet reached the Calendar or any point at which it seemed necessary to summon them so that they would be here for a controversial vote. It seems to me that in such a situation, it would have been the courteous and civil thing to do to refrain until such time as those Members could be present, rather than have a motion succeed because people were legally and legitimately absent on the business of this Senate.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I would like to advise the Senate gentleman,—also the Chair and the Members of the Senate—to the effect that a number of Members from our side also were in attendance at that hearing downstairs and would like to have remained. However, the chairman of the meeting very considerately stated a recess of that meeting for ten minutes, after which we had hoped to return. However, it was considerably later than that when the gavel did fall.

In order to set the minds of any of the Senators at ease on the matter of sharp practice, I am sure the Majority Leader will advise the gentlemen that I advised him that intended to make such a motion.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I wish to announce that tomorrow at 11:30 a. m., the Committee on Local Government will hold its first meeting in room 301. Because of the tremendous number of bills in this committee, it is my intention to hold a meeting every Tuesday. However, I would like to have the full Membership, on both sides, decide what hour would be most suitable.

I decided myself that tomorrow's meeting would be held at 11:30 A.M. and thereafter, a meeting will be called every Tuesday at an hour set by the committee itself.

Mr. WARE. Mr. President, I am certainly very sympathetic with the position which Senator Seyler took a few minutes ago. I am sure all of us are reminded that the amenities of this Body shall be properly followed in all cases. I am sure that he must be equally sympathetic to me then when I say, as a new Member of this Senate, that I feel the suggestion that we should know about the bills which were introduced during the last Session of the Legislature is uncalled for.

Likewise, I think the suggestion that we should follow the bills in the public press is out of order.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I would like to make an observation or two.

I dislike very much to take up the time of the Senate because I, too, would like to attend the hearings being held downstairs.

However, I wish to state to the Members of this Senate that we did some foolish things here this evening. As a matter of fact, on Senate Bill No. 53, we could have amended the bill on Third Reading and prevented all this delay.

The bone of contention of the opposition is that the Finance Committee should hold hearings on these tax bills. Ultimately, Mr. President, if the Finance Committee were to hold these hearings on the tax bills, it would bring about justification on expenditures of public funds. Ultimately, it would resolve itself to the point whereby the Department of Highways would show its justification before the Senate Committee on Finance.

At the present time, there are joint hearings being held by the Senate and House Committees on Appropriations. The primary purpose of these hearings is to have the people informed as to what the Department of Highways plans to do in the event it receives the funds to do the work. At the same time, it provides the opportunity for those who doubt the sincerity of this program—as to whether or not we should go through with it—to interrogate the Department of Highways, and this opportunity will be afforded to every Member of the Senate and House who serve on the Senate and House Appropriations Committees.

You can, therefore, readily see that we have lost probably an hour or an hour and a half tonight, or perhaps two hours. We should be down there listening to the testimony in order for us to be well informed. Then we will be able to go back and tell our people what we have heard, and whether or not this program is justified.

I am sorry I must take up your time, but I believe I have the right to make these observations. I think we were wrong here tonight.

Let me say further, with reference to Senator Berger's motion to adjourn the Senate, frankly, I do not criticize him at all. When we were in the minoroty, down through the years, if the opportunity ever presented itself, Senator Dent would make the motion and I would second it. If we could catch them flatfooted. it was up to us. Therefore, there is an indication here that each Member of the Senate should be on the job. I know, if I were in the minority, I would have made the same motion as was made by Senator Berger.

There is no criticism on my part, but I do say that we are foolish this evening in wasting all this time, because we have actually accomplished nothing.

ANNOUNCEMENTS BY THE SECRETARY

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Tuesday, January 31, 1961, at 2:00 p. m.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 9:46 p. m.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, January 30, 1961

The House met at 3:30 p. m. EST.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend David R. Hoover, offered the following prayer:

O Gracious Lord, we beseech Thee to favorably hear the humble prayers of Thy people; look with tender mercy upon our failures to do and act in accordance with Thy Will; and preserve and extend Thy kingdom through our feeble efforts coupled with Thy great power.

Heavenly Father, we recognize the talents which Thou hast given to us; and we humbly pray that Thou wilt also grant to us the insight to take advantage of the opportunities which fall to our lot. Help us to use our capabilities to Thy honor and glory. In the words of that great American whose birthday we honor this day: "We pray that we may be worthy of the opportunities which God has given us." Through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the approval of the Journals for Monday, January 23, Tuesday, January 24 and Wednesday, January 25, 1961, wil be postponed until printed.

The Chair hears none.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. GALLAGHER.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 15.

In the House of Representatives January 26, 1961.

The majority of the State highways and bridges in Bucks County, Pennsylvania, were constructed at a time when this was primarily a rural community. In recent years, however, Bucks County has developed so rapidly in both population and industry that it has now become one of the foremost centers of urban activity within our Commonwealth. As a result, the roads and highways, many of which are one-way or dangerously narrow, are grossly inadequate and cause serious traffic congestion and hazardous traffic conditions. In order to cope with this serious problem, immediate action must be taken to modernize the outmoded highways and bridges in Bucks County; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby urges the Secretary of Highways to place all new construction of highways and bridges and all reconstruction of highways and bridges in Bucks County first in priority; and urges the Secretary of Highways to replace the present District Highway Engineer of District 6-0 with a competent, able and progressive Engineer, one who will recognize the many problems in Bucks County and who will be able to expedite all proposed plans for construction and reconstruction of highways and bridges in Bucks County.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

RESOLUTION

LAFAYETTE COLLEGE CHOIR WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. We have the pleasure of having with us today the Lafayette College Choir. The Choir is here under the direction of Dr. John Raymond, who will present a concert of approximately one-half hour. I am quite sure I can prophesy that it will be a concert well worth hearing. The Choir, incidentally, is under the auspices of Mrs. Jeanette Reibman, Messrs. Verona, Prendergast, and J. A. O'Donnell. At any time the director of the Choir desires, the House is at their disposal. The Choir has gone out to get their instruments and will return in a few minutes.

The House will be at ease.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. McCANN, AGNEW, HELM and POLEN, (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 16.

In the House of Representatives, Jan. 30, 1961.

The allocation of offices and working space in the State capitol buildings is a matter of real concern to the General Assembly and is a subject on which it should be well informed; therefore, be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That a permanent commission is hereby created, which shall consist of four members of the Senate to be appointed by the President Pro Tempore, two from each political party, and four members of the House of Representatives to be appointed by the Speaker, two from each political party. Vacancies shall be filled by the officer making the original appointments, always preserving the equal division of the members with respect to party affiliation.

The commission shall be known as the "Legislative Commission on Space Allocation" and it shall be its duty to study the use of office and work space in the capitol buildings, to make recommendations for the efficient use and equitable allocation of such space, and to make regular reports of its findings and recommendations to the Governor, the General Assembly and the Secretary of Property and Supplies.

The commission shall have power to meet and conduct its business at any time during the session of the General Assembly, or during the interim between sessions, and whenever funds have been provided for the purpose, to employ such clerical, technical or professional help as may be necessary for its work.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

(The Lafayette College Choir presented a concert under the direction of Dr. John Raymond)

DIRECTOR RAYMOND. Thank you, thank you very much. It has been a privilege and an honor to sing for you. On behalf of Lafayette College and the Lafayette men we wish to thank Mrs. Reibman and all of you people for being such gracious hosts.

We are on our way to Chambersburg now. Thank you very much.

The SPEAKER. For and on behalf of the House, the Chair certainly thanks this choir and its leader for taking time off to come entertain us in this delightful manner. You have a great choir.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to report from the Rules Committee proposed amendments to House Rules Nos. 19, 46, 48 and 61 and ask that they be printed in full for debate on the floor of this House on the calendar.

The SPEAKER. The report will be numbered, printed and made available for the use of the Members of the House before it is called before the House for action.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. McCANN from the Committee on Rules, reported as committed, House Resolution No. 16 re Legislative Commission on Space Allocation.

Mr. McCANN from the Committee on Rules, reported as committed, House Resolution No. 17 re House Rules.

STATEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. There is a little matter concerning which the Speaker desires advice. You know we have a rule about sponsors, additional sponsors for resolutions, additional sponsors for bills. For additional sponsors there must be unanimous consent. The Chair is always in a position to dissent, to refuse to consent. The Chair does not desire to contravene the desires of the House and wonders whether it might ask for a standing vote, with all the Members of the House who want the present rule in force as to co-sponsors and no more to stand, and then those who want the rule amended for more sponsors, or entirely ignored to stand.

Would the two Floor Leaders agree that might be a way of ascertaining the will of the House? The Chair does not want to rule arbitrarily. We are in favor of the rule as it exists, and we would like to have the authority of the House, the will of the House, to enforce that rule. But if that is not what the House wants, it is not anything the Speaker wants either. It is not the idea that the Speaker is taking a personal stand on it and I would be glad to hear from the Minority Leader. I see he is on his feet.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I think it is a matter that might properly be discussed by the respective caucuses rather than take a standing vote on it now, without any chance to consider the pros and cons. We do not feel strongly about it one way or the other except, generally, if you are going to have the rule it might as well be enforced and not violated just automatically.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thinks that is a good idea if the respective Leaders will take it up in their caucuses and find out what the will of the Members is, do they want an unlimited number of sponsors? Surely there must be a limit somewhere, something to guide the Chair. At the present time the Chair will be disposed to abide by the rule.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the new Members who are serving for the first time here in the House, and there are about forty-two of us, the present rule provides that resolutions and bills are limited to four sponsors unless consent is secured for additional sponsors.

The SPEAKER. Unanimous consent.

Mr. McCANN. Unanimous consent. We certainly will take this to our caucus, which we will be having very shortly, and I have had the proposition proposed by one of the Local Government Commission which has five Members in the House, asking that all five Members be sponsors of Local Government Commission bills. It is my understanding that in this Session they have about 100 Local Government bills ready that will be divided between the Senate and the House. That is one item.

Then comes the next situation in which certain bills dealing with a specific county, for example, take a bill from Philadelphia or Allegheny, where there arises the problem of a good many sponsors wanting to be on the bill. But I would like our caucus to carefully consider what the Speaker has outlined, and should the figure four, which is now in the rule, not be satisfactory, I ask that they also give their recommendation as to what figure would be satisfactorory, so we can have the thinking of both caucuses.

The SPEAKER. Does the Minority Leader desire to be recognized at this time?

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I would yield to the gentleman from Adams, Mr. Worley, if that is all right with the Chair.

The SPEAKER. It is all right with the Chair.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WORLEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I want to speak on a matter that is not a partisan political matter. I asked the Governor by letter to stay all executions of the death penalty until after the sine die adjournment of this 1961 Legislative Session for the reason that this General Assembly is actively promoting legislation to abolish the death penalty in this Commonwealth. The Attorney General replied to my letter as follows:

"I have just received the communication which you sent to Governor David L. Lawrence asking him to stay all executions of the death penalty until after the final adjournment of the 1961 Session of the General Assembly. You state the Legislature is now actively promoting legislation to abolish capital punishment in Pennsylvania.

"The Constitution of Pennsylvania provides that the Governor may grant reprieves. His authority to grant pardons and commutations can only be exercised upon the recommendation of the Pardon Board.

"The Governor has publicly stated that he favors the abolition of capital punishment. Bills providing for the repeal of the death penalty in first degree murder cases have been introduced in numerous sessions of the Legislature but have failed of passage. It is the duty of the Governor to execute the laws of this state as written regardless of his personal views. You are asking that he grant reprieves on the possibility that the law may be amended at some future time. I respectfully call your attention to the fact that the Legislature, and not the Governor, has full control of the matter of the death penalty.

"The Governor always grants reprieves where judicial proceedings are pending. If such proceedings are instituted in any cases awaiting execution, the Governor will exercise his executive responsibility in order to afford the court an opportunity to examine into the particular case affected.

"A copy of this letter has been forwarded to Governor Lawrence."

Mr. Speaker, I heartily congratulate our Governor for favoring abolition of capital punishment and for his public statement thereon; however, I would like to say to our Governor that he has a legal right to stay any and all executions pending legislation by this General Aessembly. The Governor is not limited to pending judicial proceedings. He can also grant a stay on moral and humanitarian grounds as well as for pending legislation. The power to stay executions is an inherent power in the office of the Chief Executive of this Commonwealth. I say to the Governor that pending legislation is just as good a reason for staying an execution as a court proceeding. The legislature is in equal dignity with the judiciary and should be so regarded by a chief executive.

The General Assembly as a whole is now taking greater action to abolish capital punishment at this 1961 session than in all my seventeen years of working on this legislative problem, and I strongly commend our great Speaker of this House for his active and wise efforts in behalf of this legislation. I have been informed that the man to be executed on February 20 is poor, friendless, unintelligent, and without funds to pay his own attorney. Members of this House, this helps to support one of the objections to the death penalty, namely, that, at most, it is only a penalty administered upon the poor. The rich can prosecute expensive appeals while the poor are burned to death in the electric chair. It is impossible to cite a single case in the 20th Century in which a very wealthy or influential man or woman was put to death for murder by this Commonwealth, and when I look at the cases of Thaw, Leopold, Loeb, Chapin, Dr. Finch and Dr. Sheppard, I might even say that a millionaire never suffered the death penalty for murder in this nation.

Members, I ask you to support government by the millions and not just government by the millionaires. Then I ask you my fellow lawmakers to lift up your heads tonight and telephone the Governor to stay all executions pending the 1961 legislative session for the reason that we have pending legislation to stop the death penalty and for the reason that we do want to save as many lives as possible. Won't you aid God's side and telephone the Governor tonight?

Mr. Speaker, I have another unrelated matter that I would like to make a few remarks about, if the Chair will recognize me for that purpose.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman has the floor at the request of the Minority Leader.

Mr. WORLEY. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Regardless of our political party affiliations, Mr. Speaker, we do not need another new executive mansion costing $2 million as planned by the General State Authority. The one at Indiantown Gap is enough. Why should a Governor have two luxurious homes at the state taxpayers' expense? Here is a place to save some state tax money. We don't want our Governors to live like kings. We want our Governors to live like men of the people. We want them to live in a reasonable home like the rest of us in a government by the people.

Now let us really stop wasting public funds around this place, and we will not be needing tax, tax, and more tax. There is absolutely no need for a $2 million additional executive mansion. Such a thing could develop into a graft nest just as the building that we are standing in here tonight developed into a graft nest before I was born, and just as the state finance building developed into another graft nest back in the days when I was attending law school.

I say the Members of this House will be doing a great service to the taxpayers of this Commonwealth if they will write to the Governor as head of the General State Authority, requesting the Governor and the other members of the General State Authority to stop all plans to build this new $2 million executive mansion.

Thank you for hearing me at this time.

The SPEAKER. Does the Minority Leader still desire to be heard?

Mr. AGNEW. Yes, I do, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the Minority Leader.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I would ask for the undivided attention of the Members of the House and particularly the Majority Leader.

We have another gift for him from the Republican House Caucus. We heard last week that we were going to have a short businesslike session. This would be all to the good. We also discover that perhaps there will be other times during this session when some of the bills that are in print are not available to the Members of the House.

So we though, in the interest of efficiency, we would advise the Majority Party to adopt a program so that all of us who are representatives of the people might understand the ground rules for the operation of the House during this session.

I would suggest, on behalf of the Minority, that Mr. McCann and the Speaker, Mr. Andrews, get together with the Governor and his representatives and set up a system whereby the House bills that are introduced each day are gone over by a committee representing both offices and be stamped either "secret," "emergency," "confidential," or "restricted."

Now we have a gift for the Majority Leader to get this program in effect. Any bills that have the administration stamp on them from "secret" down to "confidential" we would like to know just what the ground rules are, whether we have to wait one day to get copies, whether we do not get copies of them at all, or just what we have to do to get copies of those bills. Perhaps we have to put it in writing.

I would suggest that bills marked "top secret," only the Governor's office get copies of those bills, that bills marked "emergency," only the Governor's office plus the Majority Leader and the Speaker get them, and that those marked "confidential," just the Members of the Majority get them, and those that are marked "restricted," perhaps, and we ask for consideration here, perhaps the Minority Leader's office could get one copy of the bills marked "restricted."

Now we have two more stamps, "salvage" and "shortage." And we though that perhaps when a mistake has been made in a bill, you would simply stamp it "salvage" and that will be an excuse not to put out any copies of it, and when no other excuse comes to mind as to why a bill could be withheld from the Members, perhaps it could be stamped "shortage," and that would indicate there are not enough copies of the bill and Members of the House should not be permitted to waste the few copies there are.

So we feel if this program goes into effect and we all understand what the ground rules are that any bill not so stamped, will be all right for the Members of the House and the public generally to ask for a copy of that bill.

Now I would ask the page to deliver this to the Majority Leader and I know he will accept it in the same good humor in which it is given.

The SPEAKER. Might the Chair enter an inquiry? Does the Minority Leader propose embodying the outline for these suggestions in a resolution? If he does, maybe we will pass it.

Mr. AGNEW. If I could get the Majority Leader to cosponsor it, I would consider it, but otherwise I do not think I could get it out of the Rules Committee.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I believe that the Minority has delivered all but two stamps. One is known as "filibuster" and the other is "waste of time." Those two are missing from the stamps delivered. I certainly accept them in the humor in which they were given and in the lighter vein of the thoughts behind the words I say to you, that you have received all the bills and you will receive them all and you received them all that day, Monday. And you know as well as any Member of this House that all the bills are in print; in fact, resolutions are to be printed from now on, following an agreement and a conference. They were not printed before.

There is no question about whether some bills are administration or not and there are no thoughts or secrets on any of those bills that are administration because in Rules Committee, if I am correct, you intend to mimeograph a short resume or description of every bill on the calendar. We intend to also furnish to you that such and such a bill on the calendar is an administration bill, so that you would know; or that such and such a bill is from the Treasurer of the Commonwealth, or the Auditor General of the Commonwealth, or the Secretary of Internal Affairs, or some other department only dealing with a departmental problem.

So, therefore, Mr. Speaker, I say to the Minority, there are no secrets of any kind on any bills and I certainly thank him for these stamps here they have forwarded to us today. I suppose the reason the other two are missing, the holder has no more racks to place two more stamps in it.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mr. Eilberg for Mr. DOUGHERTY because of illness.

Mr. Tompkins for Mr. ROYER because of illness in family.

Mr. Tompkins for Mr. BUSH for the week because of illness.

Mr. Tompkins for Mr. ODORISIO for the week because of illness.

Mr. Tompkins for Mr. MAGEE for the week because of illness.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 42, entitled:

An Act repealing the act of March 9, 1771 (1 Sm. L. 313) entitled "An act to prevent the destruction of rockfish and oysters."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, we have agreed to let this bill roll today in spite of the fact that we have not caucused on it on the theory that it is non-controversial, but for the benefit of the Members of the House I would ask one of the sponsors, Mr. Curwood or Mr. Fineman, to explain to the House the reason for this bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I do not know why I have been designated the oyster and clam expert in this House when, as a matter of fact, I do not like either, but my name appears on this bill and I would like to tell the House what little I know about it.

The bill is no stranger to the House, having been introduced in the 1959 Session and having passed at that time by a vote of 191 to 0.

This bill repeals an act that is 189 years old and that act says in effect that oysters and clams cannot be sold between May 10 and September 1 of each year. The bill came into prominence several years ago when two very bright Allegheny County attorneys—and I have heard tell that all attorneys from Allegheny County are very bright—ordered some clams in a Pittsburgh hotel and, after having partaken of this delicacy, refused to pay for them. The court decreed they were within their right in refusing to pay because of this act which says that if clams or oysters are sold between May 10 and September 1 they are subject to forfeiture, and, therefore, there was no liability on the consumers of these clams. Of course, this bill had its origin in a day when we did not have the benefit of refrigeration and freezing methods such as we have today. There is no reason, at least for health purposes, that I know of for the act being in effect and in force and it is for that purpose that this repeal is sought.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I would like to further interrogate the gentleman.

First, I would like to comment and say that the two lawyers from Allegheny County in question were both Democrats. They were trying to get something for nothing.

I would ask the gentleman seriously, what is a rock-fish?

Mr. FINEMAN. I do not know exactly what a rock-fish is, Mr. Speaker, but the act says that if a rock-fish does not measure 12 inches from its eyes to the fork in its tail—and it was at this point in the 1959 Session that we all broke up—it cannot be destroyed between the period of March 1 and December 1. I do not know whether a rock-fish is, in fact, a crab or a type of bass, as has been suggested to me by someone on the floor, but the real intent and purpose of this bill and this repealer does not deal principally with rock-fish but rather with oysters and clams.

Mr. AGNEW. I thank the gentleman.

I would say, Mr. Speaker, that we know at least as much about this bill as we knew about the bills we voted upon on Thursday morning, so we are ready to have it rolled.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, the best I can say to the Minority Leader is that he is not receptive to my very erudite discourse on oysters and clams. Perhaps he is not a lover of oysters and clams and that is why he does not want to open his ears to what I tried to enlighten him about.

Let me just repeat briefly, as the law stands now oysters and clams cannot be sold between May 10 and September 1. This is outmoded and no longer needed. This bill will make certain that they can be sold and that the vendor of those delicacies can collect the sale price.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILLS AND RESOLUTIONS PASSED OVER

The SPEAKER. There being no objection, the remaining bills and resolutions on today's calendar will be passed over.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Murphy rise?

Mr. MURPHY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. MURPHY. Mr. Speaker and colleagues, I desire to call your attention to the Majority Whip's statement last week at which time my secretary called and reported me ill. However, I believe she was misinterpreted. She called and reported me off due to illness in the family.

I am perfectly healthy and very sorry that I missed last week's session. I, however, was in Boston at the Baker Memorial Hospital where my father-in-law is very seriously ill and still remains. I regret, particularly, if the Speaker will convey my regrets to the Majority Leader and Members of my own side of the House, that I was not here to vote on some very important matters of legislation to us Democrats. I must say, if I had been here I would have cast my votes in the affirmative on House bills Nos. 88 through 101, realizing our responsibility both to the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and to a balanced budget which we are now prepared to enact. Thank you.

The Speaker. The remarks of the gentleman from Washington on the question of personal privilege will be spread upon the record.

COMMITTEE MEETINGS

APPROPRIATIONS—Joint House and Senate Hearing on Department of Highway Budget, Mr. Polen, Chairman, New House Caucus Room, Monday, January 30 at 7:00 p.m. and Tuesday, January 31 at 9:00 a.m.

EDUCATION, Mrs. Reibman, Chairman, Room 324, Tuesday, January 31 at 9:00 a.m.

GAME and CONSERVATION, Mr. Curwood, Chairman, Room 323, Tuesday, January 31 at 11:30 a.m.

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, rise?

Mr. POLEN. To make a brief statement concerning the hearings we are going to have tonight.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I discussed with the Minority Leader the procedure that we will have at the joint Senate-House committee hearings tonight and tomorrow.

We have two large committees, 23 Members from the Senate and 20 Members from the House, so we are going to restrict the questioning to the Members of the Committees, plus the Majority and Minority Leaders from the House and the Senate.

All the Members of the House and Senate are welcome to attend the meeting, but we ask that if they have any questions to be directed to the secretary or other witnesses, that they give them to either the Minority or the Majority Leader or one of the committee members.

STATEMENT BY MAJORITY LEADER

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I have heard around the Halls of this House that certain lobbyists have stated, and I use the word "lobbyist," that they have asked to be heard at these hearings and that the Chairman refused. I want the record to show clearly that those lobbyists never asked as yet, that they never asked the chairman of either the Senate or the House committee to be heard. If I hear this statement one more time, I am going to name him by name and ask him when he asked and ask him to come to the hearing and state that he never asked.

I think it is fair to be fair. I know that certain people are opposed to measures. That is the proper way in a democratic form of government, but it is not right to make accusations or to lie about having asked. To those who know who I am talking about, deliver the message to him by Garcia today, that he has never asked, and I would appreciate it if he would stop telling that he did ask.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I would like to take this opportunity to announce a Republican House Caucus immediately after adjournment today.

DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, this House will now adjourn and immediately upon the adjournment I ask that all the Democratic Members proceed immediately to the New House Caucus Room and bring their House calendars with them all marked.

We must proceed immediately with the caucus because the caucus room will be used for public hearings tonight.

Mr. Speaker, I will then proceed for adjournment.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. SHERMAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

Mr. Rovansek asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a resolution to be introduced by him.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. McDEVITT. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Tuesday, January 31, 1961 at 1:00 p.m. EST.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 5:06 p.m. EST), the House adjourned.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1961. 145th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 38. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, JANUARY 31, 1961. No. 13.

SENATE

TUESDAY, January 31, 1961.

The Senate met at 2:00 p.m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. LESTER C. UPDEGROVE, Pastor of Bethany Evangelical United Brethren Church, Palmyra, offered the following prayer:

Trusting in Thy loving providence, our Heavenly Father, we seek to bring to Thee our devoted expressions of gratitude. Remember us, O Lord, and cause us to keep Thy commandments willingly and faithfully. Define for us each day the pathway of duty, and give us a deep desire to obey its obligation. Inspire and bless every movement throughout our State and Nation that means advancement in the enduring benefits for our fellow men.

To this end, give Thy enabling power to the leadership and every Member of our legislative bodies.

O hear us, help us and use us for Thy Name's sake. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. WEINER and Mr. RIPP, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

Mr. BERGER asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. PECHAN and Mr. EHRGOOD, for personal reasons.

NOMINATIONS BY THE GOVERNOR REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communications in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which were read as follows, and referred to the Committee on Executive Nominations:

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE

January 31, 1961.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate Mrs. Betty Lou Kradel, Avalon Drive, R. D. 2, New Castle, Lawrence County, for appointment as Justice of the Peace in and for the Township of Union, Lawrence County, to serve until the first Monday of January 1962, vice M. Jane Lanigan, resigned.

DAVID L. LAWRENCE.

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE

January 31, 1961.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate Thomas M. Papa, 107 Lincoln Avenue, Stockertown, Northampton County, for appointment as Justice of the Peace in and for the Borough of Stockertown, Northampton County, to serve until the first Monday of January 1962, vice Joseph Breidinger, deceased.

DAVID L. LAWRENCE.

HOUSE MESSAGE

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented for concurrence House Concurrent Resolution, which was read by the Clerk as follows:

COMMENDING THE HONORABLE BAKER ROYER FOR HIS SERVICE TO THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION AND TO THE COMMONWEALTH

In the House of Representatives, January 31, 1961.

Whereas, The Honorable Baker Royer is this day retiring as Chairman of the Joint State Government Commission which he has served with dedication and distinction as Chairman since June, 1949. Prior to becoming Chairman of the Commission, he served as its Vice-Chairman for two years. The Honorable Baker Royer was first elected to the House of Representatives on April 28, 1936, and has served continuously since that time. In 1943-1945, he served as Chairman of the Commission's Committee on Distribution of State Funds, from 1945 to 1949 as Vice-Chairman of the Commission's Committee on State-Local Highway Financing and from 1947 to 1949 as a member of the Subcommittee on the Legislative Journal; and

Whereas, During Representative Royer's term of office, the Commission has continually increased its capacity to serve the General Assembly in the development of facts and recommendations on all phases of government. Under his guidance, the Commission has made many important studies, the results of which may be found upon the statute books of the Commonwealth, which, to mention but a few, include the School Code, the School Health Program, the Liquor Code, the Mental Health Code, the Landlord and Tenant Act, Decedents' Estates Laws, the Vehicle Code, the State and School Employes' Retirement Codes. It was through the Commission's investigation and study of public assistance and blind pensions that the Commonwealth secured Federal participation in blind pensions to the extent of 6 million dollars per biennium. The Commission's influence among other States throughout America has grown and its reports are eagerly sought throughout the World; and

Whereas, Representative Royer has served as a member of the Executive Committee of the National Legislative Conference; Now, Therefore, Be It

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania acknowledges its debt to the Honorable Baker Royer for his service to the Joint State Government Commission and to this Commonwealth and expresses its sincere appreciation for his long years of devotion to duty.

Mr. WEINER asked and obtained unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of this resolution.

On the question,

Will the Senate concur in the resolution?

SENATE CONCURS IN HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do concur in the resolution just read by the Clerk.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to and the resolution was concurred in.

The motion was agreed to and the resolution was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

GENERAL COMMUNICATION

REPORT OF THE ANTHRACITE MINE DRAINAGE COMMISSION

The PRESIDENT laid before the Senate the following communication, which was read by the Clerk as follows:

(SEAL)

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Department of Mines and Mineral Industries,
Harrisburg.

Lewis E. Evans — January 30, 1961.
The Secretary

Dear Mr. Moomaw:

Act 697, approved December 17, 1959 created a commission known as the Anthracite Mine Drainage Commission for the purpose of acting in an advisory capacity in the use of funds appropriated by the Act of July 7, 1955 (P. L. 258) entitled "An Act providing for anthracite mine drainage, contingent on Federal aid, and making an appropriation." Section 3 of this Act requires that the Commission make a report to the Governor and the General Assembly on or before the first day of February, 1961.

There are attached sufficient copies of this report to be distributed among the members of the Senate on behalf of this Commission.

Very truly yours,
/s/ LEWIS E. EVANS

Enclosures
Honorable Paul C. Moomaw
Secretary of the Senate

GUESTS OF SENATOR MARTIN SILVERT PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, at this time, I wish to present to you and to the Members of this Senate the Reverend W. D. Ernst, of the Reformation Lutheran Church, of Philadelphia. He is here with a group of young people, seated in the gallery, in order to observe the proceedings in our Chamber.

May I ask the Chair to welcome them?

The PRESIDENT. We are very happy to have you with us.

Will you please stand up in order for the Senate to greet you? We hope you will find our proceedings of interest to all of you.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. BELL and KELLER presented to the Chair SB 142, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 24, 1939 (P. L. 872), entitled "The Penal Code," prohibiting solicitation of information from jurors subsequent to a verdict for the purpose of receiving a statement to be used in a parole or pardon proceeding.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. MULLIN presented to the Chair SB 143, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article nine, section one of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, exempting from taxation a portion of real property owned by certain persons sixty-five years of age or older.

Which was committed to the Committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations.

Messrs. STAISEY and FLEMING presented to the Chair SB 144, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 31, 1945 (P. L. 1198), entitled "Bituminous Coal Open Pit Mining Conservation Act," increasing the amount of certain bonds; providing for back-filling; changing the requirements as to the covering of the exposed face of the unmined coal and making editorial changes.

Which was committed to the Committee on Mines and Mineral Industries.

Mr. KROMER presented to the Chair SB 145, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 22, 1931 (P. L. 594), entitled "Rural State Highway Law," adding a route in Jefferson County.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

He also presented to the Chair SB 146, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 22, 1931 (P. L. 594), entitled "Rural State Highway Law," adding new routes in Jefferson County.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

Messrs. LANE, WEINER and KESSLER presented to the Chair SB 147, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 2, 1945 (P. L. 382), entitled "Municipality Authorities Act of 1945," removing tax exemption in certain cases.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

They also presented to the Chair SB 148, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 2, 1945, (P. L. 382), entitled "Municipality Authorities Act of 1945," changing the procedure for the sale of bonds.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

Messrs. DONOLOW, MULLIN and STIEFEL presented to the Chair SB 149, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 21, 1949 (P. L. 665), entitled "First Class City Home Rule Act," authorizing city council of any city of the first class to legislate with respect to worldly employment, sports, games, diversion or business on Sunday and with respect to the sale of liquor and malt and brewed beverages on Sunday.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

RECESS

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I request a five minute recess of the Senate for the purpose of holding a meeting of the Committee on Finance, to be held in the rear of this Chamber, in the Minority Leader's Office.

The PRESIDENT. Are there any objections? The Chair hears no objection, and declared a five minute recess of the Senate.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

SENATE RESOLUTION

SAVE YOUR VISION WEEK

Mr. WEINER offered the following resolution (Serial No. 9), which was read, considered and adopted:

In the Senate, January 31, 1961.

WHEREAS, the need for good vision is vital to the safety of our highways; and

WHEREAS, good vision is of great importance to the industrial growth of our Commonwealth; and

WHEREAS, it is important that our young people take preventive measures through regular professional eye examination to keep their vision up to top efficiency; and

WHEREAS, at least once a year the citizens of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania should have these facts brought to their attention so that they might care for their priceless vision regularly and not when the need is urgent; therefore be it

RESOLVED, that the Senate of Pennsylvania declare the week of March 6th-13th as SAVE YOUR VISION WEEK, in support of a campaign by the Pennsylvania Optometric Association to acquaint the citizens of the Commonwealth with the importance of regular eye care for everyone.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. SILVERT, by unanimous consent, from the Committee on Finance, reported, as committed, SB 136 and 137.

Mr. FLACK, by unanimous consent, from the Committee on Local Government, reported, as committed, SB 85.

PRESENTATION OF GAVEL TO PRESIDENT OF SENATE

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, last week, on two occasions, there was action at the rostrum of what might have been catastrophic proportions. Of course, several of the employees, working in front of the rostrum, had their lives endangered by flying missiles.

Another Allentown businessman, Colonel Philip Neuweiler, the State Commander of the Civil Air Patrol and a local brewer, and myself got together during the weekend and decided that you, as a former Allentown businessman, should receive a small gift from your old home town. We would like to present it to you at this time.

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease for just a moment.

(The Senate was at ease.)

The PRESIDENT. I am sure there will be no more danger of flying missiles, unless the entire thing gets out of hand.

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, may I also suggest that you will find it very useful on summer picnics.

The PRESIDENT. I imagine so.

How does it sound down there? It sounds like thunder.

May I express my sincere thanks for your thoughtfulness, Senator, and that of my friend in Allentown.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, we on the Democratic side are wondering whether this gift is going to influence the Chair's decisions in any way. If so, we have decided that we, too, will present the Chair with a present within the very near future.

The PRESIDENT. I will look forward to that gift. However, I will not commit myself until after I see the offering.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, it might be well to suggest to the gentleman from Washington, Senator Lane, that the instrument which the President has received is not only a gavel, but a bung-starter.

The PRESIDENT. I am afraid I shall have to use it as a gavel.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF JOINT SENATE AND HOUSE APPROPRIATIONS COMMITTEE HEARING

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, there will be a Joint Senate and House Appropriations Committee Hearing, scheduled for the Department of Public Instruction and the Department of Revenue, on Wednesday, February 1, 1961, starting at 9:00 a.m., in Room 245. The intention is to open this hearing to all of the Members of the Legislature and anyone else who would like to attend and be heard or ask questions of the people involved.

Officials of the Department of Public Instruction, the Department of Public Welfare and the Department of Revenue will be present at that time, and they will testify on their budgets and on their programs. Anyone who is either in favor or against these budgets and programs may come and be heard at that time.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, in connection with that announcement, I would like to state that it would be advisable if the Senate could get advance notice of the hearings on the various departments so that Members can be prepared.

I am especially interested in making preparation for the hearing of the Department of Public Welfare. There are several departments asking for astronomical figures, without us knowing what it is all about. The best thing is to be prepared, and especially in connection with geriatrics of the office for the aging. I see the Governor's Budget asks for close to $300,000. Now if I come there unprepared, how can I pass upon it? How can I question it?

Therefore, Mr. President, the best thing would be to have advance notice so that we could prepare ouselves.

CALENDAR

FINAL PASSAGE CALENDAR

BILL RE-REFERRED

SB43—Upon motion of Mr. WEINER, seconded by Mr. SEYLER, and agreed to, the bill was rereferred to the Committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations.

THIRD READING CALENDAR

BILL OVER IN ORDER

SB 3—Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I request that Senate Bill No. 3, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I have no particular objection. However, this matter has been on the Calendar for quite a little while and I think that we ought to try to get these matters cleared up as quickly as possible.

This is an amendment to the Constitution, raising the borrowing capacity of school districts from seven per cent of the assessed value of taxable property to fourteen per cent. It is the floor and ceiling measure that we are trying to get. If there is some compelling reason why this should not be done, I think we ought to clear that away.

I have no objection to the bill going over today, but I wish we would address ourselves to some of these matters. I want to try and clear from the Calendar those measures which we can act on and on which there is some other question.

I would just like to suggest to the Minority Leader that he discuss this matter, and in some way or another, let us try to address ourselves to it and clear it off the Calendar, one way or another.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, my only reason for asking that this bill go over in order is, as I understand it, —and this is strictly from outside information—there is a question as to whether or not this is necessary. I understand that some opinion, or some memorandum or something of that sort is being sought in order to determine whether or not this may not be done under existing constitutional provisions.

I have no source of supply for that. I am simply informed by one of my colleagues that this is the case.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I will be happy to introduce the Senator to the Attorney General. I think perhaps he and I can receive from her an opinion, if she is the person who should give us an opinion on this matter.

I will try to do that tomorrow, if that is what is being sought.

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order.

BILL REREFERRED

SB 41—Upon motion of Mr. WEINER, seconded by Mr. HALUSKA, and agreed to, the bill was rereferred to the Committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations.

BILL ON THIRD READING AMENDED

SB 53—Read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Messrs. McMENAMIN, BERGER and LANE, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 10), page 20, lines 19 and 20; page 21, lines 1 and 2 by striking out "] When relief is sought prior to the institu" in line 19, all of line 20, page 20, all of line 1 and "In any case the" in line 2 page 21.

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 10), page 21, line 3 by striking out "or preliminary or permanent injunction."

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 10), page 21, line 4 by striking out "when enforcement of a Commission order is sought."

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 10), page 21, line 5 by inserting a bracket after "to" and inserting immediately thereafter: "When enforcement of a commission order is sought the court may".

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 10), page 21, lines 8 and 9 by striking out "upon petitions for enforcement of Commission orders."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, before I speak on the merits of the amendments, I did want to add that they are offered not only by myself, but also by Senator Berger and Senator Lane.

Mr. President, many of us are sincerely interested in giving the people of Pennsylvania a Fair Housing Act which truly expresses only basic American principles and basic morality. Some of us believe that the bill, in its present form, is unworkable.

These amendments, I believe, are designed to make this a truly workable bill which will not be a false promise to the people of Pennsylvania who are so concerned with the need for this worth-while legislation.

Basically, primarily and simply what these amendments do is place this type of legal problem in the same situation as every other legal problem of everyone in Pennsylvania; namely, that you must exhaust your administrative remedies before going to the courts. These amendments strike out that portion of the bill which, in its present form, contains a provision for an application or a petition for a preliminary injunction before there is any hearing. All these amendments do is remove from the bill those provisions which would permit the issuance of a preliminary injunction.

The bill, if these amendments are adopted, would require that any complainant shall go before the F.E.P.C.—or, as it is now to be called, the Human Relations Commission—to have a hearing. Then the Commission itself, after hearing testimony, will make a finding, and the Commission, the complainant or the Attorney General may then go into court for an appropriate order.

We think this makes it a more logical and orderly procedure, and will eliminate what might be a bad situation if the courts were clogged with thousands of applications of various merit by citizens themselves. We think there should be a preliminary hearing and screening by the Commission itself, as is set up under the law.

Therefore, I urge the adoption of these amendments.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, as we debated here last night, in discussing this matter, we feel primarily that this measure is for the purpose of education and to express what all of us believe to be basic public policy. I think this might be one more step in accomplishing this purpose. If, in fact, it does not accomplish this purpose or acts as a deterrent, the Legislature will be here to correct the error. However, I think the most important thing is the basic public policy and the education of the public at large in this matter.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, if we are about to act on this bill, as I assume we are, I would like to interrogate the Majority Leader.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, may we be at ease for a moment?

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I now request that Senate Bill No. 53, Printer's No. 10, as amended, appear on tomorrow's Third Reading Calendar.

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection, this bill, as amended, will be placed on tomorrow's Third Reading Calendar.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I have just been approached by another Member of the Senate who did not realize what we had just done. I recognize the fact that Senator Weiner has already asked that the bill go over in order. However, I do not think that was necessary. I think the bill, of necessity, would have gone over in order, awaiting printing for Third Reading and Final Passage.

Mr. President, I am not trying to delay action at all, but I would like to have the decision of the Chair reconsidered just for a moment. Give us merely two minutes to decide whether or not my colleagues, Senator Stroup, wants to present a further amendment.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, may we be at ease for one moment?

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease.

(Then Senate was at ease.)

The PRESIDENT. As the Chair stated previously, Senate Bill No. 53, Printer's No. 10, as amended, will appear on tomorrow's Third Reading Calendar.

SECOND READING CALENDAR

BILL ON SECOND READING

SB 28—Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I request that Senate Bill No. 28 go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I object to this bill going over in order today, unless there is some compelling reason to do so.

I might add, Mr. President, that I feel badly because every bill which I want to either move or pass over in order seems to offend Senator Fleming. However, perhaps this is our week. Maybe after this, we will get along fine.

I have no objection to the bill going over in order if there is some compelling reason to do so. This bill has been on the Calendar for some time and has been put over in order a number of times.

The biggest problem with this bill is that time is running out. If we are not going to act on this measure, I think we should take it off the Calendar altogether. February 21st is the first day for taking out petitions. The last day, I believe, is March 3rd. I may be wrong on that date, but it is sometime early in March. It probably could be March 13th. This measure has to be approved in the House, sent to the Governor's desk and be printed. Therefore, if we do not act on this matter within the next week or so, I would say there is no reason for us to hold this bill any longer.

If the gentleman has some compelling reason to have the bill go over in order, he knows that we will be very happy to accommodate any request that he might make.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, the only compelling reason I would have would be that the bill is such a bad bill, to start with, that I have been attempting to find ways and means of amending it which will, at least, give it some semblance of the position it held before they started tampering with it. I, as yet, have not come up with anything concrete. I am working on it hard and I thought, perhaps, by next week I might have some amendment which may get it back into some semblance of order.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not intend to press for this measure in great detail. However, I think the basic problem involved in this measure is this:

If the present Act, which was passed during the last Session, were to be adhered to, you would need in the city of Philadelphia approximately 250,000 to 300,000 names. In the city of Pittsburgh, where the Act would apply, the number would run to approximately 80,000 to 100,000 names. Are we trying here to see how many names we can get on a petition, or are we trying to bring this matter to the electorate and let them vote on this measure? That is all that is involved. The 5,000 names which are now required is the only tampering that has been done. The number of names which are needed has been reduced, but the purport and the meaning of the Act have not been changed.

If we are trying to make it more difficult to get this on the ballot, that is one thing. If we are trying to get it on the ballot in order for people to vote on it and express their opinion, that is another thing. I think, basically, we have to come to grips with that problem.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I just have one comment to make; namely, since when has it been difficult to get 300,000 in Philadelphia?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, if the gentleman is referring to the majority, I would say it is not very difficult. If he is referring to names on petitions, I think that is very difficult.

As every gentleman who has ever run for office realzes, you always have the problem of someone coming along and saying that the following names are names which do not belong on there, or that they are duplicated or something of that nature. They then begin to strike the names off. Once you strike off enough names and you go below 300,000, you are in difficulty.

I realize that certain gentlemen in this room are never going to be in favor of this bill, whether 500,000,000 names are needed or whether one name is needed. They are just against this bill and are against the philosophy of it. I think they should be fair with us, face this issue and state so. To try to talk or amend it to death, I think is certainly not in keeping with what the Legislature intended during the last Session of the Legislature.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I would like to make my position definitely clear, with referrence to this piece of legislation.

During the last Session of the Legislature, I supported the amendment to this Act. However, as of now, I am afraid that I am going to oppose this bill with every means at my command.

I feel that a reduction in the number of names is not proper. When you go down to 5,000 registered voters in the city of Philadelphia, which has a population of over 1,000,000, I feel it is not a true referendum, so to speak. I think that at least 25,000 people should sign petitions requesting this referendum.

Therefore, Mr. President, in this particular case, I cannot understand how this legislation is going to pass in its present form. If it does pass the Senate, I do not think it will pass the House. The people back in my Senatorial District do not approve of this type of referendum. It is not complying with the law. It seems that someone must be lazy or they want the Legislature to do the job or take the brunt.

I would sugest to the sponsors that they offer a bill here, asking the Legislature to vote "yes" or "no"' as to whether or not there is going to be liquor sold in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, instead of legislation such as this. We can then come to the crux of the situation. However, as of now, Senator Fleming has some support, so far as I am concerned. I cannot vote for this legislation. If Senator Fleming will make the motion, I will second the motion to re-refer this bill in its present form.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I am afraid this issue has been placed before the Legislature, Session after Session, whether they do or do not want liquor sold in Philadelphia. It has always been a problem of getting the people to vote for it. It was put into this form because it would take the burden away from the Members who did not want to face up to the issue and who get into Philadelphia and Pittsburgh once in awhile and are very happy to have, shall we say, some liquid refreshment on occasion. They did not want to face this issue, nor did they want to offend anybody. Therefore, they took the easy way out and said, "Let the people vote for it." I think that is being honest and I think that is looking the issue right in the eye.

If the problem is whether or not to rerefer this bill, I think we should do that this afternoon. Let us find out about it. If we have nobody in favor of this measure, that will be the end of it, instead of dragging it along on the Calendar.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, we passed an amendment to this Act last Session, primarily for one reason; namely, to help the convention business in the city of Pittsburgh and the city of Philadelphia. Having made that decision, we included in the Act a provision requiring twenty-five per cent of the electors, in order to have a referendum.

I am going to use a phrase which was used by a reputable newspaper, the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin. They carried an editorial, in which they said that if you want to help Philadeluhia and Pittsburgh to get convention business,—which was the original intent of this Act—do not put up what is called an artificial barrier, such as requiring 250,000 names before the people can vote on the issue.

MOTION TO REREFER BILL

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I now move that Senate Bill No. 28 be re-referred to the appropriate committee—to the Committee on Law and Order—for the purpose of further study and possible amendment.

The reason I was hesitant as to which committee to send it back to is because it came from the Select Committee on Legislation, which was giving very careful consideration to bills for a couple of days. However, it should be rereferred to the Committee on Law and Order.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I will be very happy to second that motion. Should the motion be successful, I hope that the Chairman will postpone action until about 1969.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I desire a roll call.

The PRESIDENT. A roll call being requested, the Clerk will call the roll. (During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. SESLER. Mr. President, I would like to reconsider my vote and ask that I be recorded as having voted "no."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will be so recorded.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I would like to inquire how the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Miller, is recorded as voting.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Beaver, Senator Miller, is recorded as voting "no."

The roll was called and resulted as follows:

YEAS—21

Bell,	Keller,	Mallery,	Taylor,
Berger,	Kessler,	Propert,	Wade,
Chapman,	Kromer,	Shafer,	Wagner,
Fleming,	Lane,	Stevenson,	Ware, III,
Haluska,	Madigan,	Stroup,	Wolfe,
Hawbaker,

NAYS—25

Camiel,	McCreesh,	Ripp,	Silvert,
Devlin,	McGinnis,	Rooney,	Stalsey,
DiSilvestro,	McMenamin,	Sarraf,	Stiefel,
Donolow,	Miller,	Scott,	Van Sant,
Hays,	Mullin,	Sesler,	Weiner,
Kalman,	Murray,	Seyler,	Yatron,
Mahady,

So the question was determined in the negative and the motion to rerefer was defeated.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I now move that Senate Bill No. 28 be read for the second time and appear on tomorrow's Third Reading Calendar, if it passes Second Reading.

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will now proceed to consideration of this bill on Second Reading.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I had requested that the bill go over in order. Senator Weiner objected and has now made a motion. I have heard no action on his motion to have it read.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe I made a motion that the bill be read for the second time.

The PRESIDENT. I am sorry. I simply proceeded on the theory that it was in order to read the bill without a vote. However, we can have a vote, if that is what you desire.

Mr. FLEMING. It is not necessary to have a vote.

The PRESIDENT. Why are you objecting then?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I am not objecting.

The PRESIDENT. I thought that is what you were requesting.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President—

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I believe I have the floor.

The PRESIDENT. You do have the floor, Senator Fleming.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I have been accused, in that very suave and nice way which the Majority Leader has, of being unfair. I certainly do not want to be unfair to him. I was trying to be fair to him. He made a motion and the Chair evidently neglected to take cognizance of the motion. I have no desire to have a vote on the motion.

If the Majority Leader objects to my request for the bill to go over in order, that is his prerogative, as a Member of this Body. This bill surely will then be read for the second time. However, I would call the gentleman's attention to the fact, when he speaks about being fair—

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President—

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Fleming, has the floor.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. Perhaps the gentleman did not hear Senator Fleming. Does the gentleman wish to rise to a point of order at this time?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I feel that I have heard Senator Fleming. I also feel that his speech is not pertinent to what we are discussing here. I want to hear him out and will not interrupt him.

I will withdraw my motion and ask that this bill be read for the second time today.

As long as comments are in order, I wish to state that I have not tried to gag the gentleman. He has used every means to hold up this bill and I have not stood in his way. Even some of our people voted for rereferral of the bill. We have not used the unit rule over here.

I think the gentleman is out of order when he accuses me or anyone else over here of being unfair. I have not prevented this bill from going over in order since we have been here. I think this is completely uncalled for. Everybody cannot win every measure which they are in favor of. I have lost many measures in this Senate and I have never used that tack or that attitude. I do not use it now.

This bill has been before us for some time. I think there is nothing wrong in trying to get down to the business of this Senate, enact this measure and get it over with. We cannot have a businesslike Session if we are going to continue dragging our heels on every measure, merely because we cannot get the votes. You saw there were a number of Democratic votes here for Senator Fleming's motion, which I did nothing about. I think he is being unfair and I think he has been using this tactic ever since we started here. I have never been unfair to him and I have never cut him or anyone else off from debating any issue, whether they were in or out of order.

I think we should concern ourselves with this Calendar and take up the measures as they come up. I do not think we ought to drag along here day after day, week after week. We should have a businesslike Session and finish here early.

The PRESIDENT. At the present point in this proceeding, we have before us Senate Bill No. 28, Printer's No. 38. There was a request for it to go over in order, which was objected to by you, Senator Weiner. Therefore, the bill did not go over in its order. We now have the bill on Second Reading and the Clerk will read the first section of the bill.

The first section was read,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. FLEMING asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I will paraphrase a very famous former Governor of New York by saying, "Let us look at the record."

I would like to look at the record and I defy the Majority Leader to show a time in this Session when I have asked for Senate Bill No. 28 to go over in order before today. I would recall to his attention, Mr. President, that the request for Senate Bill No. 28 to go over in order came from his side of the Senate.

There is no question of my unalterable opposition to this type of legislation. However, when he speaks about being fair, he should try to be fair once in a while, too. He says that I am not fair. I want to tell you if the tactics he has been employing so far are indicative of those which he intends to use for the remainder of the Session, he will have a lot of trouble from this side of the Senate.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, the only objection I have to the statements made by the former speaker is, let us look at the record. Instead of "famous person," it should be "infamous person."

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The title was read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

SB 31—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. BERGER.

BILLS REREFERRED

SB 35, 38, 46, 49 and 51—Upon motion of Mr. WEINER, second by Mr. SEYLER, and agreed to, the bills were rereferred to the Committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations.

FIRST READING CALENDAR

BILLS ON FIRST READING

HB 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100 and 101—Read at length the first time and agreed to,

Order, To be transcribed for a second reading.

BILLS ON FIRST READING

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the first reading of all bills reported from committees for the first time at today's session.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The bills were as follows: SB 20, 85, 88, 93, 94, 136 and 137.

And said bills having been read at length for the first time,

Order, To be laid aside for second reading.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, returned to the Senate, SB 2, with the information that the House has passed the same without amendments.

HOUSE BILLS FOR CONCURRENCE

He also presented HB 46, 54 and 73, which were referred to the Committee on State Government.

He also presented for concurrence HB 57 and 60, which were referred to the Committee on Mines and Mineral Industries.

He also presented for concurrence HB 70 and 74, which were referred to the Committee on Banking.

He also presented for concurrence HB 71, which was referred to the Committee on Insurance.

He also presented for concurrence HB 72, which was referred to the Committee on Judiciary General.

HOUSE CURRENT RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

He also presented for concurrence House Concurrent Resolution No. 16, entitled:

Creating a "Legislative Commission on Space Allocation" for offices and working space in the State capitol buildings.

which was referred to the Committee on Rules.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. WADE. Mr. President and my colleagues, I arise today to make inquiry as to why legislation raising the gas tax of Pennsylvania, which is now eleven times as high as the general sales tax levy, must be rushed through the Legislature in such record time. I am referring to House Bill 90, House Bill 91, and House Bill 94, as well as the other bills in this so-called tax package.

These bills came to the Senate on Monday of this week. I inquire whether it is to keep a large segment of the people who pay the tax ignorant of what is going on, or is it to keep some of the Members of the Legislature who do not now enjoy the privilege of being on the Majority Side uninformed, or will the entire plan not stand the spotlight of that great court of public opinion?

It seems to me, after having the privilege of serving in the Legislature for some considerable length of time, that each time the Highways Department wishes to raise revenue for the Motor License Fund, they get out the crying towel and bewail the sad fact that they do not have near enough money to spend.

A few weeks ago, Senator Berger and I introduced a measure which, if enacted, would create a continuing Legislative Commission, to be known as the State Highway Planning and Financial Commission. Under the terms of the bill, as introduced, both the Chairman of the Senate Highways Committee and the Chairman of the House Highways Committee would be members, and there would be appointed one member from the Majority side and one member from the Minority side of both Houses to serve on this commission.

Among the powers and duties of the commission would be the following:

To establish what funds will be available for highway construction and maintenance in each three-month period;

To consult with the Department of Highways concerning its responsibilities and problems, both financial and legal, in connection with the construction, reconstruction and maintenance of roads and in the development of highway programs;

To assist the Secretary of Highways in the establishment and enforcement of sound personnel policies;

To consult with local authorities responsible for construction, reconstruction and maintenance of roads and bridges concerning their respective highway responsibilities and problems;

To consult with the Pennsylvania State Police and with the Bureau of Motor Vehicles of the Department of Revenue concerning the regulation of traffic and enforcement of the laws pertaining thereto;

To gather such information as may be deemed useful to the General Assembly and to submit a report thereon to the Governor of the Commonwealth and to each Member of the General Assembly not later than the fifteenth day of February during each odd numbered year, and to suggest legislation as it may deem necessary; and

To meet at least six times each year, at such time and place as shall be determined.

Now I am fully convinced that a good working commission of this type would keep every one of the 260 Members of the Legislature informed as to the goings-on in this massive department, which spends close to a half billion dollars each year, and whose operations are now so carefully shielded from the elected Members of the House and Senate. Information is available only when more tax moneys are needed, and only then do we hear the highway story.

Since 1946, when a constitutional amendment was passed, all highway users' funds flow into the Special Fund and are spent on roads or in connection with our highway system. Thus, outside of appropriating certain funds to other departments who render a service in connection with the highways, the Legislature is practically impotent and very frequently uninformed on the operations and plans of the department.

As Chairman of the Senate Highways Committee for six years prior to 1961, I must admit that practically the only information I received from the department was what little I could pump out of the top employees of the Highways Department when visiting there.

I repeat that certainly a working commission of this kind would render a distinct service to every Member of the General Assembly. For example, how about the number of employees in the Highways Department? Enormous funds can be eaten up by a large number of political employees who very frequently are free riders.

When Governor Leader's Administration started on January 31, 1955, the total number of salaried employees were 3,260 in the Highways Department and, in addition, there were 10,260 per diem employees, making a total of 13,520. When his Administration ended on January 31, 1959, he had 4,732 on the salaried payroll and 12,163 on the per diem payroll, making a total of 16,895, or an increase, if you will, of almost twenty-five per cent.

Has our highway system grown in these four years? Yes, but just a few miles, a very few. How do the total salary increases compare with the beginning and ending of the Leader Administration? I do not have the figures as yet, but I assure you they will be forthcoming in the near future.

Mr. Martin said yesterday that there has been no increase since he became Secretary, and that is encouraging. What did this large number of increased employees do during the Leader Administration? This, again, is a moot question to the Members of the Legislature. However, the November-December 1960 issue of "Highway News," the official organ of the Department of Highways, announced with headlines: "Twenty-Eight Represent Department at Highway Officials' Convention."

Further, I quote:

> "Twenty-eight officials of the Department of Highways attended the 46th Annual Convention of the American Association of State Highway Officials in Detroit, November 28th (Monday) through December 2nd (Friday)."

So much for that. It seems like a large number to represent our department. I remind you, my colleagues, that this is a very large delegation to attend any convention and a rather long period of time to be in attendance—a full workweek without weekends. What did this convention cost the taxpayers? We are entitled to know, but do not.

Now let us turn our attention for a moment to the capacity of the department. Presumably, the additional $74 million a year in gasoline taxes asked by the Governor should enable the State to build many more highways. But we can properly ask the question, would it?

During the past biennium, the Department of Highways, operating with a tidy reserve in the Motor License Fund and with no apparent effort to economize, managed to spend more than $600 million on its entire operation, or an average of $300 million per year.

During the coming year, the department—without any increase in taxes and without any borrowing—will have, according to its own budget figures, some $321 million to spend on general operations, plus the $40.3 million in gasoline tax revenues for cities and municipalities, which is distributed according to our law.

As for Federal funds, the State now faces no problem whatever in matching the $125 million of Federal-aid highway funds which were recently allocated to Pennsylvania for the fiscal year ending in 1962. This, in itself, will mean $171.8 million worth of highway construction for the expenditure of less than $47 million in State money. This is listed as follows:

$26 million for primary roads; $18 million for the secondary system; $29 million for urban projects; and $98 million for our interstate expressways. I repeat, this is a total of $171,800,000.

In adition to this State-Federal construction, the department will also have ample funds, under present taxes, for at least $7 million worth of nonFederal construction, and probably a great deal more depending upon how many millions can be wrung out of some of the other budget items that appear to be excessive. These items total $40,592,419 and are as follows:

Treasury Department, for Gas Tax Refunds, $4,551,500; Labor and Industry, for Social Security payments, $2,073,600; Property and Supplies—

Mr. WEINER—Excuse me, Senator. Mr. President, if the gentleman will tell us what page he is reading from, I would like to follow him in the budget so that I can understand what he is talking about.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I will be glad to give you the reference.

Mr. President, I am referring to the Special Funds Budget on page 11, with the subtitle, "Department of the Treasury." That is the first item. The other items are continued on pages 12, 13, 14, 15, 16 and 17.

Mr. WEINER. Thank you, Senator. I am able to follow you now.

Mr. WADE. Mr President, the second item is Labor and Industry, Social Security payments, $2,073,600; Property and Supplies, for supplies for the department, $140,558; Department of Public Instruction, Safety Education, $13,500; the same department, Driver Education Program, $864,000; Department of State, Employee Retirement Fund, $734,100; Department of State, New Employee Retirement System, $5,102,755; same department, State Police Retirement System, $25,000; Department of Revenue, General Administration, $1,227,100; and Department of Revenue, Highway Safety Program, $3,183,610.

Now, gentlemen, may I make a short comment on this latter item? This is the item which paid for the large newspaper advertisements which appeared, prior to the election in 1960, in all of the rural newspapers throughout my District, and I believe throughout Pennsylvania. In addition to that, this is the fund which pays for the napkins that you pick up in restaurants very frequently which have comments on them regarding the highway safety program. They are furnished free of charge to the restaurants of Pennsylvania, gentlemen,—out of the highway funds—to be distributed to their customers who come into the restaurants.

The next items are: Department of Revenue, Collection of Liquid Fuels Tax, $729,002; Department of Revenue, Licensing of Motor Vehicles, $7,075,304; Audit Costs which go to the Auditor General in accordance with legislation passed in 1959, $66,588; Pennsylvania State Police, which is the Highway Patrol, $14,805,802.

I repeat, this is a total of $40,592,419.

What will this higher tax rate mean to motorists? First and foremost, it will mean they will be paying $1.10 instead of ninety cents, in tax alone, every time they buy ten gallons of gas. To many of Pennsylvania's car owners, the "Lawrence Gas Tax" will be the greatest incentive ever for converting to compact cars, if not converting to foot.

At nine cents a gallon, Pennsylvania motorists are already paying the equivalent of a forty-five per cent sales tax on their gasoline. This amounts to a tax eleven times as high as the general sales tax which they pay on other items, and four and one-half times as high as the so-called luxury taxes on mink coats, diamond bracelets and expensive perfumes.

High gasoline taxes hit the poor or middle class owner a lot harder than they do the rich. Whatever luxury there is in an automobile today is in the car itself and not in the fuel in the tank. Ironically, the man who can afford to buy an $8,000 sports car today usually gets more miles to the gallon and pays less gasoline tax per mile than his poorer brother, who has to depend on an outdated jalopy for driving to work or to the store or to church.

Today, more than ever before, the car owner is Pennsylvania's most highly taxed citizen. The average $126.67 a year he now pays annually in special automotive taxes, State and Federal, is in addition to his normal share of all of the other taxes he must pay like everyone else.

This increased tax is not all. Our Governor says: "Let us mortgage the future. Let us really throw proudence to the wind. Give this Administration and the next a free hand to borrow $300 million, and let someone else worry about paying it back. Let the future take care of itself."

But, Governor, I say there is more to it than that. America and Pennsylvania were not built that way. For every dollar we borrow, we could very easily pay back two dollars or even more. As a matter of fact, the record indicates that we do. I ask you,—and I am addressing the Governor—is that austerity?

In addition to that, may I say, Mr. President, that during portions of yesterday, continued this morning and to be continued this evening, the Highways Secretary and a number of his officers have been and will be appearing before the Appropriations Committees. However, I do not consider this hearing as a public hearing, first, because it was called in such a hurry. Second, the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee in the House, who is the general chairman of that hearing, announced at the beginning of the hearing that any Member of the Appropriations Committees—and only the Appropriations Committees—could ask any question that he wished. Outside of that, it was closed to all Members of the Legislature and those visiting. That is not a true public hearing.

This is an extremely important matter. I sincerely believe that the present Secretary of Highways is sincere in his efforts. However, I impress on you—each one of my colleagues and the Governor—that we should not mortgage the future. We should consider the purchasing power of the people of Pennsylvania. This tax will be a burden to practically every one of our citizens because we practically all use automobiles.

Thank you very much.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Benjamin R. Donolow) in the Chair.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Senator Wade, would you advise us whether, in attending these hearings, you had any questions to ask and whether you had any difficulty in propounding your questions?

Mr. WADE. I do not believe I did, Mr. President, because of the fairness of the Chairman. However, he clearly announced that it was for the Members of the Committees on Appropriations from the House and Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Were you present in this Chamber when I offered to have the Secretary of Highways, the Secretary of the Budget, the Secretary of Administration, or any other person whom you requested, come to your Caucus in regard to these measures?

Mr. WADE. I was, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Do you think that will give you a fair opportunity to get into the bills and the other measures?

Mr. WADE. Yes, I think it will. However, I am thinking largely of the citizens of Pennsylvania; the eleven and one-half million of them, who pay this tax. From the information I have, we should have an opportunity to spread it out over the Commonwealth. They, who pay the tax, should know about it.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, does the gentleman feel, as a duly elected representative of the people who live in his area, that he will have the opportunity to ask the questions which they would ask, based on the mail which he has received and other pertinent information at hand?

Mr. WADE. I would agree to that, Mr. President, if we have sufficient time. The bills just reached the Senate, yesterday. They have been considered by the committee in a very, very brief time. They were then reported to the Senate floor and were read for the first time today. That is a two-day process.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, would the gentleman please advise us whether, yesterday, he found on his desk a full set of the tax bills?

Mr. WADE. I did, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, would the gentleman please advise us whether or not he has read these tax bills and whether he has had an opportunity to peruse them?

Mr. WADE. I have had the time to read them. However, I have not had the time to consult with the taxpayers in my District.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, would the gentleman please advise us how long it will take him to do that?

Mr. WADE. The ordinary legislative process in any State, not only—

Mr. WEINER. Excuse me, Mr. President, but—

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Please allow Senator Wade to answer.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I will be very happy to permit him to answer the questions, if his answers are responsive to my questions.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Cumberland please proceed?

Mr. WADE. May I ask the gentleman to repeat his question?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman please repeat the question?

Mr. WEINER. I will be very happy to. It may be that he misunderstood me.

Now that the gentleman has in his possession the bills, and has heard some talk about the matter since it was discussed in the House last week, will the gentleman please advise us how long it will take him to consult the people in his District—those who have not already consulted him—in order to get their full feelings so that he can bring this to the attention of the Members of this Senate, to the attention of the people of Pennsylvania, and be in a position to ask the Secretary questions in regard to this tax measure?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I think several weeks should be allowed, in order for the information to flow out to the citizens of the Commonwealth who pay these taxes. That statement applies not only to the gasoline tax—the bills which I referred to—but to all the tax bills which are now on our Calendar.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, would the gentleman please advise us whether, since he has been a Member of this Body and a Member of the House, there have ever been hearings held on any tax measures? He has served in the Majority on the Finance Committee and on the Appropriations Committee.

Mr. WADE. Yes, Mr. President. I remember very well an open hearing which was held in this Chamber on an income tax that was proposed by Governor Leader.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not want to differ with the gentleman's answer. However, I am afraid that was not an open hearing. I am afraid that hearing was not conducted by a committee, and I am afraid Governor Leader was not discussing the income tax.

If the gentleman wishes to refresh his memory, I will be glad to do that for him, thereby helping him to make his answers responsive to my questions.

If I might refresh the gentleman's memory, was it not a fact that the hearing was held regarding the manufacturers' exemption? Was that not held by the Democratic Caucus? Was it not held up in Room 401? Is it not true that people were generally invited?

Mr. WADE. No, Mr. President. It was held in this Chamber. It pertained to Governor Leader's proposed income tax.

Mr. WEINER. Was this hearing held by a committee, Mr. President?

Mr. WADE. Yes, Mr. President, it was.

Mr. WEINER. Which chairman of which committee held this hearings?

Mr. WADE. I do not recall that, Mr. President. Moreover, I do not think it is pertinent to the discussion. However, Mr. President, I am reminded by one of my colleagues that it was held by the Finance Committee.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I am sure a great deal of careful research was put into assembling the figures and other matters which were discussed in the address given by Senator Wade today. Therefore, if I ask him a few questions, regarding his speech, I am sure the gentleman will be able to tell me in detail about some of these problems.

The gentleman spoke about the Department of Public Instruction and its Safety Education and Driver Education Programs. Is he complaining about the amounts of money being spent on these programs?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, during my discussion, I complained about none of them. I said those budgets should be studied by every Member of this Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, would the gentleman's opinion be changed if I were to advise him that this has been mandated by the Legislature and is a part of the educational program which we have in Pennsylvania? Therefore, this measure now comes up before us every Session of the Legislature. It could have been acted upon, let us say, during the last Session or the Session before that.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, that is entirely erroneous. It is true that these duties have been mandated. However, the amount of money allocated by this Legislature, for that purpose, has not been mandated. Our duty is to study the expenditure of every single penny in those appropriations.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, would the gentleman state whether there is any way to avoid the payment of $2,073,600 which is allocated to the Department of Labor and Industry for Social Security? How can we study and reduce that expenditure?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I did not suggest that the amount be eliminated or anything of the kind. I said we should study that item and find out whether or not it is necessary for $2,073,600 to be appropriated for that specific purpose in this year.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, would the gentleman tell us how we can eliminate this? How can we avoid Social Security?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I did not suggest that a single item in that budget be eliminated. I suggested—and I am saying it for the third time—that every dollar of these items should be studied in order to see whether it is necessary for us to appropriate this amount of money for these specific purposes.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, in the interest of good housekeeping, and for the purpose of economy, would the gentleman please tell us what items he would have us eliminate or reduce? I have only had a moment to look over his figures and he has spent some time in preparing them. Therefore, I would appreciate hearing from him on the figures he has given us.

What item would be suggest that we reduce, in order for us to take it up at the Appropriation Committee Meeting, when the matter comes before us?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, when the matter comes before us, I will be very happy to give that information.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, would the gentleman please advise us as to what amounts here can be reduced, in order for me to, at least, have the benefit of taking the time to look this matter over and speak intelligently on it?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, at the very outset of my discussion, I said that we have not had sufficient time. The bills came to us yesterday. As a matter of fact, the bills were railroaded through the House.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not want to be rude by interrupting the gentleman. However, this is not a tax measure. We are speaking about expenditures. We are talking about the budget. The gentleman has given us this list of figures and stated, if I might quote him, the following: "They total $40,592,419, and are as follows." Then he proceeded to list the items. When he got down to the end of the list, he said: "I repeat, a total of $40,-592,419." I would assume that he repeated it for the purpose of emphasis. He was emphasizing this list of figures. He has not emphasized any others. Therefore, having done so, I would assume he feels that perhaps some of these figures are overly large or, maybe, some of them are under the amount which he feels should be allocated.

I am asking the gentleman whether he will tell us which items he feels are overly large or below the amount? If the gentleman would inform us about this this, we could concern ourselves with those amounts. Then, when it comes before us, we can be as intelligent about them as he is, at this moment. We could then reduce the figure, cut it out or do something else with it.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I repeat what I said at the outset of my discussion on this entire matter. We did not have sufficient time in order to do the things which Senator Weiner suggests I have already done. I merely questioned these amounts. I do not know that they are too high; they may be too low. However, we should have time in this deliberative Body, the Senate of Pennsylvania, to study these figures in order to see whether or not the amounts are correct.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I am not going to ask the gentleman my next question. I am just going to throw it out, generally.

The Members of this Senate have had the budget now since January 16. These items are in the budget and have nothing to do with the tax measures, whatsoever. We have not come to the budget yet, and we may not get to it for quite a few weeks. Therefore, enough time is being extended to provide the opportunity, not only to go over these items, but to discuss them with all the people in the Districts who might be against some of these programs. For example, some people may want to cut out the advertising which appears in some of your local newspapers. Perhaps some of the napkins, which the gentleman complained about, could be eliminated. Perhaps some of these complaints are justified.

I am merely asking the gentleman to tell us which figures he feels are bad. In order to assemble the figures, the gentleman had to go through the book, piece by piece, and take them out of their different areas. I notice that the gentleman included the Department of Revenue, the Department of State and the Highway Patrol. There must have been other departments which were completely left out and there must have been a reason for the gentleman to have done so.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, may I interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Weiner,—the gentleman who is now interrogating me—and ask whether that was a speech or a question?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEINER. I will, Mr. President.

That was a question. However, it may have been a little bit long for a question.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I think that question should be in writing, if one letter would contain all of it.

However, to be more serious about the matter, the gentleman knows full well that the budget should be studied before the appropriations are made. We are now in the second day of the fourth week of this Session. Common courtesy to the citizens and taxpayers of Pennsylvania would indicate that they are entitled to have all the information regarding our budget, regarding our allocations and regarding our appropriations.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I wish to thank the gentleman for his courteous reply to the questions. I also would like to point out to him that if it takes a measure three weeks to pass, I can hardly think that is railroading it in any sense of the word.

Mr. Rooney. Mr. President, as the new Chairman of the Highways Committee, I have a great deal of admiration and respect for my colleague who served in that capacity during the past six years. I know there is a tremendous amount of study and a tremendous amount of time I am going to have to put in on highway safety, and the highway program, before I can acquire the great knowledge which Senator Wade possesses.

I will say, however, Mr. President, from reading the numerous editorials throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, that the highway safety program and the Governor's highway program—the expansion program—have been literally sabotaged by Senator Wade. He has had an obstructionist viewpoint as far as highway safety is concerned. He never permitted a highway safety bill to come out of committee in order to give his other Republican colleagues a chance to vote on it. I have every reason to believe, Mr. President, that both measures will pass; namely, the radar bill and the gasoline tax bill, because of the sponsorship and the support of some of his republican colleagues.

I should also like to remind my distinguished colleague, Senator Wade, that it will take a little more time than several weeks in order to explain the budget and the tax program to the people in his area. I understand he is leaving for Florida and plans to be down there for several weeks. However, we, in Pennsylvania, cannot wait. Our highway program is outmoded.

We have heard people from every walk of life. Senator Wade had an opportunity to ask questions and he did ask a question. As I recall, he directed a question to the Budget Secretary, wherein he wanted to know how much interest they would have to pay on $300,000,000. When the Secretary gave him that figure, he was astounded because the gentleman told us that in California, they borrowed $400,000,000 or $500,000,000 and had to pay back almost one billion dollars. I do not have the exact figures, I am waiting for the report from the committee.

However, after six and one-half hours, Mr. President, I saw Senator Wade ask one question. I think the reason the gentleman did not ask any more questions is because I think he was awed at the manner in which the Secretay of Highways presented his program. I think the gentleman was awed by the Secretary's forthrightness and his soundness.

I, therefore, hope that all of us will support the Secretary's program.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I was one of the first ones in our Caucus to ask our group to slow up the passage of these bills. I want my people to have a hearing. I believe in hearings. However, the people whom I represent cannot afford to come to Harrisburg. Mine is a depressed area. Therefore, I have set a pattern by arranging to give the people of my county a hearing on all the tax bills starting Thursday night. The hearings will be held Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. When I come back, I will have a picture of what they have in mind and what their problems are.

I am going on record as saying that unless my county is the recipient of some of this money, I will debate before I vote for some of these bills.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I would naturally resent the statements made by the new Highways Chairman, Mr. Rooney, I congratulate him on his appointment as Chairman of the Highways Committee. However, I do want to say for his confidential information—and I hope no one else hears—that I was elected this time for my sixth term in this Senate by the largest majority I ever received, and I defy him, or any Member on that side or on this side, to prove any time when I did not bring every bill to the attention of the committee, ask for a full discussion and give them the courtesy of a full discussion.

Again, I want to say to Senator Rooney that I congratulate him. This is the first time since I have been in this Senate that I have heard the chairman of any committee say which bills will be passed and which bills will not be passed. That is what we need in this Senate, a man who can speak for everyone of the rest of the forty-nine Members. I congratulate you. You have made the decisions for us. Good luck to you.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, in 1955, we had Budget Hearings here. They were presided over by Senator Yosko. I believe the Budget Hearings ran for about two months. I attended almost all of them, and I did not see one Republican Senator attend any of those Budget Hearings although they were very largely attended by members of the departments and the presentations were excellently given. However, I did not hear any questions or see any attendance by the Members of the opposite side at that time.

I also want to say that last night and today, Secretary of Highways Martin held meetings with the public, and with representatives from all over the State of Pennsylvania. He gave all of the parties all of the opportunity they wanted to ask questions, both in favor of the bills and against the bills.

I might say that the opponents—the representatives of the gasoline interests—ran out of gas at about one o'clock today, and when the Chairman asked whether there were any more questions, the meeting closed for the lack of further questions.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Weiner.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEINER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BELL. Senator Weiner, several chapters back in this afternoon's dialogue, you interrogated Senator Wade with respect to the time when public hearings were held on taxes. I just say that to refresh your recollection.

Am I mistaken in the impression that you left with me that the Majority Party opposes public hearings on taxes?

Mr. WEINER. My answer to that, Senator, is that in all of the time I have been in this Chamber, and I have been on the Minority Side here, there have never been any hearings on taxes or tax measures. The only time there were hearings held on these measures was when the Minority Party, under the Floor Leader who preceeded me, held hearings himself in the Democratic Caucus Room. That is the only time I ever remember of any hearings.

There was some discussion here sometime ago, when Governor Leader I think first came into office, about a tax measure he was interested in. There were some people who wanted to come here and be heard against the measure. The hearing was held here. I believe Senator Kessler held that hearing. However, that was not a hearing on the entire measure. It was just a hearing for those people who opposed the proposed measure.

Mr. BELL. Thank you, Senator.

Now a further question. What is the Democratic policy as to having public hearings on new taxes or increased taxes?

Mr. WEINER. I will answer that, Senator, by stating as I stated here before:

There are no new taxes being enacted. All we are doing is raising the amounts on some of the existing measures and opening the door a little wider on some in order to include other people. As far as a new measure being enacted, there is none. The expenditure is based—as I stated here yesterday—on the program, which is actually the basic for the need. In other words, if there is not a decent program or any program at all, then there is no need for the money. There are hearings now going on in one of these areas, which is the gas tax situation for the program on highways.

The Secretary of Highways brought his deputies to these hearings and allowed the persons in attendance to ask him questions in regard to his program.

I have further made it possible for you—which was never made available to us in all of the time that I have been here—to have the Cabinet people, who are involved in this situation, appear before you so they can answer any question that any Member of your Caucus wants to ask or pose any problem that they might have.

Mr. BELL. A further question, Senator.

Mr. WEINER. Yes sir.

Mr. BELL. I just heard you say to Senator Wade a few chapters back that we are talking about a budget and not taxes. To me, a budget and taxes are the same thing. You spend it with one hand and you raise it with the other.

Mr. President, I would like to ask the Majority Leader whether or not the Majority Party opposes public hearings on increased taxes.

Mr. WEINER. Senator, I think you may have misunderstood what I was saying. What I was discussing with Senator Wade concerned his statement. He started out by saying that he was concerned that we were rushing through these taxes. He then went on in his statement—I hope you have a copy of it before you. If you will look on page 3 of that statement, you will note a list of figures. You will remember, I interrupted Senator Wade in order to be able to follow him in the budget. I noticed that his figures did not follow the budget directly, but were excerpts from it.

The budget and the tax picture are interrelated. There is no question about that at all. When he stated that he had no chance to study this matter, my answer to him was that since January 16, he has had the budget and could have studied these figures.

I even asked him, if you recall, to tell me which figures he thought were wrong or were out of line. Now if he would have said to me that some of the forty millions of dollars he was talking about were out of line, we might not need this extra tax. However, he could not answer that question.

I have had no indication from anybody who has attended the hearings that these programs are not needed. I hope you will give me some indication as to your thinking after you have had an opportunity to hear the Secretary and other persons connected with the budget. I will certainly reflect on this matter, as will the Members of the Democratic Caucus, and take the appropriate action.

Mr. BELL. My question still is: Is it the Democratic policy to oppose public hearings on increased taxation?

Mr. WEINER. My answer to that we are not against any public hearings if they help to define or explore the matter before us. We feel we are accomplishing this very purpose by allowing people to attend these Joint Hearings held by the House and Senate Appropriations Committees, which deal with the programs. As you just stated a moment ago about taxes and the budget being related, this is the problem. In other words, if a man prepares a program and shows in the budget where he needs the money, then we can decide whether we do or do not need the tax.

What purpose will it serve to sit down and hear people say they are against this measure if they cannot give you an alternate measure for it? If you feel that will be helpful, I will be very happy to discuss that with you, and maybe we can bring all of the people into it if, in the end, you will agree that if these people absolutely convince you that this is not the proper program, you will substitute a program for it.

Mr. BELL. Thank you, Senator Weiner.

Mr. President, may I make a brief statement on this subject?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman may proceed.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, this is not to be interpreted as an attack on the highway hearings, at which I happened to be present. I am talking generally. I am talking philosophy of government. To me, there are two sides of a tax picture; the people who want to spend and the people who have to pay.

I have in my possession some 1,500 letters, objecting to the tax on gasoline. I think that we, as a deliberate Body,—this Senate of Pennsylvania—should not only listen to those who want to spend the money. We should go like my friend, Senator Haluska, to the people, to the taxpayers, to see the effect of any taxing program upon the people, because—and I am new in this Chamber—I have never received 1,000 letters in one day before. I have 1,000 letters against the tax and one in favor of it.

Along this same line, we are hastening new taxes; not just this highway tax. I am thinking of the thirty per cent acceleration on our corporations, and that might be just enough to chase a corporation out of Pennsylvania and heighten the unemployment.

I think we should sit and deliberate. I have been in a do-nothing Session in another House not too far from here on this same floor. It will not mean being a do-nothing Legislature to go to the people and see the effect of these taxes. That is what we are sent up here for. We are the Legislature. The Upper House, the Senate, descends from the English government. On the one hand, we have the Executive, which comes down from the Crown. We, the Legislature, represent the people. How can we get the peoples' view unless we go to the people? Maybe that is too basic. Maybe I am too naive. However, I think that on all new taxes, on all increased taxes, we should go to the people and find out how they are affected.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, in this series of discoures, one thing has escaped. Senator Rooney, our youthful and able Chairman of the Committee on Highways, mentioned it, but just touched it.

In Sacramento, California,—we spoke earlier today about California—on the State Capitol, there is an inscription which reads as follows: "Give me men to match my mountains."

The problem of highways in Pennsylvania is tremendous. We are fortunate that in the person of our Secretary of Highways we have a man who can match those problems.

On Monday, —I am serving notice and pre-empting my right to do so—I am going to offer a resolution in this Senate, paying tribute to Secretary Park Martin for his most lucid, learned and effective presentation of the problem which confronts the people of Pennsylvania.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I should like to remark briefly on statements made by Senator Wade and Senator Bell.

Senator Wade, when asked by Senator Weiner whether in his recollection there had ever been a hearing on taxes before, answered: "Yes, on the Leader Classified Income Tax."

Now Senator Wade, I want to say, is entirely mistaken. I have been here since 1951. We did have, during that ten-year period, —now eleven years—only one hearing. It was not on the Leader Classified Income Tax, because the Republicans never even wanted to consider that. The hearing was on the Manufacturers' Tax, Senator Wade. It was conducted by Senator Kessler, and I was a member of the committee at that time.

The Manufacturers' Tax was proposed in lieu of the Sales Tax. The Republicans of this Senate wanted the Sales Tax, but they did not want the Manufacturers' Tax, so they had a public hearing on the Manufacturers' Tax. They did not have a hearing on the Sales Tax, because had they had a hearing on that, they probably would have had ten times as many objectors.

Senator Bell, you have received 1,000 letters protesting a tax. You have been a Member of the House and you probably know that a good many of these letters are inspired. It is easy to inspire people, especially the average person who buys gasoline daily.

When we had the Sales Tax before us here, I had as many as 5,000 letters against it. We had to vote for it because that was the only tax the Republicans would permit us to pass to balance our budget. Therefore, just because you received 1,000 letters against the tax, it is not anything particularly new.

I would like to know whether you ever received 1,000 letters or fifty letters in favor of any tax in your experience as a Legislator.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I would like, first of all, to make a few remarks about Senator Bell's remarks.

I think in discussing the basic philosophy here, the picture he presented is a totally distorted one. He said the two sides of the coin are the people who want to spend and the people who have to pay. I would say to him that the two sides of the coin are the people who want and need services and the people who have to pay the bill for those services, and that Government, with the Executive and Legislative Branches, is in the mediating position of trying to strike a balance between them.

It is certainly not the fault of the Governor or this Legislature that we now have thousands of more cars than we did the day our system of roads was planned. It is not the fault of the Governor or the Legislature that we are using three-lane roads at high speeds and a tremendous number of cars are killing many people on those unsafe highways. It is not the fault of the Governor or the Legislature that the cargo business has shifted from the railroads to large trucks, which crowd our highways and make these services necessary.

If we go into other areas, which he did not discuss, it is not the fault of the Governor or the Legislature that we have a great surge of students in our schools, or that we have allowed our schools to decline to the point where we need a building program.

All of these are wants and needs the people have. If we did not need roads, then there would be some justice to his saying "people who want to spend." If we were just going out and building things which are not needed, then obvoiusly the gentleman would have a point. However, I think the people of this Commonwealth must realize that it is a totally irresponsible thing to want services, to want good roads, to want safe roads, to want snow cleared quickly from roads and so on, and not realize that, on the other hand, to have these services and these roads, they are going to have to pay the cost of them.

I think they would have a real objection, too, if this government—the Legislature and the Governor—were so imprudent as to build roads at 100 per cent cost and ignore the possibility of taking advantage of those that could be built at ten per cent cost or fifty per cent cost. If this Legislature were so irresponsible as to not vote sufficient funds in order to make maximum use of Federal funds, to match funds on those bases, then I think the people would have the right to say to this Legislature: "You are irresponsible. You are wasting the people's money because you are going to have to build roads at 100 per cent cost which you could build at ten per cent costs."

I realize the argument will be made that it all comes from the taxpayers' pockets, and this, of course, is true. We also realize that the money is collected by the Federal Government and if Pennsylvania does not take advantage of its share, obviously it will be used in other parts of the Country.

The second thing I would like to do is interrogate Senator Rooney, if the gentleman will permit himself to be interrogated.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Northampton, Mr. Rooney, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ROONEY. I will Mr. President. I have been in this deliberative Body for two years. This is the first time I have been interrogated by someone who happens to be on my own side.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I am delighted to be the first to test Senator Rooney's mettle in interrogation.

Senator, it has been brought to my attention that in large advertisements taken by gasoline companies, and also in letters and other literature apparently promoted by gasoline companies or associations of gasoline companies, the statement has appeared that much of the money collected from automobile licenses and the gasoline tax is not being used for highway purposes. Now my answer to that has been that in my opinion, it would be unconstitutional and illegal to make any use of the gasoline tax or auto license fees for any purposes other than highway purposes. Of course, by "highway purposes," I do not mean the actual putting down of concrete. I am talking about the State Police and these other worth-while programs that Senator Wade described. My question to you, Senator Rooney,—because I think it would be useful to be able to say to my constituents that I have received this answer from the Chairman of the Highways Committee—is this: From your knowledge, is it correct or false to make such a statement?

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, it is correct. That question arose at this morning's meeting. It was brought out by —you would have to refer to the record—one of the interested parties in this so-called closed meeting who asked for the privilege of asking a question. He was granted that privilege, and he stated that in his district, —now that I recall, it was a Representative and I cannot think of his name—the Atlantic Refining Company was sending letters to all of its stockholders, stating that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Department of Highways, was using some of the Highway Funds by sending it over to the General Fund. The head of the American Petroleum Industry, who was on the stand at the time, denied it and so did the Secretary of Highways. All of the money which goes into the Motor Fund stays there. It has to by constitutional law.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I thank the gentleman and congratulate him on the excellent way he handled the first interrogation he faced.

I would say, Mr. President, that this, it seems to me, is an important fact, because many of the 1,000 letters received by the gentleman from Delaware might possibly result from misconceptions, such as the one I have mentioned. Certainly, many Senators have told me that in the mail they have received, this has been a paramount argument. I think it would be well to state that we have been informed, on the authority of the Chairman of the Highways Committee, that this is not true, that moneys are not being diverted for other purposes; that the constitutional and legal provisions are being observed, and that all of the money collected is going for highway purposes.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I would like to keep the record straight. I am afraid my friend, the gentleman from York, Senator Seyler, has misunderstood my protest or statement. I am not protesting against spending money on highways. I tried to be very careful in making that statement. I am not protesting spending money on schools. I think my voting record in the House of Representatives speaks for itself.

I am appealing to the Senate of Pennsylvania that when you levy new taxes or when you raise taxes, give public hearings to the taxpayers. Send someone to Senator Haluska's District. Send someone down to my District to sit and listen to the effect of taxes which could be very detrimental.

To get away from the hot fire of the highway hearings, I again say, on this thirty per cent acceleration on corporate taxes, I think there should be public hearings so that the taxpayers who are going to pay them could come in and tell the Senate of Pennsylvania whether a tax like that would drive corporations and businesses out of Pennsylvania, or whether there is no objection.

I am not carrying a cross for anyone in this fight except, basically, let us be fair. Let us give the taxpayers a public hearing on all new taxes and all increased taxes.

You, the gentlemen on the Majority side, talk of the "New Frontier of the 60's." Let us have the first plank in the "New Frontier of the 60's" be the right of taxpayers to have public hearings when there are new taxes imposed upon them.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to point out to the gentleman that one of the reasons why we have a representative form of government is so these people shall truly represent the people in their community. If we are going to have people go on a circuit ride around to these different communities and investigate these matters, then they certainly do not need to elect representatives to deliberate on these problems or to work on them.

Secondly, I think the gentleman should concern himself with the basic problem which faces this or any other Commonwealth or any business. They need a certain amount of money to operate. If you will tell me—and I will be very happy to hear from anyone in this chamber—about any tax program that ever made people throw their hats in the air and shout with joy about being taxed, I would be very happy to hear about it.

There is one other alternative to what we are discussing here today. If this program is unpopular,—or any other program—I will be happy to listen to any program you might have that you would substitute for it. Basically, this is the basic job of the Legislature; to come up with the money when the government needs it or, if we find that the government does not need it, to come up with no program whatsoever.

You should be for the program if you feel that we do need the money and this is a worth-while area which should have money. If you feel this program is a bad program you should offer another program. I have yet to hear from anyone on the other side, who is complaining about this, who will suggest a program they have which is better. I am not committed to this program 2,000 per cent. I will take any program, if you can get us enough votes to pass it, that you think will be more popular. I think, politically, it would be expedient to do that.

Third of all, in this situtation which we are discussing here, I think you have agreed, along with everyone of us, that you are not fighting this program. You have been very careful about stating that. However, you are not saying, by the same token, what we should do about meeting this problem that is in front of us.

Also, I might add, there has never been accorded to anyone, whether or not they had the votes to get the programs through, the right to get on with it and get on to other things. You all realize the longer this matter drags out, the more mail you will receive. If you have only 1,000 letters now, you will have 3,000 tomorrow, and the next day there will be even more. It does not take much to get a letter mimeographed for people to sign their name to drop in the mail box. The people who are against the measure will pay the postage. On that basis, I do not think you have a good cross section of the people involved.

Once we get this matter enacted and it turns out that it is not right, or it is not just, we will be here to correct that error. That is our duty and our job.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, just a brief statement to try to clear up this matter regarding the letters from the Atlantic Refining Company.

First, let me say that I am not fortunate enough to own stock in the Atlantic Refining Company and, therefore, I did not get one of the letters. However, the Highways Secretary told us this morning that he was a stockholder and received one of the letters.

The letters, I think, refer to items of this kind Our current tax on gasoline is five cents. We first take off one-half of one cent and distribute it to the counties. Secondly, we take twenty per cent of the other four and one-half cents and distribute that to the municipalities of Pennsylvania, on the basis of a certain formula. In addition to that, we take the $40,592,000 I referred to and distribute it among the other departments who do certain services for the Highways Department in connection with our highways. Now when you add those items, you will realize that the Highways Department itself does not spend nearly all of this money.

My second point, and a very brief one, is this: During the twenty years I have been privileged to be a Member of the Senate, I have heard remarks from the folks on the other side about public hearings. Time and time again, they have requested them. I now cannot understand for the life of me why the change of heart.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President. I would like to ask the gentleman if he will allow himself to be interrogated.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will Senator Wade permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. May I say, Mr. President, to a limited extent?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the gentleman just referred again to this $40,592,000. If he will tell me which item in this budget he feels can be reverted back or we can take out, I will be happy to refer myself to that and perhaps we will not need the tax money at all. Would he have us cancel the Social Security, the supplies, the safety education, the employees' retirement or the police retirement? Which one of these items would you want us to take out?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, now for the fifth time I have tried to impress upon the gentleman—and I apologize for being unable to use the American language in a way that he can understand, but I say for the fifth time—that I am not criticizing these amounts. I say that we have the right and the obligation to question every item in this budget.

Mr. WEINER. I want to thank the gentleman, Mr. President.

If this is the kind of constructive criticism we can expect, I am afraid we are not going to get very far on our tax program for our road program.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, may I renew my questioning of the Majority Leader?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the Majority Leader allow himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. WEINER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, will the Majority Leader say, in a very simple answer, whether or not the Democratic Party in the Senate approves of public hearings on increased taxation or new taxation?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, we very obviously do, because we are already holding a public hearing.

Mr. BELL. Does the gentleman believe that the hearing being held by the Appropriations Committees of the House and Senate is a public hearing on taxes?

Mr. WEINER. I certainly do, Mr. President, because everyone has been invited. That would make it public. Everybody who wants to attend, can attend.

Mr. BELL. Thank you.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I will be brief. I wish to say, at this time, that some of us have lost sight of the fact that the one cent gasoline tax, at least was discussed during the last two years. My office informs me that on eleven occasions, I spoke on the gasoline tax and the need for it.

All of us have been guilty of going over and importuning the Secretary of Highways to please help our Districts and to build us better roads. We do know that the antiquated road system has been borne out by the figures furnished by the Secretary of Highways. We do know that if Pennsylvania is to progress, it must be second to none in its road system. We have a good reputation, but that does not give us progress. We must have the roads that are equal to the times.

We are worried about haste. In considering the need for these roads, Taussig said: "Man's needs are few; his wants unlimited." That applies to every man in this Senate and the House across the hall as far as his constituents are concerned, as to the need for roads.

We all feel that our Districts have been slighted and that we should have more. The question remains on how to pay for them. When we ask how to pay for them, we look to the fairest tax. We are saying that the man who uses them will pay. To say we should have a hearing for all of the taxpayers who will pay the two cent gasoline tax, you would have to get them from all forty-eight States of the Union. The percentage of that tax which is paid by the out-of-staters—and rightly should be paid by them because they use our roads—lightens the burden upon the rest of us, and yet gives us the roads.

If someone can explain to me any formula which is more fair, I would be glad and happy to listen to it.

I want to say a word about hearings. I brought back with me from home over the week-end, and I gave to our Caucus today, the arguments in the fairest manner in which I could do so,—and I think some will tell you that I was too fair—against each of the taxes and we discussed them fully. I gave them facts and figures from manufactureres and insurance companies. I drew their attention to the benefits of the bill and the detriments of the bill for each one.

If that can be done by me, I am sure you can get the tenor of the thinking of your people in just equal time.

One more word about letters. Here is a prime example of them being instigated. Most people will sign any petition that is put in front of them, or do anything people ask them to do if they make it convenient enough.

Here are post cards of the Esso Standard Oil Company (indicating). All contain different signatures, different addresses, and were stamped, I am sure,—because they are from the same post office—by the people who asked them to sign them. On each card, there is a picture of their station. I picked them out of the wastepaper basket a few minutes ago. There they were, all together in one pile, and I am sure there are some I missed.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I might say that I certainly enjoyed this forum this afternoon. I think we have a healthy condition here, with an aggressive Minority which is going to keep us straight.

I, for one, would be one of the happiest men in this Senate if we had a tax program which all of the people could agree to. If we could only increase appropriations and reduce taxes, I think all of us would be re-elected for the rest of our lives.

However, Mr. President, down through the years, when we were in the Minority, we took the same position as the gentlemen on the other side are taking. As a matter of fact, we talked about public hearings and argued back and forth. I recall, too, Mr. President,—and I think Senator Wade will remember this—that a few years ago, when we increased the reimbursements to the political subdivisions, which include the townships, boroughs and cities, Senator Wade had a large article printed in the Harrisburg newspaper, whereby he took credit for the passage of that legislation. At that time, I believe we set a floor of $30,000,000, annually. Of course, the allocation is based upon sixty per cent mileage and forty per cent population. The ultimate result was that actually, today, that allocation is a great advantage to the townships which exist within the confines of the Commonwealth.

In addition, Mr. President, let me also say that I believe we have the responsibility of providing the proper services for our people. I agree, too, that the minority should criticize us on every point, because that is what makes healthy government and that is what keeps us on our toes.

The other day, when the Minority Leader made a motion to adjourn the Senate, he got us on our toes, and

I think he will never catch us flatfooted again. However, that is all a part of government.

With reference to these public hearings, about which we are talking, we inaugurated these budget hearings, I recall, when the Republicans had control of the Senate. I served as a Minority Member on the Budget Hearings, whereby we called every department and interrogated them in detail. When the time came to arrive at conclusions, I wish to inform the freshmen Members on the other side, the Republican Majority held an executive meeting, decided what they were going to do and decided what they were going to allocate. Senator Ruth and I sat over here, waiting for the meetings. We were not even invited to them. Therefore, we are being a little liberal with the Minority side because we have invited them to all the hearings.

Our Budget hearing, Mr. President, is actually a hearing on taxes. When we set up a budget, we must have the revenue in order to finance it. That, actually, is the purpose of these hearings. I believe it is a good and healthy thing.

I do not know whether any of the Members of the Senate have read in detail the literature which was distributed by the Pennsylvania Highway Information Association. However, I would like to read just a few excerps from it and let you know what we are confronted with. It states as follows:

> "Double Trouble—100 Million Cars in Only 10 Years.
> "A National Safety Council official takes a look at the highways of 1970.
> "One hundred million vehicles are on the road—half again as many as there are now. End to end, they reach around the world 15 times.
> "Lined up 190 abreast, they'd cover every inch of the distance between Chicago and Los Angeles.
> "About 120 million drivers will put about a trillion miles on their speedometers in a single year.
> "And unless we do better in the next 10 years,' said Paul Jones, 'there will be a traffic toll in 1970 of 55,000 deaths and two million disabling injuries.'
> "Jones, the council's information director, added:
> " 'It is obvious that the traffic situation is one of the greatest unsolved social problems of our time. Either we go a long way toward solving it in the next 10 years or we had better take to the hills in self-defense.' "

Mr. President, I think most of those statements are true. There probably are some exaggerations, but you and I know that today we have too many automobiles and not enough highways. We know, too, that we have inflation. We must do something to take care of this particular problem. All of us are endeavoring here to bring about the strengthening of our economy. The only way we are going to do those things is to have the traffic, the automobiles and the roads to do the job.

This Pennsylvania Highway Information Association communication states further, as follows:

> "Firms representing nearly 49% of the total plant investment and 61% of the employment which has sprung up along Massachusetts Route 128 reported that employee accessibility was an important factor in the decision to locate near the route."

Of course, Mr. President, that is not anything new. We all know these things. Let us also look at another phase which we might have forgotten. I realize it is growing late, and I know that we close at six o'clock. However, not long ago, we passed some deficiency appropriation bills. We passed a deficiency appropriation bill for $50,000,000 for public assistance in Pennsylvania. We must do something to accelerate our program and put our people to work.

As far as I am concerned, I would rather spend the money to employ our people to work upon our highways, thereby taking them off public assistance. I think this acceleration program is going to be good. If Secretary Martin follows through and starts out on a program of repairing and reconstructing the 20,000 miles of State-owned roads, we probably can put many people to work. I think that is another factor we should consider.

I can agree with you fellows by saying that probably all of you are not going to vote for the tax program, and that is your privilege. However, we should take all these factors into consideration.

In conclusion, I would say, Mr. President, that I have heard these arguments before, over the years. As Senator Walker used to say: "We now have reached the point with pride and we view with alarm." That is so true. However, if any of you gentlemen on the other side have an answer or a solution, or have a better method of raising the revenue or a better tax program, I am your man.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED PURSUANT TO HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 9

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair announces, on behalf of the President pro tempore, the appointment of the following committee, pursuant to House Concurrent Resolution, No. 9, which extends an invitation to the National Legislative Conference to hold its 1961 meeting in Philadelphia: the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Lane; the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner; the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Propert; and the Secretary of the Senate, Mr. Moomaw, as an ex-officio member of this committee.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SECRETARY

The following announcement was read by the Secretary of the Senate:

Time	Committee	Room
9:30 A.M.	CONSTITUTIONAL CHANGES & FEDERAL RELATIONS	302

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Wednesday, February 1, 1961, at 10:00 a.m.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 6:00 p.m.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, January 31, 1961.

The House met at 1:00 p.m., EST.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend David R. Hoover, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, our Protector and Guide, we come to Thee with the awareness that Thou hast granted to us a land wherein we are free to read and hear Thy Word, to confess Thy Name, and to labor together for the extension of Thy Kingdom: grant, we beseech Thee, that this liberty which is ours to enjoy may ever be preserved for our children and children's children, and that the power of Thy Word may ever abound in our hearts and lives to the honor of Thy Name and the solidification of the peoples of the communities of this great Commonwealth. This we ask, praying for Thy special blessing upon these servants of Thine who have been called to serve Thee as they serve their fellowmen, in Thy Dear Name. Amen.

GROUP OF YOUNG PEOPLE WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. We are pleased to note the presence in the gallery of a delegation of young people from the Reformation Lutheran Church of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. They are here with us today accompanied by their Pastor, the Reverend Doctor W. D. Ernst. They are the guests of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr Perry.

JOURNEL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the approval of the Journal for Monday, January 30, 1961 will be postponed until printed.

The Chair hears none.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 18.

In the House of Representatives, January 30, 1961.

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission is hereby requested to erect and install radio antennae facilities in the several Turnpike Tunnels for the safety and convenience of the travelling public; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. ROVANSEK, MEHOLCHICK, MURPHY, McNALLY and FARABAUGH. RESOLUTION No. 19.

In the House of Representatives, January 30, 1961.

Whereas, A considerable amount of inconvenience is occasioned by the tests being given by the State Police in compliance with the Governor's Safety Program in the Johnstown area. The main portion of this inconvenience stems from the fact that only a portion of these tests take place in State Police offices. In many instances these offices are inadequately equipped and their facilities limited to complete the tests; therefore be it.

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania urge the Governor to establish centrally located stations with a physician in attendance qualified to complete th physical test necessary to obtaining a drivers license; and be it further

Resolved That these stations be equipped with the necessary facilities and adequate personnel to facilitate the completion of these tests; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the Governor.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

APPOINTMENT HOST COMMITTEE FOR NATIONAL LEGISLATIVE CONFERENCE

The SPEAKER. Pursuant to the provisions of a concurrent resolution (Serial No. 9), adopted by the House and concured in by the Senate on Monday, January 16th, 1961, the Speaker appoints as a Host Committee on the part of the House to the National Legislative Conference of the Council of State Governments the following members:

Messrs. Helm, Boies, Royer, and Joseph O'minsky, Chief Clerk, Ex-officio.

SENATE MESSAGE

NOTIFICATION FROM SENATE

In the Senate, January 30, 1961.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed the House of Representatives that the Honorable Israel Stiefel, Philadelphia County, the Honorable Paul W. Mahady, Westmoreland County and the Honorable Edward J. Kessler, Lancaster County, have been appointed by the President Pro Tempore as a Committee on the part of the Senate pursuant to Senate Concurrent Resolution Serial #102, Commemorating Lincoln's visit to the General Assembly of Pennsylvania on February 22, 1861.

SENATE MESSAGE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented extracts from the Journal of the Senate:

Resolution for concurrence Serial No. 107.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. CAPANO from the Committee on Education, reported as committed, House Bill No. 120, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article nine, section eight of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, increasing the borrowing capacity of school districts in order to reduce costs involved in financing through municipal authorities.

Mr. FRY from the Committee on Game and Conservation, reported as committed, House Bill No. 217, entitled:

An Act amending "The Game Law" approved June 3, 1937 (P. L. 1225) changing the definition of "unprotected birds" to exclude snowy owls.

RESOLUTION

APPRECIATION

Messrs. McCANN, BRETH, AGNEW and TOMPKINS offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted by a rising vote as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 31, 1961.

Whereas, The Honorable Baker Royer is this day retiring as Chairman of the Joint State Government Commission which he has served with dedication and distinction as Chairman since June, 1949. Prior to becoming Chairman of the Commission, he served as its Vice Chairman for two years. The Honorable Baker Royer was first elected to the House of Representatives on April 28, 1936, and has served continuously since that time. In 1943-1945, he served as Chairman of the Commission's Committee on Distribution of State Funds, from 1945 to 1949 as Vice Chairman of the Commissions's Committee on State-Local Highway Financing and from 1947 to 1949 as a member of the Subcommittee on the Legislative Journal; and

Whereas, During Representative Royer's term of office, the Commission has continually increased its capacity to serve the General Assembly in the development of facts and recommendations on all phases of government. Under his guidance, the Commission has made many important studies, the results of which may be found upon the statute books of the Commonwealth, which, to mention but a few, include the School Code, the School Health Program, the Liquor Code, the Mental Code, the Landlord and Tenant Act, Decedents' Estates Laws, the Vehicle Code, the State and School Employes' Retirement Codes. It was through the Commission's investigation and study of public assistance and blind pensions that the Commonwealth secured Federal participation in blind pensions to the extent of 6 million dollars per biennium. The Commission's influence among ther states thrughout America has grown and its reports are eagerly sought throughout the World; and

Whereas, Representative Royer has served as a member of the Executive Committee of the National Legislative Conference; Now, Therefore, Be It

Resolved (the Senate concurring) That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania acknowledges its debt to the Honorable Baker Royer for his service to the Joint State Government Commission and to this Commonwealth and expresses its sincere appreciation for his long years of devotion to duty.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Royer.

Mr. ROYER. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the House for this resolution. I want to thank the members of the Executive Committee and I want to pay my respects to those members of the Executive Committee who were so kind with their assistance and their help during the time I was Chairman.

To me it has been a wonderful experience. I know that I have gained a wealth of knowledge in the affairs of State government.

And to the Members of the Assembly I want to say this—according to the concensus of opinion of the National Legislative Conference the Pennsylvania Joint State Government Commissions is considered a model as a research agency. I am sure that under the chairmanship of my good friend, Harris Breth, it will continue as such.

Thank you.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mr. Eilberg for Mr. FOERSTER because of illness.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. T. F. SULLIVAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. T. F. SULLIVAN. The question is, that due to illness, I was unable to attend last week's sessions. Had I been here I would have voted 100 percent in support of the Governor's tax program, and I so state it now for the record.

Thank you.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman will be spread upon the record.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, two Members of the Majority who were absent last week wish to state for the record their desire of voting for the tax program if they had been here last Thursday night. We have five Members of the Minority present and, in the interest of saving time, I would say that they all desired to be here and, if they had been here, they would have voted against the tax program.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, at this point then, the record will show very clearly that the Republican Members of this House, as indicated by the Minority Floor Leader, would have voted "no" on the revenue-raising measures, and the Democratic Members of this House, including the two who were absent on the Thursday session, would have supported the revenue-raising measures had they been here. We are proud to say that each Member of this group made every effort, to be here and have explained the reasons why they could not be here.

Mr. Speaker, I am sure, as time goes on, this will become extremely important to future debates and future sessions so there will be no misunderstanding.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. GOODRICH asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I agree with the Majority Leader. We think the record should clearly show that the Democrat Party almost to the last man was willing to put about twenty dollars a year gas tax on the average car owner in Pennsylvania, that the Democrat Party voted to eliminate the two percent sales tax commission on the small businessman, that the Democrat Party voted to impose new taxes by extending the bank shares tax to building and loans and savings and loans associations and by imposing the gross premium tax on insurance companies, the domestic life insurance companies.

I say that the Republican Party almost to the last man was not willing to further inflict these tax burdens upon the people of Pennsylvania. I do not know what the Majority Leader has in mind, but we do want the record to clearly show that the Democrats were for these additional taxes and that the Republicans were against them.

Mr. Speaker, while I have the floor I would like to comment on the word "filibuster." I would not have said anything ordinarily but the Majority Leader saw fit to mention it twice.

At 6:00 o'clock in the morning last Thursday we were willing to forgive him for his remarks concerning filibuster because he was tired, I was tired, every Member of the House, with the possible exception of the Speaker, was tired. By the way, we compliment the Speaker for the way he held up that night, while many of us who are considerably younger could not.

But the Majority Leader saw fit yesterday also to use the word "filibuster" with respect to our deliberations last Thursday a. m. I do not know what his definition of the word "filibuster" is. I would like to point out that if to ask information, to interrogate, to debate on bills which constitute the major tax program of the administration is to filibuster, then we are guilty of filibustering. But if we had wanted to filibuster, Mr. Speaker, we could have kept the members of this House until the middle of Thursday afternoon. There was not one bill that we had more than three people speak on with the exception of the gas tax increase. This was the most controversial and the most interesting, in the public point of view, bill on the calendar.

Now we thought we made a major effort to reduce the hours of that session. We did not think at the time we got started it would be until 6:00 o'clock in the morning.

I want to say this rather deliberately on behalf of the Minority, we debated the bills, we asked pertinent and reasonable interrogation and we made every effort to get through with that post-midnight session as early as we could.

If such a display, such a legislative attempt on our part, to debate and to interrogate on the major tax proposals of the administration are to be referred to as a filibuster, then, gentlemen, I say you do not know what the word means. We may be able at some future time in a session, if you adopt the same tactics, to let you know what a filibuster is.

We consider it the legislative responsibility, to say nothing of the legislative prerogative, to examine proposals from the Chief Executive. If the Majority Leader feels that this House should act as a rubber stamp to the Chief Executive's proposals, then that is his privilege. But we Republicans do not consider that to be the function of the Legislature.

We only had two days to study those bills and we made a Herculean effort to find out what they were all about. We made an orderly attempt to debate them and to interrogate on them Thursday a. m., and let me point out, we did not call that post-midnight session. If that had been an afternoon session we would have got started about a quarter to one and we would have been out of here at 6:00 o'clock, and I do not think anybody would have considered that too long to debate the major tax proposals of the administration.

Now if this sort of thing is to be called a filibuster, if we are not permitted to look at the bills until Monday, the day they come out of committee, and we are to vote on these measures two days later and we are not even to be given the oportunity to debate and interrogate on them, then I say that this House of Representatives has come to a sorry state. That is something none of us wants to see. We do not want the reasonable efforts of the Minority to interrogate and debate the major legislative proposals to be referred to as a filibuster.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, let the record show that we rejected a Republican proposal for placing an increased license fee on automobiles and trucks, which would be paid only by Pennsylvanians. In desiring to build the roads, the highways and the streets that you and I want, we chose the tax which is a bona fide use tax. When all those people from all 50 states of this great union travel through this Commonwealth and purchase gas and oil and other commodities, which they must, they will pay their fair share to help build, maintain, construct, and so forth, the highways of this Commonwealth.

Let the record clearly show that our party, the Democratic Party, is for this road construction program for three basic reasons: one, to build the highways to help the industrial and tourist growth of this Commonwealth; two, to help the economy of both this State and the Nation; three, to help reduce unemployment by putting people to work to build these roads in the Commonwealth. Let the record forever show that we will stand before this Commonwealth agreeing that this is what we are for and this is what the Republicans reject.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Tioga, Mr. McInroy, desire recognition?

Mr. McINROY. Yes, sir, I do.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I have the floor.

The SPEAKER. The Chair apologizes. He thought the Majority Leader has been seated.

The Majority Floor Leader will proceed.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman continues to bring up the situation about filibuster. The Republican Party in this House has only been in the minority in 1941, 1955, 1959, and this present session. I think we as Democrats know a little more about minorities than do the Republicans. We know enough about it to say that the minority's rights must be protected at all times, including equal facilities, opportunities to interrogate, opportunities to receive material and information, I think better than the Minority in this House now. These things we believe in and we do not disagree. We have no way of knowing, except by the will of the people, that we may be the minority again on another occasion. We hope, and we want to prove to the people, that we are a Majority working for their benefit and we will ask them to re-elect us the same as you will. They will make the final decision.

So, therefore, we are clearly very keen as to the needs of the minority and their needs to be known. I have not in any way indicated any filibuster, except yesterday when the stamps were delivered here in a sense of good humor, when I indicated that two were missing. Those two I indicated clearly as, one, "waste of time," and another, "filibuster," in the same sense of humor that you sent the stamps over. In fact, it is amazing to me how wonderfully this House operates because I can order stamps and a stamp holder, needing the same for may office, and it takes longer for me to get them than it does the Minority who on the spur of a moment's notice was able to decide to get these and were able to get them, deliver them and have them on the floor here. So, you cannot say that the Minority is not considered first.

In fact, my own office asked for a stamp holder and I understand they sent me an old used one, which we are glad to use because the new one must go to the Minority for this program. It is perfectly all right. We have no objection. In the sense of humor in which it was given we accept it very freely. But I think there will be other days and other occasions when we will be debating about the road needs of Pennsylvania. The other night when I was speaking, Mr. Speaker, our good friend from Philadelphia walked into this House and my statements stop in the record as of when he entered the House. Following that Mr. Agnew did speak, and others spoke, and made certain implications and statements about our party. Yes, we had met with many people about this program. So the record will be complete, we talked to big business and little business. At that point I was willing to state, and had started to say in the record, that we had met with United States Steel, with Jones & Laughlin, wih Westinghouse Electric, with General Electric, with the cement corporations and with many other people who have an interest in Pennsylvania, a major interest, about their situation in this program and whether it would do something for their industry in Pennsylvania. They did not come out and take the position that they were supporting any tax measure; they did not come out and make any statements that they were for or against something; but they did make the honest statements that this program would help their Pennsylvania industries and they are willing to admit so in the hearings, because the cement people, the bituminous people and the steel people certainly will benefit. This can be only a matter of fact.

So, Mr. Speaker, following the Thursday night session, there would have been an occasion to speak a little longer and place into the record some more facts before the bill was finally voted. But I felt we should try to answer every question that was being put to the Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, Mr. Polen, and I hope that the questions were answered. I realize that party positions will always govern party decisions, but party positions do not always govern Pennsylvania's needs, either your party or my party. Therefore, I think we are working in the direction of trying to help Pennsylvania, because Pennsylvania is the State that you and I represent.

The SPEAKER. Since the gentleman from Tioga, Mr. McIroy, asked for recognition prior to the request of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sherman, the Chair will recognize the gentleman from Tioga, Mr. McInroy, and then will recognize the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sherman.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Tioga, Mr. McInroy.

Mr. McINROY. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, since I was one of the absentees on Thursday morning, I just want to say a couple words. It will probably be three or four before I get through, but I promise not to talk long.

I was ill and I went home. I did not have time to look up our Leader, but I thought it was my prerogative to go home when I felt in such a condition.

I might just add these few words because Mr. Agnew said that our absentees would have voted "no." I want to corroborate that. I would have voted "no" and voted it without hesitation, and I would be glad for every person in my county to know why I would vote "no." I am just going to state those reasons as quickly as possible.

In the first place, I work on the railroad and when I saw the hat given to the Majority Leader in a genial way I knew what they were talking about when they said "railroading it through" and that is exactly what was happening. Why was there such a hurry to have that midnight session and get that bill through that night? Why would not yesterday have been just as good as last Thursday morning? There is only one answer. The Majority wanted to railroad it through before the opposition built up over Pennsylvania.

I can say honestly that I have not received one letter or had one telephone call asked me to vote for that tax; not one in all Tioga County has asked me to vote for it. Therefore, I cannot only say I voted my own conscience, but the people's of Tioga County.

I would just like to say one other thing as we are going to talk about money and taxes. What has happened to the Democratic theory of "soaking the rich and not the poor"? If there was ever a tax that soaks the poor it is this tax right here. It is not based upon ability to pay, which I have heard the Democrats say over there year after year, almost. Several will get up and say we are in favor of a tax based upon ability to pay.

Then they love to tell about the graduated income tax which they would love to get into the State of Pennsylvania. I have heard nothing about that lately. I am wondering if they are going to put that in this time, pass the referendum, and then again next session and then it goes to the people. I challenge the Democrats to go ahead and do that. I tell you now I will vote against it, but I would like to see them try to get that in the State of Pennsylvania. I am sure we could beat them for the next 25 years on that one thing alone.

A Democrat was telling me the other day how good he felt that we Republicans were so good to put in the sales tax and the Democratic Party was profiting by it, all the officeholders, and so on. He was just smacking his lips, and that is the truth.

Now we are all becoming, practically all of us, in favor of a sales tax. The only question is, how will it be administered, what the percentage will be, whether we will take off some reasonable exemptions and so on. But let me repeat, certainly with that two-cent gas tax, rammed through as it was and not being based on ability to pay, we are not talking about the need for it and it cannot be according to the old Democratic principles that I have heard praised here so long.

I would like to remind you of one other fact that some of you older Members will remember. We lost a wonderful Member on this side of the House who came here to vote on taxes. I am referring to Ivan Watkins of Schuylkill County. You Democrats forced us to bring that man in here on a stretcher. He came against the advice of his physician. He went 'way out to the State of Ohio to study the sales tax. He did a good job and you were heartless, and I say we were not heartless when we votetd against you, thoses of you who were here on Thursday night.

Again I repeat, I would have been proud to have said "no" had I been here that night.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to see that the previous speaker has come out in the open when he states, "We,"—and I presume he means the Republican Party—" are in favor of the sales tax." I think the record should be very clear. Let it be known that the Republican Party apparently condones and thinks the sales tax is a pretty good tax. But I will make this statement in observation.

It is very seldom, if ever, that we hear from our constituents that they are in favor of a tax and I think neither Republican nor Democrat would hardly ever hear that his constituents are in favor of a tax. On the other hand, Mr. Agnew has made the statement, and other Republican speakers have made the statement, that the average person will be taxed $20 per pear as a result of the two-cent rise in the gasoline tax. It reminds me of the Hoover days when there were two cars in every garage promised and things along that line.

Another figure, we as Democrats will find most of the Democratic people thrughout the State will not be taxed $20 per year as a result of a rise of two cents in the gasoline tax. Whether we are in favor of it or against it is one thing, but if you adjust your figures you will find out that the average gas consumption of the ordinary person is nearer 10 to 13 gallons per week throughout the year, rather than 20 or 30 or 35 gallons per week. Ten or 11 or 12 gallons a week will mean only a tax of $10 a year additional with a raise of two cents in the gasoline tax.

I also submit as a matter of observation that if the gasoline tax that passed the House the last session had been approved by our other body—Republican—that perhaps if would not have been necessary at this time to double the request to two cents; one cent would have been more than ample on the gasoline tax at this time.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I would like to comment first on the remarks made by the gentleman from Philalelphia, Mr. Sherman, and say that under the last Republican Governor, John Fine, the sales tax was one percent. Under Governor Leader, who was not one of boys, it went to three percent. Now under Governor Lawrence, who has never been known to be a Republican, it went to four percent, making four times the sales tax under Democratic Governors than we had under the Republican Administrations. I am glad the Majority Leader mentioned again the fact that big business had been consulted on this program. I think it is about time the Democratic Party of this State got credit for being the party of big business. I am certainly ready to help them take that credit in any way I can.

Some of our Members, Mr. Speaker, have asked me to comment on the fact that the Majority Leader indicated that it was a Republican program that doubled the license plates, added license fees. It certanly was not in this session of the Legislature. We cannot remember just when it was the Republican program, but talking about the 1961 Session, the Republicans certainly have no proposal to increase the motor vehicle registration fee in Pennsylvania, and I would remind the Majority Leader that the program passed at the last session, which doubled the operators' license or drivers' registration fees, was certainly not a Republican program. If it belonged to any party, it was certainly the Democratic program, and I might also say in all good humor to the Majority Leader, the next time he says filibuster, smile.

Mr. McCANN. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Agnew, was not present in those conferences, but, if he will just turn around and talk to a couple of people, the conference took place in the Senate with Republican leaders of the House and Senate. You were not present, but when I stated the fact it is correct that it was proposed by a Republican and not a Democrat.

The SPEAKER. Does the Majority Leader desire that we now take up the calendar or continue the discussion?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I am ready for today's calendar.

Mr. Speaker, I believe the calendar is completely agreed to on its markings, except Senate bill 1, page 5. Mr. Rudisill and Mr. Williams have not informed either leader whether they are ready for debate or questions on that one bill, so we would know when we arrived at it, Mr. Speaker.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 43, Printer's No. 43,

was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 45, entitled:

NOT VOTING—10

Bush,	Guthrie,	Murphy,	Wargo,
Dougherty,	Magee,	O'Donnell, J. P.,
Foerster,	McInroy,	Odorisio,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. McCANN. On the next package of bills, Mr. Speaker, I wonder if House bills No. 70 to House bill No. 74, inclusive, could have a statement and discussion in general by Mr. Fineman and that whatever questions are asked may be asked on all these bills, which would help out. Would that be agreeable?

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, we are agreeable that these bills be treated as a package, be debated and interrogated before the first bill.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 70, entitled:

An Act amending the "Banking Code" approved May 15, 1933 (P. L. 624), making obligations of the Tennessee Valley Authority authorized investments.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman.

Mr. FINEMAN, Mr. Speaker, I had assumed that I was to be interrogated. I do not wish to make a statement, but I will be happy to answer any questions if there are any.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, we thought the gentleman from Philadelphia was going to make his usual erudite statement in explanation of these bills. We are willing to interrogate him. Perhaps we can get the information in that manner.

Mr. Speaker, the usual procedure on adding new obligations or new companies to the list of authorized legal investments is for this House to receive a recommendation from the Pennsylvania Bar Association Committee on Fiduciaries. I would be the first one to admit that this House is not bound, certainly, by the recommendation of any such association, but we have always been inclined to take the recommendation of the Pennsylvania Bar Association in this field, and I wonder if the gentleman can tell me whether or not the Bar Association has received this proposal and whether they have made a recommendation neither in the affirmative or the negative on these bills?

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to advise the gentleman, first of all, that House bills Nos. 70 to 74 cover investments by five different agencies or funds, both public and private. There is only one bill, and that is House bill No. 72, which has to do with fiduciaries and that is the only bill with which the Bar Association would concern itself.

It so happens that the section of the Pennsylvania Bar Association dealing with investments by fiduciaries is meeting tomorrow for the purpose of determining upon authorizing language in the nature of a general power to be given to fiduciaries to enable them to invest in various stated securities, and bonds, and obligations and other indebtedness, without actually delineating or defining the particular state in question, as is now the law. The gentleman well knows that in almost every session of the Legislature we are confronted with another bill adding to the list of already authorized major investments, such as, Federal National Mortgage Association, the National Housing Act, the Federal Loan Bank Act, and so forth, and the Bar Association is now determining its own language which will be appropriate to obviate the need for specifying in detail any of these investments in question.

The Bar Association has not expressed any opinion in detail specifically referring to investments in TVA. However, under the Fiduciaries Act of 1949, and I have the code in front of me, there is a section called "The Prudent Investor's Section," which enables a fiduciary to invest in the obligations of any United States corporate agency even though that agency may not be delineated or specifically detailed as a legal agency for the investing of funds. It is the opinion of many people who are well informed that investments in TVA, under our present laws for purposes of fiduciaries, would be an authorized legal investment, provided there was reference to "The Prudent Investor's Section" of the Fiduciaries Act of 1949.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, can the gentleman inform the House whether or not the obligations of any other authorities are considered authorized investments under the law in Pennsylvania?

Mr. FINEMAN. Yes, under the law in Pennsylvania the obligations of the United States Government, of any of the commonwealths of this Nation, even investments in the District of Columbia and Canada are authorized legal investments.

Mr. AGNEW. Any agency of the Federal Government or any state?

Mr. FINEMAN. Yes. There is, the Federal National Mortgage Association Agency, the Federal Farm Credit Agency, the Federal Far Loan Agency, the Federal Home Land Bank Agency, and many others. Also, statewide there are all the authorities that are legal agencies for the investment of funds, such as the General State Authority, the Turnpike Commission and so forth.

Mr. AGNEW. Does the gentleman have any information regarding the interest rates of these TVA obligations as compared with other obligations the State might invest in?

Mr. FINEMAN. Before I answer that question, Mr. Speaker, I would like to point out, and by so doing I think I will anticipate some of the other questions that might be forthcoming, that this is a permissive situation only. This only makes available to the State, or to any of the agencies mentioned in these five bills, TVA as one of the sources in which it can invest its money, there being no obligation, however, on any of these agencies, to commit itself to invest its funds in the TVA. In other words, at such time as any of these agencies have funds available for investment purposes, it would be up to those persons who are charged with the responsibility of investing those funds to determine from all the investment sources that are available whether or not TVA represents the best investment that can be made from the standpoint of yield, from the standpoint of safety factors and other considerations that will be taken into mind at the time the decision is made. I have no specific information as to the yield presently, but I know that the bonds have been recommended, the source of investment has been recommended, to the Commonwealth by the law firm that is bond counsel to the Commonwealth, by the Mellon Bank and Trust Company, which is the fiscal advisor to the Commonwealth, particularly in reference to the retirement funds, the State Employes' Retirement Fund and the State Teachers' Retirement Fund. Both the bond counsel for the Commonwealth and the fiscal advisor of the Commonwealth have recommended TVA as a source of investment.

Mr. AGNEW. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, recently in the New York Times there was a full page advertisement by the Tennessee Valley Authority urging industrial plants and companies in the northern states to move their plants to the area serviced by the TVA. They had many cogent reasons for such a move, one of which, of course, was the cheaper cost of electricity. I do not know, frankly, how much the passage of these bills might help the Tennessee Valley Authority, but it would not hurt them. It would help them somewhat, and by helping them we might be hurting industry in Pennsylvania; we might be encouraging, indirectly, industrial plants and companies in Pennsylvania to move their plants out of our area and into the area serviced by the Tennessee Valley Authority. In the issue of the Pennsylvania AFL-CIO news which came out today—ordinarily, I do not subscribe much to their editorial comment, however—their editorial in this issue points out that one of the most important things facing the Commonwealth is to keep the industry we have here, keep industry here, expand industry here, and attract new industry to Pennsylvania. Now, the goals and the aims of the Democratic Party and the goals and the aims of the Republican Party are exactly the same in this field. We are all interested in more jobs for the people of Pennsylvania. I could read into the record part of this editorial of the AFL-CIO News, but you all received a copy of it in today's mail. I believe you all agree with the comments in that part of the editorial which I refer to now.

We do not feel we should do anything now, in this House, unless it is of distinct benefit to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, which would directly or indirectly encourage industry to move out of our State to deprive our people of additional jobs and to encourage them to move into another area in the United States. I do not think we should do anything to help the Tennessee Valley Authority, and by the passage of these bills we certainly would not be doing anything to hurt them.

The Members on this side of the House have taken the position that since we do not know what the effect of these bills might be and since we have not heard from the Pennsylvania Bar Association Fiduciaries Committee, the members of which are some of the real experts in this field in this Commonwealth, we are inclined to oppose this package of House bills Nos. 70 to 74. I ask the Members on this side of the House to vote against the bills.

Mr. FINEMAN. I was delighted to hear the Minority Leader state that it was the common objective of both the Democratic Party and the Republican Party to keep industry in Pennsylvania and thus provide jobs for the citizens of Pennsylvania. I think that statement bespeaks the intention of the Democratic Party in not wanting to do anything that would be inimicable to that interest and adverse to our desire to want to retain industry in Pennsylvania and to retain a high level of employment for the citizens of Pennsylvania.

It is somewhat far-fetched to indicate as a basis for objecting to these bills that industry might very well scramble out of Pennsylvania if we were to pass these bills. Certainly the Mellon Bank and Trust Company would not like to see industry run out of Pennsylvania. Neither would any of the other agencies that have countenanced and advised favorably for these bills.

Now where is our concern however for giving to the various agencies that invest their funds the opportunity to get the highest yield possible. Was there not conversation on this floor earlier in this term dealing with the retirement funds and about the obligation of the State to make sure that we got the highest yield for these funds? Should not these funds have the opportunity to invest in a source of income which will provide for them the highest yield possible? This is another avenue on which the retirement funds can proceed in getting the biggest return we can on our investment and I want to reiterate and repeat once again that there is no binding commitment on the Commonwealth for any of the agencies covered by these five bills making it mandatory that they invest in TVA.

We are merely saying to them, here is another one that you can add to the choice of 50 or 100 which you already have. After you have considered all the factors, the factor of safety, the factor of yield and interest return, if you feel the TVA is the best return for you then by all means invest in TVA, but if you do not feel that TVA is going to give you the largest return on your dollar, by all means go to another source. I am urging the Members of this House to vote for this bill because we are evidencing an intention to cooperate with an agency of the Federal Government and at the same time we are not binding ourselves to any commitment.

I might indicate to the gentleman, unless this thought has been running through his mind, that the request to this Commonwealth to participate in this program was made in June of 1959, or rather, I am sorry, of 1960, at a time when the Republicans were still in control of the national administration in Washington.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to clarify the situation regarding these bonds. I think I will be able to do so.

President Eisenhower recommended to Congress that instead of appropriating money—tax money—from the Federal Government for the development of the TVA that they publicly finance it. For that reason these bonds were sold. This is a different type of security than was ever sold before, because this is the first Federal revenue bond. These bonds are secured solely by the revenues of the TVA. They are taxable bonds. I might say that my broker did call me and said he thought they were a good investment, and I gave him my nominal subscription, but the issue was over-subscribed and I did not get them, which would indicate that they received a very favorable financial reception.

Now what we are doing here is simply saying this: This is a new type of bond which is not covered by any of our acts. We are simply making them legal investments as covered in the various bills—that, and nothing more.

Mr. FINEMAN. For the interest of those Members of the House who are concerned with the safety factor involved, there are several points of information I would like to bring to their attention, Mr. Speaker.

First of all, I have mentioned that the Mellon Bank and Trust Company, the fiscal adviser to the Commonwealth, has recommended TVA as a source of investment without saying to the Commonwealth, "You should by all means invest in TVA," however.

Moody's Investment Service has rated TVA bonds as AAA. That is the highest rating that can be given.

Standard and Poor's Investment Service has rated these bonds A-1+, which is the highest rating they give.

TVA investments are also presently lawful investments for any funds, fiduciaries or trust accounts that come under the jurisdiction of the United States. Certainly, if the United States Government has enough confidence in TVA to authorize its funds to be invested in TVA, we should have a like amount of confidence.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I understand that the Advisory Committee of the Joint State Government Commission on decedents' estates has been reactivated for the purpose of screening bills and screening this type of legislation. I do not believe they have passed on this investment, and for that reason I think the Members should vote against these bills.

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FINEMAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GAILEY. Will the gentleman advise us whether or not there are obligations of other States or Canada which are presently authorized investments for fiduciaries for this Commonwealth.

Mr. FINEMAN. There are. The Fiduciary Act of 1949 authorizes such investments.

Mr. GAILEY. Can the gentleman advise us whether or not, to his knowledge, obligations of, for example, the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission or the branches of our State government may be authorized legal investments in other States?

Mr. FINEMAN. All agencies of the Commonwealth are authorized legal investments.

Mr. GAILEY. Does the gentleman know whether or not they are authorized in any States other than Pennsylvania for legal investments?

Mr. FINEMAN. Yes, they are.

Mr. GAILEY. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, just a very short statement in reply to the point of view taken by the Minority Leader. It seems to me that his arguments in opposition to this particular package of bills are specious and extremely short-sighted. Certainly no one would deny that the obligations of our agencies here in Pennsylvania, are very important and may be sold in the open market so that we can finance the things that we want to do. For us to take such steps as this, which perhaps might lead to warfare among the other States, each attempting to thwart the sale of obligations of their sister States within our own boundaries, would be very short-sighted. I think the fact that Pennsylvania bonds are sold in other States is in itself an indication of the sense of fair play, the sense of obligation, to a sister State that have been exhibited by all the States here in the United States. I think the argument is specious, and I would suggest that all of us in the House vote for this package of bills.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, if I understood correctly the implications, I assume that there would be no Republican votes for these measures. Now to me this is amazing because you and I know quite well whoever have any meetings with bond counsel or fiscal advisors, that you only have so many in Pennsylvania now accepted. You do not run a single bond issue in this Commonwealth without one of them serving either your own agency or the Commonwealth agency. Now, let us take what Mr. Fineman said and study it for a minute.

The fiscal advisors of the Commonwealth—one of the major fiscal concerns in this great State—say "yes." They recommend this highly. Take the Mellon National Bank and Trust Company—absolutely "yes." You have no trouble checking this out. In each case they are recommending these laws for the sole purpose of being able to have Pennsylvania in a position to possibly secure the best interest rate we can, should we ever be able to buy such.

Now, as Mr. Polen as stated, you and I, if you are in a position to buy any, such as Mr. Polen, you could not get any of the last issue or the issue before that. Now, the people who wait and carefully select each bond before they make a decision, Mr. Fineman has given you the facts and names of many others who rate in the Eastern United States. Their answer is AAA for one rating and A-1+ for the other. If you go to anyone to secure this information you only have this source. You have no other. If you went to your own broker in your own county or community, he, in the end, gets his answer from that source.

Now then, to assume that we have no votes on this is to also assume that we are in this position, that perhaps you do not favor the passage of laws that will make each of the Commonwealth's investments sounder should they be able to do that, to make in your own community or your own insurance setup the opportunity for these people to invest your money to get the greatest yield. If each of these say "yes," how can you say "no" and name the one who says so on any of these that you may check. You can find the same answer if you check today, tomorrow or next week.

Now, Mr. Speaker, we, of course, are hoping that there are and will be some votes for these measures because I think Mr. Fineman has done an outstanding job in explaining and being willing to answer any question on any of these bills so that you would be clear, because not I or anyone else in this room is a fiscal or bond counsellor advisor. There are none in this House. Do you say the information they are giving to you is incorrect?

I ask, Mr. Speaker, that there would be some Republican votes for these measures, 70 to 74, and I ask it honestly that you reconsider your situation and cast some "aye" votes for these measures, and I hope all of you may be able to do that.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the senate for concurrence.

(During roll call on House Bill No. 70).

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. AGNEW. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, we are willing to concede that the mistake on the roll call is electronic. You say that nobody around there pushed the switch; and I think it is only fair to say that no Member on this side of the House pushed the switch either, but Mr. Wargo was recorded as voting and it was not we who said he voted, it was the record that said he voted.

Now all we want to do is find out what happened. My parliamentary inquiry is, what do we do in a situation such as this? Do we merely strike his name off the roll, or do we vote over again, rescinding that vote? I am asking the Chair for information.

The SPEAKER. The vote would, of course, be stricken from the record and if that changed the result of the voting then a new roll call could be asked for if that one vote passed the measure.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. LIPPINCITT. If we can take a name off the roll call where it is shown to be incorrect, can we add a name to it when it is shown that the name was not recorded by a mistake in equipment?

The SPEAKER. We could not add a name to it, but you could take another roll call. You cannot add a name to one but if it is proven that somebody is recorded as voting who positively did not vote, the House strikes that name off, the other way around. You simply ask for another roll call.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I thank the gentleman.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 71, entitled:

An Act amending "The Insurance Company Law of 1921" approved May 17, 1921 (P. L. 682) making obligations of the Tennessee Valley Authority authorized investments.

NOT VOTING—7

Bush,	Foerster,	Magee,	Wargo,
Dougherty,	Guthrie,	Odorisio,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 76, entitled:

An Act amending the "Public School Code of 1949" approved March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), providing for reporting of amounts of State reimbursement and subsidy on all school district tax notices.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mrs. REIBMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Education for the purpose of further study and possible amendment.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I ask the gentleman from Philadelphia, I believe it is Mr. A. M. Lee, who had amendments changing the effective date, if he would be kind enough to consent to give the amendments to the chairman of the Committee on Education, and any other amendments that were reday, so the Education Committee would have them with the bill when they reamend the bill.

BILLS PASSED OVER

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection,

House Bill No. 77, Printer's No. 77,
House Bill No. 78, Printer's No. 78,
House Bill No. 79, Printer's No. 79,
House Bill No. 80, Printer's No. 80,
House Bill No. 127, Printer's No. 127 and Senate Bill No. 1, Printer's No. 1

will be passed over.

The Chair hears none.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the Membership of the House, it was agreed that on each Monday there would be at least one bill that is considered non-controversial to be voted on. House bill No. 127 was agreed to by all parties. It will be passed over for a Monday vote for the purpose of having a roll call vote.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Murphy, rise?

Mr. MURPHY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. MURPHY. Mr. Speaker, today I had an opportunity to visit the very fine lounge that we have out here now for the Members to converse and talk over their various matters, but I wonder, Mr. Speaker, if we could not perhaps have a couple of the doors unlocked so we can get in and out. I tried to approach it from the outer hall and was told that I would have to come in and approach in front of the various spectators and visitors we have in order to get in through the Republican side, and I was wondering if perhaps we Democrats could not have the door opened for us.

The SPEAKER. We will discuss the matter with the Floor Leaders and the Chief Clerk.

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 16

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 5 of today's calendar, House Resolution No. 16.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 30, 1961.

The allocation of offices and working space in the State capitol buildings is a matter of real concern to the General Assembly and is a subject on which it should be well informed therefore be it

RESOLVED (the Senate concurring) That a permanent commission is hereby created which shall consist of four members of the Senate to be appointed by the President Pro Tempore two from each political party and four members of the House of Representatives to be appointed by the Speaker two from each political party Vacancies shall be filled by the officer making the original appointments always preserving the equal division of the members with respect to party affiliation.

The commission shall be known as the "Legislative Commission on Space Allocation" and it shall be its duty to study the use of office and work space in the capitol buildings to make recommendations for the efficient use and equitable allocation of such space and to make regular reports of its findings and recommendations to the Governor the General Assembly and the Secretary of Property and Supplies.

The commission shall have power to meet and conduct its business at any time during the session of the General Assembly or during the interim between sessions and whenever funds have been provided for the purpose to employ such clerical technical or professional help as may be necessary for its work.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 5 of today's calendar, Senate Bill No. 2.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 2, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article three, section sixteen of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania authorizing cash refunds without appropriation in certain cases.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NAYS—1

Blair,

NOT VOTING—10

Bush,	Guthrie,	Maxwell,	Wargo,
Dougherty,	Johnson, A. W.,	Odorisio,	Wescott,
Foerster,	Magee,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, today with the electric roll call you have voted on ten bills. Each roll call in the past has been roughly 20 minutes. If you had ten roll calls today at an average of 20 minutes, it would have taken 200 minutes. The first roll call was at 3:15 p.m., and the roll calls, without debate, would have been in position at about 5:35 p.m. today—and it is now twenty-five of four. This is an example of cooperation. I hope there are no more electrical bugs in it, but it will prove that we can handle, particularly when we get to appropriation bills and heavy housekeeping bills, where we do vote on a given day 50 bills a day or more, that we can do it from a period of 1:00 to 5:30 in that day, just under the roll call, not counting the debate. So I think it will be helpful to this House.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. POLEN asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Appropriations to meet during the session of the House.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, there will be some announcements made and I would like to determine the time for the House session tomorrow since there will be Appropriation Committee hearings tomorrow.

The Appropriation Committee will be sitting on hearings, the announcements will be made. It was our intention to convene the House as early as possible so we would finish and the Membership could go home early, in daylight tomorrow. I would like to ask the House that we proceed because we will debate the rule changes tomorrow, those that pass, pass; those that fall, fall. If agreed to, I was wondering if this House could convene at 11:00 a.m., even though we normally have agreed to 10:00 a.m. on the last day, to give the Appropriation Committee an opportunity to go ahead with their hearings and at the proper time the Members could recess the hearings to come in and vote on the Rule changes, if this could be agreed to, and then they could proceed with the hearings.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, ordinarily that would be agreeable and we are not going to object to it now, but I might point out that some Members made plans to leave for home by train, plane or private automobile, based on a 10:00 o'clock start, and I do not know whether this is one Member or whether it is 20, 30 or 40 Members, Mr. Speaker, but I think if we are going to change the hours we should have as much advance notice as possible. We are not objecting to an 11:00 o'clock start tomorrow, but apparently some Members of the House on your side and on our side made their plans to leave based on a 10:00 o'clock start.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I certainly agree to this. It will be just as easy for the Appropriations Committee to proceed with their hearings and break at a different time. Therefore, I believe, it will be quite all right that this House convenes at 10:00 a.m., finish our business, and next week there is only two days' session and there will be controversial bills next week on those days. There is no hotel space for the third day. So I ask that all the Members be here tomorrow. This House will convene at 10:00 a.m., as agreed to in Rules Committee.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I do want to make it clear that we are not objecting to a later start if the Majority wants to start at 11:00. If the House will convene in time, that is also fine. So far as the Minority is concerned this week could have been a two-day Session. We are willing to make this the last day this week.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is very cooperative. We do have Appropriation Hearings on into the night and tomorrow. Many Members will stay. We will have controversial debate on Rules 19, 61, 46, 48 and 11, I think, if I have them right on the calendar. But, we will debate and let the Rule changes come as they may and vote on a couple of other bills and that will be it. We will move the calendar up on the bills that are coming out of Committee.

SENATE RESOLUTION

WEEKLY ADJOURNMENT

Mr. KALMAN offered the following resolution which was read as follows:

In the Senate, February 1, 1961.

RESOLVED (The House of Representatives concuring), That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene Tuesday, February 7, 1961 at SEVEN o'clock P.M., E. S. T., and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene Monday, February 6, 1961 at THREE-THIRTY o'clock P. M., E. S. T.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, may we be at ease?

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. KALMAN. Mr. President, I ask for the immediate consideration of this resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Are there any objections to the immediate consideration of this resolution?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, my objection is not to the immediate consideration of this resolution. However, I do wish to call to the attention of the Senate the fact that this resolution for reconvening next week calls for Tuesday, at 7:00 p.m.

It is the feeling of many of the Senators, on this side at any rate, that we have always prepared our time schedule for Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and, if necessary, any other days when our presence is required here in Harrisburg. The additional implication of this resolution, of course, is that a 7:00 p.m. Session is going to mean a rather extended night Session, because we know that certain bills which are definitely controversial now appear upon our Calendar and will be upon the Calendar next Tuesday, The reason for trying to avoid, at all costs, night sessions has been perfectly obvious. They are very, very hard on a number of Members of this Senate.

It appears to me that it would be perfectly reasonable to have our regular Session convene on Monday, as we always do, and take care of certain bills which are not in the category of tax bills. There are many other bills we might consider when they are reported from committee and dispose of them. Then we can arrange our schedule so that we can consider the controversial measures in an orderly procedure, as we always have.

It very definitely is a burden upon many Members on this side to skip over Monday, come in Tuesday evening and then be faced with a long night Session, which will inevitably be the case if this resolution is adopted.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I can understand the feeling of the gentleman on the other side. However, there are certain considerations concerning which we must take cognizance before we can come to any conclusion on this matter.

Historically, the Legislature used to meet Monday evenings and the Session would go on for long periods of time. I have tried to avoid this at all costs because many of the people here have other matters at attend to and it is necessary for them to be in other places. However, I think everyone will agree that there is nothing magic about Monday as opposed to Tuesday, or opposed to Wednesday or any other time.

One of the things that we have been constantly accused of is railroading these bills, and constantly pushing and doing all of these other things. Now we are delaying until Tuesday. One of the reasons for this, among others, is that if there are any opponents who want to be heard on this matter by the Members on the other side, this will give them a full day on Monday to be heard.

The proponents of this bill, who are members of the Administration and who had some duty in drafting some of these measures, will be available all day Tuesday if the Members would like to hear from them before we go into Session. After you gentlemen have heard from some of the proponents of these bills, I do not think the Session will be very long.

Of the twenty bills in the tax package, there are only about two or three that are of any real moment, in the sense of being controversial. The rest of them are housekeeping measures, in the sense that they are accounting measures.

I am going to try during today's Session to go through these bills rather hurriedly—not to debate them—to explain what they are, how much revenue they produce and just exactly what they do. I will try to do that during this Session. The bills are available to all of the Members, and I think between now and next week, which is seven full days, these gentlemen will have an opportunity to go over them and hold hearings in their Districts, as Senator Haluska is going to do, with the people who are for and against these measures. They will also have an opportunity to listen to the people who have something to say as far as the State picture is concerned.

At the same time, it will give us an opportunity to have some of our budget hearings, which have been delayed because some of the Members have not been here. As a matter of fact, we just adjourned a Budget Hearing so the the gentlemen could attend this Session. However, the hearing will continue at three o'clock, and be held again tomorrow and Monday.

I think it is also necessary that all of our people be here to vote on these measures, whether they be for them or against them. Taking a reading on this matter,—and there are fifty Members, all of whom lead varied lives in varied areas—the best time to get everybody together here will be Tuesday evening.

I think this is not asking too much for these important measures: I do not think anybody is being put out. If we meet here about seven o'clock in the evening, we should be able to conclude our business in about a two-hour period, even with all of the discussion and county-discussion. As I said, there are only two or three measures here that are truly controversial. The rest of them fall in the category of good housekeeping or the elimination of some things that we have been doing for some time.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I can readily understand that if what the gentleman proposes to do with the bills today, and the bills on whatever date we may meet next week, would be the procedure, yes, there would be very little time elapse. However, I cannot anticipate, Mr. President, that the Majority Leader is going to get up and give his explanation of these bills and not invite some comment from this side which will, inevitably, at least double the time that he is talking about. Then, we will have to go all over it again at the next session when we meet, when the bills are on Third Reading.

I cannot for the life of me conceive how this is any timesaver or how it is an advantage to any Member of the Senate. There is no reason—unless the gentleman can give me a very persuasive reason—why we should not meet here Monday. We certainly have no objection to their withholding action on the bills until all of the Members can be in their seats. However, there certainly is no reason why we should not meet here and do our work on Monday, and then when they get ready to roll the tax bills, we will be ready to do it.

Here he is proposing to have two bites of the same cherry by discussing the bills today and coming back and discussing them again next week. It does not add up.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, as I stated, there is nothing magic about Monday as compared to Tuesday or and other day in the week.

One of the things that I have been striving for, along with the Members of the Democratic Caucus, is to try to meet here on days when we have something to do. If we have nothing to do, there is no sense coming here and spending the time or just being around here idle. I think if there is nothing to do on this Calendar, unless someone can show me there is something that is earth shaking which must be passed immediately on Monday and will not keep—we should be here on Tuesday, ready to transact this business and get the decks cleared so thhat we can go on with other legislation after these tax measures are out of the way, whether they pass or they fail.

Tuesday is the first day that we will have everyone here and in their seats. Not only the Members on our side, but some of the Members on the other side have expressed to me the fact that they may have some problem about being here Monday. I do not want to make anyone feel I am pressuring them so they can accuse us of continuing to railroad this thing, because we have certainly waited long enough. I have not pressed for these measures to be moved up. I am going to try to get them up to Third Reading today so we can be in a position to work on them Tuesday.

I will invite any discussion or questions here today. We have a whole day here today to work. I invite any questions, discussion, amendments or anything on these bills today, because if we are in error and are making a mistake, I certainly hope that the Members on the other side will feel free to bring this fact to my attention. It might be that I do not see the entire picture. I would be happy to have their advice, as well as the encouragement they could give us in raising this money which the Commonwealth well needs.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, since I have been a Member of this Body, it has been customary to meet on Mondays, Tuesdays and possibly Wednesdays. I believe a great many of the Members, including myself, arrange their private business at home to be taken care of during the latter part of the week.

Now here we come, and with apparently not a good reason—changing the procedure and meeting at seven o'clock on Tuesday evening. As the Minority Leader so capably pointed out, we are then involving the Members in a long evening Session because I think none of us are so naive as to believe there will not be many arguments for and against these tax measures.

I think we established several years ago—certainly not by a Rule of the Senate, but a tacit rule accepted by all—that we would attempt, to the best of our ability, to adjourn the Sessions each day as close to 6:00 p.m. as we possibly could. We have tried to do that. Sometimes we have gone a little over. However, I think the health and the welfare of the Members generally has been protected by that rule—unwritten rule, if you please—or by the procedure of adjourning as close to six as we could.

I think it is setting a terrible precedent in the early stages of this Session to begin a week at seven o'clock in the evening.

Again, at the risk of being repetitious but as it was so ably pointed out by the Minority Leader, there are other bills on the Calendar. Perhaps they are not earth shaking, but they are certainly bills that must be disposed of in some way, shape or manner. Why cannot those of us, who can be here on Monday at the regular convening time of 3:00 p.m., come and take care of those matters?

It is not necessary that we have fifty Members in their seats all of the time. Certainly, that is most desirable but due to sickness and other causes, many men do not get here, both Republicans and Democrats. However, if we have a quorum of twenty-six Members, there is no reason why we cannot go through the orderly procedure of having regular Sessions of this Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe the gentleman, whom I consider one of the better Legislators and one of the more conscientious Legislators of this or any other body, well knows that you cannot pass any measure unless you have the votes to do so. If the Senator will advise me how many votes they are willing to give us to pass these measures, I will be happy to meet on Monday, Tuesday or any other day that he desires.

I have just looked over the Calendar to make sure that what I saw yesterday was not changed today, and the only measures that are on this Calendar are the tax measures. Outside of those, there are only two other bills which, if they never pass in this Session, would not make any difference at all. Not that they are not important, but they are not of such import that we could not let them go.

I might also point out that these Members, who are not well, would have a chance to rest all day Monday and all day Tuesday, and have a chance to have on early dinner before they come here ready to work.

I think we can discuss these measures today, whether we debate them or just get into a discussion of them. In addition to that, if you call the—and I have offered this and I still offer it to you— proponents of these measures, the Administration, to answer any questions in your Caucus on Tuesday and you do not have to rush to a Session and miss the opportunity to fully hear these people, you will be in a much better position to vote on these measures and handle them in an intelligent manner.

The presence of only twenty-six Members, I am sure the Senator will agree, would not be enough to transact this business or transact any business, because you will always find there are some people who are constantly opposed to some measures as well as those people who are constantly in favor of them.

I would like to point out to the Senator again that the Legislature, historically, used to meet on Monday night—late on Monday night—sometimes going into Session around eight or nine o'clock in the evening. They met again the next night because many of the people at that time, due to travel restrictions and communications, were unable to get here.

We are spending a lot of time on a matter which really does not require much discussion or much time at all, because I think there is nothing magic about the days that we meet here. The most important thing is that when we meet, we do something and accomplish our work.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I certainly would be in no position to advise the gentleman how many votes on this side of the House he has for the tax measures. My guess, Senator—purely a guess—is that you have hardly any. I doubt if you have any.

However, I would suggest, as a matter of procedure since we have some twenty-two Standing Committees in the Senate of Pennsylvania and since I heard the Senator say that this is going to be workmanlike and a businesslike Session,—and I realize my suggestion may be treading on a prerogative of the Majority—that he suggest to the Chairmen of the various Committees that they schedule meetings for Monday. If there are some good bills,—and, unquestionably, there are good bills reposing in the committees—let them be discussed on Monday, reported out of committee, and we will have that Calendar about which he has spoken so many times.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I will yield to the Minority Leader, if he wants to make a statement.

Mr. BERGER. No, all I wanted to do was to make certain, Mr. President, that what I said was understood correctly. We would not certainly be disposed to try to move any bills of a controversial nature when there was not a full attendance, in so far as it would be possible to attain one.

It is not the fact of moving the bills on Tuesday which disturbs me. It is the matter of having a Session and doing some business on Monday, and then being prepared for Tuesday or Wednesday, as we always have been.

There is no use going over the same ground again. However, a night Session on such matters as these tax bills is a very, very objectionable thing, I believe, to a great majority of the Members of the Senate on both sides.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I have heard no objection voiced here by the gentlemen on this side of the aisle with whom I have discussed it. I might even say—and I do not think I am breaching any confidence—that some of the gentlemen on the other side of the aisle offered no objection when I discussed it informally with them when it was just a germ of an idea.

I do think the position of the gentleman from Allegheny is well taken. I want to say, if some of the Committee Chairmen would like to have meetings on Monday and discuss some of the measures they have in their committees, I think that should be done and could very easily be done by some of the Members. I have no objection to that. I am sure no one has any objection to that. It is a good point, well taken. I hope the Committee Chairmen will heed the gentleman's advice and schedule meetings if they feel it is necessary or they want to do that at that time.

Also, there will be Budget Hearings on Monday, which I think will take up the time of some of the Members who are here, as well. I think there will be enough to do here if you come to Harrisburg on Monday or Tuesday morning.

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection to the immediate consideration of this resolution, the Senate will proceed to its consideration.

On the question,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call vote.

The PRESIDENT. A roll call being requested, the Clerk will call the roll.

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. KELLER. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "no."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will be so recorded.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. YATRON, DEVLIN, STROUP and SEYLER, by unanimous consent presented to the Chair SB 155, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), entitled "Public School Code of 1949," providing for the creation and operation of community colleges; giving certain powers to the State Council of Higher Education; increasing the power of school districts to levy additional taxes for the operation of community colleges; and providing for certain payments by the Commonwealth for students enrolled in community colleges.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. MAHADY, by unanimous consent, from the Committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations, reported, as amended, SB 23.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

SB 3—Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, for the reasons stated at yesterday's Session, I request that Senate Bill No. 3 go over in it order.

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection, the bill is passed over in its order.

SB 28—Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I request that Senate Bill No. 28 go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Weiner.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEINER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I would like to know why the Majority Leader is now asking for this bill to go over in order when he objected so strenuously yesterday to its going over in order.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, as I stated earlier, I have great admiration for the gentleman from Allegheny County. However, he is able to do arithmetic as easily as I can. If he will do that simple arithmetic as I have done it, I think if he were in my place, he would take the same course of action.

Mr. FLEMING. I thank the gentleman, Mr. President. I am only happy that the record will now show that it was he who asked for the bill to go over in order.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, if the record does not show it, I ask that it does show it. The reason is that we do not have enough votes to pass this bill.

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection, Senate Bill No. 28 is passed over in its order.

BILL OVER IN ORDER TEMPORARILY

SB 53—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order temporarily at the request of Mr. WEINER.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

SB 20—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. WEINER.

SB 31—Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I request that Senate Bill No. 31 be passed over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, my reason for requesting that this bill go over in its order is because Senator Mallery wanted to offer some amendments. We are holding this bill until such time as we are able to check this with a number of people who might be interested in this measure.

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection, the bill will be passed over in its order.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

HB 82—The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, this bill, House Bill No. 82, is the beginning of the tax measures. This first tax bill is set up for the purpose of making changes in our fiscal period. As everyone well knows, the fiscal period ends May 30th and the new one begins June 1st. We will, as a result of this bill, when it is passed, change our fiscal year to begin with July 1st and end with June 30th. The reason for doing this is so we can follow the Federal fiscal period. I think we are one of the four states remaining which does not have its fiscal period running concurrent with the Federal period. Also, the State period differs from the various school districts, so that we constantly have to calculate in order to agree with these different fiscal periods. We feel this is good housekeeping.

Therefore, our first year of operation will actually be thirteen months in length until we come to the end of this fiscal period.

I would like to clear some confusion that I have seen in print and also have heard some of the Members discussing. Our fiscal period for this year will end the same as always, on May 30th, and the new year will begin June 1st, but it will run until the following June 30th and the new period will begin on July 1st. I am now talking about July 1, 1962.

As far as this period is concerned, and as far as the auditing and the amounts that you see in the budget are concerned, they are for a thirteen month period. If you look at these amounts, you will find the money being made available for a thirteen month period. Whenever we talk about money being made available, it is for a thirteen month period. If you want to find out the amount per month, you divide by thirteen to get the answer. This will not occur after 1962. The 1962-1963 fiscal year will be on the usual twelve month basis.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The second and third section and title were read and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

HB 83—The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the purpose of this bill is to transfer money from the Banking Department Fund to the General Fund. The purpose of this is, in the interest of good housekeeping, to try to have all our money go into the General Fund, appear there and be allocated from that fund for those purposes. If we possibly can—and we have been doing it over the last I would say, six years anyway and it was done even before that by the other Administrations—we have to do away with these special funds that have grown up over the years so that we do not mix our moneys together. Then if any department wants any money, we know how much is in the till to pay it and we do not have to go around looking for these special funds which, over the years, sometimes lose the original purpose which was intended by the Legislature.

This bill transfers $125,000 to the General Fund from the Banking Department Fund.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Weiner.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. Weiner. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, do I understand from the gentleman that this bill is intended to eliminate a special fund?

Mr. WEINER. No sir. If I said that, I am sorry. I did not mean to give that impression.

Mr. BERGER. Very well.

Mr. WEINER. What we are doing is transferring the surplus from it. These funds are all being studied.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The second section and title were read and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

HB 84—The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the money in this fund, which is approximately $152,107.19, is being transferred to the General Fund from the fund that used to be known as the Federal Unemployment Relief Fund. This money that we are talking about represents the money left over from the days of the depression when emergency relief was first organized, and then later on was followed by the W.P.A. and P.W.A. These were matching funds that were set up by the State. There is no longer any need—or we hope there will not be a need—for this continuance, and so we are transferring this money back to the General Fund.

The reason that the bill states—and this was brought up by one of the gentlemen on the other side. As I stated earlier, despite their disbelief, I am very anxious to have these comments and matters brought to my attention so that I can also inform myself on these matters. However, the bill states on page 2 that the money is "made for the payment of general assistance by the Department of Public Welfare. It shall not be an additional appropriation . . ."

We felt since the money was used originally or spent originally for the purpose of assistance, we are returning it for that purpose. We are trying to meet this need by using it in this same area.

There is nothing sacred about this. It could very easily go right back to the General Fund or be paid back to the Retirement Fund, from which we borrowed the money originally. The money is insignificant in respect to the amount that we have borrowed, which is sixty-two millions of dollars, and we felt it should go back to that regular purpose.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, the principle stated by the Majority Leader is probably correct. However, at the same time, our question was that having just finished an allocation of some millions of dollars—$63,000,000, I believe—to the Department of Public Assistance, this would, the way the bill is written, still be an additional appropriation to the Department of Public Assistance because it must be used for general assistance.

I do not quarrel with putting it in there. However, I still cannot agree that it is not an additional appropriation for that purpose.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, this was for general assistance. The bill says, though: "It shall not be an additional appropriation . . ." The gentleman may have a point well taken. It is just a matter of how you do your bookkeeping or how you want to carry this through.

I think his position could be just as easily carried out as the position taken here. I have tried to set forth here the reason this position was taken. As I said, the gentleman's position may be just as valid as the one I took on it. I have no quarrel with that at all.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The second section and title were read and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, may we be at ease just a moment?

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

BILL OVER IN ORDER

SB 85—Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, Senate Bill No. 85 is not part of the tax package. Therefore, I respectfully request that Senate Bill No. 85 go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT, Is there objection?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I did not mean to interrupt the Senate's being at ease, which the Minority Leader requested.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, the reason I asked that the Senate be at ease is very simple. With respect to these bills appearing on Second Reading, we have not as yet on this side—and I doubt very much if the other side has—had an opportunity to Caucus on them.

Mr. WEINER. Other than the tax package; that is correct, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection, Senate Bill No. 85 will go over in its order.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

HB 85—The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, is the Majority Leader intending to make some explanation?

Mr. WEINER. Yes sir, I would like to at this time.

Mr. President, this bill would eliminate the Toll Bridge Fund. The amount of money involved is $159,000. The bond issue that was used to purchase these toll bridges will be paid by October 1961. It is anticipated the balance will be $159,000. This amount will remain after all the debts, interest and the funded debt are paid.

The reason this was set up—I think the Members might well remember—was that in 1949, there was a ruling by the Attorney General that the Motor License Fund could not purchase privately owned bridges. The balance will, therefore, be transferred to the General Fund. This is the legislation which does this. This is part of the good housekeping that I was talking about in this matter.

I am perfectly willing to state that there may be some other valid reason to transfer this money elsewhere, which might be just as valid as the reason I gave here for transferring it to the General Fund. However, the people in charge of the bookkeeping feel they would like to do it this way. If someone has a more compelling reason than they have given, I will be happy to listen to that.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. PRESIDENT, here it is.

As I understand it, this is money which will be in excess of the amount needed to retire the bonds, which money was received from tolls. Consequently, it was paid by highway users and I can see no reason in the world why it should not go into the Highways Fund. It was for highway purposes in the beginning and, for a technical reason, they simply advanced the money out of the General Fund. However, this is money over and above what was advanced for the retirement of the bonds.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the reason this is being returned to the General Fund is that the people who are charged with keeping this money and doing the bookkeeping have been advised by an opinion of the Attorney General that this money could not go to the Motor Fund. They have stated that the reason they could not take the money from the Motor Fund to buy the bridges is also the reason why the money cannot be given to the Motor Fund now.

The Attorney General has stated that the money to get this thing started originally came from the General Fund and, therefore, must be returned to the place from which it came.

That is why I stated earlier that the gentleman's reasoning may be valid or more valid than ours. However, I think he, and the Members of this Body, will recognize that we are bound by certain rules and regulations also. I do not think, if any of these gentlemen were fiscal officers, that they would want to fly in the face of that ruling.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, the money is going back into some fund of the Commonwealth. However, the whole point is that it came from highway users and, therefore, it probably should go into the Highway Fund. If they have a ruling that it cannot go into the Highway Fund because it did not come out of it, well and good. However, actually this money did not come out of any fund. This money is going to be over and above what was borrowed originally.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, if the gentleman will get us a ruling and prepare the legislation, I will be very happy to cosponsor a bill with him, putting the money back into the Motor Fund.

As I stated, there is nothing sacred about it going one place or another, as long as the Commonwealth gets the money and uses it for the purpose intended.

If the Attorney General will allow us to do this, and the Governor will sign the bill, I will be most happy to cosponsor it with him. It does not make any difference which pocket the money goes into, as long as it goes into the right one.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I may have misunderstood the gentleman. I understood they had a ruling that it could not go into the Highway Fund.

Mr. Weiner. Mr. President, the only reason I stated that it could not go in is because of the Attorney General's ruling. However, if we want to go in the face of that and do it by legislation, and if the Governor will sign it, I will be most happy to cosponsor a bill with you.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I have no intention of drawing such a bill. I merely want to make the record clear that if there is a ruling that this cannot go into the Highway Fund, allright. However, it appears to us that is where the money should go and the Highway funds seems to be a little hard up all of the time.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The second section and title were read and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

HB 86—The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, this measure deals with the bond issue to finance World War I veterans. The amount of money involved here is $115,089. All the bonds have been retired and the date to file claims for World War I bonuses has long since passed. The balance in this bond fund is being transferred to the General Fund.

I think there was an amendment which was put in by the House. I want to explain that, if you see that in your bill. This was a typographical error which was corrected. Whoever had prepared this measure had typed in the wrong word. They put "Toll Bridge Act," and what they meant was "Veterans' Compensation Act."

Therefore, that is the only amendment presented by the House. It is merely a stenographic error, which was corrected.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The second section and title were read and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

HB 87—The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, House Bill No. 87 provides for the transfer of money from the General Fund to the State Stores Fund. When the Act was originally passed in 1939, it allowed them $15,000,000 in order to go out and make purchases.

This is similar to a man who goes into business and does not have the capital to do so. Therefore, he goes to a bank and borrows the money to begin to purchase an inventory and purchase his merchandise. After he does so, the bank wants to be repaid, from his profits, on the note or on whatever he has signed or obligated himself for. I think we will all agree that since 1939, in the twenty-one years which have elapsed, the cost of living and even the cost of liquor has gone up, somewhat.

Recently, what has happened is that the Commonwealth does not receive the full discount for paying its bills. The Commonwealth is in the same position as any other person who buys merchandise. If it pays its bills within a certain length of time, it receives a certain discount. If it does not pay its bills within a certain length of time, it is not entitled to the discount. Also, some of the suppliers have been complaining that their bills have been going too long. The Liquor Control Board is faced with the problem of keeping this amount on hand, to be returned to the General Fund on a turn-around basis. They then hold off some times and build up this amount.

The purpose of putting this money in is to build up this fund. It also will change the time limit for the retransfer of such money to the General Fund from this measure, which is not later than thirty days after the end of such fiscal year or period. I think this is merely good housekeeping.

Whether $30,000,000 is the magic number, as compared to $20,000,000, or whether it should be $40,000,000, as compared to $30,000,000 I do not know. I do not know whether anybody here could advise us as to which amount is better than the other. I do not know very much about the sale of liquor and, therefore, I will be very happy to hear from any of the experts on the subject.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I do not wish to qualify but, at the same time, there is certainly no discussion indicated on the amount of money in this. However, we have been talking a lot about housekeeping measures. Whether or not this was expedient at the time the fund was established over there, I do not know. However, I cannot understand why this $30,000,000, which is paid into the State Stores Fund from the General Fund, is then paid back into the General Fund. There must be a secret there. Then it must be paid back again into the State Stores Fund.

Why would it not be simpler to have some kind of a housekeeping bill, if you will, whereby this fund could be audited and remain there as a capital fund for the State Stores, rather than having it retransferred, transferred back again and back and forth, at the end of every fiscal year? It would be subject to audit and, certainly, there could be nothing wrong with that.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe what the gentleman is speaking about is generally done now, in a general sense. What we are hoping to do by putting in this money is to draw down immediately all the profits into the General Fund, instead of waiting for this turn-around period.

The Liquor Board and the people who operate the stores find themselves in the position where there are certain periods of the year when they have a greater outlay than possibly income. This may occur during the holidays. Therefore, we are trying to provide them with enough capital in order for them to keep up their inventory and, at the same time, permit the General Fund to withdraw all the profits as they come in. In that way, they will not feel this constant pinch of building up this fund and when it is required, they will have it on hand.

Philosophically speaking, I do not think our viewpoints are very much different on this matter. However, I think the gentleman from Potter is correct on the handling of this measure, as opposed to our view. I do not, however, think that our viewpoint is in such sharp conflict, nor is it wrong. When you get into accounting or bookkeeping problems, I believe there is much to be said on both sides; perhaps on all three sides, rather than two sides.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I simply wondered why it had not been done before. Since we are cleaning things up, I wonder why it might not be done now. If there is an accounting reason or anything else, I do not particularly care. Obviously, if you read the bill, it says they put it back into the General Fund. Then, obviously, they are out of money and they have to get it back. Therefore, there should be some arrangement whereby, at least, that bookkeeping process would be simplified.

Mr. President, I would like to inquire of the Majority Leader if he will permit himself to be interrogated.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEINER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BERGER. What is the significance of the repay- fiscal year, rather than at the end of the fiscal year?

Mr. WEINER. The reason for that, Mr. President, is to allow for the auditing and the accounting of the fund. In that way, they are able to do it. They are allowing themselves a thirty-day leeway in order to audit it and get it back.

I guess there is nothing sacred about the thirty days. It could be thirty days before when they would have to cut off or cut down their operation, in order for this audit to take place before they could start up again. This occurs in every business. There are regular audits and certain things are terminated on certain dates, in order for businesses to have a cut-off date.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I do not think it is worthwhile debating at length, but they certainly have gotten along all right before. I merely wondered whether it had any significance as to good housekeeping or what have you. Apparently, for at least twenty years they have done it the other way.

Mr. PROPERT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Weiner.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEINER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. PROPERT. Can the gentleman tell me where this $30,000,000 will be shown in the budget, at the end of the fiscal year?

Mr. WEINER. This is not shown in the budget.

I feel a little bit out of my territory in discussing this matter with the gentleman from Montgomery. I know he is an accountant and knows his business well. However, it is not a receipt item, nor is it an expended item. It would balance itself out. In other words, if the Commonwealth were to go out of business tomorrow morning and completely shut down its operation, this $30,000,000 would be dispensed with in order to pay off all the debts and everything which is involved. It actually would show up in the State Stores Fund as the money used by the Liquor Control Board in making their purchases, the same as any capital in any business.

Mr. PROPERT. Is it not true that the General Fund will be minus $30,000,000, when this working capital is in the State Stores Fund? Before, it had to be paid to the General Fund before the end of the biennium, whereas now it is thirty days after the biennium.

Mr. WEINER. No, sir. It says: "not later than thirty days . . . " It could be one day thereafter, it could be ten days thereafter, or it could be twenty days thereafter. It will show up in the sense that they now have $15,000,000 which we gave them to start operating the business. It will show up an additional $15,000,000, if we were to carry such an item. In other words, if we were to be going out of business and listed all the assets and all the debits, you would be able to do it on that basis. However, we are not going out of business. We expect to be in business another week or two. In that sense, we will not show it because this is the capital with which they operate.

In other words, when any man goes into business, he borrows money from the bank. This money he carries on his books as an item of debit which he owes to the bank. At the same time, it is an asset of the business. It is the capital on hand which he has to work with. Let us assume, for the sake of this discussion, that the business is still solvent and the man wants to pay everybody off and go out of business. He would then pick up that amount which he borrowed from the bank and merely return it to the bank. He would then clear his books, clear the amount, and it would be neither a receipt item nor a debit item. In the strict sense which we are talking about, it is a debit item if you want to show the assets for a profit and loss statement or for a balance sheet. However, barring those two eventualities, it is neither a receipt nor an expenditure.

Mr. PROPERT. I think the Majority Leader has been talking about the State Stores Fund. My question is, where is this $30,000,000 shown as an asset or as an income item in the General Fund?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the way we have it now is that we carry the $15,000,000, which we have loaned them, in the State Stores Fund. This is represented by inventory, as well as the money they have borrowed. In other words, the money they borrowed from the General Fund appears as inventory in the stores. If we went out of the liquor business, we would sell off our inventory and have our $15,000,000 back. It would then be returned to the General Fund and be right back where it started. This is more or less like a revolving item so that they can continue to do business.

We are saying that the cost of living and the cost of these inventory items have gone up. In order to keep our shelves full, to meet the needs of our customers, we are increasing the capital which we have taken and putting it back into the State Stores Fund. Therefore, the State Stores Fund will now show $30,000,000 instead of $15,000,000. It is not cash on hand because that cash is taken from the General Fund. However, it is money which we can put our hands on any time we might need it, by merely selling out our stock and going out of business.

Mr. PROPERT. Mr. President, do I understand that the Majority Leader will permit amendments, on Third Reading, to all these tax bills?

Mr. WEINER. Yes, if they are indicated.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Weiner.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEINER. I will, Mr. President. I am available for questioning. I do not know whether I can answer them all, but I am available.

The PRESIDENT. He is in the mood for questioning today, Senator Kessler.

Mr. KESSLER. It is my understanding that in the past, the Liquor Control Board invariably depleted its inventory in the last month or two months of the biennium. It withheld its payments to suppliers so as to make this repayment to the General Fund.

Would it not be better if we changed the Liquor Control Law so that the Board could retain $30,000,000 of its profits as working capital, and avoid the necessity of either delaying payments to their suppliers or depleting their inventory so as to make this transfer possible? Certainly, they cannot transfer the inventory of the liquor stores. I know, in the past, they have cut down their inventory in order to make this payment, and many suppliers have been kept waiting for their funds until this bookkeeping transaction could be made.

Do you think we could amend the law?

Mr. WEINER. I think that you and I are saying the same thing, but probably not in the same way. If I am incorrect, please correct me.

I am saying there are certain times of the year—I do not know if it is toward the end of the biennium, but there are certain times of the year—when they have to expend a great deal of money to keep their shelves full because the demand is greater at that time of the year. At that point, they have expended their money and their inventory goes up. As they get closer to the end of the biennium, they need this money in their fund in order to return it back to the General Fund, if it is needed. At this point, the suppliers will continue the supply in order to meet the demand, whatever that might be, and they are not being paid. They do like many businesses do when they do not have the money to pay their bills. They know that their credit is still good and the supplier sort of goes along, maybe grudgingly, as it were, and he takes out his grudging feeling which he has by not giving them a discount. Therefore, they hold off until they build up the fund to $15,000,000, at which time they make the turnaround and send the money back to the General Fund, which retransfers it back to them, and then they go on with their business again until the next time.

Mr. KESSLER. Is it not simpler to change the law so that the Liquor Control Board could retain whatever funds —say, up to a maximum of $30,000,000—which they need as inventory and working capital, instead of turning all of the profits over to the General Fund? I think it is approximately $90,000,000 that they turn over each biennium.

Mr. WEINER. Except, you see, we have the other problem, as well. Of course, if you and I were strictly speaking in a business sense of operating a liquor store, I would say that you are absolutely right and I would go along with you 100 per cent.

However, we have the other problem of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania standing, with open arms, waiting to receive this extra money with which they can continue to operate. There are certain times of the year which do not necessarily happen to coincide with the liquor business, when they are having their greatest profits, but when the Commonwealth needs its profits. They are drawing it down at a faster rate than possibly the liquor stores can accumulate this money.

I think you will agree with me—and I think Senator Propert put his finger on it—that there are times when you reach the point when you have to pay the bank back, as it were. The bank, in our sense, is the General Fund. That money is due back to the General Fund. They will have to repay that to us first, and then they can go on on their own capital. I hope the time will arrive in this Commonwealth when there will be enough profits derived for them to pay back the $15,000,000 and hold onto the $15,000,000, which they will have thereafter, and go on their own way.

Mr. KESSLER. Are they permitted to do that under the law now?

Mr. WEINER. No, sir, they are not. We are constantly drawing off the profits. We are constantly tapping this reservoir and drawing the money off for other purposes which are needed and to which the Legislature has allocated money.

Mr. KESSLER. The fact is that the Liquor Control Board is so low now in their cash—I think they have about $6,000,000—that they cannot pay their bills. There is always a delay in getting their payrolls through. It seems to me that we should try to rearrange that system somehow or other if we can.

Mr. WEINER. I would agree with that. Whether this is the method or not, I am not sure. However, I certainly will talk to Mr. Baldwin, who is sitting here, about this measure. He has heard this debate and I am sure he would welcome any suggestion that you might have, to run this on a more businesslike basis.

Basically, our only problem is that the parent corporation, which happens to run this subsidiary, is constantly in need of money. The parent must look to the son all the time in order to continue to live. This, I am afraid, causes the son some great difficulty, even though he operates a profitable business.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I think we are overlooking a fundamental fact here. We have a number of laws on the books, even down to the supervisors, whereby you cannot carry a debt over the current year. That has been found to be good practice.

Here, they are extending that carrying-over for thirty days. It is a bookkeeping transaction. It does not appear in the budget because of the fact that it will show that the General Fund is owed, on the books, so much money. That is the only place where there is an entry. In other words, the General Fund is owed $15,000,000 and, in the past, they would scurry around before the fiscal year ended and pay it back. Now, under this bill, we are giving them thirty days and an additional $15,000,000. Therefore, the credit of the Liquor Control Board, which means in the end the Commonwealth, is good.

The transaction is, if you are going to depart from the principle, that you are going to make short-term indebtedness into long-term indebtedness. In that case, we usually require an Act of Assembly or, in the lower bodies, we require they go for a bond issue. That is the principle which is involved. The solution is in line with the policy which we have always followed; that a fiscal year ends all short-term indebtedness, unless authorized by a higher power. You are the higher power, if you want to do it. However, if you keep them there accounting and pushing, there is less likelihood that they will be back for another increase.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, this is nothing new, as all of us know. This bill amends the Act of May 25, 1939, as amended by the Act of April 17, 1947. We have followed this practice for a good many years and it has worked out pretty well.

There are actually two amendments to this bill. On the one hand, we are increasing the allocation from $15,000,000 to $30,000,000. On the other hand, we are changing the transferral period to not more than thirty days after the end of the fiscal year. This is really sort of a simple bookkeeping operation. This $30,000,000 actually is a revolving fund.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The second and third sections and title were read and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

SB 88—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. WEINER.

REQUEST THAT BILLS GO OVER IN ORDER

HB 88, 89, 90, 91 and 92—Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I request that House Bills Nos. 88, 89, 90, 91 and 92 go over in their order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to comply with the gentleman's request. However, I think, in order for us to move ahead and to be able to proceed on these measures, as I outlined earlier, I would like to ask that these bills be read for the second time today.

This is a part of the tax package, beginning with House Bill No. 82. We did not ask for any of these other bills to go over in order and, therefore, I think we should go ahead on these as well.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, we have now reached the point which I anticipated was going to trouble us on these tax bills.

Senator Weiner has stated that he wishes to discuss these tax bills on Second Reading. There is nothing sacred about it but, traditionally, we have always tried to debate our tax bills on Third Reading. We are now going to have two go-arounds on this very same subject, inevitably.

It would seem to me that it would be much better, as long as they are willing to wait until 7:00 p.m. on Tuesday to come back into Session, to have these bills go over in order and take care of the entire subject at one time.

MOTION THAT BILLS GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, as long as the gentleman has objected, I move that House Bill No. 88, House Bill No. 89, House Bill No. 90, House Bill No. 91, and House Bill No. 92, on pages 4 and 5 of the Calendar, go over in order.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I object to the gentleman's motion.

The PRESIDENT. Is there a second to the motion?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I object to the motion for the following reason:

If what the gentleman said is true—and beginning with the premise that it is true—we certainly will not be in a position to do anything about it. We will be right back where we are today, when we come back on Tuesday, if we agree to his motion. His position might be well taken. It might be advisable to only talk once about these measures. I would be happy if we could do that and put these bills in a position where we can vote on them. If we leave them on Second Reading today, when we come back here on Tuesday, they will still be on Second Reading. The position the gentlman is taking will then have to be taken again and will go on like this ad infinitum and these bills, actually, will never get to Third Reading.

Therefore, Mr. President, for that reason, I object to the motion.

May we please have a roll call?

The PRESIDENT. A roll call having been requested, the Clerk will proceed to call the roll.

(During the calling of the roll, the following occured):

Mr. CAMIEL. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "no."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will be so recorded.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WEINER, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—19

Bell,	Keller,	Propert,	Taylor,
Berger,	Kessler,	Scott,	Wagner,
Flack,	Kromer,	Shafer,	Ware, III,
Fleming,	Madigan,	Stevenson,	Wolfe,
Hawbaker,	Mallery,	Stroup,

NAYS—24

Camiel,	Kalman,	Mullin,	Seyler,
Devlin,	Lane,	Murray,	Silvert,
DiSilvestro,	Mahady,	Ripp,	Staisey,
Donolow,	McCreesh,	Rooney,	Stiefel,
Haluska,	McGinnis,	Sarraf,	Weiner,
Hays,	McMenamin,	Sesler,	Yatron,

So the question was determined in the negative, and the motion was defeated.

S B 53 CALLED UP

SB 53—Without objection, the bill, which previously went over in its order temporarily, was called up, from page 2, of the Third Reading Calendar, by Mr. WEINER.

BILL ON THIRD READING, DEFEATED ON FINAL PASSAGE AMENDMENT OFFERED

SB 53—Read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. STROUP, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 4, page 7, lines 1 to 12, by striking out "housing accomodations" in line 1, all of lines 2 to 11, and "(1)" in line 12, and inserting: "(1) housing accommodations comprising or containing five or more housing units, owned or otherwise subject to the control of one owner, whether or not contiguous, or (2) any parcel or parcels of real property or lot or lots, whether or not contiguous, available for the building of five or more housing units, owned or otherwise subject to the control of one owner. "Such 'commercial housing' includes housing accommodations held or offered for sale or rent (1) by a real estate broker, salesman or agent, or by any other person pursuant to authorization of the owner; (2) by the owner himself; or (3) by legal representatives.

"(k)".

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I have no objection to the amendment being offered at this time. However, I think Senator Stroup well knows that when we discussed this bill the other day, we took all the amendments on Second Reading. I am not blowing the whistle on him or anything else. We have had agreements between ourselves as to certain times when amendments could be offered. At that time, all the amendments were offered. I think this amendment, being offered by Senator Stroup, is the same one he offered the other night.

I think the purpose of this amendment is quite obvious and I am not even going to bother to talk about it. I think it is not in keeping with what we generally do here.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, this amendment, as I stated before, is designed to bring Senate Bill No. 53 within the confines or in conformity with the Pittsburgh Housing Ordinance, which was adopted by Governor Lawrence, then Mayor of Pittsburgh, and the Democratic-controlled Council, on December 15, 1958, and which became effective June 1, 1959,

If I recall correctly, Governor Lawrence was very proud of this social achievement for the city of Pittsburgh. He announced throughout the Commonwealth, when he was campaigning for the position of Governor of this Commonwealth, that it was his intention to bring into the Commonwealth the type of government which he had instituted in the city of Pittsburgh. Certainly, much of that has been accomplished.

In this particular Senate Bill No. 53, we find that the provisions of it are much more stringent and much more burdensome upon our fellow citizens than the provisions of the Pittsburgh Housing Ordinance, by reason of the fact that the Pittsburgh Housing Ordinance makes it possible for any individual who owns four or more residences, or housing units, to dispose of them as he or she shall see fit. However, Senate Bill No. 53 limits the right of disposal of real property of an individual in the Commonwealth to one personal residence or, if a duplex or a two-residence home is owned, to the sale of that if he is a resident of one of those units.

Therefore, you can see, my good friends and Senators, this bill, Senate Bill No. 53, goes far beyond the Pittsburgh Housing Ordinance. I ask you to give consideration of this amendment for that reason. I can see no reason, whatsoever, for the citizens of the Commonwealth to be asked to endure or to come under the provisions of this bill, which are much more strict than that which the city of Pittsburgh enjoys.

I should like to further point out one additional matter to you. On page 22, of Senate Bill No. 53, we find that a specific effort has been made—and I think successfully made in so far as the language of the bill is concerned—to preserve the Pittsburgh Housing Ordinance in full force and effect. It will, therefore, continue in full force and effect for time immemorial. Yet, at the same time, the rest of the Commonwealth does not have that same benefit.

I cannot understand the attitude of the Administration in presenting this type of a bill, when they, themselves back in their own home district, have a better situation than they give to the rest of the Commonwealth.

For that reason, Mr. President, I have resubmitted this particular amendment, with further explanation, and request a roll call vote.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I merely wish to repeat what I said the other night. I think the record will indicate that I answered the same argument that the gentleman made at that time.

I believe the gentleman who put his finger on what this measure is, and what it stands for, was Senator Mcmenamin, when he said this was merely a statement of basic decency, basic morality and basic Christian principle. I think that still stands and nothing has been changed in this measure.

Therefore, Mr. President, we object to the amendment and I ask my colleagues to vote "no" on it.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. STROUP and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—20

Bell,	Keller,	Propert,	Taylor,
Berger,	Kessler,	Scott,	Van Sant,
Flack,	Kromer,	Shafer,	Wagner,
Fleming,	Madigan,	Stevenson,	Ware, III,
Hawbaker,	Mallery,	Stroup,	Wolfe,

NAYS—24

Camiel,	Kalman,	Mullin,	Seyler,
Devlin,	Lane,	Murray,	Silvert,
DiSilvestro,	Mahady,	Ripp,	Staisey,
Donolow,	McCreesh,	Rooney,	Stiefel,
Haluska,	McGinnis,	Sarraf,	Weiner,
Hays,	McMenamin,	Sesler,	Yatron,

So the question was determined in the negative, and the amendment was defeated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, may I interrogate the Democratic Floor Leader?

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Weiner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEINER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. MALLERY. Do I understand, Mr. President, that if this bill passes, then we will have two Fair Employment Practice Laws on the statute books, with one applying to Pittsburgh or the county of Allegheny?

Mr. WEINER. No. Mr. President.

On page 22, of Senate Bill No. 53, it states: "Section 12 Construction and Exclusiveness of Remedy." Under Section (b), under the above heading, I believe the first sentence will take care of the gentleman's question.

I have consulted the Attorney General on this matter, and I am sorry that I did not have the opportunity to mention this fact to the Senate. I was going to do that before the bill passed. I was going to advise the Members that I have consulted the Attorney General on this measure and found that this takes care of that problem. This definitely will apply to every community.

Mr. MALLERY. Will it repeal the law which applies only to Pittsburgh?

Mr. WEINER. No, Mr. President. Their measure will stand. This will be an adjunct to it, in the sense that the local community can enact or take whatever action is indicated in their local community. In other words, in Philadelphia, we have a Human Relation Commission, dealing with problems which now relate to unemployment and, to a certain extent, with housing. They can either make it stronger or weaker, as they see fit.

As I stated earlier, this is merely an expression of public policy. Yesterday, we even changed, in the amendment, the remedies under this bill in order for it to become more of an investigatory body. Before they take any action whatsoever, the Human Relations Commission will run this thing through. If the F.E.P.C. operation is any indication of what will happen, there will probably be no prosecutions under it. There will probably be nothing except an investigation and an education process carried out.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, this is not entirely clear to me.

If the Pittsburgh law is not repealed by this bill, then it seems to me we will have one law for Pittsburgh and a law for the rest of the Commonwealth.

Mr. WEINER. This is the reason, Mr. President, I stated earlier that the fears which the people were expressing were not well founded. If the local community wishes to take whatever appropriate indications they want to take, under this general policy, nobody is going to tell them to do so. In other words, if your local community wants to make it stronger than this bill, they can do so. If they wish to make it weaker than this bill provides, they can do so. However, they will have a general policy from which to operate. This is true of many areas, not only with this type of legislation, but in other legislation, as well. We do not try to legislate for any local community on a problem of this type, which is strictly educational and local in nature. Therefore, no one is affected by it who does not want to be affected by it.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I just want to clear up one point.

I believe the Majority Leader stated that under the "Exclusiveness of Remedy" clause, the procedure would be in accordance with the terms of this Act. Am I correct, Mr. President?

Mr. WEINER. Yes, Mr. President. However, if I may, I want to qualify that answer.

This applies in so far as the local community decides not to go beyond this Act. However, if they decide to take more stringent action or less stringent action, they can do so because the local police power is the basic police power which seems to operate in these areas. As you well know, the District Attorney in any area can apply any general law that he sees fit to apply. The only time when we supersede the local police power with the Attorney General is if he abuses these powers or does not act.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, it is my understanding and it states on page 22, line 9, of Senate Bill No. 53, as follows:

" acts declared unlawful by section five of this act the procedure herein provided shall when invoked be exclusive . . ."

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do have here a letter which I think was sent to every Senator. It is written on the City of Pittsburgh stationery and lists the members of the Commission, two of whom are Emery F. Bacon and Dominic F. Dornetto. They discuss this entire problem and state therein that:

"The Commission of Human Relations, a representative group of fifteen citizens, after twenty months experience in administering a fair housing practices ordinance, urges members of both parties in the Senate to vote favorably on Senate Bill No. 53. There is no reason to amend this measure and there is no profitable reaon for further debate."

The letter goes on to point out their experience has shown that:

". . . no revolution takes place with the passage of such legislation. The transition is gradual and orderly and is brought about by persuasion, negotiation and conciliation. There have been no fines or court orders and none were needed."

This is merely a series of regulations. This is their experience and, I can tell you, the experience in Philadelphia is the very same.

The PRESIDENT. The Clerk will call the roll.

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I desire to speak very briefly on this bill.

The PRESIDENT. The roll call has started. However, if there is no objection, you may proceed.

Is there any objection to Senator Fleming speaking on this bill?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I never want to be a part of shutting off any debate. If the gentleman has something to say which is illuminating on this bill, which we have missed, I will be very happy to hear from him. I am sure the other Members also would.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I am sure that I cannot qualify to the extent that the Majority Leader has suggested; namely, that I give an illuminating speech. However, I would like to express my opinion.

Mr. President, I am opposed to the passage of this type of legislation. I did offer an amendment to it on Second Reading which the Senate, in its wisdom, rejected. I certainly believe that we are tampering with the fundamental right of citizens to own and dispose of their property, as they see fit. I think that is a right which is interwoven with human rights. If we start to tamper with that, we will have done a distinct disservice to human rights in the end.

If I may, I would like to quote very briefly from a speech made by Doctor Charles B. Nutting, presently Dean of the National Law Center at George Washington University and formerly Dean of the Law School of the University of Pittsburgh. I think the following might sum up a very pertinent point which many people overlook:

"'To the extent that it is enforced, it invades a very important area of individual freedom. To the extent that it is employed as a threat, it is a hypocritical misuse of legal processes.'"

With that, Mr. President, I certainly agree.

Now, Mr. President, I would like to clear up one other point for the Members of this Senate. It has been said around the corridors of the Senate—and many Senators have been led to believe—that the Pittsburgh Presbytery is unanimously in favor of this legislation. I merely want to clear up the point—and, as a Presbyterian, I believe I should clear it up—that the Pittsburgh Presbytery is not unanimously in favor of this measure.

I would merely like to say that Reverend Dale K. Milligan, Chairman of the Stewardship and Promotion Committee of the Pittsburgh Presbytery, has issued a statement to that effect. There is no question that when this matter was brought before the Pittsburgh Presbytery, in 1959, on the then House Bill No. 322, there was a decided majority voted to endorse that measure. Likewise, Mr. President, there was a very sizable minority which voted against it.

Just recently, on January 12, the question was again brought up in the Pittsburgh Presbytery and they were told at that time, by one of the members on their committee, that there was no legislation before the Legislature at this time on this measure. Again I quote to you, Mr. President, that a motion to reconsider was tabled for one month. At the next meeting, they were again going to review their position on this particular type of legislation.

I know that has no effect on any of the votes in the Senate of Pennsylvania, but I very much resent any implication or insinuations on the part of some of the proponents of this measure, when they lead you to believe that a very large segment of a particular church is unanimously in favor of this type of legislation.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I would like to make a brief statement.

The PRESIDENT. You will have to ask unanimous consent of the Body, sir.

Mr. BELL. Then may I debate the bill?

The PRESIDENT. The roll call has started. Unless the Body wishes to give you unanimous consent, it would be impossible for us to hear you.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, as I stated earlier, we extend the same courtesy to every Senator, and if Senator Bell has something which should be brought to our attention before we vote on this bill, I think he should have an opportunity to do so.

The PRESIDENT. You may proceed, Senator Bell.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I am very sorely perplexed by the conditions which this bill, if passed, will place on the citizens of my county.

At present, in Delaware County, we have good will between the races. I have always been proud of the fact that in Delaware County, we never had any of the incidents which have broken out in some other parts of the Commonwealth and in nearby States. Delaware Countians respect each other. We like each other; we work together. Our children go to school together. I am looking forward with fear as to what could happen in Delaware County if there were statutory, forced integration in some of our districts.

I fear that a bill like this, forced on our county, could readily lead to racial strife and hate; the things that we, as Americans, have seen occur in other sections and, yes, even in this Commonwealth.

I do not want to be one who is responsible for causing hate—race hate, race strife—in a county where we have always lived side by side.

I have also been contacted by some of the churches, and perhaps I will step on some toes very heavily. I feel that the church is where integration should commence. Yet in our churches, I have gone to Negro churches and I have been stared at because I have been the only white person there. I have seen Negroes go to white churches and be stared at because they were the only Negroes there. In my faith, the Christian faith—I do not think this is comical, gentlemen. I think you have before you one of the most serious problems that is going to hit this Session.

I say this. Integration should start in the church, and it has not started in the church in Pennsylvania. It is for this reason—because I do not like racial strife, and because I respect the man of the other race not for the color of his skin, but for the color of his blood—that I do not want to bring to my county the racial hate that we have witnessed in other places.

The PRESIDENT. The Clerk will resume the calling of the roll.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, may I ask unanimous consent to make a few brief remarks?

Mr. WEINER. I believe this is the second time today this gentleman is speaking on this same measure. I know that once was on the amendment, which we had heard the day before. However, in the interest of democracy and of hearing everyone out, the proponents as well as the opponents, I think the gentleman should be heard.

The PRESIDENT. You have unanimous consent of the Senate, Senator Stroup, to address the Senate.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, I certainly appreciate the consideration which the Majority Leader accords me.

I have been somewhat reluctant, as one new in this august Body, to take my feet and raise my voice against certain measures to which a goodly portion of this very splendid assembly seems to be in favor.

Nevertheless, I do feel that I would be derelict in my duty and my obligation to the great majority of my constituents, and to many millions of the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, if I did not make every effort to point out, Mr. President, that this particular measure initiates a striking at one of the bedrocks and one of the foundation stones of the fundamentally human rights which have been ours as Americans for many centuries.

It is not my purpose—and, of course, there is no need for me to travel the long road back to the past—to show exactly how and through what torturous methods we, as Americans, have arrived to this very precious right of private property. As I said before, it is a human right, and it is woven right into our entire society. Yet, in this particular legislation, I caution all my colleagues that we are beginning to wear away at that which was hard won through many, many years. It seems to me our forefathers would caution us that when we start a program such as this, which denies a fundamental freedom to our people, then we open the door to future acts of the same type.

We here attack freedom of choice. We here attack the right of a man to determine to whom he will dispose of his property if he has more than two particular units. We here begin to tell our people that those rights are now going to be taken away from them by sovereign power when, centuries ago, we had to get those rights from a sovereign power.

Therefore, on behalf of my constituents and many millions of people who I know feel the way I do about this type of legislation, I ask the cooperation of my own colleagues, and the gentlemen who are of the same frame of mind on the other side of the aisle, to vote down Senate Bill No. 53.

Thank you very much, Mr. President, for your consideration.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I merely wish to say a very few words, in order to answer the comments which have been made. However, I do not think or feel that they need answered because we have covered that ground.

Mr. President, I think one of the functions of government has been to protect the weak against the strong, as well. These principles, which these gentlemen have reiterated, are all true, except they are saying them negatively and we are saying them, in this bill, positively. I feel that if a person wants to do something and is able to do so, I think he should have the right to do so.

I agree with the gentlemen on the other side that it is a shame that we have to concern ourselves with this, and that people cannot be decent to each other and respect each other as brothers, thus making it necessary for others to take action on their behalf.

I now ask for a roll call on this measure, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. The Clerk will call the roll.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, may we be at ease for a moment?

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, bowing to the inevitable things which do happen in the Legislature, I would like to state that, having voted under a misapprehension, I would like to change my vote from "aye" to "no."

One of the sponsors of this bill is not in the Chamber at the moment. He was present earlier, but he is not here now. We, therefore, do not have his vote recorded on the official count. Therefore, I would like to change my vote to "no" in order to recover this measure at the appropriate time.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will be so recorded.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, due to the unusual circumstances, I, too, wish to change my vote from "aye" to "no."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will be so recorded.

Mr. SARAFF. Mr. President, I desire to change my vote from "aye" to "no."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will be so recorded.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, has the vote been announced yet?

The PRESIDENT. The vote is being calculated and will be announced in a moment.

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—22

Camiel,	Kalman,	Murray,	Seyler,
Devlin,	Mahady,	Ripp,	Silvert,
DiSilvestro,	McCreesh,	Rooney,	Stalsey,
Donolow,	McGinnis,	Scott,	Stiefel,
Haluska,	McMenamin,	Sesler,	Yatron,
Hays,	Mullin,

NAYS—20

Bell,	Kessler,	Propert,	Van Sant,
Berger,	Kromer,	Sarraf,	Wagner,
Fleming,	Lane,	Stevenson,	Ware, III,
Hawbaker,	Madigan,	Stroup,	Weiner,
Keller,	Mallery,	Taylor,	Wolfe,

Less than a majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the negative, and the bill was defeated.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WEINER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, it appears that one of the sponsors of this bill, who was sitting in this Chamber up until the time the vote was taken, suddenly and mysteriously disappeared. Nobody can find him. Therefore, I am going to ask the Chair to find the gentleman and bring him to the Bar of this Chamber. I think we all know who I am speaking about. I do not think that is asking for any kind of action. I did not ask for the doors to be closed, but I think this is a little bit extraordinary. I do not think this is in keeping with the principles which we know are the ones which operate best here.

I have no objection to anyone walking out of here on any measure. It is not so important that we pass this bill now. If we do not pass it during this Session, we will pass it during the next Session. However, I think these kind of tactics certainly are not in keeping with the operation of the Senate and of a democratic body. I have grave misdoubts concerning the operation of any kind of measure in this form.

I well understand the feelings of the gentlemen on the other side, Mr. President. I even understand why they might have done what they have. However, my feeling is against the gentleman, himself. I think you have to have integrity first, and I think you should behave in that manner. If you are against the measure, vote against it; if you are in favor of it, you should vote for it. If you feel that you cannot do either, you can vote "present." However, to disappear from the Chamber, after you have been sitting here, because you feel a controversial measure is coming up, I think is certainly not in keeping with the integrity which people have a right to expect of their elective representatives.

Therefore, Mr. President, I request that this gentleman be found and be brought into this Chamber.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BERGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. Berger. Mr. President, I very strenuously object to the request made by the Majority Leader on that phase.

I do not know to whom he is referring. At the same time, I think it is not within the province of the Majority Party, the Minority Party, or anyone else to put a tracer on any Member of this Senate who may be about whatever business he has to transact. If he is not present for a roll call, then he loses his vote.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MALLERY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, during my first term in the Senate—I believe it was in 1935—an amendment to the Workmen's Compensation Law was presented, which provided there shall be no discrimination because of race, creed or color. A Conference Committee was appointed and I was one of the Committee. Representative Brown, who was then a Member of the House and differed with all of his Democratic colleagues who opposed that amendment, joined me and the other Republican Member. By reason of this fact, that amendment is still in the Workmen's Compensation Law.

Personally, I have many people of the colored race in my District. I respect them as much as I do other people of the white race, who deport themselves as good citizens should deport themselves. I just want to make note that I definitely am not in favor of being unfair to people of any race. No one has, nor ever can, accuse me of that.

If I had the opportunity today, Mr. President, to vote on a bill, such as is the present law in Pittsburgh or Allegheny County, I would have voted for it.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WEINER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I respect the gentleman for his views and I am very happy to see people here who have the courage of their convictions.

My position in this matter is that if you are elected by the people, then your business is to be here and vote on these measures. I feel we should either be in favor of them or against them. This business of shilly-shallying and wishy-washying is certainly not the type of thing for which the people elect you. If you do not want to do this, then do not run for office. I think the people have a right to know who votes on these measures and what they vote for. There are many measures which come before this Body that are not politically expedient for all the Members to vote upon. I voted on tax measures that are not popular in my District and which might hurt me. However, I am asking—and I think I have the right to ask—regardless of whether you are in favor of a measure or against it, that you be here. If you then find you cannot do something about it, I think you have the right to vote "present." Nobody will quarrel with that. However, to deliberately leave the Chamber and not be here, I think should be decried by this entire Body, regardless of which side we sit on.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SCOTT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, I am one of three Members of my Party who have cosponsored this particular measure. I sat here, heard the roll call taken, and voted in accordance with my convictions.

It so happens that the other two Republican cosponsors of this measure are absent. One happens to be out of the State. The other happened to be out of the Chamber at the time the roll call was taken.

I would like to ask Senator Weiner if he intends next Monday to interrogate or to ask that the other Republican Member, who is not here, also be brought before the Bar or the Well of the Chamber. I think in all fairness, to avoid any embarrassment and because it is a known fact that many Members of this Body on previous occasions have left this Chamber so that they would not have to vote on a particular measure, I am going to ask the Majority Leader to reconsider his demand and his request.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WEINER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, if the record is searched, you will find that I mentioned no name of anyone concerned. I left everyone come to their own conclusion. What I said applies to every Member of this Chamber, whether he be on our side of the aisle or the other side of the aisle. I think our duty is to be here and to vote on these measures.

I have not pressed for bringing these people in here. I put this to the Chair, who presides over this Body. I have not pressed it. I did not even ask for a second on it. However, I think it is something which we ought to consider very seriously, because I think we get into the position of deminutio capitis. We are diminishing ourselves right in our own Chamber by our own Members. I think we have a position to uphold in what we do as far as the people of Pennsylvania are concerned. I think these tactics do not help us.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SCOTT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, I agree with Senator Weiner that this type of tactic may not help us. However, these tactics are not unknown to this Chamber, and these tactics have been practiced on many occasions in the past.

Senator Weiner said he is not pressing the matter. I presume then that he means what he says, and that he is not pressing for his previous request.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WEINER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I presented this to the entire Body and addressed my remarks to the Chair, and I did not ask for a second on this matter.

I am well aware that some men are unable to come here at some times. This happens to all of us. We are dealing with human beings; not with machines. One of the sponsors of this bill is on leave of absence. Even if he had not asked for leave of absence, if I had known he was not here, I would not have expected him to be here, nor would I expect him to be brought here.

The thing I am decrying here is to be present in this Chamber and, realizing there is a vote imminent, to leave the Chamber. I think this is ducking your responsibility as a Legislator.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BERGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, this is a very important situation, as I view it; particularly the request which was made by the Majority Leader.

I now inquire of the Chair, as long as there is a quorum in the Senate upon which business may be done, whether any authority exists anywhere to require a Member to be here on the floor for a vote.

The PRESIDENT. We have been checking that possibility, and the Chair feels it would be a matter left to the Body. As we know, the Constitution provides that each House shall have its own rules and shall proceed under those rules. Therefore, the majority would determine whether or not we would have a rule that would require the presence of the Membership.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WEINER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I think we have exhausted this subject and I think everyone is well aware of the situation. Everyone has to be the keeper of his own conscious and his own conduct. I think these gentlemen, who are elected to this Body, are generally recognized as the leaders of their communities. If they have such little regard for their communities and such little regard for themselves as Members, I think that is something they should take up, and I think the people in their communities will take that up at the appropriate time.

RECESS

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to now ask for a Senate recess until 1:20 p.m., for the purpose of having some refreshment so that we may return here to the Second Reading Calendar.

The PRESIDENT. Are there any objections? The Chair hears no objection, and declares a recess of the Senate until 1:20 p.m.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT pro tempore (Anthony J. DiSilvestro) in the Chair.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

At this time, the Chair invites the gentleman from York, Senator Seyler, to the rostrum to preside.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Harry E. Seyler) in the Chair.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, may we return to page 4 of the Second Reading Calendar? I believe we are on House Bill No. 88, Printer's No. 88. There was a motion by the Minority Leader that this bill go over in its order, and I believe the motion was defeated. May we now read this bill for the second time?

I think the Minority Leader's motion—if I am in error, he will correct me because he is right here—covered all the bills up to, and including, House Bill No. 92, on the Second Reading Calendar.

THE PRESIDING OFFICER. The motion was defeated, and, therefore, we are now on House Bill No. 88.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

HB 88 and 89—Read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The presence of the Lieutenant Governor being noted, the Chair will now return the gavel to the President of the Senate.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

HB 90—Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I desire to offer an amendment to this bill.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, on House Bill No. 90, the present amendment proposed would strike out the seven cents and put in four cents. The present rate on this tax is three cents permanent and two cents temporary, and are increasing this by two cents.

I would like to bring to the attention of the Members of the Legislature that this bill—this is the use tax—will bring in $6,965,000. This is the smaller of the two bills. The two cents are estimated to yield during the 1961-1962 period—thirteen months, as I explained earlier in House Bill No. 82—$74,000,000, of which $7,400,000 is returned to the municipalities. The two cents is calculated on this basis: One cent to be used on the Interstate System and the second penny to be used on the 100 per cent State System, which is actually broken down in this fashion. Eight-tenths of a cent is used by the Commonwealth and the remaining two-tenths is returned to the municipalities.

I object to this amendment because of the program as set up by the Secretary. He feels that he needs this money to accomplish this purpose. I, therefore, ask my colleagues to vote "no."

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, before putting this to a vote, I would like to say first of all in the discussion about these tax measures, I think we said that we would be working them over twice and I think that is true.

These gasoline tax measures, particularly, ought to be held in abeyance. However, that motion has been defeated and I realize it. If we send them up to Third Reading and then put in the amendments, I will be perfectly willing to accept that, if the Majority Leader will not open debate on the bills on Second reading. That is what I have been trying to do all day.

I have a further reason—and a very good reason I believe—to wait to discuss these amendments, and that is that we hope to have Secretary Martin before our Caucus on Tuesday, and we would like to have some clarification on a number of points contained in these tax measures. If we can eliminate debate on Second reading, we will accomplish the same thing on Third Reading by offering our amendments then and working on them.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the gentleman will have no further trouble from me. The gentleman will have no further difficulty with me on that score.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I understand the usual process which has been prevailing of offering amendments to any bills on Third reading will be observed.

Mr. WEINER. Yes, sir. Mr. President, if I understand the gentleman correctly, is he now withdrawing this amendment?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I will withhold the amendment at this time.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

HB 91 and 92—Read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

SB 93—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. LANE.

BILL ON SECOND READING

HB 93—Read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

SB 94—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. LANE.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

HB 94—Read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

HB 95—Read at length the second time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, on Monday, January 16, a number of House and Senate leaders were invited to the Governor's Office for a preview of the budget. At that time, we were given a number of papers, one of which listed a series of States which had a sales tax but did not give any discounts to the vendors. The statement said that of the thirty-five States and the District of Columbia imposing a sales tax, the following eighteen States do not give discounts to vendors. I took that on face value. However, on checking, I find that it is not quite right, because of those eighteen States listed, eight of them do provide for the vendor—the retailer—to keep the breakage on the sales tax and, in many cases, that breakage amounts to much more than the commissions provided in some of the other States.

Of those eighteen that were listed, Maine was shown as permitting the retailer to retain the breakage. In Michigan, in computing the tax for any month, the vendor may deduct fifty dollars from the gross proceeds taxable. Therefore, there is some reimbursement there.

Actually there are only seven States which do not either provide a discount or a commission of the thirty-five which have a sales tax.

It seems to me that instead of reducing the commission for sales tax collections, we really should increase it because I have heard of no retailer who claims that he does not have to put in additional funds of his own in order to collect this tax. Just recently, the Sales Tax Bureau issued Regulation 502A, which covers the keeping of records. This is a rather voluminous regulation. The record-keeping is a tremendous problem for the average retailer. It seems to me that we are decidedly unfair to our tax collectors, you might say, in not reimbursing them appropriately for the work they are doing for the Commonwealth.

I would like to register my objection to the removal of this sales tax commission, particularly when under our laws we have the most difficult sales tax of most any State for the collection of that tax. It seems to me it is a very unfair burden to place upon these people who are doing a service for the Commonwealth.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I find myself in complete agreement with Senator Kessler; that this is a very difficult sales tax. This is what I have been saying ever since I have been here. I could not always convince the gentleman to see my point of view, but I am glad that he and I are getting closer and closer together on this issue.

The regulation he was talking about was issued due to the fact that they are having some difficulty with some of the taxpayers in trying to compute the sales tax. Some of them are on a formula or use formulae in determining the amount involved. This regulation is merely a suggestion which they can use. If they follow this regulation and use this suggestion—and I think they give two alternate methods of doing it—and have to appear before them, they stand a much better opportunity of having their position taken by the Sales Tax Enforcement Division. If they do not follow their suggestion, they have a more difficult time I think in making out their case with them.

In the same vein, we do not reimburse employers—the United States Government does not and neither does the State—for collecting Workmen's Compensation, Unemployment Compensation, Social Security, Income Tax and all of these other myriad taxes that have grown up and must be collected by the employer, must be reported and must be audited. Anyone who has more than two or three employees needs an accountant to handle this. I know this does not make Senator Propert unhappy. However, an accountant is needed to run these things down because the average small businessman cannot handle this very well.

Once you open this door any wider, you are going to have difficulty. We are faced with the problem of where to get the money to accomplish the services which the State needs. I think this is one place that we can do it without any difficulty. Because of the difficulty in collecting the tax, I am sometimes afraid that the Commonwealth does not get the entire amount that is due it. I am not using this as a means of saying that someone does not completely return the tax. I am sure that all of these people mean well and are men of good will who would be very happy to return it all, but they have difficulty in collecting it and perhaps the Commonwealth does not get its fair share.

The purpose in removing this percentage is to try to help the Commonwealth get, not only its fair share, but its just share.

I think there is some merit to what the Senator said. If we look at a different time, at a different place and when things were different, I would agree with him that we should increase the amount. However, because we are where we are and we have to face reality and face the situation as it exists, and because of the number of people who are making demands upon the State for different services in different areas, I am afraid we just cannot turn a deaf ear and we must look into the cupboard and find any loose change that is lying around and use it. This is one of those areas.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, may I make one observation on the Majority Leader's remarks? The collection of the Social Security Tax and Unemployment Compensation by an employer are almost negigible compared to the problems he runs into when he is collecting sales taxes. A store might have 100 employees and they make deductions once a month, or at the most twice a month, from the employees' wages. However, that same store may have three, four or five thousand sales transactions per day—not per month—which have to be accounted for, and that becomes a tremendous problem.

Mr. WARE. Mr. President, I think another observation is in order at this point, too; to wit., that it certainly has not been established to my satisfaction that the budget which is proposed is a tight budget or is a close budget.

I would like to make a comparison with my own family, with your permission. Just because all of our youngsters ask for a weekly budget of a certain sum, this does not say that we grant it. We frequently reduce it, I think we should explore that possibility with this budget, as well as how we may exhaust every last means of raising the last dollar.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, that is one of the reasons why we are holding hearings. I hope that Senator Ware will avail himself of that information. I will assure him that if there is any further information he needs I will try to make it available. After he examines the budget carefully, if he finds we do not need the money, I will be the first one to go with him and see if we can cut down taxes. I do not think there is any man sitting in this room who wants to vote for taxation if we can possibly avoid it. I am hoping the day will come when I can vote for reducing some of these taxes or removing them.

I think Senator Ware will find a lot of company on this side. If we do not need the money, and he can show us that we absolutely do not need it, I will certainly be happy to cosponsor with him any measure that will reduce the taxation and remove the people who are asking for this money.

Mr. WARE. Senator Weiner, probably you and I think more closely alike than I realized. However, Mr. President, I have the further thought that it is our responsibility to determine the budget first, and then explore the means by which we may raise the funds required by that budget.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, that is one of the reasons why the hearings are being held during these days and why they are holding them tomorrow, Monday and Tuesday. We are hoping to get through the largest departments, such as the Department of Welfare, Department of Public Instruction and the Department of Revenue. I have announced it here so that everyone will have an opportunity to go to the hearings.

If additional time is needed or there is some area that the Senator would like to probe into, if he will take it up with me and some of the other Members over here, we will be glad to accord him whatever time might be needed to do this.

In keeping with this, we have to try to get on with the business of the Commonwealth and get on to the other measures that are before us.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

HB 96, 97, 98, 99, 100, 101, SB 136 and 137—Read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the Majority Leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, to help expedite things the Minority Leader has asked for a 15-minute caucus. We could grant such a caucus while this procedure is going on. There would be no objection to that, would there? Then we could move things right along. He needs to discuss two rules.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS

Mr. AGNEW. I thank the Majority Leader, and call a caucus immediately in the Republican Caucus Room for 15 minutes.

Mr. McCANN. It is understood, Mr. Speaker, that the Speaker can go ahead and read bills and refer them while this is going on.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Minority Leader has requested a 15-minute caucus for the Republican Members of the House. The Republican Members will report immediately to the Republican Caucus Room on the third floor.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, would you wish to attend that caucus and have someone else preside for any reason?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. I believe they can handle the situation very well.

Mr. McCANN. You have already covered it, then? very good.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. ADAMS. RESOLUTION No. 20

In the House of Representatives, January 31, 1961.

Legislative Route 06113, popularly known as the Pricetown Road, starting at the Reading City line and extending through the townships of Muhlenberg, Alsace, Ruscombmanor and Rockland, and ending at New Jerusalem, in Berks County, is a narrow, dangerous roadway, which has been the scene of frequent serious traffic accidents, several resulting in multiple fatalities.

It is of vital importance to the residents of Berks County that immediate, decisive action be taken by the Department of Highways to alleviate the dangers on Legislative Route 06113 in Berks County, and make it suitable to perform its proper functions as a safe traffic artery through the populous area which it serves and extend it to other areas which should have free and safe highway access to the various municipalities in Berks County; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Department of Highways is hereby requested to make an examination and study of the feasibility of widening, improving and reconstructing Legislative Route 06133 between the Reading City line and New Jerusalem, and of extending this State route to Allentown, Pensylvania, as a new and modern highway, and to take such measures as may be possible and practicable in order to carry out the findings uncovered by its examination and study.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. TOMASCIK, AGNEW, TOMPKINS and McCANN. RESOLUTION No. 21

In the House of Representatives, January 31, 1961.

President Dwight D. Eisenhower is now a private citizen of this Commonwealth, having established a residence in Cumberland Township, Adams County, near Gettysburg.

He has completed two terms as President of the United States leaving behind him a record of unselfish devotion to the people of this nation. His record as a distinguished statesman and world leader for peace and international unity is outstanding.

It is both fitting and proper that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania should welcome President and Mrs. Eisenhower to their adopted home; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That President and Mrs. Eisenhower be welcomed to this their first permanent home; and be it further

Resolved, That President Eisenhower be commended for his extraordinary efforts on behalf of world peace and international harmony; and be it further

Resolved, That President Eisenhower be invited to address a joint meeting of the House of Representatives and the Senate; and be it further

Resolved, That a joint committee be appointed consisting of three members from the House of Representatives and three members from the Senate to escort President

Eisenhower to the rostrum of the House; and be it further

Resolved, That the three members from the House shall be Mr. Worley, Mr. McCann and Mr. Tomascik; and be it further

Resolved, That the Senate committee consist of Senator DiSilvestro, Senator Berger and Senator Weiner as members of this joint committee: and be it further

Resolved, That Mr. Worley, the Representative of Mr. Eisenhower's district is hereby made Chairman of this committee and Mr. Worley shall proceed at his earliest convenience to the home of President and Mrs. Eisenhower and personally present the former President with a copy of this resolution and make full arrangements for the address by the President before a joint meeting of the House and Senate.

RESOLUTION No. 22.

In the House of Representatives, January 31, 1961.

Whereas, There are many areas within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania which are sources of chronic unemployment; and

Whereas, There are many areas within the Commonwealth burdened with a surplus of labor; and

Whereas, These conditions have created many cases of hardship as well as placing additional burdens upon the communities wherein these areas exist; and

Whereas, There are numerous industries, firms and merchants which employ Pennsylvania residents and which manufacture and sell commodities utilized by agencies and departments of the Commonwealth; and

Whereas, Said industries, firms, concerns and merchants oft times require additional sales stimulus in order to continue in operation and continue employment of Pennsylvania residents and;

Whereas, Said industries, firms concerns and merchants in many instances are not sucessful in their efforts to sell said commodities to the agencies and departmens of the Commonwealth, therefore be it;

Resolved, That all agencies including the Department of Property and Supplies, making purchases for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania be urged to give preference to industries, firms, concerns and merchants having their place of business within the Commonwealth and which give employment to residents of Pennsylvania; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to the Governor and the Secretary of the Department of Property and Supplies.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. DOWN and MURRAY.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 23.

In the House of Representatives, January 31, 1961.

From time to time the various practices, rules and regulations of the Milk Control Commission have been subjected to wide public criticism.

Members of the General Assembly have been asked by various groups of consumers and producers as to the propriety of the commission's rules, regulations and practices, including those relating to fixing of milk and cream prices and the reasons why milk produced in this Commonwealth and distributed in a neighboring state is cheaper when bought there by a Pennsylvania consumer than in the state wherein it was produced; therefore, be it

Resolved, (the Senate concurring), That the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint a committee of three members of the House and the President pro Tempore of the Senate appoint three members of the Senate, who together shall constitute a joint committee to make a thorough study of the rules, regulations and practices of the Milk Control Commission, including price fixing of milk and cream; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee may meet, hold hearings, take testimony and make its investigation whether the General Assembly is in session or in recess. It may issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman, commanding any person to appear before it and to answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee, and to produce any books, papers, records and documents as the committee deems necessary. Any person who wilfully neglects or refuses to testify before the committee or to produce any books, papers or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases. Each member of the committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee make a report of their findings and recommendations to this session of the General Assembly as soon as possible.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. WORLEY. I want the record to show that I had planned to vote for and that I favor the policy and purpose of House bills Nos. 70, 71, 72, 73 and 74 when these bills passed this House of Representatives on January 31, 1961, and I voted against these bills at that time only for the reasons set forth by the Republican Floor Leader, Mr. Agnew, in his remarks at that time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The remarks of the gentleman will be spread upon the record.

BILL RE-REFERRED

Mr. POLASKI from the Committee on State Government, returned with the recommendation that it be re-referred to the Committee on Municipal Corporations, House Bill No. 156, entitled:

An Act amending the "Municipal Employes' Retirement Law," approved June 4, 1943 (P. L. 886), including officers and employes of certain associations within the act.

The SPEAKER. The bill is re-referred to the Committee on Municipal Corporations.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. LUTTY from the Committee on State Government, reported as amended, House Bill No. 56, entitled:

An Act amending "The administrative Code of 1929," approved April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177), authorizing departments, boards and commissions to train personnel.

RESOLUTION

PROPOSING AMENDMENT TO HOUSE RULE 22

Mr. McCANN offered a resolution which was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives,
Wednesday, February 1, 1961.

Resolved, that Rule 22 is hereby amended in paragraph 4, item 13, by striking out:

"Highways; to consist of 20 members" and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"Highways; to consist of 22 members".

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, this was not discussed in our caucus and, just by way of explanation, the Majority Leader requested yesterday that the Highways Committee be increased from 20 to 22 members, adding one Democrat member and one Republican.

In compliance with his request we feel that we can go along with this and very happily do so.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the remarks stated by Mr. Agnew are correct and the committee will have one additional Republican and one additional Democrat Member which will be later incorporated in the supplement of the Committee on Committees' report.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair is requesting the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins, to vote for the Chair and to vote aye.

Mr. McCANN. Under the House rules I have asked the Speaker presiding to cast the Speaker's vote, Mr. Andrews, aye, who proposed this amendment.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the rules the Speaker's vote cannot be cast unless he is present in the hall of the House.

Mr. McCANN. Well, then, under this situation, the gentleman are at the Appropriations Committee hearing. Of course, the votes are sufficient; no question. Do you want me to bring them in or let them proceed with the hearing?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair notes that the Members of the Appropriations Committee hearing are entering the hall of the House. So we will hold the vote until the Members are given on opportunity to arrive in the hall of the House.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, Mr. Bower is here. We do not need the Members who are on the Appropriations Committee. They can proceed. They are going to 11:00 o'clock and they are right in the middle of testimony. They can proceed and do not need to come and vote.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair has no objection. The Committee has the permission of the House to leave. All Appropriations Committee members may return to their committee meeting.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. One hundred fifty-seven Members having voted in the affirmative and one in the negative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the resolution was adopted.

BILLS ON FIRST READING

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman desire to call up House Resolution No. 17?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I am in position to call up House Resolution 17 and then divide the question.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair hears no objection. The Chair lays before the House, House Resolution No. 17.

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 17

RESOLUTION PROPOSING AMENDMENT TO HOUSE RULE 19

In the House of Representatives, January 30, 1961.

Resolved That Rule 19 be amended by adding thereto the following

RULE 19 B COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE QUESTION TIME

The House upon motion made only by the Majority Leader and seconded only by the Minority Leader may by majority vote resolve itself into a Committee of the Whole for "Questions and Answers" relating exclusively to departmental legislation pending on the House calendar

Questions must be in writing signed by the members requesting information and be sent to the Majority or the Minority Leader

The Majority and Minority Leaders shall present questions received from the members to the Committee on Rules for examination When approved by the committee a copy of the question shall immediately be forwarded by the House leaders jointly to the head of the department affected together with a written request that he appear before the Committee of the Whole House at a designated time to answer the questions submitted to him The Committee may at its discretion ask for a written reply

Questions for oral answer which have been approved by the Committee on Rules shall be printed each with a number under an appropriate heading on the House calendar at least two legislative days in advance of the time fixed by the House for the sitting of the Committee of the Whole

Members will be recognized by the Chair to ask the questions in the order they are listed on the House calendar after which the head of the department to whom the question has been directed will be recognized for reply

When the head of a department has answered a question the Speaker at his discretion may permit members to put supplemental questions arising out of the reply but there shall be no debate

When the Committee of the Whole is sitting for "Questions and Answers" the Speaker shall preside

A motion may be made in the House to print the "Question and Answer" proceedings in the Legislative Journal

RESOLUTION PROPOSING AMENDMENTS TO HOUSE RULES 46 AND 48

Resolved That the Rules of the House be amended as follows

RULE 46 FIRST READING BILLS

Rule 46 which reads

"Bills shall be read the first time in their order on the calendar They shall be considered without debate Amendments shall not be proposed nor is any other motion in order on first reading" is hereby amended by substituting therefor the following

"Bills reported from committees as amended shall be read the first time in their order on the calendar Bills reported from committees as committed shall be read for the first time if in print when reported They shall be considered without debate Amendments shall not be proposed nor is any other motion in order on first reading"

RULE 48 THIRD READING BILLS

Rule 48 is hereby amended by striking out paragraph 2 which reads

"Amendments on third reading may not be considered except by a majority vote of the Members elected"

and inserting in lieu thereof the following

"Any member may move to amend a bill during its third reading"

RESOLUTION PROPOSING AMENDMENT TO HOUSE RULE 61

Resolved That Rule 61 be amended by adding thereto a new paragraph as follows

RULE 61 DEBATE

"With the unanimous consent of the House a member may make a statement not exceeding ten minutes in length concerning a subject or matter not pending before the House for consideration providing the Majority and Minority Leaders have agreed on a time the member is to ask for recognition"

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the Majority Leader desire to have the rule read at length?

Mr. McCANN. Rule 19 first, Mr. Speaker, separately.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman desire to have the rule read at length?

Mr. McCANN. I do not, but if the membership desires the same, I certainly would appreciate it.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. What is the desire of the Minority Leader?

Mr. AGNEW. We do not need it, Mr. Speaker, but if we cannot take a roll call vote until 11 o'clock, you might as well read it at length. We do not have any extensive debate prepared for it.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Clerk will read the rule for the information of the Members.

The amendments to Rule 19 were read by the Clerk as follows:

Resolved That Rule 19 be amended by adding thereto the following

RULE 19 B COMMITTE OF THE WHOLE QUESTION TIME

The House upon motion made only by the Majority Leader and seconded only by the Minority Leader may by majority vote resolve itself into a Committee of the Whole for "Questions and Answers" relating exclusively to departmental legislation pending on the House calendar

Questions must be in writing signed by the members requesting information and be sent to the Majority or the Minority Leader

The Majority and Minority Leaders shall present questions received from the members to the Committee on Rules for examination When approved by the committee a copy of the question shall immediately be forwarded by the House leaders jointly to the head of the department affected together with a written request that he appear before the Committee of the Whole House at a designated time to answer the questions submitted to him The Committee may at its discretion ask for a written reply

Questions for oral answer which have been approved by the Committee on Rules shall be printed each with a number under an appropriate heading on the House calendar at least two legislative days in advance of the time fixed by the House for the sitting of the Committee of the Whole

Members will be recognized by the Chair to ask the questions in the order they are listed on the House calendar after which the head of the department to whom the question has been directed will be recognized for reply

When the head of a department has answered a question the Speaker at his discretion may permit members to put supplemental questions arising out of the reply but there shall be no debate

When the Committee of the Whole is sitting for "Questions and Answers" the Speaker shall preside

A motion may be made in the House to print the "Question and Answer" preceedings in the Legislative Journal

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, evidently we are finished at this point with debate or whatever discussion there may be on the proposed amendment to rule 19. Of course, we are ahead of schedule consistently, for which I am most pleased at all times. The Appropriations Committee, when they were here a while ago and talked to us, stated that at 11 o'clock they would be taking a break, from 11 until 2, I believe, so I was wondering if there is any other person wanting to debate this for a matter of a few minutes. I would appreciate it at this point.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the Minority Leader desire to be recognized?

Mr. AGNEW. No, Mr. Speaker, but I will second the Majority Leader's remarks and ask if anybody would like to make a speech on the proposed amendment to House rule 19.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Murphy.

Mr. MURPHY. Mr. Speaker, will the Majority Leader consent to be interrogated on the amendments?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. MURPHY. Mr. Speaker, will you have the Majority Leader explain to me, being rather a novice at legislative procedure, who may make such a motion for a meeting of the Committee of the Whole under the present rule?

Mr. McCANN. Any Member of this House, while the House is in session.

Mr. MURPHY. Mr. Speaker, would the amendments to this rule now preclude any Member and restrict the motion to the Majority and Minority Leaders? Is that correct?

Mr. McCANN. No, Mr. Speaker, the present rule 19 as it now exists in your rule book, still is and will be in existence if the amendment passes, but the amended rule 19 provides the procedure that is outlined, if you have your mimeographed copy in your possession, which means that no Member of this House, while the House is in session, would be excluded from making such a motion. Of course, then it would have to carry, sir.

Mr. MURPHY. In other words, Mr. Speaker, as I understand it, a Member still has his right to make the motion for a meeting of the Committee of the Whole?

Mr. McCANN. Under the present rule 19 as it now is in the book, and as it would remain, permits each Member to still have that right, sir.

Mr. MURPHY. Mr. Speaker, the word "only" in line 5, perhaps the Majority Leader could explain that to us, "only by the Majority Leader." Does that mean only on matters affecting departments?

Mr. McCANN. Only on matters affecting legislation pending on the House calendar before this House. The Committee of the Whole question can be raised on any item, whether it is legislation or any other item, at any time, and should it carry it can then proceed to operate as a Committee of the Whole. This strictly pertains to legislation, and nothing else, which would have gone through a committee and is on the House calendar before the membership of this House. Then read 19(b).

Mr. MURPHY. Then, Mr. Speaker, as I understand it, that is only for legislation which has already come out of committee and is on the calendar?

Mr. McCANN. Absolutely correct.

Mr. MURPHY. And on matters which are not on the calendar, which are somewhere else, perhaps in committee, any Member could still call for a Committee of the Whole to consider that legislation?

Mr. McCANN. He could call for a Committee of Whole on 19 on that or any other item.

Mr. MURPHY. But the Members would then be restricted in one particular phase and that is on legislation which is on the calendar?

Mr. McCANN. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Now, if 19(b) was adopted and a bill has been introduced by proper membership sponsor and assigned by the Speaker to a committee and the committee has acted on it and reported same to the floor, it is now on the House calendar and in print in front of you. Under 19(b) it would set up a procedure which would help to have this House operate in regard to answering technical and helpful questions.

A good example I can use, Mr. Speaker and Members of this House, is that two years ago there were technical bills before this House. One was on UC; the other was on retirement, which you all voted for; everybody in here voted for it. The two people who knew the answers very well were Martin Mihm of Allegheny County and Adam Bower of Northumberland County, yet I assure you, when you voted for it, you did not know what you voted for, but you voted to help yourself. Technically, these are the types of things which are very difficult to explain, and the proper place for explanation of such a technical feature would have helped under this procedure. We tried to do it in each respective caucus.

Mr. MURPHY. Mr. Speaker, it is unfortunate that only two Members of the House understand this particular bill that we all voted and passed. I was not aware of that at the time. I would have voted no, or re-referred it to a committee.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I strike that from the record in this respect: when I talk about technical features of a retirement bill, I never want to imply that the Members do not know what is in the bill. But if someone started to work with a retirement bill and our retirement procedure, state employes; legislative retirement, judiciary retirement, separate retirement bills that have been passed into law, I am sure it becomes very complicated and very difficult for some people to be able to understand the provisions of the bill dealing with 1/180th, 1/140th, $50 for each year, $250 for each year, compounded annually, semi-annually, each of these technical questions, prior service, state service, legislative service, other service, but I assure you that the gentleman did know what he voted for on those bills.

Mr. MURPHY. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman. I have one further question, does the amendment to this resolution merely intend to protect some various administrative departments or department heads, whereby the Members of this Legislature will have to submit written questions and then give the department heads time to prepare their answers on those questions? That is, my question is, is it merely intended to protect those various department heads from appearing before us and accepting oral interrogation?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I do not believe I can quite answer the question in its entirety in this manner. I do not know the last time the record shows this House acted as a Committee of the Whole. We have passed such a motion but I do not know when. As to protecting the department heads, the answer would be that it is not for protection in the sense of trying to protect them from assisting us, but in an effort to help them to also have the question which would be printed and in order and their replies to us dealing with that particular subject that is on the calendar of legislation, because that is the purpose.

Mr. MURPHY. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair now recognizes the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Lippincott.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, since the Majority Leader is stalling for time and solicits inquiries, I would like to ask him this, is there anything this House is going to do today other than to vote on these resolutions?

Mr. McCANN. Yes, on these resolutions, and just a few minutes ago we got the agreement dealing with the Senate on the timetable for next week.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Is there any reason why we could not have voted on these resolutions before we adjourned yesterday?

Mr. McCANN. No, there would be no reason, but then we still would have had to have the House in session today on this resolution dealing with next week, which has been agreed to now. The Senate will come in on Tuesday at 7:00 p.m. We will not adjourn this House even though we are finished with all business, awaiting in recess until such time as certain bills have passed in which the Speaker shall sign the same that evening, whatever the time may be on Tuesday, February 7.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, that was not agreed upon yesterday.

Mr. McCANN. It could not have been because it was agreed late in the night or early this morning.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Is that the only reason we had to stay over?

Mr. McCANN. Actually, Mr. Speaker, to be honest, yes. I voted everything yesterday.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. That was not the explanation given yesterday though, was it?

Mr. McCANN. I did not have the answer yesterday.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I thank the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. Is the Majority Leader ready to vote?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, it is 11:00 o'clock. I understood the Appropriations Committee is out. I see Mr. Hocker here now. It was my understanding that they would bread at 11 until 2.

Mr. Speaker, I think we might just take one minute. The gentlemen are coming in now. They have recessed their meeting. We will be ready then as soon as they walk into the hall of the House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

So the question was determined in the affirmative and the amendments were agreed to.

Mr. McCANN offered the following amendments to House rules 46 and 48.

The amendments to House rules 46 and 48 were read by the Clerk as follows:

RESOLUTION PROPOSING AMENDMENTS TO HOUSE RULES 46 AND 48

RESOLVED That the Rules of the House be amended as follows

RULE 46 FIRST READING BILLS

Rule 46 which reads
"Bills shall be read the first time in their order on the calendar. They shall be considered without debate. Amendments shall not be proposed nor is any other motion in order on first reading," is hereby amended by substituting therefor the following:
"Bills reported from committees as amended shall be read the first time in their order on the calendar. Bills reported from committees as committed shall be read for the first time if in print when reported. They shall be considered without debate. Amendments shall not be proposed nor is any motion in order on first reading."

RULE 48 THIRD READING BILLS

Rule 48 is hereby amended by striking out paragraph 2 which reads
"Amendments on third reading may not be considered except by a majority vote of the Members elected."
and inserting in lieu thereof the following
"Any member may move to amend a bill during its third reading."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, our position is in opposition to proposed amendments to rules 46 and also 48, which is a follow-up to rule 46, and I would assume that if one falls the other one would too. Now, our reasons for opposing the proposed amendments to rule 46 are as follows:

We feel that generally there is nothing basically wrong with the proposed rule change. However, this change would give the Majority one more weapon if they wanted to stampede the House, pervert the Legislative processes, and draft important Legislation the same week it is introduced. A bill could be introduced on Monday and, assuming it could be in print, and it could, it could be reported from committee by merely going through the motions of a vote as important legislation has been so far this session, without any consideration by the members of the Committee. It can be given first reading automatically and in a three-day session, which is normal, can be ready for final passage the same week, before Members of the House have had an adequate opportunity to study the bills, before the public has been alerted to the possible impact of the bills and before the newspapers of the State have had a chance to inform the public.

We feel by keeping House rule 46 the way it is right now, we will gain one additional legislative day and we will be able to give legislative proposals the soundest consideration that is worthy of this great body. We feel that any attempt to amend this rule, now that we know what the Majority has in mind for this session, is not consistent with proper legislative processes and we, therefore, as a party oppose any change to House rule 46.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the present rule 46 provides any bill may be read in the first time only with unanimous consent, no other way. Prior to this session, when a bill was introduced it was printed in pink. When they came out of committee they were printed in white. We believed it was a waste of money on printing and that the bills should be printed in white, not in pink. Therefore, all bills are printed in white and not duplicated in printing of the same bill when the committees adopt it. With that theory in mind then, we discussed the possibility prior to this session, or at the start of the session, of changing rules 46 and 48 because rule 48 provides that bills on third reading have to have unanimous consent to be amended and so forth.

Thus, if we agree to rule 46, permitting the bills to come out of Committee and be read the first time, we will also have to give the right on third reading that no one could object to offering amendments, meeting the unanimous consent, but such amendments would have to be adopted by the majority vote to be incorporated into the bill.

This was discussed very carefully. In fact, this proposition on 46 and 48 did not originate with me in its entirety. When it was discussed, I accepted the idea in its entirety and was willing to ask my caucus to support this because I say that legislative days on moving up bills are important in this manner.

There is nothing you can do to a first reading bill no matter what you want to try to do under the present House rules. You cannot recommit it. You cannot amend it. You cannot debate it. You cannot vote for it ar against it on First Reading. What does First Reading serve except Constitutional purpose? No question about it. So, when a bill would come out of committee it would be read the first time. I, at first, had no objections to only bills that were not amended in Committee, but this proposed rule covers those bills whether they were amended or not.

Now, then, by the very fact that certain measures were reported from committee and could be reported from committee under such a House rule and voted in a week, the answer is that it still can be done and probably will be done wherever necessary in the case of the present rule. This House is not bound by any law, only by the vote of its membership, as to the number of days we are in session.

At any given week, when an objection is raised on a bill on a Monday, and not read the first time, it is a simple matter to have a four-day session, and that bill will be in a position to be voted on Thursday or the third day following, under our present House rules.

I am no more of a person than you are to say, even though they accuse us many times of using tactics to railroad, it is not true. There is no difference between midnight sessions on a calendar day under our Constitution than there is a 10:00 o'clock day or a 11:00 o'clock day, as it is another calendar day. There is no difference under the present House rules in passing a bill out of committee, when the committee agrees, and voting that bill on first reading in its proper sequence, second reading and third reading, and final passage the fourth calendar day of the given week. To me it makes sense, I accept the proposition as it was outlined, and then after I had accepted it, all of a sudden the red flag is waved now that this rule is no good. Well, this rule can fall by the wayside and if it falls we operate under the existing rules under which you have been operating and you will continue to operate for the balance of this session. Perhaps in another session and another time.

There is one thing I would like to find out, though, if this rule, as it is written here now, is not acceptable to the Minority of this House, has the Minority at this time, and I will interrogate the Minority Leader on this point, has the Minority at this time a substitute proposition that they might care to present, and, if so, what is that proposition? Perhaps it will be a proposition which will then be applied, except — and what are the exceptions? These are things that I hope the Minority Leader will think about before I interrogate him. If there are no Reupblican votes for 46 and 48, then the two rules will stay as they are and the proposed amendments will fall. This makes no difference to us, if this is what you want. We favor these rules and we also know, as well as you do, that at any time an objection is raised under the unanimous consent, there are parliamentary procedures by which you can proceed to set aside the rules. It takes 106 votes. You can make the motion or we can make the motion. When you have 106 you can suspend any rules of this House; that is a fact. You cannot suspend the Constitution, but you can the rules.

Now then, Mr. Speaker, with that in mind, our caucus did favor voting for 46 and 48. We favor it in maybe more than one form; we favor it even on bills that are not amended coming out, read the first time, or we favor it in bills that are also amended to be read the first time, because we make our print on the next bill and in its proper form there is nothing you do to a bill on first reading.

I do not deny the fact that a bill amended in committee is a little different from a bill that is not amended, because you have the bills that went into committee in your possession as a Member of this House and can check it very carefully. You can check it one day sooner. You cannot check an amended bill that has come out of committee until that bill is printed for you to check the amended version.

Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Minority Leader.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Agnew, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. AGNEW. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, on the proposed amendment to 46, as it is now before this House, you have indicated that you oppose this proposed amendment. Is that correct?

Mr. AGNEW. That is correct.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman inform this House if he has any substitute to offer for consideration of 46 as it is now written or that he may offer for consideration?

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I have no alternative by way of amending the proposed amendment. We do not want to shut the door, certainly, to any proposed change. However, I asked the Majority Leader if he wanted to sit down and discuss possible changes in the wording to any of these proposed amendments, and apparently he did not. Perhaps he misunderstood me. We are willing to consider re-wording any of these amendments, certainly. We do not want to take a dogmatic position on any proposed rule change, but when you ask me right now whether I have a proposed change, I do not.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I bring to the attention of the Minority Leader that no such discussion has been requested, nor have I requested any. I ask if any thought has been given to this, which certainly would carry exceptions, and those exceptions considered, whatever they may be, when they are proposed.

Would the Minority Leader be in any position to discuss this if it only pertained to bills that came out of committee without amendments?

Mr. AGNEW. I thought the change right now, Mr. Speaker, your proposed amendment there, is for those reported out of committee as committed without being amended by the committee.

Mr. McCANN. Will the gentleman repeat his answer?

Mr. AGNEW. Perhaps I misunderstood the question, but my answer is, that is the way your proposed amendment reads now, that only bills that come out of committee as committed are read for the first time. I will read it, "Those reported from committee as committed shall be read for the first time if in print when reported." Perhaps I musunderstood the gentleman's question.

Mr. McCANN. That is correct. Did not the first offer of consideration include "with amendments," bills coming out of committee with amendments to be read the first time?

Mr. AGNEW. The proposed amendment, Mr. Speaker, reads as follows—

Mr. McCANN. I agree as to what the proposed amendment reads, but in the conference, Mr. Speaker, were not bills considered even with amendments?

Mr. AGNEW. In the conference, Mr. Speaker, we discussed a variety of possible rules' amendments. Yes, I believe that was discussed, as were a number of other proposals in the same field. We have before us though one particular proposed amendment to House rule No. 46.

Mr. McCANN. That is correct. Mr. Speaker, that House rule No. 46 is not as covered by the conference. That only covers bills coming out of committee that are not amended, is that correct?

Mr. AGNEW. When a bill comes out of committee as committed. That is correct.

Mr. McCANN. As committed. At this position you are going to oppose that rule on those bills, is that correct?

Mr. AGNEW. That is correct.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the Majority Leader desire to continue with debate on this amendment?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I just wanted to finish the statement by saying that I am going to bring this House rule to a vote. It will not pass. There are not 106 Democrats here; the total number of Republican membership is not here.

Mr. Speaker, I am going to say we favored this; we favored it for more reasons than one, to operate efficiently and properly in this House, and if the rule falls, which it will, then we will operate under the existing rule, which means that any bill coming out of committee may be read for the first time only with the unanimous consent of this House, which is the present rule.

Mr. AGNEW. When the Majority Leader says there will be no Republican votes for this proposed amendment, he may have information I do not possess. Republican Members are not bound by any caucus action as to how their votes will be cast. All that I can tell the gentleman is that the general tenor of expression in our caucus was in opposition to this proposed amendment.

In answer to the Majority Leader's comments, I might point out that the other chamber has not printed their bills in pink for a number of years now, and yet they do require first reading, although in many instances they automatically pass to second. I believe just this week they refused to give first reading consideration to the tax program the day the bills came out of committee, so they still have that rule in the other chamber even though they do not print it in pink. I might point out, in any emergency, certainly on a non-controversial matter, we would be willing to give unanimous consent to first reading. All the rules of the House can be waived in any emergency by 106 votes. We can give first reading to a bill if it should be necessary. However, we do not feel that it is necessary in most instances to ram legislation through this House in a short period of time. Let me point this out, if this proposed amendment had been in effect when we passed the tax program two weeks ago, or last week, it would have come out of committee—and remember the bills were only available for study on Monday—the bill would have come out of committee on Monday, would have been given first reading automatically, second reading on Tuesday, and we could have had a post-midnight session on Tuesday so the bills would have finally passed the House about 30 hours after they first became available for study and after they first came out of committee. Now this is not the way a legislative body should operate. It is not the way a legislative body should deliberate. In any emergency, in any non-controversial matter, we can now give them first reading when they come out of committee, or, if the majority in either instance, Republican or Democrat, can do it by waiving the rules with 106 votes, we do not feel there is any real reason to make this amendment generally.

I might say, perhaps if we leave House rule 46 the way it is, it just may give one point of protection to the public against a legislative majority that may refuse to act as a legislative body should and acts as a rubber stamp for the executive. It will give the public one more day for full consideration of any proposal that comes before the Legislature.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I had planned to interrogate the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, as he was being shocked by the Speaker. Of course, we all recognize that the Speaker was quite a shocker, especially in the days when he was an Independent and conducted his caucus in a telephone booth.

What Mr. Agnew has brought out is this: That a bill can be introduced and reported from committee at 11:00 o'clock on Monday night, first reading; Tuesday, second reading; 12:01 Wednesday, passage.

We should be concerned not only with the rights of the Minority, but we should be concerned with the rights of the people and the rights of Members on both sides of the House to be protected against bipartisan cooperation between the Majority and Minority leadership.

I call again to the interest and attention of the Members on both sides of the aisle what happened in 1959 when it was my duty to oppose unanimous consent to have a bill read on first reading. That was a bill which would have added $250,000 extra to the legislative payroll and it was not in the public interest.

I say the gentleman on the other side of the House should oppose this bill because it is not sound. It does not protect you. Whenever you have emergency legislation which requires speed, then you can follow the ordinary processes.

To repeat, we should live in a government of rules, and not of men, and we would be better all the way down the line.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I wish to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, is the purpose of this amendment really so you can set up a procedure to railroad bills through or is it the purpose of this amendment to provide generally for a more orderly process in the House?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the purpose is certainly never intended to railroad any bills at any time. The announcement of the schedule for the week in print goes to the Members one and two week ahead. On each given week the times and the dates of the sessions are stated. There has never been any plan, nor will there be any plan, unless an emergency arises, and we are all in agreement with what Mr. Goldstein said. The sessions are Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, or Monday and Tuesday, as next week, or Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. We certainly agree, Mr. Speaker, that the tax program was not such an emergency and that is why we objected to rushing it through.

If, as the gentleman indicates, he is trying to achieve a more orderly process in the House, I have a suggestion that might be put into this amendment that would make it feasible and perhaps satisfactory to our Members. That would merely be by saying that the bill shall be read the first time unless there is an objection.

In other words, you could establish the normal order of reading it the first time, which we agree may be a good thing, but we should have the right to object if we want more time. I say that you could read the bill for the first time, as we do toward the end of the session, and then provide, however, that if there is an objection to it the bill will not be read the first time.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, this, of course, is reversing the present rule. The bill can only be read the first time with unanimous consent. This would change it to, the bill shall be read the first time, except when objected to. At least, that would be a step in the right direction if that is what you propose.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I have not discussed this and it has not been reviewed in our caucus, but you asked if we had any alternative and I think that might be an alternative.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, on the Rules Committee, of course, are three Minority Members, Mr. Agnew, Mr. Helm, and Mr. Tompkins. This was never discussed as proposed by Mr. Lippincott, that is, to the best of my knowledge, it was never discussed. But we will let the bill go to a vote and, if this is the agreement of their caucus, we can accept, provided they believe this is what will be helpful for an orderly procedure. I want to prove to you that there is no intention of ever railroading anything.

The schedule last week was Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. There is no intention of ever putting a bill through this House Monday, Tuesday and Tuesday night, unless we would be in some kind of a catastrophe and you people would also be clamoring that we get it done in the least number of hours humanly possible.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. If the gentleman thinks there may be merit in that proposal—our caucus has not discussed it—could the bill be held over until next week and we will take it up and see how our people feel about it?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, if the proposed changes meet with approval, we would accept them. All they would do is simply say that all bills shall be read the first time, except when an objection is raised. The present rule says that all bills moving in an orderly manner can only be read the first time with unanimous consent of this House. If one person stands up and objects, that bill cannot be read without going through the parliamentary procedures.

I will leave it go over if this is an offer from their caucus to amend this proposed rule.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, if this is to be considered as an offer on the part of our caucus, it is an offer only to consider any proposed change. We are willing to consider this, as we are willing to consider any proposed wording in any amendments to the House rules.

If the gentleman wishes to make a motion to lay this matter on the table, certainly we will consider it. It seems on first blush to be reasonable, but we do not want to be in a position of committing our caucus to the recommendation made by the gentleman from Delaware at this time.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, except one item, 46 and 48 are a combination. If this was adopted in the rule and then a bill came out of committee and you objected to the reading of that bill, then rule 48 also has to have the objection about the amendment, as it is a parallel package. A bill that would come out of committee the first time and there was no objection to its reading when it was read the first time, there could be no objection raised to offering an amendment on third reading, so that the package would be uniform.

If this is such an offer, which is a step, in my opinion, in making this House operate more efficiently and properly in every manner, I will consent to 46 and 48 being set aside at this point.

MOTION TO LAY AMENDMENTS TO HOUSE RULES 46 AND 48 ON TABLE

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the amendments to House rules 46 and 48 be laid upon the table.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the motion?

One hundred and twenty-seven Members having voted in the affirmative and forty-eight in the negative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

Mr. McCann offered the following amendments to House rule 61.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

RESOLUTION PROPOSING AMENDMENT TO HOUSE RULE 61

RESOLVED That Rule 61 be amended by adding thereto a new paragraph as follows.

RULE 61 DEBATE

"With the unanimous consent of the House a member may make a statement not exceeding ten minutes in length concerning a subject or matter not pending before the House for consideration providing the Majority and Minority Leaders have agreed on a time the member is to ask for recognition."

On the question,
Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the proposed amendment to House rule 61 deals only with subjects that are not pending in this House. You are talking about a piece of legislation which is on the calendar. It does not apply in any way. What was the purpose of this proposal? At a given time every day, if four or five people desire to speak on something that is in the newspaper or on some situation that is not pending in this House in any manner but it is of some interest to them or their constituents, all they will do is notify their Floor Leader, Mr. Agnew, that they wish to speak today on what the President of the United States said, or somebody else, or anything. The name would go on his sheet showing that he has two or three people to speak. On our side we will do the same thing. The Member would only inform me that he desires to speak.

Now then, we meet and work on our calendars. We do try to ask, do you have anyone speaking on any subject other than what is on the calendar. All this does is to make a uniform system. It is no gag rule, as someone proposed the other day, because if you are talking about something that is on the calendar, that rule does not apply to the calendar. It does not apply to the calendar, it is for other subjects in an attempt to make uniformity. What is done now? You get up, you speak on a subject, another gentleman comes up and speaks, and we have to try to work the schedule in between. We do work it in, there is no question about it. There has not been a Member that I know of who has ever been denied the right to speak on any subject when he wishes to make a statement on the floor of this House.

I may not have been around long enough to know when the occasion occurred where they tell me they used to move some previous question and so forth and stop all discussion. I was not here. This was years ago. At the present time, for any Member desiring to speak on a subject, we make arrangements for him to speak. It does not pertain to the calendar. That rule has been proposed simply for an orderly manner. Someone has stated, and I believe this has some merit, if you cannot say it in ten minutes, you do not have much to talk about to begin with. That is how the ten minutes was selected. There you are.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I agree with the Majority Leader. For instance, the Gettysburg Address is about two minutes and twenty seconds. I also agree with the Majority Leader that the proposed amendment to House rule 61 was made in good faith, that the intent is merely to facilitate matters of this type, to give more opportunity to Members to speak on matters not properly pending before the House.

However, I think that those who have objected have some justification because of the wording of the proposed amendment. I agree that if the Democratic Floor Leader would arbitrarily object to any Republican Member speaking, then the Republican Floor Leader could arbitrarily object to any Democrat speaking, and I am sure we would not get in a position where there would be such retaliation. I think if we adopted this rule there would be absolutely no question about its fair operation in protection of any Member of this House and his right to speak during a session.

However, there was some objection in our caucus that if we make a permanent change in the rule, next session or four or six years from now, or sometime thereafter, it might be interpreted in a manner which could act as a gag upon the right of any Member of this House to so speak.

I do not know how extensive the opposition is on our side of the House to this proposed amendment, but there is some, I know. Because there is at least some objection, I am taking the position that I will personally cast my vote against it because I do not want anybody to think, as I am sure the Majority Leader does not, that either one of us is seeking any additional power or authority or control over the right of any Member of this House to speak. I think that states my position as well as I can state it.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, so there will be no misunderstanding in the wording of the rule, if that is the case, there is no Republican Member under this rule who will come to me to state he wishes to speak; nor would any Democrat go to the Minority Floor Leader at this session to state he wishes to speak. Thereby, neither side can object in any way to those names on the list due to the fact that they have made an orderly arrangement. I hope that those who come after we are gone as Members of this House will always reserve the right of every person to be heard on the subjects upon which he wants to speak. This only deals with orderly manner.

One question has been raised, which I do not know the answer to, but we will say that I asked to speak as a Member under this rule and I talked to the Floor Leader, and, after I had spoken, I raised a very highly controversial, technical on political point. There is no question that if the speech was from this side, there might be rebuttal from the other side. You have that right to speak by going to your Floor Leader and saying, I would like to speak, because he might have two other people speaking in order on that list. That is all it does, gives an orderly manner, and nothing else in any way.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me that this particular amendment to House rule 61 might likewise favorably be considered with the amendment which has been proposed by the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Lippincott. I know of no rule in the House presently except under a question of personal privilege in connection with considerations presently under debate which would allow a Member to take the floor to debate any subject not incident to the question of personal privilege or in no way related to the subject then under debate. However, as a matter of practice it is permitted even without seeking unanimous consent. I say this is a matter of practice. Looking at the proposed amendment in one light, it is somewhat restrictive in that we must now get unanimous consent where we do not seek it presently and where we are allowed to speak as a matter of practice. On the other hand, it is an enlargement of the rules in that there is nothing in the rules that says a Member can get up and debate except under a matter of personal privilege or in connection with the matter under debate, so perhaps the happy resolution or the happy resolvement of this matter might be to have this rule also amended with the proposal that has been made by the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Lippincott. I would earnestly suggest to both the Majority and Minority Leaders that perhaps this rule or resolution also ought to lay over for that consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, if the Members have their rules handy, they will see on page 113, a daily order of business. It is the duty of the Speaker to see to it that the House proceeds in conformity with the rules outlined. The matter is outlined in the daily order of business.

If a Speaker in the past had functioned in accordance with the rules and Members are allowed to speak about something not pertinent to the pending order if business, the Chair would have been empowered, and perhaps in view of the convenience of the House, would have been impelled to rule that the Member was out of order at that time, because he was not addressing himself to any order of business then before the House.

Now the Chair has been very lenient, not only when this Speaker has been in the Chair but past Speakers have been very, very lenient, and it is a discretion that is distasteful to the Chair to say that the Member is out of order, when very distinctly he is out of order. He is taking up time, discussing something of his own particular notions, something that he is interested in and which perhaps no other Member of the House might be interested in, and he is impeding the conduct of the House in adherence to its order of business.

And so it would be very gratifying to the Chair if a rule of the kind that is now pending were passed to relieve the Chair from the obligation to adhere to the order of business, because there are times when Members want to get away for various reasons, they want to get the regular order of business transacted, and the Chair must recognize this Member who wants to talk about something not pertinent; another Member, not pertinent.

It is distasteful to the Chair to have to rule any Member out of order, but if the practice of discussion without reference to the order of business continues and the time is expanded, ultimately the Chair will be required to rule the gentleman out of order and he will have to take the case to the House as a whole to gain the right to speak.

And so I say, as a somewhat experienced Member on this floor, I think it would be conducive to the conduct of the business of this House in an orderly fashion if some arrangements were made whereby the Member who wanted to talk about something not pertinent to the orderly business was given his opportunity and his right to do so.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Farabaugh.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate either the Speaker or the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the Majority Leader consent to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I shall.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Mr. Speaker, if this proposed rule be passed, would it prevent anyone from getting unanimous consent to speak on any subject?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the present rules now provide that you are supposed to secure unanimous consent to speak on any subject not pertinent to the House at that time. That is the present rule.

Now then, if this rule were adopted, you would not secure unanimous consent because there would be two or three, or whatever the case may be, who would be speaking on subjects they desire to speak on in an orderly manner and, as I stated to the Minority, they could not object to your speaking and neither could we object to any one of their people speaking in an orderly manner. And as the Speaker stated, now you are supposed to secure that consent before you speak when you speak about any subject other than that which is before the House at that time.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Mr. Speaker, I am not sure the gentleman got my point. If this proposed rule passes, would it take away that possibility of getting unanimous consent to speak on some other subject at a time not when certain things are being conducted, but at other times?

Mr. McCANN. No, Mr. Speaker, this House can at any time grant unanimous consent to do any single thing it wants to do at any time. If, right at the end of the roll call, even though you are in the middle of a calendar, should this occasion arise, and the House consents unanimously, the answer is, yes, this is what you can do.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Another question, Mr. Speaker: In the event any Member of the House wanted to discuss any subject, can he do so without a limit of time with the consent of the Majority and the Minority Leaders?

Mr. McCANN. In a true sense, Mr. Speaker, you do not have to secure my consent or the Minority Leader's consent. It is only that Mr. Farabaugh is going to speak on a subject, and your name will go down and in an orderly manner you will speak. I cannot refuse you that consent under the proposition as outlined in this rule.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Ten minutes?

Mr. McCANN. Yes.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Thank you, Mr. McCann.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair now recognizes the Speaker, Mr. Andrews.

Mr. ANDREWS. You know, with unanimous consent or with 106 votes, the House can do pretty much what it wants to, or can do what it wants to. And on unanimous consent the Chair is also a Member of the House and as a Member of the House can refuse his unanimous consent. Then the Member would have to appeal to the House to everrule the Chair or to overrule any other Member of the House who objected, and you would have a prolonged parliamentary situation.

You know this fact is not generally appreciated, but the Speaker serves from day to day. A lot of Members of this House think the Speaker is elected for a term. The Speaker is not elected for a term. He serves from day to day and right in the next 15 minutes, if there are 106 Members who want to toss him out, they can do it. It might be a good idea.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. AGNEW and TOMPKINS and were as follows:

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 1

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 4 of today's calendar, House Resolution No. 1.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 5, 1961.

Resolved (the Senate concurring) That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States to support and enact a temporary Unemployment Compensation Act which would extend unemployment compensation benefits for an additional period of three months within each unemployed's benefit year for each eligible unemployed who has exhausted or will exhaust all benefits to which he is entitled under the act of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania approved December 5 1936 (1937 P L 2897) known as the "Unemployment Compensation Law" during each such unemployed's current benefit year and which would grant the necessary funds to the State's Unemployment Compensation Funds to carry out said extension and be it further

Resolved That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officer of each house of Congress of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. BONNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like the record to note that Representative McDonald from Schuylkill County and I sponsored the same resolution at the last session and it was not called up, but we are voting for this resolution now.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The remarks of the gentleman will be spread upon the record.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. AGNEW and TOMPKINS and were as follows:

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lycoming, Mr. Whittaker.

Mr. WHITTAKER. Mr. Speaker, how am I recorded as voting?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman is not recorded.

Mr. WHITTAKER. I was outside the House, Mr. Speaker, with a spontaneous nose bleed, and I just came in the House and voted. It said "aye" on the board.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman must be in his seat to vote.

The remarks of the gentleman will be spread upon the record of the House.

STATEMENT BY MAJORITY LEADER

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I believe there are some more committee reports. At this point I would like to notify the membership there is no more voting today. The House will be in session two days next week, Monday and Tuesday, Tuesday at the early hour, and the House will not adjourn but will recess until later in the night. The membership will not have to stay. Only two of us have to stay for the Speaker to sign the bills during the night.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would like to inform the Members that the Speaker will have some important announcements to make and requests that you will remain for just a few more minutes.

SENATE MESSAGE

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

February 1, 1961.

Resolved, (the House of Representatives concurring), That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene Tuesday, February 7, 1961 at seven o'clock p. m., E.S.T., and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene Monday, February 6, 1961 at three-thirty o'clock p. m., E.S.T.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, House Bill No. 194 in the printing carries that it was introduced by Renwick, Flynn, Zimmerman and Alan D. Williams, Jr. Mr. Williams did not sign that bill. The name of the gentleman who signed it is Allan W. Holman, Jr.

You would say this would be a printing error. Perhaps it is, but they say to me it is pretty hard to read some of these signatures, and here is an example.

I want the record to show that Mr. Williams did not sponsor House Bill No. 194, but I am going to ask at this time, please help these people who have to decipher our signatures by trying to do a little better, if you can. Please do that.

Can anything be done to correct that? This bill is going to be before a committee next Tuesday and it carries Mr. Allan W. Holman, Jr., instead of Mr. Alan D. Williams, Jr.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would suggest that when the bill is reported from committee, if it happens, that the bill be reprinted with that change indicated.

Mr. McCANN. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Filo.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I think I might mention on the subject that the Majority Leader spoke of that last year we made some requests—I believe I had made the request—that the covers on these bills should contain more space so you could put four sponsors on a bill so you would not have to squeeze them in. I think that would serve the purpose.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The remarks of the gentleman will be spread upon the record.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Perry, Mr. Holman.

Mr. HOLMAN. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the Majority Leader, if he checks that bill I think he will find that Mr. Holman's signature is very plain on it. I do not know how they could have made the mistake.

Mr. McCANN. If that is the case—of course they state that some signatures are not clear, Mr. Speaker—then this is actually an error on the part of those people who transcribe the bills for the printer or the proofreading, when it is printed and comes back. I certainly thank the gentleman and I apologize for whoever made the mistake.

Perhaps Mr. Williams also would want to sponsor it, but that I would not know.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, rise?

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, to be the first one to violate the new rule 61.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman request unanimous consent?

Mr. McCORMACK. No, Mr. Speaker, I just want to raise a rhetorical question as to whether or not this would be a proper subject-matter, as has just been discussed about the signatures, for us to resolve ourselves into a Committee of the Whole to decide whether the signature was legible.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I present the supplemental report of the Committee on Committees and at this point, Mr. Speaker, I would like to say that the Committee on Committees' report will be complete now, except for the special election in Berks County. There will be either a Democrat or a Republican elected and changes will have to be made when that person is seated in this House following that special election. I have no alternative but to ask the Chief Clerk that following this report we proceed to have the legislative directory put in print, which means that it will show for each Member in this House his or her committee assignments; it will show the assignments of every committee. If I ask them to continue to wait, we will not get the legislative directory out, as each of you want. You have it now only in mimeograph form with changes. So with this report we are going to proceed to order the directory to be printed and the Berks County Member will not be in that report. After the report is printed, the only thing we can do is to put in a supplemental loose sheet with the assignments to committees.

I do not believe the Republican changes in their report were properly sent to me by their committee and by Mr. Agnew but they are incorporated and have been checked by Mr. Moore. It does not need to be read at lnegth, other than it just carries the changes as agreed vice each person.

RESOLUTION

SUPPLEMENTAL REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON COMMITTEES

Mr. McCANN offered a resolution which was read considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 1, 1961.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mr. McCann for Mr. KAMYK for today because of illness.

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the Minority Leader rise?

Mr. AGNEW. To make a comment, Mr. Speaker, in further defense of the gentleman from Perry, Mr. Holman, if he needs any.

I might point out that the House History on page 40 on House bill 194 shows Mr. Holman to be a sponsor. I think that is almost conclusive evidence that his signature must have been legible and that the mistake was not the illegibility of his signature, but must have been a mistake on the part of the printer.

SENATE MESSAGES

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented extracts from the Journal of the Senate:

Resolution concurred in by Senate re Baker Royer.

Senate Bills to be signed No. 2.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. CROSSIN from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported as committed, House Bill No. 61, entitled:

An Act to commission posthumously John W. McLane in the Pennsylvania National Guard.

Mr. WOOD from the Committee on State Government, reported as committed, House Bill No. 191, entitled:

An Act amending the act of November 19, 1959 (P. L. 1535), entitled "An act authorizing the Department of Property and Supplies, with the approval of the Governor, to acquire certain tracts of land in the Borough of Millersville, Lancaster County, for the use of the Millersville State Teachers College, * * *," abolishing the right to acquire a certain tract of land, and authorizing the acquisition of certain additional tracts of land.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will now request the Speaker to return to the Chair.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Armstrong.

The Chair has often wondered, and has talked this over with the Parliamentarian, why these folders could not be changed to have the title of the bill on the front, the number of the bill, when it was introduced, with other material, and why could not the sponsors be on the back of the bill.

I hold a bill in my hand on which there are four sponsors and the names are written within an inch, and for the life of me, if I did not know the Members, I could not tell who they were. I could not decipher the writing. I would like to have the Parliamentarian and the Floor Leaders investigate the matter of whether or not it would be feasible to put the sponsors on the back, and, goodness knows, if we are going to have more than four sponsors, we have got to do something about it, because the names are crowded in there and you have to guess at them.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, all Members' bills are prepared in the Legislative Reference Bureau. We buy the supplies for the Bureau. Administration bills and other bills are prepared in the Attorney General's offices and departments. We can resolve this by ourselves by simply asking the Legislative Reference Bureau to do what you are talking about. I think there ought to be about five lines in order so it could be done very nicely.

Then I ask one more thing which has come up two or three time pertaining to these Members who have the same names. The only answer I know is that when you are sponsoring bills you are going to have to put down Seat No. so and so, or put your county in, because when you sign James Long, and James Long, you do run into problems. Sullivan the same way. There is only the difference—in one case not even an initial—in one case in the middle initial.

I am only trying to foresee how this might be helpful, but, if the Minority agrees, we can meet with Mr. Hershey, Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau, and help our situation immediately.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, the Minority certainly is not going to disagree. If you are going to have a meeting on it, we would like to be there.

I might also say that the suggestion has been made by the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Stimmel, that perhaps a system could be arranged whereby, in addition to signing the name, the Member could put his seat number on each bill. Of course, if he cannot sign his name legibly, perhaps he cannot print his seat number legibly either. This is something, of course, that can be considered, both the name and the seat number.

The SPEAKER. Will you look it up and see whether there are objections to using the back of the bill for the sponsors? That is what the Chair had in mind, that maybe it is possible. Maybe it is not a feasible thing. I would ask the Chief Clerk and the two Floor Leaders to investigate and see whether there is anything in the idea, whether it is workable and whether it is worthwhile doing. We ask the Chief Clerk and the two Floor Leaders to see whether something can be done to make it easier for the Members to sign their bills in legible fashion.

COMMITTEE MEMBER APPOINTED

The SPEAKER: The Speaker appoints the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Muldowney, to replace the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen (resigned), as a member of the Committee on Rules.

STATEMENT BY THE SPEAKER

The Speaker. Various legislative proposals relating to retirement are now pending in committee. It is quite likely that other proposals will be introduced.

Retirement legislation calls for careful consideration and coordination.

If there are now retirement proposals pending in any committee of the House other than the Appropriations Committee, we suggest that they be reported and be recommitted to that committee.

At previous sessions of the General Assembly during recent years, all retirement legislation has been referred to a special advisory committee, which worked in cooperation with the Appropriations Committee chairman.

The Chair desires to re-instate that committee and, unless there are objections upon the part of the House, hereby appoints the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Mihm; the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen; the gentleman from Northumberland, Mr. Bower, and the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Wood.

The duty of this committee will be to study all retirement bills in the House or sent by the Senate to the House for concurrence and to report and make current recommendations to the committee on rules.

SPEAKER APPOINTS COMMITTEE

The Speaker. In accordance with the provisions of Senate Concurrent Resolution Serial No. 102, adopted by the Senate on Monday, January 23, 1961, and concurred in by the House on Wednesday, January 25, 1961, the chair appoints as a select committee on the part of the House in commemoration of Lincoln's visit to the General Assembly February 22, 1861, the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann; the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Agnew, and the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Taylor.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, on your announcement regarding the retirement committee, was it not Mr. Mihm of Allegheny, Mr. Bower of Northumberland, Mr. Polen of Washington, and Mr. Wood of Lancaster?

The SPEAKER. That is correct.

Mr. McCANN. Two and two.

The SPEAKER. That is correct.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. TOMASCIK. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do not adjourn until Monday, February 6, 1961 at 3:30 p.m. EST.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 12:35 a.m., EST), the House adjourned.

Vol. 38. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1961. No. 15.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, February 6, 1961

The House met at 3:30 p.m. EST.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

Eternal Father, Thou Who are timeless but ever shows an interest and concern in all associations of mankind; as servants of Thine and heirs of Thy eternal kingdom, we humbly bow before Thee in this hour. We pray that as Thou didst create us in Thy image, and sustained us by Thy everlasting presence, that Thou wilt also continually lead and direct us in always producing a fruitful experience in the lives of our fellowmen. O Father, enrich us that the self-growing seed may be so productive in our lives too, that we may continually grow in grace and walk worthy of the high calling which is ours: through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the approval of the Journal for Wednesday, February 1, 1961 will be postponed until printed.

The Chair hears none.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. BRETH and McCANN. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 24.

In the House of Representatives, February 1, 1961.

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is presently facing one of the most critical periods in its history. The decline of certain of our basic industries, combined with increased automation and a general recession throughout industry have brought about critical unemployment, particularly in certain areas. This mass unemployment has imposed severe hardship and suffering upon countless numbers of our fellow citizens, and has rendered their very existance perilous.

Thousands of our men living in depressed areas are anxious and able to work, if only they are given the opportunity to do so; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby declares its intent to do everything within its power to remedy this severe unmployment problem, and with that objective in mind; and be it further

Resolved, That all agencies of Federal, State and local government, anyone holding contracts with such agencies, and all other persons in any way connected with the building of highways, flood control projects or any other projects in the distressed areas of our Commonwealth, are hereby urgently requested to exclusively utilize local labor and materials, unless otherwise restricted by law; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the Governor of this Commonwealth, the Secretary of Property and Supplies, the Secretary of Highways, the Secretary of Forests and Waters, the Secretary of Mines and Mineral Industries, the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission, the General State Authority, the State Public School Building Authority, the State Highway and Bridge Authority, the Fish and Game Commissions, and such other agencies and authorities within the Commonwealth which in any way purchase, use or contract for labor or materials; and be it further

Resolved, That all public officials at all levels consider this urgent request of the General Assembly and stranuously endeavor to cooperate with it and make its request known to all concerned especially those with whom they do business.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

BILL SIGNED BY SPEAKER

Bill numbered and entitled as follows having been prepared for presentation to the Secretary of the Commonwealth and the same being correct, the titles was publicly read as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 2.

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article three section sixteen of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania authorizing cash refunds without appropriation in certain cases.

Whereupon,

The SPEAKER, in the presence of the House, signed the same.

SENATE MESSAGE

CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE RESOLUTION

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 31, 1961.

Whereas, The Honorable Baker Royer is this day retiring as Chairman of the Joint State Government Commission which he has served with dedication and distinction as Chairman since June, 1949. Prior to becoming Chairman of the Commission, he served as its Vice Chairman for two years. The Honorable Baker Royer was first elected to the House of Representatives on April 28, 1936, and has served continously since that time. In 1943-1945, he served as Chairman of the Commission's Committee on Distribution of State Funds, from 1945 to 1949 as Vice Chairman of the Commission's Committee on State-Local Highway Financing and from 1947 to 1949 as a member of the Subcommittee on the Legislative Journal; and

Whereas, During Representative Royer's term of office, the Commission has continually increased its capacity to serve the General Assembly in the development of facts and recommendations on all phases of government. Under his guidance, the Commission has made many important studies, the results of which may be found upon the statute books of the Commonwealth, which, to mention but a few, include the School Code, the School Health

Program, the Liquor Code, the Mental Health Code, the Landlord and Tenant Act, Decedents' Estate Laws, the Vehicle Code, the State and School Employes' Retirement Codes. It was through the Commission's investigation and study of public assistance and blind pensions that the Commonwealth secured Federal participation in blind pensions to the extent of 6 million dollars per biennium. The Commission's influence among other states throughout America has grown and its reports are eagerly sought throughout the World; and

Whereas, Representative Royer has served as a member of the Executive Committee of the National Legislative Conference; Now, Therefore, Be It

Resolved (the Senate concurring) That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania acknowledges its debt to the Honorable Baker Royer for his service to the Joint State Government Commission and to this Commonwealth and expresses its sincere appreciation for his long years of devotion to duty.

The four sponsors will not appear upon the bill that is on the Members' desks, but it will appear on the calendar and on the official bill upon which the House acts. Additional sponsors can be added.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY MAJORITY LEADER

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to insert into the record of this House that the Pennsylvania Railroad train that arrives here in Harrisburg normally at 3:31—number one, that the train was one hour late; number 2, that same train is broken down in a place called Lancaster, Pennsylvania, and evidently will not arrive here today, to the best of my knowledge, and there are House Members on that train. So the record will show clearly we got a telephone call and I guess it will get here some time today.

The SPEAKER. He ought to give thanks the train ever started.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, could we not send the State Police after them? They seem to do a pretty good job at times.

MOTION TO TAKE AMENDMENTS TO RULES 46 AND 48 FROM TABLE

Mr. McCANN Mr. Speaker, I move that the proposed amendments to Rule 46 and Rule 48 be taken from the table.

The motion was agreed to.

The amendments to Rule 46 were read by the Clerk as follows:

RULE 46

FIRST READING BILLS

Rule 46 which reads

"Bills shall be read the first time in their order on the calendar

They shall be considered without debate Amendments shall not be proposed nor is any other motion in order on first reading" is hereby amended by substituting therefor the following

"Bills reported from committees as amended shall be read the first time in their order on the calendar Bills reported from committees as committed shall be read for the first time if in print when reported They shall be considered without debate Amendments shall not be proposed nor is any other motion in order on first reading"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. McCANN offered the following amendment to the amendments:

Amend the amendment to Rule 46 by inserting in line 4, after the word "reported," the following:

"unless there be objection."

On the question,

Will the House adopt the amendment to the amendments?

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I just wanted to understand that amendment amending the present amendment.

Could that be read in context?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I will ask the Members to take their House History, turn to page 83. In the right-hand paragraph you will find resolutions proposing amendments to House Rules 46 and 48.

Now then, the amendment that has been offered, if it is read again, falls on the words, down in the second paragraph, "unless there be objection," which is the proposed amendment that will be written in that paragraph. This would make it so that everybody would have it complete, Mr. Speaker, in their hands.

The SPEAKER. The bills will be read unless there is objection. If there was objection it would be necessary to obtain the permission of the House.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the amendment to the amendments?

One hundred and sixty-nine Members having voted in the affirmative and twelve in the negative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the amendment to the amendments to rule 46 was adopted.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, just for the purpose of the record, I want to indicate that Robert P. Johnson from Montgomery County was not present and voting on that because of his inability to get here because of transportation trouble.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman state the name again?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Robert P. Johnson, Montgomery County.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, would he, by any chance, be on that Pennsylvania Railroad Special from Philadelphia?

Mr. TOMPKINS. We do not think so.

The amendment to rule 48 was read by the Clerk as follows:

RULE 48

THIRD READING BILLS

Rule 48 is hereby amended by striking out paragraph 2 which reads

"Amendments on third reading may not be considered except by a majority vote of the Members elected"

and inserting in lieu thereof the following

"Any member may move to amend a bill during its third reading"

On the question,

Will the House adopt the amendment to rule 48?

One hundred and seventy-two Members having voted in the affirmative and two in the negative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the amendment was adopted.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 4 of today's calendar, House Bill No. 127.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 127, entitled:

An Act amending the "Optional Third Class City Chapter Law" approved July 15, 1957 (P. L. 901) providing for the compensation of the controller and the treasurer.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, House bill No. 127 is the only bill that will be voted on here today in the legislative session. It is my understanding that all the third class cities involved, four of them, are in favor of this bill, the League of Cities is in favor of it and the Local Government Commission people are in favor of it. Therefore, I believe it will be an affirmative vote. It is a non-controversial bill.

I ask that all of the Members vote in the affirmative.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

INTERROGATION

Mr. DONALDSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to interrogate Mr. McCANN.

Mr. DONALDSON. Mr. Speaker, I wonder if the Majority Leader's recollection goes back to the 1959 session when we had before us the bill that the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein, so often spoke about, Senate bill No. 309, the legislative payroll bill. You recall that we were considering that bill, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. McCANN. I do. Senate bill No. 309 was the legislative empolye's salary and position bill.

Mr. DONALDSON. Does the Majority Leader recall that during the debate on this bill in this House the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Wilt, and myself sponsored the payroll disclosure amendments?

Mr. McCANN. Yes, Mr. Speaker. I am not sure who sponsored the bill, but the amendments were agreed to, dealing with the Chief Clerk of this House listing the employes of this House. If you say you sponsored them, that is correct.

Mr. DONALDSON. Will the Majority Leader agree that the general tenor of those amendments as submitted in the House was that the Chief Clerk of the House and of the Senate would submit annually to the membership a list of the employes their home addresses, the amounts of of money earned by them and that sort of thing?

Mr. McCANN. I believe their salaries, their home counties and their names, that is correct. You say the amount of money they earned. I do not know that that was the actual statement at that time.

Mr. DONALDSON. I am not certain either. But does the Majority Leader recall that when the bill went to the Conference Committee the amendment was further amended so that as it was finally enacted into law we have provision that the Chief Clerk of the House and of the Senate shall submit annually to the membership a list of the empoyes?

Mr. McCANN. That is correct, sir.

Mr. DONALDSON. Does the Majority Leader agree with me that under the law that list will be submitted annually on or before the first day of February in each year?

Mr. McCANN. As of the first of Feruary, that is right.

Mr. DONALDSON. Will the Majority Leader tell me if that list has been submitted?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I wish to inform the Member that as of the first day of February, yes, sir, it will be mimeographed and distributed to all the Members of this House.

That is in regard to the Chief Clerk of this House. I cannot answer about the Senate.

Mr. DONALDSON. I understand that. My only point is that the act says that it shall be compiled annually on or prior to the first day of—

The SPEAKER. The Chair would like to intervene and ask whether that report was not sent out last week to the Members and whether it is not now posted in the Chief Clerk's office?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, that is so, but I am just wondering if he has one. He is asking the questions.

Mr. DONALDSON. I did not get mine, Mr. Speaker, and the Minority Leader informs me that he did not get his. That is the reason for this interrogation.

Mr. McCANN. May I inform every Member of this House that the Chief Clerk has mailed same to your address and posted same in the Chief Clerk's office as of the first day of February, in compliance with that law.

Mr. DONALDSON. I am delighted to hear that, Mr. Speaker. I did not get my copy, that is the reason for this interrogation. If we are in compliance with the act, I am completely satisfied.

The SPEAKER. A list of the employes is avaible to the Members by calling the Chief Clerk's office, if they fail to receive them at their homes.

Mr. DONALDSON. Mr. Speaker, may I make this final comment on this general subject?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman has the floor.

Mr. DONALDSON. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Because I did not get mine, does the list give us simply a list of names?

Mr. McCANN. Some of the Members have them here. Shall we bring you a copy?

Mr. DONALDSON. The gentleman can tell me that, I think. I will meet you half way.

Mr. McCANN. The one from the Senate of Pennsylvania prepared by Dennis J. Mulvihill, Chief Clerk, lists the names alphabetically on two pieces of paper, page two and page three. On the House list, prepared by Mr. Ominsky as of January 31, 1961, are all the names on three pieces of paper.

Mr. DONALDSON. Just the names?

Mr. McCANN. The names.

Mr. DONALDSON. I agree with the Majority Leader that that is complying with the act that is on the statute books today, but would the Majority Leader agree with me that, in the sense of the amendment that this House adopted, that it would be a good idea for the Chief Clerk of the House, at least, to not only list the names of the employes, but to list their home counties, job classifications and salaries?

Mr. McCANN. That is not in the act, but I am certain that the Chief Clerk will furnish you with all the material you want. If you want to place it into that position by law, we have no objection, because there are going to be amendments to the existing Senate bill 309.

I do honestly believe that it should be name, county and salary title. We have people here on per diem at eight dollars, pages seven dollars, ten dollars, twelve dollars, and some are salaried positions. In the House the greatest number of our employes are per diem; in the Senate the greatest number are salaried. There is a difference in the two bodies, but I am sure we can work it out as all the records are open for anybody to check at any time, because at all times the Auditor General has furnished to various people the complete payroll of this House month by month for whatever purpose they want to use it.

Mr. DONALDSON. I will not belabor the point. I am glad we are in compliance with the act. It is my personal thinking that we could go beyond the purview of the act and that as Members of the House we are entitled not only on request, but as of right, to a list, not only of the employes, but their home counties, so they can be identified, their job classifications and the amount of compensation paid to them. I would be happy to have the Majority Leader consider that when he proposes whatever amendments to the legislative payroll are contemplated.

Mr. McCANN. Such requests will be considered.

Mr. DONALDSON. I thank the Mapority Leader and the Chair.

The SPEAKER. The Chair mgiht be pardoned for the observation that there are a lot of the employes of the House who are not overpaid, they are underpaid, just as the Members of this House are underpaid.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, is that the first pitch for the salary bill?

The SPEAKER. It was not a pitch for anything; it is a recognition of a fact.

Since you have asked the question, do you know that there is not a single committee of this House that has any technical assistance except the Appropriations Committee? We have committees handling technical questions. The departments have their technicians; the executives have their technicians; but the major committees of this House just have to go on their own as laymen. No. provision is made for technical help. Every major committee of this House should be authorized to fortify itself with technical assistants that cope with the technical assistants in the front office and the technical assistants employed by the various departments.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to announce for the information of the Members that the Joint Senate-House Appropriations Committee hearings will convene at 7:30 tonight with the Department of Property and Supplies.

At 9:00 a.m. tomorrow we will resume with the Department of Mines and continue with other departments during the day.

STATEMENT BY MINORITY LEADER

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I wish to announce at this time that the Republican legislative program has been approved by our caucus and is ready to be announced. I will ask the indulgence of the House at some time during tomorrow's session to announce as briefly as I can—I think it can be done in six or eight or ten minutes—the provisions of the program. I am sure the Majority Leader and his Members will await the provisions of our legislative program with bated breath, and this will be announced at the session tomorrow, with my remarks gaining the unanimous consent of the House.

For the benefit of the Members of the House, because of the extreme pressure applied by the representatives of the public Press, the program is being prepared in print and will be distributed to the representatives of the public Press sometime within the next hour or two. It is possible you may read about it in one of the newspapers in the Commonwealth before I have a chance to discuss it with you tomorrow on the floor of the House. If the Members of the Majority can wait until then, and I know you are all vitally interested in this, we will announce our Republican House legislative program at that time.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I, of course, have been informed by Republican Floor Leader, Mr. Agnew, that the Republican Members of the House would have a legislative program. I have not seen nor discussed any parts of it, but I assume they have taken a program which they will outline here, in which they will provide the revenue for those measures that take revenue and pay for the programs they believe should be the proper programs, and that they will provide the necessary votes to enact such programs.

I assure them that we will accept and listen with keen interest to this program, which evidently you have released to the newspapers today and will release to the membership tomorrow. There is no question but that we will read about it tonight. I assume that the evening or the night papers will publish a portion or all of that program. We will debate that situation tomorrow when we have the program before us.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I do want to point out that the only reason I am not announcing the program today is that I do not now have it in print. It is a physical matter. I would not be able to comply with the 5:30 closing deadline if I did, and that is why it will be released to the newspapers later tonight and will be announced publicly on the floor tomorrow.

If the Majority Leader desires to debate any part of the program tomorrow that will be fine. If he thinks he can get any information from me on it before I announce it tomorrow on the floor, then he is mistaken. He can surmise, he can engage in conjecture all he wants to, but he will have to wait until tomorrow to hear it, just like everybody else.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Sullivan, Mr. Lee.

Mr. K. B. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I would like permission for two additional sponsors on one bill and one additional sponsor on another.

The SPEAKER. How many sponsors does the gentleman have now?

Mr. K. B. LEE. I have four on each bill, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. That is permissible under the rule. Is it six the gentleman wants to put on?

If it is six the Chair will hold that is not compatible with the rule.

Mr. K. B. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I request six on one bill and five on the other bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would hold that it is time to get a defintion of the position of the House. The Chair holds that under the rules, four Members can be listed as sponsors. Anything over that is contrary to the rule and if the rule is to be suspended a motion to that effect should be made.

Mr. AGNEW. I will make such a motion, Mr. Speaker. I move that the rule be suspended so the gentleman from Sullivan can add additional sponsors to the bill, six on one bill and five on the other.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Whereupon, a division was called for.

A majority of the Members elected having voted in the affirmative, the rule was suspended.

The SPEAKER. The House has given an overwhelming repudiation of its own rule.

For what purpose does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sherman, rise?

Mr. SHERMAN. May I have my vote recorded as "Aye"?

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, sometime last week or perhaps the week before, both caucuses were instructed to discuss this matter and to report to the floor of the House. We have been waiting for the Majority to discuss their decision on this matter. We can do it publicly now, or, if they do not have a decision, we can wait until next week. We are agreeable to abide by the rule. We understood there was to be a decision made by each caucus. We discussed it in our caucus. We have our decision. We recognize the fact that we are in the Minority in this House and we are awaiting the pleasure of the Majority as to what their decision in this matter is.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, we did discuss this in our caucus last week and the final decision of the caucus was to leave the present rule as it exists, four sponsors without asking, unanimous consent for additional sponsors, but to try to hold down to a very bare binimum the number of requests for additional sponsors that would be in this House. The opinion of our caucus was that such a rule is not broken too many times. This was the decision of our caucus.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, do I understand that the Majority recommends that no change be made in the rule or in our procedure under the rule?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, that was the wish of our caucus at that time.

Mr. AGNEW. We bow to the wishes of the Majority.

The SPEAKER. Does the Majority Leader have any further business to bring before the House?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to take this opportunity to say, if I may, for tomorrow's session there are a considerable number of committee meetings that will be held in the morning. I am sure we will be done in the House at a fairly decent hour early tomorrow afternoon. Again I repeat, the House will not adjourn, but the membership will be able to go home as they have planned on Tuesday on whatever schedule of transportation they may have planned. The House will be in recess until some hour in the evening or night in which certain revenue-raising measures will be signed by the Speaker to go on to the Governor following their adoption and approval in the Senate.

Mr. AGNEW, Mr. Speaker, we trust the Majority Leader is not counting his chickens before they are hatched in the other Chamber.

I would like to announce that I will request, after the preliminary business of the House is disposed of tomorrow, to have a Republican House caucus, briefly, sometime about a half hour after we get started. I would like the Majority Leader to know now that I will make such a request at that time.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I missed that—tomorrow after the House convenes?

Mr. AGNEW. After our preliminary business is disposed of and before we get onto the third reading calendar, we would like to have a Republican caucus for no more than a half hour.

Mr. McCANN. Thank you, Mr. Speaker, I do understand now. Before we vote on any bills tomorrow there will be a Republican caucus for approximately thirty minutes.

Mr. AGNEW, Yes.

Mr. McCANN. This will change the time table plans somewhat, but not too much, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Are there any caucuses following this meeting?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, there will be a Democratic caucus in the New House Caucus Room immediately after we complete our business for the day.

Mr. AGNEW. The Republicans will be unable to hold their caucus at this time today this week only. That is why we will request the caucus tomorrow.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. EILBERG asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, there are about a dozen Philadelphia Members who arrived within the last fifteen or twenty minutes whose names did not appear on the roll call, and I would like it to be spread on the record that there was such an absence.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman will be spread upon the record and if he wants to furnish us a list of those who were unable to get here because of the breakdown in communications, it can be handed to the Chief Clerk and be recorded in the Journal.

The following names were submitted by Mr. Eilberg:

Anderson, S. A.	Gray	Rubin
Capitolo	Limper	Shelton
Cianfrani	McKeever	Sherman
Doughten	Perry	Sullivan, J. A.
Gelfand

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. COOLEY. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Tuesday, February 7, 1961, at 11:00 a.m. EST.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 5:34 p.m. EST), the House adjourned.

Session 1961. 145th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 38. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1961. No. 16.

SENATE

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1961.

The Senate met at 7:00 p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. DONALD DOUDS, Pastor of The First Presbyterian Church, Erie, offered the following prayer:

May we pray?

Eternal God, who led our Fathers to this land and who inspired their ideals of freedom and democracy, we pray that Thou wilt lead and inspire us that we may be true to the faith and the high ideals of our fathers.

We thank Thee for our Country, for our abundance, our liberty, our high heritage and, especially, for our Commonwealth. Wilt thou keep us worthy of our many blessings? Give us the spirit of responsibility, to use our freedom and our resources not for selfish purposes, but for Thy purposes and for the good of all.

Grant now the presence of Thy Holy Spirit here this night, to lead this Senate. Give to each Senator patience to work through unending, complex problems; wisdom, to balance fairly conflicting needs and interests; purity of heart, to know what is just and best for all; good will, to work together cooperatively with his fellows; strength, to make difficult decisions; and courage, to stand above all for what is right.

So guide these servants of the people that the laws they enact may never be burdensome, but always constructive and productive. Give to them a love of simplicity, that the government which they devise may never grow oppressive, but always free the people more fully. Keep uppermost in all the desire to serve all the people, including the generations yet to come.

Bless now this Senate with Thy guidance and Thy help in every way. This we pray in Thy Holy Name, and that Thy Kingdom may more fully come on earth. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. WEINER and Mr. SILVERT, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

He also returned to the Senate, SB 40, with the information that the House has passed the same without amendments.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, may we revert to the order of business of Leave of Absence?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair hears no objection. The gentleman may proceed.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I request leave of absence for my colleague, Senator Wade.

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection, the leave is granted.

At this time, the Chair turns the gavel over to the gentleman from Centre County, Senator Hays.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Jo Hays) in the Chair.

GUESTS OF SENATOR WILLIAM G. SESLER PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. SESLER. Mr. President, I would like to present to the Senate at this time the Reverend Jessie McFarland and some guests of his who have journeyed from Erie to be with us tonight. Reverend McFarland is President of the Erie Chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. He has worked greatly and diligently in Erie to promote the cause of civic relations. In this, he is greatly respected for the work he has done for his Chapter.

I would, therefore, like to introduce Reverend McFarland and his guests to the Senate at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the guests please rise?

On behalf of the entire Senate, the Chair is happy to welcome Reverend McFarland and his group.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. MAHADY presented to the Chair SB 156, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 22, 1931 (P. L. 594), entitled "Rural State Highway Law," adding a new route in Westmoreland County.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

Messrs. MAHADY and MULLIN presented to the Chair SB 157, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 20, 1919 (P. L. 521), entitled, as amended, "Transfer Inheritance Tax Law," changing the tax rate on property transferred to brothers or sisters.

Which was committed to the Committee on Finance.

They also presented to the Chair SB 158, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 10, 1867 (P. L. 62), entitled "An act for the better and more impartial selection of persons to serve as jurors, in each of the counties of this Commonwealth," requiring the selection of jurors to be made from a receptacle containing the names of all qualified electors.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

They also presented to the Chair SB 159, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 14, 1834 (P. L. 333), entitled "An act relative to the organization of the Courts of Justice," requiring certain jurors excused in one term of court to be enrolled for jury duty at the next term of court.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BELL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, in the public press recently, my associate, Senator Ware, from Chester County, and I have read where the General State Authority has authorized $2,000,000 of General State Authority money, which is tax money, to be expended for a mansion for the Governor. We feel this is too much. We feel this money, whether it is General State Authority money or General Fund money,—it all comes from the taxpayer's pocket—should be better spent for worthier purposes.

Therefore, Mr. President, on behalf of Senator Ware and myself, I am about to present to the Chair a bill to reduce the amount to be spent to $100,000, which we feel is plenty of money.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. BELL and WARE presented to the Chair SB 160, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 31, 1949 (P. L. 372), entitled "The General State Authority Act of 1949," limiting the cost of the official residence of the Governor.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, for many years we have neglected, to a certain degree, the value of historical preservation in Pennsylvania. Time and again, I pointed out how many colonial buildings have been demolished in Philadelphia and elsewhere. We have tried to cope with the situation and, recently, we noticed considerable improvement.

Now on the eve of the Centennial of the Civil War, there will be many historical bills. Therefore, it is of paramount importance that a new committee be created in the Senate which will specifically deal with this kind of legislation.

For this reason, Mr. President, on behalf of many of my colleagues, I am about to offer a resolution which will amend the rules of the Senate by creating a twenty-third committee, to be known as the Committee on Historical Preservation.

SENATE RESOLUTION

AMENDING SENATE RULE 23

Messrs. STIEFEL, LANE, KALMAN, SILVERT, MURRAY, HAYS, MAHADY and SHAFER offered the following resolution (Serial No. 10), which was read as follows:

In the Senate, February 7, 1961.

RESOLVED, That the Rules of the Senate be amended by striking out Rule 23 and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

Standing Committees

23. There shall be the following Standing Committees:

1. Agriculture consisting of 18 Senators.
2. Appropriations consisting of 23 Senators.
3. Banking consisting of 19 Senators.
4. Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations consisting of 17 Senators.
5. Corporations consisting of 18 Senators.
6. Education consisting of 19 Senators.
7. Elections consisting of 17 Senators.
8. Executive Nominations consisting of 10 Senators.
9. Finance consisting of 17 Senators.
10. Forests and Waters, Game and Fish consisting of 17 Senators.
11. Highways consisting of 24 Senators.
12. Insurance consisting of 17 Senators.
13. Judiciary General consisting of 24 Senators.
14. Labor and Industry consisting of 18 Senators.
15. Law and Order consisting of 17 Senators.
16. Local Government consisting of 18 Senators.
17. Military Affairs and Aeronautics consisting of 17 Senators.
18. Mines and Mineral Industries consisting of 17 Senators.
19. Public Health and Welfare consisting of 18 Senators.
20. Reapportionment consisting of 12 Senators.
21. Rules consisting of 9 Senators.
22. State Government consisting of 18 Senators.
23. Historical Preservation consisting of 17 Senators.

The President pro tempore shall be ex officio a member of all Standing Committees and included in the number of committee members herein provided.

The members and the Chairman of the said Standing Committee shall be appointed by the President pro tempore as soon after his election as possible. All vacancies occurring in said committees by resignation or otherwise shall be filled by the President pro tempore.

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of this resolution.

On the question,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

The resolution was adopted.

STATEMENT BY THE CHAIR

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair would like to call the attention of our visitors to the fact that we would like the Sergeant-at-Arms to find chairs for all the visitors. At least, the Chair requests that the guests do not lean upon the railings. We would prefer if you would find chairs and be seated.

Thank you very much.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

SENATE RESOLUTION

AMENDING SENATE RULES 46 AND 49

Mr. LANE offered the following resolution (Serial No. 11), which was read as follows:

In the Senate, February 7, 1961.

RESOLVED, That the Rules of the Senate be amended as follows:

Rule 46, which reads: "All bills when introduced in the Senate shall be numbered consecutively, and printed on pink paper. A weekly History showing the status of all bills shall be prepared by the Secretary of the Senate" is hereby amended by substituting the following:

"All bills when introduced in the Senate shall be numbered consecutively and printed on white paper and a printer's number assigned thereto. All bills reported or re-reported from committee, if amended, shall be printed on white paper and a new printer's number assigned thereto. A weekly History showing the status of all bills, resolutions and executive nominations shall be prepared under the direction of the Secretary of the Senate."

and be it further

RESOLVED, that the Rules of the Senate be further amended by striking out Rule 49.

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of this resolution.

On the question,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

The resolution was adopted.

RECONSIDERATION OF SB 53

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill No. 53, Printer's No. 143, failed of final passage on February 1, 1961.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I ask that Senate Bill No. 53, Printer's No. 143, appear on tomorrow's Final Passage Calendar.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair hears no objection. The bill will appear on tomorrow's Calendar, on Final Passage.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, may we be at ease just a moment?

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

GUESTS OF SENATOR CHARLES R. WEINER PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, while we are at ease, I would like to take this opportunity to introduce the Pennsylvania Association of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks in the world, being led by a member from Philadelphia and a former Judge in Philadelphia, Judge Amos Harris.

The PRESIDENT. Will the guests please stand and be recognized?

CALENDAR

HB 90 CALLED UP OUT OF ORDER

HB 90—Without objection, the bill was called up out of order, from page 3 of the Third Reading Calendar, by Mr. WEINER.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE AMENDMENTS OFFERED

HB 90—Read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. BERGER, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendments:

Amend Title, page 2, last 2 lines of Title, by striking out "and eliminating the temporary tax."

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 4), page 2, line 5, by striking out "seven cents ($.07) and inserting: "four cents ($.04)".

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 4), page 4, line 1, by striking out the bracket before "In".

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 4), page 4, line 7, by inserting a bracket before "sixty-one".

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 4), page 4, line 7, by inserting after "sixty-one]": "sixty-three."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, in the event that all of the Members of the Senate might not have understood the tenor of the amendments which I have just offered, they will provide for a four cent permanent tax on gasoline and a two cent temporary tax, running for the next two years.

Mr. President, if I understood it correctly,—and I understand there is some question as to whether the statement that was made in the hearing downstairs was entirely correct—the proposal to increase the gasoline tax by two cents making it a permanent seven cent tax provided that of the two cents additional,—although the bill did not provide it—the explanation was that the need for one of the cents was to amortize the borrowing which would be authorized by a later bill by the Highway and Bridge Authority, and that of the seven cents, twenty per cent thereof would be distributed to the municipal subdivisions.

Mr. President, that would leave only eight-tenths of a cent for the use of the Highways Department, although I can readily understand that the borrowing, being limited to $50,000,000 per year under the bill providing for the increase in the borrowing, would not immediately result in the absorption of the sixth cent of tax. However, run of to its ultimate conclusion, when the Commonwealth has issued if they are so authorized, $300,000,000 in bonds, then I would assume—and I believe correctly—that debt service would absorb the additional cent.

Now the only result, Mr. President, would be that if the Highways Department actually needs the additional cent, plus eight-tenths of a cent, with that additional cent being absorbed by debt service, it will not be available for maintenance or construction, but will be devoted entirely for debt service.

I apologize, Mr. President, for bringing in another bill, but it is necessary in order to explain these amendments.

These amendments would provide for the Highways Department, by adding one cent to the total tax, which is presently five cents,—that is, four cents permanent and two cents temporary—a full one cent which could be devoted to construction and maintenance by the Highways Department.

Mr. President, I believe these amendments are more realistic actually than providing the tax which would be absorbed by debt service in anticipation of Federal grants.

Therefore, Mr. President, I would suggest to the Senate that these amendments be supported.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe the gentleman may have neglected to mention that also under his amendments,—and I am sure this was an oversight on his part—he is taking out the date of 1961 and terminating this in 1963.

What he states as far as he goes is correct. However, I think it should be pointed out that by adding additional money to our program,—and I think it should be very clearly stated that this money is being strictly earmarked for highway purposes and it cannot be used for any purposes other than highway purposes—we are not only building highways and also making other areas available for people to live in, but we are also providing for those areas where people are unemployed. In Pennsylvania, where we produce a great deal of the cement, a great deal of the iron and steel and the other necessary materials that go into the building of highways and the adjuncts to this program, it is essential that we have this money to do the job that is so badly needed.

By setting up this program whereby we can only utilize $50,000,000 a year in bonds and by putting it on a permanent basis, we are putting ourselves in a better position to borrow money. For example, If I were to go into a bank or anyone were going into a bank to borrow money, and it was done on the basis of having a temporary job,—this job could expire at anytime—their position with that bank would certainly be a lot weaker than someone who went in and said they had a permanent position, earning a permanent salary which people could depend upon.

The world of stocks and bonds is a very realistic one and a very hard world. They look at these situations before they underwrite any of these bond issues to determine exactly what you are going to be able to do and what you are able to recommend to them.

It might very well be that some legislature, two, three, four or six years from now, could come along and undo these acts. However, they can only do it to the extent of the bonds that have been issued. I will say it the other way: They can do it only to the extent of the bonds that have been unissued, because the Legislature could not abrogate a contract under our Constitution which had already been entered into by the Commonwealth.

When you realize the type of program we are setting forth, when you realize the areas that we want to go into, and when you realize there are many areas in the State where we could have vast building programs except for the lack of highways and the lack of communication, you will realize at once that even the program we are setting up here is a rather puny one.

Might I also point out, in speaking against these amendments, that all of the States surrounding us —and I can enumerate them for you, if you would like; such as Ohio, West Virginia and Virginia—have an eleven cent tax. New York has ten cents. We have nine cents at the moment. Governor Meyner, in New Jersey, has nine cents. He has recommended that they go up at least one or two pennies, and he is asking them to earmark this for highways. In New Jersey, they do not have the same type of setup as we do. They can use the money as they see fit in their general fund. Our money is earmarked for the Motor Fund only.

I, therefore, would state that perhaps what the gentleman is suggesting might be all right if we lived in normal times and at a normal pace. However, this is not the condition in which we find ourselves in this State. We find ourselves with large surplus areas. We find ourselves with able-bodied men sitting about unable to do any work while the woman in the household is not only the breadwinner, but the wife and mother as well. I think this is a bad situation. I think this is the kind of situation we can correct and this is one of the steps in that direction.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I agree wholeheartedly with the latter part of the Majority Leader's statement. Again, I must bring in discussion of the proposed increase in borrowing power in connection with these amendments because they are keyed in together.

True enough, the temporary two cents does expire in 1963. Let me call the attention of the Senate to the fact that we are now on an Annual Session basis by an amendment to the Constitution, at which Session taxes and fiscal matters can be considered. However, this temporary running to 1963 is keyed into another amendment which I have to House Bill No. 100, providing for the increased borrowing power of the General State Authority, by which that would be reduced to $100,000,000 for a two-year period.

Now then if it is necessary in anticipation of the Federal grants-in-aid, under the Interstate Highway System, that more moneys be put up, we will be in a position to authorize that as we go along. The present proposal is that we authorize it for six years to the extent of $300,000,000, and that, of course, is what would absorb one cent of the gas tax.

Mr. President, I want to point out something to the Senate that I believe is well known, but might not be considered in this connection. True enough, we want to provide all possible alleviation of unemployment in distressed areas in Pennsylvania. The Federal Interstate Program is one method whereby that can be done. That is very true. However, Mr. President, unless I am badly mistaken regarding the intent of the new Administration in Washington, from what I have read in the papers, one of the things that will be immediately considered is an acceleration of that Federal Interstate Program. Consequently, there would be no reason then for Pennsylvania to anticipate the moneys which are coming from the Federal Government because if the logical and probable thing is done, there will be moneys available without the State of Pennsylvania providing bonds and paying interest on the money that we are going to get from the Federal Government.

I believe that will be done. However, in order to make assurance doubly sure, Mr. President, we are still willing and recommend that the borrowing power of the General State Authority be placed at an additional $100,000,000, of which $50,000,000 could be provided for in the next two years. Then, as we will always be back here in Annual Session, we will be able to meet the situation and the emergency, should it continue.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, one of the things I would like to point out is that, unfortunately, the Congress, meeting in Washington, is not keyed in to the Legislature meeting in Pennsylvania and many of the other States. There is a lag there between the time when you possibly get the money and the time when you can act on it. Suppose during this lag period we terminate our Session, as we have ambitions and hopes of doing, in the early summer of the late spring, and the Congress in Washington goes on through September and appropriates these additional funds.

As you well know, those who are there first get their share first as the program is set up,—as the formula or formulae is set up—and we may be at the end of the line for participation in this. I do not think that we, with 11,000,000 people in our State, can afford this lag. I think that we have the power. I think in a sense we have the economic durability. I think this only means the entire tax, to the average taxpayer in the State of Pennsylvania, will come out to about twenty to thirty dollars.

Suppose that we did not enact the tax program. Suppose we said to all of the citizens of our State that there are people in our State who are unfortunate and unable to earn a livelihood; who are able-bodied, who know a trade, but that trade has long since been either outmoded because of automation or it no longer exists because the industry has passed out of existence. I do not think there would be anyone in this State, who could afford it, who would not participate in helping these poor, unfortunate people.

Here we get a double bite at the apple, as it were. We not only get to help these people, but we also get highways besides. As they say on television: "You can't hardly get that anymore." I think this would be an opportunity not only to help the people who need it, but also to help the highway program.

To try to cut down or minimize this type of program, I think is selling short the people in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania when they need help.

Suppose we followed through with what the Minority Leader has suggested here this evening, and we found that we did not need this program or we have advanced it too far. In a year or two, the Legislature, in its wisdom, can decide to cut out this program or drop it off, or decide to cut back on it. We are only expending—and the amount is set as a ceiling, not as a floor—$50,000,000 a year, which is very small when you talk about a total program or when you talk about the highways we are planning to bulid.

If the Legislature, in its wisdom, decides not to go on with this program or there is no need for it, or there is automation or technical advances are made where this is longer necessary, I am sure they will cut back this program. However, I think to stunt its growth from the start is doing a disservice not only to the people of Pennsylvania, but to the program itself.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, if there were any possibility of denying to any person in Pennsylvania employment which is needed or to deny employment to any distressed area where some pump-priming is necessary by use of the Federal Interstate funds, certainly we would be the last to oppose this proposed two cent increase.

However, under the amendments which I proposed, not a possibility of that sort of thing is able to occur. We have provided for the borrowing of $50,000,000 a year, to the extent of $100,000,000. The absorption of tax money will not become necessary until after the first issue of those bonds and the first quarter's interest is payable on them, and we will be back here, Mr. President, to provide for that. If it is shown to be necessary, then we will not be paying interest on money for which the Federal Government is going to reimburse the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I know Senator Bell would like to say a few words. Therefore, I am going to yield to him, and answer Senator Berger and possibly Senator Bell after that.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, I am going to surprise the Majority Leader by joining with him in opposing these amendments. I do not think we should have any tax increase. If I were to vote to raise the tax on gasoline by one penny under these amendments, and these amendments carried, I think I might be bound to vote for a six-cent gasoline tax. I have yet to see a justification for a six-cent gasoline tax in Pennsylvania.

I have here in my possession a statement as to how much tax is collected by our neighboring States. The Majority Leader mentioned two. I will mention all the States. Of Pennsylvania's neighbors, only Ohio and West Virginia exact a seven-cent levy. Maryland and New York tax gasoline at six cents per gallon. Delaware and New Jersey tax gasoline at five cents. Incidentally, Delaware diverts a half-cent to other purposes. New Jersey and New York each divert approximately one and one-half cents.

Mr President and Members of the Senate, I heartily oppose any tax increase on gasoline at this time. It is for that reason, and for that reason alone, that I will join with the Majority Leader and his colleagues in voting against on the proposed amendments.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, we all know that people —our constituents—do not like additional taxes, particularly when it comes to a product such a gasoline, which they use daily. However, I have a great deal of confidence in the ability of our Secretary of Highways, Park Martin. He tells us—and no one is disputing him—that we have 20,000 miles of State roads which have been neglected in the last few years. He tells us that if we continue to neglect these 20,000 miles of roads, we will run into a possible cost of billions of dollars a few years from now.

We also hear that this Commonwealth is spending millions of dollars in trying to bring industry to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. One of the prime requisites which industry looks for in any State is good transportation facilities. It is the belief of the Administration that this two-cent tax is necessary, first, to bring our 20,000-100 per cent State roads into proper shape as quickly possible, so as to help bring industry into the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. This will help to create more employment in our areas where great unemployment exists. Also, the borrowing is needed not as a permanent loan, but as a construction loan. I am talking now about the $300,000,000. It is similar to a construction loan for a building. It would be a temporary loan, in order to advance the construction of our Inter-state Highways by several years.

Mr. President, it is no pleasure for any of us to vote for additional taxes. However, we, as Members of the Senate, have a responsibility to look at the needs of our Commonwealth If we feel this additional tax is necessary, we must be like a surgeon and act, thereby voting for what is best for Pennsylvania.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, for the information of those on the other side,—and I feel that most of them know this—we, in Pennsylvania, have approximately 41,000 miles of public highways. Of those 41,000 miles, we have 20,000 miles of roads which are entirely maintained by the Commonwealth.

Our mileage in Pennsylvania equals the mileage of the State of New York and of all of New England. Therefore, you can readily realize the problems which exist in Pennsylvania.

It has been said here that we do not like to add more taxes, and that is true. I stated the other night that I would be the happiest man on the floor of this Senate if we could increase appropriations and decrease taxes. However, Mr. President, that is not the case. I know, too, that any tax program is not popular. We, of the Majority Party, have a responsibility. The responsibility is to find the necessary funds in order to finance our highways and in order to take care of the ninety-ten setup; namely, the Federal Road System. Last but not least, one of the most important things is to prime the pump here in Pennsylvania and make sure that our people are employed. We feel this is the proper approach. We feel we have the funds. If we are not hamstrung, I am sure that we will be able to put many people to work here in Pennsylvania.

I agree with the Minority Leader that we meet in Annual Session every year If we should have a problem next year or if we should be wrong, we, on this side, in conjunction with the other side, could then rectify our position. However, I have a great respect for the Secretary of Highways. Throughout the years, I have known this gentleman to be a person of the highest integrity. I do not believe that the Secretary of Highways would ever willfully make a misstatement. I am guided, therefore, by the position which he takes in my vote in support of this legislation.

Therefore, Mr. President, I prevail upon the other side to be realistic on our approach. If we make mistakes now, we can rectify them next year. If we are wrong in our fiscal calculations, we can remedy them next year. However, give us a chance to do the job. Let us have the funds with which to do this work. We are spending money now on unemployment. I repeat; we had a deficiency appropriation of over $50,000,000 for public assistance. Let us put our people to work. That is the primary objective of this legislation. It will put our people to work, thereby taking them off of the relief rolls. I believe the Minority Side will agree that this is a very honorable intention. That is what we intend to try to do. I think we will be successful.

Therefore, I am asking you, on the other side, to give us your help and work with us We know you can criticize. You have the right to criticize. If we were in the Minority, we would do the same thing. However, in a case such as this, you merely want to amend the bill. There is no complaint about the need, but they want to curtail the operation. They want to cut it back a little bit. They do not want to cut back the amount too much, but they feel that perhaps we are going to go crazy with power.

That is not the case, Mr. President This is a solid, substantial and businessslike Administration, with a Governor who knows the value of a dollar and with a Governor who has done his very best to do a good job for the people of Pennsylvania. For a Governor to even lapse some money out of the General Fund in the over-all operation —that is, the governmental operation—is quite unusual, too, Mr. President.

Therefore, I am asking the Minority Leader and his colleagues on the other side—many of them are very good friends of mine—to give us a chance and give us a lift on this particular program.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, that was a very, very eloquent and impassioned discourse by Senator Lane. I appreciate very much his advice. I do wish, however, that in some past Sessions, certain Members on the other side had also seen fit to vote for taxes and the reduction of appropriations, or not vote for appropriations and vote for taxes to meet them, as we have always asked them to do. However, Mr President, that is a quibble here and the Senator well understands it.

What I wish to impress upon this Senate is that these proposed amendments will do exactly what they want to do with the proposed two cents. They will be able to commence additional maintenance and additional construction. When they get the $100,000,000 borrowing power, under a later amendment, they will be able to do exactly what they are talking about now. If it is necessary to continue it, we will be back in Session to provide the money. Therefore, everybody who can be employed upon this program, conceivably, will be so employed.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I think we should clear up a few misconceptions here. Members of the Senate, I hope you will forgive me if I repeat some of the things stated by the Secretary of Highways.

I think Senator Bell should concern himself for a moment with a statement made by the Secretary of Highways back in January and also during parts of the last Session, when the gentleman was also a Member of the Legislature. The Secretary stated that of approximately $80,000,000 to be allocated for this purpose, if he gets this tax program, he would put under contract 500 miles of construction work almost immediately, covering every section of the Commonwealth. In addition, he talked about 250 bridges to be rehabilitated and reconstructed. I am sure that in the gentleman's own District, he has some problem with some of those bridges which have not been worked on for quite some time. I know that many other areas of Pennsylvania have a similar problem. Also, he has spoken about the $23,000,000 to be spent on, roughly, 1,400 projects covering 1,950 miles of roadway. He went on to discuss this in further detail, which I shall be very happy to let the gentlemen have if they so desire.

Also, concerning the gentleman's statement about the surrounding States, let us look at those States which happen to border the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for just a moment Ohio has eleven cents; West Virginia has eleven cents; Virginia, which does not border Pennsylvania, but is very close to it, being separated by the very small area of Maryland, has eleven cents; Delaware has nine cents; Maryland has ten cents; the District of Columbia has ten cents; and New York State has ten cents.

Taking the figures from the Department of Commerce of the Federal Government,—these figures have not been issued under the present Administration, but during the past Administration or the Eisenhower Administration—the lowest rate of taxes paid by any State is by Delaware and Pennsylvania in regard to license fees and property taxes. When you take all this into consideration and weigh that against the fact that we have 42,000 miles of roadway, and you look at the top of the scale, you will see that all the States which have eleven cents are much further up than we are and have less highway than we do. This graph is also available to the gentleman. I think it was placed on every Member's desk. You, therefore, will see that we are not out of line, nor are we trying to do anything that is not in keeping with the general over-all welfare of Pennsylvania and its programs.

If this were brought to the gentleman's attention and he would have an opportunity to study this, I think he would come to the same conclusion as I and other Members of the Senate have come to; namely, this program is needed and we should get at it as quickly as we possibly can.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I believe that we are debating the amendments to this bill. When the bill comes before us for passage, I desire to make a much longer statement.

However, the Majority Leader doubtless knows that I attended the public hearings last Monday night and last Tuesday morning. I also heard the Secretary of Highways make his presentation. I also heard one of the Commonwealth's witnesses—and I will call him one of the Commonwealth's witnesses—make a statement to the effect that in something like twenty-six of our States which levy a higher gasoline tax, they divert much of that gas tax money to other than State highway purposes. I may be wrong; it may be twenty-seven or twenty-four States.

Mr. President, my purpose in objecting to this tax is due to the fact that I have received over 2,000 individual communications against this tax and two telegrams in favor of it. As the gentleman knows, I have had a little experience in the House of Representatives and I know pressure mail when I see it. These 2,000 letters were individual letters from people who were so disturbed at this threat to their incomes—a forty per cent increase in the State gasoline tax—that they sat down and wrote individual letters These were not pressure letters.

That is the reason why I am going to join with the Majority Leader in voting against these amendments, because I stand on my premise that there should be no gasoline tax increase at this time.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I request a roll call vote on the amendments.

The PRESIDENT. A roll call being requested, the Clerk will call the roll.

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. FLACK. Mr. President, having been in the hall of the Senate and not hearing my name called, I wish to be recorded as voting "aye."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will be so recorded.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BERGER and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—15

Berger,	Hawbaker,	Propert,	Wagner,
Chapman,	Kromer,	Shafer,	Ware, III,
Flack,	Madigan,	Stroup,	Wolfe,
Fleming,	Pechan,	Taylor,

NAYS—28

Bell,	Kalman,	Miller,	Seyler,
Camiel,	Lane,	Mullin,	Silvert,

Donolow,	McCreesh,	Rooney,	Stiefel,
Haluska,	McGinnis,	Sarraf,	Weiner,
Hays,	McMenamin,	Sesler,	Yatron,

So the question was determined in the negative, and the amendments were defeated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. CONFAIR. Mr. President, in a simple sentence, it is because you and I know that growth follows transportation. Transportation depends on roads and roads are built with money. Without the money, we will have no new roads and, consequently, we will have no growth.

About six years ago, I became interested in highways because I was President of Industrial Development in Williamsport, Pennsylvania. At that time, we wondered why we did not grow in that particular area. We found out that between 1940 and 1950, the southern part of Pennsylvania grew by six per cent, while the northern part of the Commonwealth lost two per cent in population. We found out that between 1950 and 1960, the same thing took place. The southern part of Pennsylvania grew, while we, in the northern part of the Commonwealth, fell off in population. We found out that the main factor for this was because of transportation. That is my reason for becoming interested in the Keystone Shortway. We wanted to grow in that section. The main reason why we were not growing was because of transportation.

Let us examine the situation, Mr. President. The Pinchot roads were our last real State transportation effort, and we have rested on this narrow-gauge reputation for thirty years. They were good in 1930, but woefully obsolete today. We are warned that our presently jammed roads will have fifty per cent more cars funneled into them in the next ten years.

If we enact no extra tax revenues for roads, we will be able to put into construction only sixty miles this year. That is less than one mile for each county in the Commonwealth.

Mr. President, that is not growth That is not even stagnation. We are fast becoming famous for our unemployment. Are we also to become infamous for our Model T road system? Are we to be proud that we rank forty-sixth in automotive taxation on light passenger cars and fiftieth on medium weight, but also fiftieth—right at the bottom—in industry-attracting highways that will correct our unemployment?

The petroleum interests have spent thousands in the last two weeks to influence the public against the proposed User's Tax. The facts are that either we go ahead with the two cent tax, or we stand still for the motorist. However, even worse, we stand still economically.

Major road construction in all parts of Pennsylvania, particularly in our depressed areas, will do more to attract industrial firms and more for the motorist's pay check than all the dividends wrung out of the motorists by the tycoons of the petroleum industry.

A User's Tax is the most fair of all taxes, since the user can control, to some extent, the amount of the tax he will pay. In addition, out-of-State travelers and truckers will help pay for the Pennsylvania roads they use. Much smoke has been raised that the two cent moneys will be diverted into the General Fund boondoggling. Let us clear that smoke away right now. By constitutional amendment, voted by the people, these moneys cannot be used for anything except highway purposes.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, if we are to encourage the growth experienced by other progressive States, such as California, we must provide similar attractive highway facilities. We cannot solve our unemployment by repelling new industry with our Model T road system. By the way, we lost three Congressional seats, while California gained eight. I have been in California and you gentlemen, who have also been in California, know what kind of a road system they have there. I do not say their roads only made them gain in population, while we lost.

Mr. President, may I please have some order.

The PRESIDENT Unless we can have order, we will have to clear the gallery. I have tried very hard to call the disorder to your attention by the tap of the gavel. We must have quiet. The gentleman may proceed.

Mr. CONFAIR. Mr. President, we lost three Congressional seats, while California gained eight. I said this was not due entirely to their road system, but it was one of the major factors. I have a friend in California who has a Cadillac car, and his license fee is $140. Therefore, those people have roads, but they pay taxes.

From my standpoint, this tax will take courage. Taxes are not popular even when they are necessary and inevitable. It was not easy for me, as a truck operator, to recommend a tax on my own operation. It was not easy for me, as a Republican, to cross party lines for this tax. It was not easy for me to resist the pressure of a powerful industry. However, when it comes to the economic future of my State and home district, I had no other choice.

As President of the Keystone Shortway Association, a nonpartisan organization, and as a Senator representing the Twenty-Fourth District, I have had an opportunity to make an intensive study of the financial management and the operation of the Department of Highways

At various times during my association with the Department of Highways and with the Shortway Group, I have spoken out impatiently against the Department. My criticism was honestly expressed and I have no disposition to withdraw any of it.

Since one of the major objectives is to alleviate the unemployment situation, it would be eminently unfair and very crucial to our unemployed if the additional motor fuel money would be used to build up a political machine.

All good citizens should insist that those who are placed upon the State highway forces under this program should be placed there regardless of their political affiliation. Also, no such jobholders should be intimidated because of their political beliefs. Nor should they be forced to change their political registration or to make political contributions in order to continue in their jobs.

To guarantee these sacred rights, the Governor of this Commonwealth should issue a directive that all such added employees be selected by the local branches of the employment service, under the Department of Labor and Industry, and that punitive action will be taken against any of the highway personnel who fail to comply with this order.

Since 1959, when Park Martin became Secretary of Highways, there has been a revoluntionary change in the Department of Highways. The previous lack of understanding of the problem, and the Department's reluctance to provide information, have disappeared. There is a wholesome change in the Department's attitude since Secretary Martin assumed direction. His sincerity and his skill as engineer have been most assuring.

I am not going to attempt to read a long list of statistics. I am sure that Secretary Martin can justify the need for more money for highways. He is well qualified to present the facts.

Mr. President, I am equally confident that he will convince us that the Department has the skills the engineering know-how and the determination to use the additional funds wisely and judiciously in the improvement of our highway system.

I say most sincerely that this Body should rise above partisanship in this matter. I am of the opinion that the people have demonstrated they are willing to contribute a few cents a day if they can be assured that these pennies will be spent wisely. I am sure they will be.

Let me repeat, briefly, the reasons which cause me to vote for the gasoline tax and the expanded borrowing bill.

Number one: It is a User's Tax; the fairest type of tax

Number two: It will help depressed areas and help solve our unemployment problems.

Number three: The motorist will save in repair bills and convenience more than the amount the tax will cost him.

Number four: Measuring ourselves against our neighbors in dollars, the Pennsylvania motorist now pays fifty-eight dollars in State taxes against the National average of seventy-one dollars. This tax will raise it only to sixty-six dollars. Even with the two cent tax, forty States will pay more than we do. That pertains not only to the gasoline tax, but also to operator's licenses and owners' licenses.

Number five: Test after test has proven that safety, engineered into modern highways, does more than any other thing to save human lives and may we remind ourselves that these people saved will be Democrats and Republicans, alike.

Rolled into one, these reasons spell a dynamic future for Pennsylvania, instead of stagnation and decay. Let us give the Department of Highways the money; then let us demand the results we deserve.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I rise to debate this bill.

I have in my hand the lead editorial of this morning's Philadelphia Inquirer. I believe this newspaper is a fair, nonpartisan newspaper. I would like to note in the Journal that the Democrats are laughing.

The Philadelphia Inquirer, in this editorial, pleads with this Body to carefully analyze this tax before it is voted into existence.

Among other things, it says:

> "Before they approve Governor Lawrence's plan for a 40 percent increase in the State tax on gasoline, raising it from five to seven cents a gallon, we hope the members of the State Senate take a hard look at some pertinent figures.
>
> "Lawrence says that he must have an immediate two-cent boost in the gas tax so as to plug a $74,000,000 gap in his highway budget for the coming year.
> "But the so-called gap has been produced only because the Governor is insisting on total highways expenditures in the fiscal year 1961-62 of $475,000,000 and revenue from the existing schedule of motor fuel taxes is expected to be short of that amount by $74,000,000."

This editorial goes on, and the context of it is to the effect that this forty per cent increase in taxation is not necessary at this time

Further, it says:

> "The Governor and the Democratic leadership at Harrisburg have been behaving with respect to highway revenues as though they were answering a fire alarm. Have they suddenly decided that they have been derelict in administering the State's highway program and find it necessary to patch up that program with huge new appropriations?
> "Or do they simply want to have more highway funds to play with than are actually needed in one year?"

Now, gentlemen, that is The Philadelphia Inquirer. I have analyzed the effect of this tax upon by Senatorial District, the effect upon the economy in my District, and I think there is a big question here. We all want roads and we all want the finest roads we can get. The big question, gentlemen, is can we afford them. Can we afford a forty per cent increase at one time? Can we afford this crash program?

Let us see what the effect would be in Pennsylvania of this added two cent gas tax. What would be the effect on the refinery industry? In my District, we have tens of thousands who work in the great oil refineries. In the city of Philadelphia, there are tens of thousands of men and women who work in the great oil refineries. What would be the effect on these refineries?

As I have driven the Turnpike to Harrisburg on many occasions, I have been impressed with the fact that approximately thirty to forty per cent of the automobiles seen on that Turnpike are the type commonly known as the "compact car," the small car. Let me suggest this to you. You know by raising these taxes too high, you can kill the goose that lays the golden egg because you can convert more people into riding compacts. They use less gasoline, and so your net return may be far lower under an increased tax program.

What is the effect on the steel industry in Pennsylvania? You know Pennsylvania produces approximately twenty-five per cent of the steel produced in the United States. I believe the automobile industry buys about seventeen per cent of all steel produced. With each compact car sold in lieu of a normal-sized car, you lose one-half ton of steel.

You have to analyze all sides of the picture; not just what is good for one industry, but you have to look at the effect on the refinery and the steel industries. Look at the effect on the automobile industry. In my home District, in the city of Chester, we have the Ford Motor Company. More compact cars mean more United Autoworkers from the Ford plant are unemployed. More compact cars mean more refinery workers unemployed.

That gentlemen, is the message which I received in over 2,000 personal letters from my constituents. It is for that reason I am opposing this tax today.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not want to delay the vote. However, I think it should be pointed out to the gentleman from Delaware, as long as he brought up the subject of the refineries, that if he will check the averages,—and this comes not from any particularly tainted source, but from Standard and Poor's, which is the standard industry survey—he will find that oil companies—and he can pick any one at random—did anywhere from 7.7 per cent to 11.1 per cent more business last year than they did in the year 1959. I can break this down into the amount of income, and you will see that they are not particularly hurt by it. Of course, when you use percentages, you get into a rather difficult area. If you pay a one penny tax this year and it is raised to two pennies, you can say there has been a 100 per cent increase in taxes, but that is not dealing realistically with the situtation. Any man who can afford to operate an automobile, pay the initial cost and keep up the payments, I am sure will not be hurt by an additional twenty or thirty-some dollars.

I wish, Senator, that I were in a position to not vote for any further taxes, but unhappily this is not our situation. If we are going to continue to give services and continue to provide the things the people in the State are demanding, we will have to go ahead and do these necessary things.

Earlier, Senator, you were discussing the number of letters you had received. I would like you to tell us, if you will please, since you have been a Member of the Legislature, has there ever been a tax proposed on which you received letters saying the people were in favor of it; that they loved it and wished you would vote for it immediately so they could begin to pay it as soon as possible?

This has never happened. I have never known of a tax that does not hurt someone. The very interesting factor is that on every one of the taxes which have been purposed, every one of the people who are against it have come in and said: "You need the tax money. I think you should have it, but don't tax me here is where you can tax." They give you some other industry that you have not even thought about. Some of the proposals are good and we may even work on them a little later on and hope that these people who suggested them will also help us pass the measures.

However, the basic problem always recurrs. You do not have any program that everybody is going to be in favor of 100 per cent. There is no such tax program. We have never had it. However, I would be very happy to vote for one of them.

Most of the letters I have received, you will find, are from people who have written me using addresses sometimes in Philadelphia, sometimes in Delaware County and so on and so forth. Sometimes they are form letters. Sometimes they do not appear in a form, but are handwritten and copied from other letters that you can match up with them.

If your District is one involving 200 and some thousand people and you receive 2,000 letters, I am sure everyone was not from your District. However, if you equate the percentage of people who have written you against the total number of people living in your District, you will find that is a very small percentage against this program.

I will venture to say that three-quarters of the people in your District may not be aware that they are demanding services at the very same time that they are saying they are not going to pay for any more services. You cannot ride those two horses. It is very difficult, because many of these very same people like nice highways, places to go and things to do with their families, and the only way you can get to them is by having highways and bridges over which you can traverse this Commonwealth to travel where you are going.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I also do not care to prolong this debate. However, I would like to advise the Majority Leader that although I may be a freshman in the Senate, I am not a freshman in the Legislature. I, too, can analyze what letters mean. I can assure you that since I started speaking here tonight, my colleague, Senator Ware, from Chester County, has delivered 1,500 more letters to my desk.

I have not been furnished statistics by any governmental agency or by any individual, and I am in this debate purely on what I have observed mysedf. I have observed unemployment in the refinery industry. I have observed it in the Gulf Refinery in the city of Philadelphia. I have seen a cutback in employment in Sinclair and Gulf. I have seen Sun Oil—which is a very efficiently run oil company—stock drop from around eighty-some dollars a share to I believe the close last Friday was forty-eight dollars a share. Gentlemen, securities of that type do not fall because times are good. They fall because they are not selling their product. They are not selling the gasoline they did before.

Go into your Districts and talk to the dealers in cars, and ask them how many cars they are selling. They say: "We are not selling as many because these little compact cars are knocking us out of business." Of course, you should tell them to get out of the busines and sell compacts.

I say to you that this type of thinking, of increasing a tax at one fell stroke by forty per cent, could readily hurt seriously the refinery, the automobile and the steel industries in Pennsylvania.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would just like to point out to the Senator that there are now more two-car families than there have ever been in the history of this Country.

I also might point out to the gentleman that if we begin on this highway building program, the automotive equipment that will be needed in building will also use fuel. Also, industrial fuels and tars will be needed. This will also supply work for the very industry the Senator is talking about and will redound to the industry in his area. Therefore, I think if he voted for this bill, he would be giving the entire economic setup a push, or priming the economic pump. I think no one can be against this bill. Economic history has shown that whenever we have done this, the entire Country has prospered. I am sure the Senator, like all of us here, would like to see that happen at this critical time.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "no".

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will be so recorded.

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has pased the same without amendments.

HB 91 CALLED UP OUT OF ORDER

HB 91— Without objection, the bill was called up out of order, from page 3 of the Third Reading Calendar, by Mr. WEINER.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE AMENDMENTS OFFERED

HB 91—Read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. BERGER, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendments:

Amend Title, page 2, last line of Title, by striking out all of said line.

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 4), page 2, line 5 by striking out "seven" and inserting: "four".

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 4), page 3, line 4 by striking out the bracket before "In".

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 4), page 3, line 9 by inserting a bracket before "sixty-one".

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 4), page 3 line 9 by inserting immediately after "sixty-one]": "sixty-three".

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, the amendments I have offered to House Bill No. 91, Printer's No. 91, are identical to those I previously offered to House Bill No. 90, Printer's No. 90. I am sure that all that has been said on House Bill No. 90 applies with equal force to House Bill No. 91.

Therefore. Mr. President, as far as I am concerned, I am willing to have the debate as recorded apply to House Bill No. 91, the same as it did to House Bill No. 90. However, I do request that a roll call be granted, following the debate on the amendments.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I ask that the remarks I made earlier, and which appear above, also appear herein. We can proceed from that point on.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. DONLOW. Mr. President, may we be at ease a moment?

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES WELCOMED

The PRESIDENT. While the Senate is at ease, we welcome the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the Honorable Hiram G. Andrews.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

The PRESIDENT. A roll call having been requested, the Clerk will call the roll.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BERGER and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—20

Berger,	Hawbaker,	Pechan,	Taylor,
Chapman,	Keller,	Propert,	Van Sant,
Ehrgood,	Kessler,	Scott,	Wagner,

So the question was determined in the negative, and the amendments were defeated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. KESSLER, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendments:

Amend Title, page 2, next to lastline of Title, by in-serting after "appropriation": making exemptions with respect to liquid fuels used for burial and cemetery purposes; providing for refunds and".

Amend Sec. 2, page 4, line 13, by inserting after "2": "Section 17 of the act, amended March 12, 1957 (P. L. 8), is amended to read:

"Section 17. Refunds.— The Board of Finance and Revenue may refund to distributors taxes, penalties, and interest paid by them on liquid fuels delivered to the United States government, or paid as the result of an error of law or of fact of both law and fact. Claims for such refunds shall be made under the procedure prescribed by the Fiscal Code.

"Any person who shall use or buy liquid fuels on which the tax imposed by this act shall have been paid and shall consume the same in the operation of any nonlicensed farm tractor or licensed farm tractor when used off the highways for agriculture purposes or nonlicensed powered farm machinery for purposes relating to the actual production of farm products shall be reimbursed the full amount of such tax.

"Any person who shall use or buy liquid fuels on which the tax imposed by this act shall have been paid and shall consume the same in the operation of nonlicensed tractors or licensed tractors when used off the highways for cemetery and burial ground purposes and nonlicensed powered machinery for purposes relating to the actual maintenance of cemeteries and burial grounds shall be reimbursed the full amount of such tax.

"Any person who shall use or buy any liquid fuel on which a tax imposed by this act in excess of one and one-half cents a gallon shall have been paid and shall use such liquid fuel in propeller-driven aircraft or aircraft engines, or who shall use or buy any liquid fuel on which a tax imposed by this act in excess of one and one-half cents per gallon shall have been paid and shall use such liquid fuel in jet or turbo-jet propelled aircraft or aircraft engines, shall be reimbursed in the amount of such excess.

"All such claims for reimbursement shall be made upon a form to be furnished by the Board of Finance and Revenue and shall include, in addition to such other information as the board may by regulation prescribe, the name and address of the claimant, the period of time and the number of gallons of liquid fuels used for which reimbursement is claimed, a description of the farm machinery, aircraft or aircraft engine in which such liquid fuels have been used and the purposes for which such machinery, air craft or aircraft engine has been used, the size of the farm and part thereof in cultivation on which such liquid fuels have been used. Each such claim shall contain statements that the liquid fuels for which reimbursement is claimed have been used only for purposes for which reimbursements are permitted, that records of the amounts of such fuels used in each piece of farm machinery, aircraft or aircraft engine have been kept, and that no part of such claim has been paid except as stated. Each such claim shall contain a declaration that it and accompanying receipts are true and correct to the best of claimant's knowledge and shall be signed by the claimant or the person claiming on his behalf. Every claim shall be accompanied by receipts indicating that the liquid fuels or excess liquid fuels tax was paid on the liquid fuels for which reimbursement is claimed. All records of purchases of liquid fuels and use in each tractor or powered machinery, aircraft or aircraft engine shall be kept for a period of two years. Every such claim shall be made annually for the preceding year ending on the thirtieth day of June and shall be submitted to the Board of Finance and Revenue not later than the thirtieth day of September of each year and the board shall refuse to consider any claim received or post-marked later than such date. The claimant shall satisfy the board that he has paid the tax and that the liquid fuels have been consumed by him for purposes for which reimbursements are permitted under this section. The board may require any claimant to furnish such further information, proof, or fuller explanation as it shall deem necessary. The action of the Board of Finance and Revenue in granting or refusing reimbursement shall be final. The board shall deduct the sum of one dollar and fifty cents ($1.50), which shall be considered as afiling fee, from every claim for reimbursment granted. Such filing fees are hereby specifically appropriated to the Board of Finance and Revenue and to the Department of Revenue for expenses of any nature whatsoever incurred in the administration of the reimbursement provisions of this act. The Board of Finance and Revenue shall have the power to refer to the Department of Revenue, for investigation, any claim for reimbursment filed under the provisions of this act and it shall be the duty of the Department of Revenue to investigate such application and report to the Board of Finance and Revenue relative thereto. Any person making any false or fraudulent statement for the purpose of obtaining reimbursment shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not more than one thousand dollars ($1000) or to undergo imprisonment for not more than six (6) months, or both.

"All refunds and reimbursments of moneys allowed hereunder shall be paid from the Motor License Fund and the Liquid Fuels Tax Fund in amounts equal to the original distribution and payment of such moneys into said funds: Provided, That reimbursement for taxes paid on liquid fuels consumed in the operation of tractors and powered machinery for purpose relating to the actual production of farm products and reimbursement for taxes paid on liquid fuels used in aircraft or aircraft engines shall be paid out of the Motor License Fund.

"As much of the moneys, from time to time, in the Motor License Fund and the Liquid Fuels Tax Fund, as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated to the Board of Finance and Revenue for the purpose of making refunds and reimbursements as herein authorized. Estimates of the amounts to be expended form these funds for refunds and reimbursements, from time to time, by the board shall be submitted to the Governor for his approval or disapproval as in the case of other appropriations to administrative departments, boards and commissions; and it shall be unlawful for the Auditor General to honor any requisition of the Board of Finance and Revenue for the expenditure of moneys hereunder in excess of the estimates approved by the Governor.

"The provisions of this section relating to reimbursement of taxes paid on liquid fuels consumed in the operation of tractors and powered machines for purposes relating to the actual production of farm products shall apply only to liquid fuels purchased on and after the first day of July, one thousand nine hundred fifty-five.

"The Pennsylvania Aeronautics Commission is authorized to make allocations of taxes collected under this act to airports in proportion to the average of their allocations received from the Pennsylvania Aeronautics Commission during the period for which they have received such allocation not to exceed five years or, in the case of airports having no such allocation experience, in equal proportion with other airports based upon comparative collections under this tax. In no case shall the amount apportioned to the airport be less than the highest amount apportioned in any one of the previous five years.

"Section 3."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I have been asked to explain these amendments. They are very simple.

It is costing almost as much to die today as it is to be born. The purpose of these amendments is solely to exclude from the gasoline tax, the gasoline which is used by cemeteries in taking care of their areas.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, we have no particular preference for cemeteries. I do not think I would like to open the door for any amendments. There may be many areas which are just as laudable and which may help people who are living which could enter into this bill as an adequate or appropriate amendment.

It might well be that after our experience with this tax, we may have to make some amendments at some later date. This is not a promise that we will. However, if they give us an opportunity to examine the situation, after we have lived with it, then I think the amendments would be appropriate, at which time we could work on it.

The problem presented by Senator Kessler is one which I think is entitled to consideration and one which deserves some study. However, these bills have been on the Calendar now for over a week. They were on the House Calendar for quite some time, and the Governor had suggested them before that. We really have not had a chance to look at these amendments. As laudable as they might be, and as high-minded and high-purposed as they might be, I feel this is not the time or the place to present them.

Therefore, Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to vote "no." We may consider them and even act favorably on them at a later date, if it is so indicated.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, as much as I admire my colleague from Lancaster, these amendments are one of those dead issues for which I do not think I can vote.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you, Senator Ehrgood. You have narrowed down the issue.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the negative, and the amendments were defeated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I request that my remarks made with reference to House Bill No. 90 be recorded also with reference to House Bill No. 91.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, having noted under a misapprehension, I wish to be recorded as voting "no."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will be so recorded.

A majority of all the Senators having noted "aye," the puestion was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments.

HB 92 CALLED UP OUT OF ORDER

HB 92—Without objection, the bill was called up out of order, from page 3 of the Third Reading Calendar, by Mr. WEINER.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE AMENDMENTS OFFERED

HB 92—Read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. STROUP, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 3), page 3, line 5, by striking out "six cents (6¢)" and inserting: "five cents (5¢)."

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 9), page 4, line 7, by striking out "six cents (6¢)" and inserting "five cents (5¢)."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, I wish to say a brief word of explanation concerning these amendments.

These amendments will make it possible for a continuation of that policy of refunding to the political subdivisions twenty per cent of the gasoline tax, which has been refunded now for many years. Just as the improvement and the increased construction of highways in the Commonwealth becomes imperative and as costs mount, in order to take care of that improvement and increased construction, also the cost of maintaining the streets and highways in the political subdivisions has mounted and also the demand for improvement and construction has increased.

These amendments would make the increase in the gasoline tax much more palatable to our people back home. I think they would more readily accept the forty per cent increase if returned to them was twenty per cent of that increase which is so derely needed in their own particular bailiwicks.

For that reasons, Mr. President, I have offered these amendments and ask for their serious consideration from the Members of this Body

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, these amendments do not shock me as much as the gentleman who sponsored them.

I think we should keep the record straight. If I am incorrect, I hope the gentleman will correct me. The gentleman just voted against House Bill No. 90 and House Bill No. 91. He did not want to grant any of these people anything. Now that the Senate and the House have acted to grant this money, he is now very happy to join in dividing it. I think that is a very happy position to be in. It is the same as being against taxes, but for appropriations. It is a very happy position to be in and I commend the gentleman for his astuteness in having this ready so that when the measure passed, he would be prepared to divide the money up. However, I think his position is slightly shaky, in the sense that he is willing to give something away which he was not willing to vote for to begin with.

If the gentleman attended the hearings, I think he will remember that the manufacturers and others who spoke for industry in Pennsylvania were quite exercised in the sense that we were giving any money back to the municipalities or the local government subdivisions. Their reason for taking this position was that they wanted the Commonwealth to have the entire money and to use it for the total purpose. Some of the Members of the Legislature did not happen to agree with that point of view. They felt that the local governments—because of their ability to handle their own affairs and because we believe in the local subdivisions having their own autonomy should have some money in order to operate their own program. This is the basis on which this was set up. Many of our cities, which do not participate on the same basis in regard to the money they give toward the Commonwealth, would be receiving some money here. The amount of money they would be getting is approximately —if we collect $74,000,000—$7,400,000.

As I stated, I think the gentleman means well, but had he joined us in the beginning by helping to raise this money, I would be only too happy to help him in dividing it, as well.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, I express my appreciation to the distinguished Senator for his compliment to me for my astuteness. I assure him that I gave thorough consideration to the amendments before they were presented. I voted against the two-cent increase because I believe it was not necessary. However, if this Senatorial Body, in its infinite wisdom, has determined that the two-cent increase should be placed upon our people, then I submit amendments to you, Mr. President, asking that twenty per cent of the increase be turned back to the political subdivisions. It still stands true that prices are going up back home, that costs are increasing, that taxes are rising, and unless we turn back this money, as is consistent with the Commonwealth's policy concerning political subdivisions, then our people will pay the increased gasoline tax and pay increases upon their real estate and otherwise, in order to maintain the highways and roads in those political subdivisions.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I think we should be honest about the way we look at this proposal. It seems to me that everyone realizes that the gasoline tax program has been designed to meet the needs of the Commonwealth. I think it requires only simple arithmetic to see that if this plan is altered, by giving more money to local communities than was anticipated in the bill, we would not be meeting that need. This, of course, would necessitate an additional tax to get the additional money which we would need. It seems to me that the honest position here is that if you advocate a greater return to local districts, you are, in effect, advocating a cent or a part of a cent additional gasoline tax. I think we have had enough sentiment to realize this would not be a popular suggestion

Therefore, Mr. President, I cannot support a proposal which seems to me to say that we would have to make another increase in the gasoline tax in order to meet this need.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, it appears to me that these amendments, which have been offered by Senator Stroup, give precisely the same effect as the proposed total increase in the gasoline tax, for the reason that this goes back to the various municipalities and will be used for additional employment, locally. It will be used for the purchase of additional equipment, locally. It will be used for the purpose of additional improvement to the rural roads, locally.

Mr. President, as long as that money is used on the road system of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, it is not being diverted from any highway purpose. Therefore, Mr. President, I would suggest that having fulfilled all of the requirements which have been stated as being the reason for this proposed tax increase, the amendments certainly should be supported.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, might I point out that in the two earlier bills which we just passed one penny is earmarked for the interstate Highway System. Regarding the second penny, eight-tenths of it will go for the 100 per cent State Highway System and two-tenths will go back to the local municipalities. It is impossible for us to take the other penny, in view of the program which we have outlined here. I do not see how you can take part of the program and decide not to take the other part. Once you have decided that you want the entire program, then you must give it the sinew and bone which it needs in order to march on. This one penny is earmarked for that purpose; the other is divided up, as I just stated

I just cannot see how you can do this, however generous you want to be in the local areas. Many of the areas would, I am sure, use the funds very wisely. As I stated earlier, had we had some support from the very same gentlemen who want to divide this money up, I would be only too happy to listen to it. I am not so sure that even if I accepted these amendments, we could count on additional help on that basis. Therefore, rather than risk that eventuality, I am going to ask my colleagues to vote "no" on these amendments.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

The PRESIDENT. The Clerk will call the roll.

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. BELL. "Present." The PRESIDENT. Senator Bell, that is not considered a vote in the Senate.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, may I respectfully call your attention to page 4 of the Legislative Journal, dated January 3, 1961, wherein the President pro tempore, Senator DiSilvestro, voted and is recorded as voting "present", I also respectfully—

The PRESIDENT. Senator Bell, that was a vote, as you know, in a matter which definitely conflicted with the interests of the Senator. He could not be asked to vote for himself. This pertained to an increase in salary. Certainly, under no circumstances, could he have been asked to vote for or against himself.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I also respectfully remind the Chair that on this floor, I believe on Wednesday, the Majority Leader remarked on the absence of a certain Senator and said that he could have voted "present".

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President—

The PRESIDENT. Neither of which are precedents. I shall have to ask you, therefore, to vote either for or against the amendments, failing in which I will have to order your vote recorded.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, may I yield to the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Fleming?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the gentleman form Allegheny, Senator Fleming.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, the Legislative Journal is the official journal of the Senate of Pennsylvania, is it not?

The PRESIDENT. Yes, sir.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I submit, as did Senator Bell to you, that on page 4, of the Legislative Journal of January 3, without any reasons being given, Senator DiSilvestro is recorded as voting "present".

The PRESIDENT. I have already told you about that, Senator Fleming.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, again I respectfully submit to you, sir, that any explanation you might give now does not take precedence over the fact that the Legislative Journal shows that Senator DiSilvestro voted "present" on that day.

The PRESIDENT. Nobody requested a ruling at that time and I am now ruling on this one.

It was obvious to every Member of the Senate, at the time when that vote was recorded, that it was done simply because a man did not wish to vote for himself to receive an increase in salary and emoluments. On that basis, naturally, he was accorded the privilege of not voting for or against himself.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I recognize the fact that Senator DiSilvestro, being the gentleman that he is, recognized the impropriety of possibly voting for himself, even though the latter question was not present. I also recognize the fact that the gentleman did vote, but did not choose to vote for any other of the forty-nine Members. I have no quarrel with that. However, I also submit to you, Mr. President, that he filed no reasons for not complying with the Constitution, which does not permit you to vote in the case of a personal interest. Nowhere in the Journal does that appear. Only in the Journal appears the fact that he is recorded as voting "present".

The PRESIDENT. Senator Fleming, my ruling is that Senator Bell may not vote "present". He will be recorded as voting "no" if he fails to vote.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, under that ruling, is it then correct that at no time will any Senator in this room, or any other Legislator in the House, be able to vote for an increase in emoluments—

The PRESIDENT. Senator—

Mr. EHRGOOD. Excuse me. May I finish my question, Mr. President?

The PRESIDENT. Under that ruling, I cannot speak for the House of Representatives.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, may I then bring it down merely to the Senate of Pennsylvania?

As a result of that ruling, is it correct that no Senator will be able to vote for an increase in the expense account?

The PRESIDENT. That is not correct, sir.

Mr. EHRGOOD. That is an increase, is it not, in the emoluments of the office of the Senate of Pennsylvania? Is that not correct, sir?

The PRESIDENT. We are ruling on the question which is before the Senate of Pennsylvania at this particular moment. If the Senator does not like my ruling, he has a right to appeal it to the Body. At this point, sir, my ruling is still exactly what it was at the beginning of this discussion.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, please believe me when I say that I am not trying to be cute. I am merely trying to arrive at something, for the sake of information, as to what I should do in the future. On that basis, I want to know whether I would ever be correct in voting for an increase in the expense account for myself. That is my only reason for asking the question.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you, Senator Ehrgood.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I would merely like the record to show that I did not ask for a ruling from the Chair. It is my recollection, and I can conceivably be wrong, that no one asked for a ruling from the Chair. The Chair—

The PRESIDENT. On the basis of that, this discussion is entirely out of order. The only thing in order is the roll call.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, may I submit to you that you took it upon yourself to rule, without the question being brought up.

The PRESIDENT. I had to rule.

Mr. FLEMING. May I inquire who asked you to rule?

The PRESIDENT. Senator Bell desired that he be recorded as voting "present". I refused to so record him. That is a ruling, Senator Fleming, any way you look at it. I insist that that is my ruling. It is not necessary for you to ask for a ruling. I rule all day long on everything that I do up here. This is merely another ruling.

If you wish to appeal the ruling to the Body, you may do so.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, may we be at ease for a moment, please?

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

The PRESIDENT. Senator Bell, perhaps you would prefer a precedent coming from a Republican source.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I am not asking for a ruling at this time. I am voting "aye".

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, as a matter of parliamentary inquiry and for reference in the future, is not the sanction against a Senator refusing to vote "yes" or "no" limited to matters of legislation only, and not applicable to such votes as on officers of the Senate or on procedural motions, such as a motion to recess or adjourn?

The PRESIDENT. I would consider your point well taken.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. Does it relate to this bill, Senator?

Mr. KESSLER. No, Mr. President, it is a general question as to whether or not—

The PRESIDENT. If it does not relate to this bill, the Chair will take the vote which has been handed to him by the Clerk, at this point.

Mr. KESSLER. All right, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you. Then we will return to your question.

The roll was called and resulted as follows:

YEAS—24

Bell,	Fleming,	Mallery,	Stroup,
Berger,	Hawbaker,	Pechan,	Taylor,
Chapman,	Keller,	Propert,	Van Sant,
Confair,	Kessler,	Scott,	Wagner,
Ehrgood,	Kromer,	Shafer,	Ware, III,
Flack,	Madigan,	Stevenson,	Wolfe,

NAYS—25

Camiel,	Lane,	Mullin,	Seyler,
Devlin,	Mahady,	Murray,	Silvert,
DiSilvestro,	McCreesh,	Ripp,	Staisey,
Donolow,	McGinnis,	Rooney,	Stiefel,
Haluska,	McMenamin,	Sarraf,	Weiner,
Hays,	Miller,	Sesler,	Yatron,
Kalman,

So the question was determined in the negative, and the amendments were defeated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, may I now raise my question of parliamentary inquiry?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair would see no reason why you cannot raise it at this point, sir.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, are we to interpret your ruling to infer that a Senator may not disqualify himself from voting because of a personal interest in a certain piece of legislation?

The PRESIDENT. Certainly not, sir. The Chair does not know whether he is quite clear on the point you are raising. Are you talking about a piece of legislation?

Mr. KESSLER. Yes, sir.

The PRESIDENT. There has to be a direct interest, and that interest would not be direct if the legislation covered a class of subjects. In this particular vote,—the one on which the Chair ruled to accept the vote of "present"—it was to the direct interest of Senator DiSilvestro. He was becoming President pro tempore of this Body on his vote.

Mr. KESSLER. Yes, sir.

The PRESIDENT. Out of sheer modesty, he asked whether he could vote "present," and the Chair replied that he could. The Chair accepted his vote on that basis.

Mr. KESSLER. Yes, sir.

The PRESIDENT. It was certainly the shrinking-violet attitude of Senator DiSilvestro that prompted the Chair to make the ruling.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, if I were a township supervisor who had a vital interest in this particular bill on which we just voted, so far as the amendments are concerned, as a Member of the Pennsylvania Senate, would I be required to vote "yes" or "no," or could I disqualify myself because I had an interest, as a township supervisor, in getting as much money from the gasoline tax as possible?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair would say to you, sir, that if that bill affected all classes of townships such as the township in which you were a township supervisor, you would be required to vote and there would be no interest involved, because it reaches a class of subject matter. However, if it were a bill only relating to your particular township,—and the Chair cannot understand how that could exist—then there might be avery real question of your right to vote or your requirement to vote.

If that case occurs, sir, the Chair will be happy to reconsider its ruling.

Mr. KESSLER. I appreciate the statement you make, Mr. President. Thank you very much.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

RECESS

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I request a ten minute recess of the Senate for the purpose of holding a Republican Caucus.

The PRESIDENT. Are there any objections? The Chair hears no objection, and declares a ten minute recess of the Senate.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

Prior to the recess, we were on the Calendar and considering House Bill No. 92, Printer's No. 222, which had passed Third Reading. This bill is now before the Senate on Final Passage.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—49

Bell,	Hays,	Miller,	Silvert,
Berger,	Kalman,	Mullin,	Staisey,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments.

HB 94 CALLED UP OUT OF ORDER

HB 94—Without objection, the bill was called up out of order, from page 4 of the Third Reading Calendar, by Mr. WEINER.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE AMENDMENT OFFERED

HB 94—Read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. BERGER, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 4), page 5, lines 11 and 12, by striking out "THREE HUNDRED MILLION DOLLARS ($300,000,000)" and inserting: "one hundred million dollars ($100,000,000)."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, this amendment does exactly what I said when we were discussing House Bill No. 90 and House Bill No. 91. It changes the authorized borrowing power of the Highway and Bridge Authority from $300,000,000 to $100,000,000, and that is all.

The logic of this amendment is very apparent. Under the original bill, the authorization of $300,000,000 could be issued at the rate of $50,000,000 per year. Under this amendment, the same thing prevails except that the authorization which we would give to the Highway and Bridge Authority would be limited to $100,000,000 for two years. It will accomplish exactly the same thing that is sought to be accomplished under the $300,000,000 authorization, but it will permit the Legislature to look over the situation at the expiration of this Session, and the next Session, and to find out whether or not it is necessary to provide for a full $300,000,000.

The $100,000,000, as I say, will do exactly the same thing and accomplish exactly the same purpose that the Majority Leader has said was the purpose of this $300,000,000 bill.

There is nothing I can see, Mr. President, the requires this Legislature to authorize this Authority to have a $300,000,000 bond issue to anticipate Federal payments under the Interstate Highway Plan.

Consequently, Mr President, we are not doing violence to any of the theories advanced in so far as gaining employment, giving work and accelerating the program. However, we will see whether it is necessary after the end of two years and, if it is not, then nothing need be done. If it is necessary, then we can go along with a further increase for a period as may be indicated at that time.

However, Mr. President, it appears to me—and I think it is perfectly logical and sensible—that a limitation of two years and $100,000,000 is ample.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, following through on the gentleman's logic, if what he says is absolutely correct, we are only spending $50,000,000, and two years from now, in 1963, when we come back, if the program as outlined by the Secretary of Highways has not been carried out, there will be nothing to prevent this Body from exercising its duly authorized authority in doing away with this measure or repealing it or amending it, as the case might be.

In the two years, the maximum which can be floated is $100,000,000—$50,000,000 this year and $50,000,000 next year—and the Legislature will return in January. The other factor to this is that once having voted for the other measures and providing the revenue to do the job, I believe we must follow through and give the gentleman who is proceeding along this line the further part of his program, which is outlining what he wants to do in the general, over-all program.

I believe, Senator, you are well familiar with the program of laying out highways. It takes ten or twelve years of planning. You cannot do it within a year or two. It might be that after five years, the ten or twelve year plans might prove obsolete, or perhaps they moved a little faster than expected, but, by and large, you cannot do this in a week's time nor in a day's time. The Authority must be asked to prepare its programs and its plans, to raise the limits, and to make ready to go ahead with these programs. They must advertise and open for competitive bidding the time for floating bonds. It cannot be done within the flash of an eye, or be done by Executive Order.

The Secretary, whoever he might be,—whether it is the present Secretary, if he continues after his term of office which expires in 1963, or a new Secretary—must follow through on these plans. It is not something a new Secretary can pick up and start planning the day after he gets into office.

Therefore, I feel after having passed the other two measures, this bill is keyed into them and should flow with the other measures that we have just passed

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, the desirability of having a long range plan is unquestioned. No one can dispute that. However, never to my knowledge has it been even suggested that we start providing the money in one Session of the Legislature to carry out a long range plan. As the Majority Leader very correctly said, you get a long range plan, and the first thing you know part of it is obsolete, or else you have a plan and you have the money provided for it, but you do not use it.

I have never seen any Authority that was not anxious to retain the full measure of its borrowing power. All I am suggesting by this amendment is that we limit, for the conceivable period of financing, to $100,000,000 what otherwise would be a full authorization for $300,000,000.

I know, Mr. President, it was under discussion this afternoon, when the Secretary of Highways was before our Caucus, that the Federal Aid Program, under the present rate of Federal payments, would take eighteen years. This bill, according to him, would put it so that it might possibly be completed within fourteen years. We are providing for a six year spread if this amendment is not approved and the bill is approved.

I say, Mr. President, there is no necessity to provide for six years for something that you cannot do, but can do under the two-year authorization. It just does not make sense to me to try to provide for financing over a period of six years when you do not know whether or not you are going to need the money.

We hope and believe that the Federal Government will accelerate the payments under the Interstate Program and, if so, then there will be no necessity for the issuance of the final amount of these bonds. We know what the allocation will be during the next two years. If we want to start picking up and accelerating on that program in the next two years, that is all right. We are not going to argue very much about that. However, to provide for a full $300,000,000 in borrowing at this time, I can conceivably see where the $300,000,000 will remain on the books until the bonds have been amortized at the end of twenty years and we will still pick up the Federal highway money.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to respectfully point out to the gentleman that not only do we have an opportunity to vote for these measures, but we also have the added opportunity to have a say in how they shall be conducted after this legislation becomes law.

As you well know, the leadership in the House and the Senate serve on the Highway and Bridge Authority, and if at any time they, in their infinite wisdom, want to correct an error that might have been made on the floor of the Legislature, they can correct it at their meetings, which are executive sessions in which they participate.

I think in any kind of planning, especially in long range planning, you have to have a goal, and you have to set your sights toward the goal. It might well be that when you start toward this goal, you might have to revise where you are going or change the area in which you are going to move. However, I think, by and large, you have to have some area toward which to move. If you, as a member of the Authority,—I am also a member, along with other Members of both the House and Senate —find that we do not need this money and find that it is not necessary to use it, I am certain that no one is going to vote for it just because it is on the books.

However, we might be in another anomalous position where we might need it and not really have it in front of us, so that we will have to come back to another Legislature and ask that they give it to us, and we will have to go through this whole matter of giving birth to the problem all over again. I think it would be easier, once having gone into this area and once having passed the other measures that provide the additional income—and having keyed one of the additional pennies that we are getting for the purpose of paying off this bond—to go ahead and put the entire program through so that it is available to us should we need it. If we do not need it, I am certain no one will vote for it just because it is on the books.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I would certainly like to see somebody come back here and repeal a money measure which is already on the books. I would much rather have the Senate and the House given the opportunity, upon being shown the necessity, to increase and continue this program than I would to vote it all here tonight in anticipation that if we do not need it, we will come back in two years and repeal it. That I must see.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, it is not a matter of whether we vote here tonight and decide whether we will or will not use it. We are saying that this is available to the Authority. If it sees fit and does not have to have it—the people serving on the Authority are all responsible people in government. It is not a case of us turning this over to some outsider or to some administrator. We do not have to go ahead and use this money and it may as well lie there. We are not actually spending any money or putting anything forward. We are merely granting them the authority to move into this area. If you get into the area where you do not provide enough money, I think you will have great difficulty in coming back here during another Session and asking for it.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, not to belabor this, but the very thing we are doing in this amendment is making sure that we do provide enough money to get this off the ground, if it is necessary to do so, and then we will have an opportunity to keep on with it if it again proves necessary. That is the whole crux of the situation. You are getting enough money under this amendment to go ahead and do what is desired to be done by the Department of Highways in connection with accelerating this Federal Interstate Program.

There is no reason, I repeat, to authorize a six year borrowing period when, conceivably, all that you can anticipate—the Federal Department will not allocate funds for a period longer than two years—is a two year expenditure or a two year authorization.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I respectfully ask that my colleagues vote "no" on this amendment.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I request a roll call vote.

The PRESIDENT. A roll call being requested, the Clerk will call the roll.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. FLEMING and were as follows, viz:

They were agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill, as amended, lie over for printing.

HB 93 CALLED UP OUT OF ORDER

HB 93—Without objection, the bill was called up out of order, from page 4 of the Third Reading Calendar, by Mr. WEINER.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

HB 93—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, this bill merely puts the one per cent tax on realty transfers, which has been enacted since 1951 on a temporary basis, on a permanent basis. On a thirteen month period, this will yield $23, 000,000 to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. This bill has always been re-enacted. I never knew of a time in any Session when it was not voted on and passed by both the Senate and the House.

We are merely doing today, positively, what we have been doing during every Session since 1951. If you will look at the date, and remember a little bit about your political history, you will learn from where this measure originated and how it got to be with us. If the gentlemen would like for me to remind them, I will be happy to do so. However, I do not think that is necessary because I am sure they are all good students of political history.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, if that fellow does not shut up, he is going to lose some votes. He was ahead and he had better stay ahead.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I will be very happy to have Senator Pechan's vote this evening.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL ON THIRD READING, DEFEATED ON FINAL PASSAGE

HB 88—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, this is one of the so-called "acceleration" bills which have been under discussion for a comparatively brief time. Actually, it is one of the tax package bills.

It is our feeling, Mr. President, that at this time we do not feel prepared to vote upon this measure, without further consideration. The tax package has been unduly rushed, we feel, including the gasoline tax bills which passed the Senate here tonight.

This is another one of the tax bills and, without committing any future action on these, we feel, at this time, that we cannot support these bills. They should receive further consideration and further time for study. We know that sooner or later, there are going to be some requests for more taxes on certain programs. As a consequence, we would like to have a little bit more knowledge of what is going to be asked of this Senate before we are prepared to provide acceleration of taxes for the purpose of meeting an anticipated deficit.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, might I respectfully point out to the gentlemen, who are claiming that we are in great haste, that this measure has been with us since August of 1951. This is hardly a hasty measure.

The present rate of this tax is five per cent permanent and one per cent temporary. This has been with us for quite some time and there have been increases since the original tax was passed. Therefore, there is nothing hasty about it in that aspect of it.

The present Act requires a fifty per cent prepayment. We are stepping it up on an additional thirty per cent, to make it eighty per cent prepayment. The corporations can either go back and take last year, or take the first quarter of this year, whichever is lower, and pay it on that basis.

I do not feel this is anything which is going to parituclarly hurt anybody. I have heard people complain about it, but, as was stated earlier, people generally complain about taxes. If somebody can point out to me that we are doing some injury to someone or causing a great hardship to somebody, I would be very remiss if I did not listen to the arguments and, thereby, perhaps become cautious in our further action.

I would also state here that if there are some gentlemen on the other side who can tell me on which day they will support this measure, I will be happy to put it over in order until that day. If this is not forthcoming, we can be here for the rest of the Session, while this measure is being studied. I have no objection to people being studious about tax measures and giving us erudite answers on them. However, in due deference to the Administration and also to the people of the Commonwealth, I think we have a right to know where we are going before we start working on our appropriations. The only way we can get to that is by finding out how much money we will have in the till.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I would not have the gentleman in any way anticipate that there will be any votes on this side for these tax bills. I merely said that after further study and consideration, it was possible there might be some change of mind or heart in connection with these particular bills. However, Mr. President, this, we feel, is all part of a pressure in order to get over a tax program without sufficient time to give it full consideration.

For that reason, Mr. President, we feel that if there is to be violence done to anybody in this connection, we should know about it beforehand because this is the last chance we are going to have to look at them. They got them through the House, but the people who are affected might not have had time to go over the entire thing and find out exactly what is happening to them. As far as we on this side are concerned, we feel we should be deliberative about any revenue, measures, whether they be good or bad, before we give them our approval.

Consequently, Mr. President, I say at this time we are not prepared to give any votes for this tax measure. However, I would not, in any sense, have it understood that I am making any promise for any votes from this side at any time. I am not able to do that.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I rise to oppose the passage of this bill and the next bill on the Calendar. It is an acceleration of the rate of tax collection. In my opinion, we are only postponing the inevitable day of reckoning.

I would like to say to the Members of this Senate that I have had no one importune me to oppose this measure. However, I do say to you that in many instances you will find that some of the taxpayers will not have the money, cannot take it out of their business to pay this extra thirty per cent, and will be forced, in many instances to go to the bank and borrow it at the correct rate of interest. In many of the smaller corporations, I can see where this will work a great hardship on them, and could conceivably put such a burden on them that they may be forced to curtail some of their activities. I cannot conceive of this in any way being for the good of the Commonwealth. I cannot see how in any way, by accelerating taxes on our business and industry, we are going to accomplish the goal which, seemingly, we all want to accomplish and which has been, as near as I can figure, one of the objectives of this Administration—of supplying employment for the unemployed.

If anyone can show me how you can take money away from business and industry and make them prepay taxes, and at the same time better business conditions, I would like to be shown. I cannot see that.

Mr. President, I am absolutely opposed to this type of legislation.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, in deciding whether or not we are to vote for these acceleration bills, we must take these facts into consideration: It has been estimated that by the end of the present fiscal year, by May 30, 1961, we will have a deficit of $86,000,000. The purpose of the acceleration of this tax and the other accelerations is to obviate the necessity of adding additional taxes to make up this deficit.

Under the acceleration plan, $82,000,000 of this $86,000,000 will be made up prior to the expiration of the fiscal year.

Now there is only one alternative. If we cannot meet the deficit by acceleration, which is merely an advanced payment and not additional taxes, then the other alterative is to raise the money by taxation. I am sure that business people in the State of Pennsylvania would prefer to borrow, if necessary, to make an advance payment rather than meet additional taxes through an increase in either the capital stock tax or the corporate net income tax.

Mr. WARE. Mr. President, I would like to suggest another alternative which, in my humble opinion, is far superior to that which has been recommended to this group. If we abhor a deficit so strongly, we should look to reducing expenditures so that our income fits our expenses.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to point out one fact to the gentleman from Allegheny County who was concerned—and duly concerned—about the hardships on business. If I were to advise you, Senator, that these businesses could obtain additional time or ask the department to grant them amnesty, as it were, before they had to pay this tax, would that alter your opinion or alter the way you might feel about this matter?

We are merely substituting here the borrowing power of the corporations for that of the Commonwealth. I think everyone will agree that we should not have to get into the area of tax anticipation notes and paying the revenue that goes with that, which only costs us a great deal more money than what we are doing here.

This bill we are talking about is on foreign corporations, not domestic corporations. It will bring us roughly about $100,000 in the acceleration. In toto, it will bring us about $559,000 in income. I think this is the type of situation where you are not putting any hardship on anyone, you are not hurting anyone, and yet you are still raising money for the Commonwealth to take care of the problem.

Incidentally, these bills have been on the Calendar in the Senate here for almost two weeks. They were in the House about a week. Before that, there was information about them around the Capitol. The Governor delivered his message around January 15th or 16th. We have had these measures with us or lived with them for about three or four weeks. Therefore, I think there is nothing wrong in taking action on these measures and acting on them promptly.

If we feel there are better measures or some other way of raising the taxes, I think we should do so.

In answer to the last gentleman who spoke, Senator Ware, I think his position is well taken. However, how do you cut down on money that the people are demanding, that the State is asking for, and services that each and every Senator in his own District and Members of the House would like to see enacted and that we are committed to? Our program is one of people and not one of buildings or programs of the type where you are dealing with inanimate objects. You cannot cut this down. You cannot do away with it. It just so happens that we are also caught in a growing population; in a growing situation where the demands which are being made upon us are becoming heavier and heavier.

I am sure all of us would be very happy if we did not have to vote for any taxes, if we could possibly avoid it. We do not do this because we feel we want to punish anyone or take advantage of anybody. We do this because we feel it is a matter of necessity. I will be very happy to speak to anyone in this Chamber who can tell me of a painless way of doing it, whereby no one will be effected and everyone will be happy if we enact this program.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, further answering Senator Ware about reducing expenses, I should like to call his attention, and the attention of the Members of this Senate, to the fact that it was Governor Lawrence's austerity program in the past two years which has reduced the deficit by $39,000,000. There is $39,000,000 in lapsed funds which is being saved, so that as far as saving is concerned, I think this Administration has done a remarkable job.

Mr. WARE. Mr. President, if the accomplishment had been as notable as my honored colleague has indicated, then I am sure this Administration is certainly capable of further reducing expenses to the extent of $559,000, which I think the Majority Leader said was all this was going to produce in the way of revenue.

Indeed, I am delighted to hear the word "austerity" used, because it comes as news to me that this Administration has an austerity program.

If we were to see the budget requests of the various departments and had an opportunity to analyze them, we might have some knowledge as to the intent and purpose for which these increased revenues are sought. Merely to say that they are sought to eliminate a budget, without any satisfactory explanation as to why expenses cannot be reduced, does not satisfy me and, I must say, it does not satisfy my constituents.

Some reference has been made to the people of Pennsylvania. There are a very substantial portion of these 11,000,000 people who resent accelerated taxes and increased taxes. I believe the Governor's budget calls for something like sixty-three increased programs, all resulting in additional expenses, and seven new programs. The people of Pennsylvania have not voted on these programs nor, indeed, has a single one of my constituents asked for them.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to state to the gentleman that I am sure he is aware—as are all of us in our own affairs—that what you were able to purchase two years ago for the dollar that you had, you certainly cannot purchase the same value today because the cost of living has gone up.

I am somewhat familiar with your county, Senator, and I think—far be it for me to tell you what the people in your county would like to have—there are some elements in your county that are benefiting to some extent from the public assistance program. I think there are some other elements in your county that are benefiting from the mental health program. I think there are some other elements in your county that are getting some benefit from the public health and welfare projects which are taking place generally. I would like to think this is one of the oases in the State of Pennsylvania where they have no need for our services. Then I would say that what you said would be correct and I would be very happy to go along with that.

Unfortunately, this does not happen to be the complete fact, because there are areas where I think you need the help of the State of Pennsylvania. I would like to think also that you carry your fair share of the tax load, but the figures and facts I have do not indicate that. I would be very happy if you corrected me or showed me otherwise. Of the statistics I have available to me—and they also are available to you—this fact that you stated is not borne out.

I would also like to say that it is perfectly all right to come here and represent these people and vote against these programs. However, unfortunately, we are not elected here as the board of directors of a corporation, known as the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, merely to deal with the problems which are strictly parochial or deal with our own particular narrow area. We must legislate for the entire State of Pennsylvania. Perhaps some other areas in the State are not as fortunate as your area, and perhaps they do not enjoy the same type of economic benefits that you do. Therefore, I think you have to give heed to these other people who are in the unfortunate position of needing the help of all of us.

Mr. WARE. I am in accord with practically all that you had to say, Senator Weiner. However, I repeat that neither you, nor anyone on the other side of the aisle, nor any member of the Administration, to my knowledge, has suggested to this Body how we could save one dollar. I would certainly welcome some suggestion, knowing full well there is more than one avenue whereby that could be accomplished.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, might I suggest to the gentleman—and I am sure he has already done so—that if he looks at the budget, he will see that the appropriations which we are making are rather small, compared to what we gave last year and the year before. This is a savings in itself, and it is a part of the austerity program. You will find in your own affairs that you are spending more money for many of the projects which you were doing a year or two ago, as compared to this year. If you, as individuals, are doing this, commensurate with your income, I think the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania can do no less.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, may we be at ease a moment?

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, realizing this bill lacks one vote for a constitutional majority to pass it, I wish to change my vote from "aye" to "no."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will be so recorded.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I desire to change my vote from "aye" to "no."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will be so recorded.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I desire to change my vote from "aye" to "no."

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Wednesday, February 8, 1961, at 12:00 m.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 11:53 p.m.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, February 7, 1961

The House met at 11:00 a.m., Eastern Standard Time.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend David R. Hoover, offered the following prayer:

In the midst of life's experiences, O God, we turn to Thee for a moment of quiet meditation and prayer. We pray that the still small voice which spoke to the Psalmist, has ever spoken to men throughout all ages, may also speak to each one of us in the entanglement of life. We humbly beseech Thee that, in the moments of anguish and despair, Thou wilt grant peace; in the hours of trial and temptation, Thou wilt instill faith; and in the days of disturbing questions and preplexing situations, Thou wilt give guidance and direction. O God, grant to these servants of Thine a ready access to Thee and the awareness of Thy care and concern. In Thy dear Name. Amen.

JOURNALS APPROVED

The SPEAKER. Are there any corrections to the Journals of Thursday, January 26 and Monday, January 30, 1961? If not, and without objection, the Journals are approved.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the approval of the Journal for Monday, February 6, 1961 will be postponed until printed.

The Chair hears none.

EXCHANGE STUDENTS FROM NEW YORK AND YORK COUNTY WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair notes the presence in the gallery of eleven exchange students from New York, presently students of Holly Luzerne School, New York, and eleven students of the Northeastern High School, York County, who are here with their teacher, Mrs. Etta McLean. They are the guests of the gentleman from York, Mr. Gross.

STATEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to inform the Members that the voting mechanism was not out of order yesterday. The Members whose votes were not recorded attempted to record them after the Clerk had locked the machine. The Chair, in the future, will say after the Floor Leaders have given reports, "The Clerk will now lock the machine and record the vote." After the Clerk has locked the machine, the vote cannot be recorded.

We repeat that the Chair shall continue to regard the wishes of the Floor Leaders and not tell the Clerk to lock the machine until the respective Floor Leaders have given clearance. But please understand, after the Chair tells the Clerk to lock the machine, it is impossible to vote by means of the machine.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. ANDREWS, McCANN, HELM and LIPPINCOTT. RESOLUTION No. 25

In the House of Representatives, February 6, 1961.

Two decades ago, the General Assembly repealed miscellaneous civil services statutes applicable to specific departments, and established uniform requirements and conditions for all employes of the Liquor Control Board, Bureau of Employment Security, Department of Public Assistance and the Civil Service Commission.

Since the passage of the Civil Service Act in 1941, separate and distinct statutes have provided civil service for employes of the Board of Parole and the Department of Health. In addition, civil service has been established by departmental action in the Office of Children and Youth, the Office of Mental Health, the Office for the Blind, the Office for the Aged, the Office of General and Special Hospitals, and the Bureau of Rehabilitation. Furthermore, the Executive Board of the Commonwealth, by resolutions, established civil service for selected professional and technical employes for all departments.

The uncoordinated actions of the legislature, the departments and the Executive Board have well-nigh destroyed the uniformity of employment conditions established by the Civil Service Act in 1941.

Today, qualifications, performance standards, and employe rights differ markedly among Commonwealth departments and offices within departments. Arbitrary differences affect an employe's morale adversely, restrict the transfer of employes among agencies and departments, impair employe advancement and impose excessive costs upon the Commonwealth. Again, though the Act of 1941 explicitly provides that" . . . no applicant shall be required to be possessed of any scholastic education in order to be permitted to take any competitive examination . . ." it has become a practice in departments in which civil service was administratively established to require applicants "to be possessed of scholastic education" before they are permitted to take a competitive examination.

The present heterogeneous conglomeration of civil service practices is in need of searching inquiry; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to examine present Commonwealth civil service practices and develop a unified, simplified and equitable system of civil service for Commonwealth departments, agencies and offices; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission make a preliminary report of its findings to the 1961 Session of the General Assembly and report to the Session of 1963 its conclusions and recommendations, together with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. LAMB and MURPHY. RESOLUTION No. 26.

In the House of Representatives, February 6, 1961.

Whereas, Responsible sources have charged that the insurance industry is interfering with the proper function of the jury in the trial of trespass cases; and

Whereas, It is specifically charged that the insurance industry is conducting a planned campaign to misinform the public that the high premiums for liability insurance are due to unreasonably high jury verdicts, thus creating a prejudice in the minds of prospective jurors; and

Whereas, It is specifically charged that this campaign is being conducted through the mail, the press, outdoor advertising media, radio and television; and

Whereas, Such charges if proven would be violative of the law of this Commonwealth and would constitute a harmful and unlawful interference with the jury function; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Insurance Commissioner of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is hereby requested to make a thorough investigation of the charge that insurance companies are interfering with the function of the jury in the trial of trespass cases; and be it further

Resolved, That the Insurance Commissioner shall hold public hearings and take testimony in order to give opportunity to those making such charges, to present evidence thereof, and to give insurance companies an opportunity to rebut such charges. The Insurance Commissioner may issue subpoenas under his hand and seal commanding any person to appear before him and to answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into, and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as he deems necessary. Any person who wilfully neglects or refuses to testify before the Insurance Commissioner, or to produce any books, papers, records or documents, shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases; and be it further

Resolved, That the Insurance Commissioner make a report of his findings to the House of Representatives as soon as practical, and make such recommendations for appropriate legislation or other action as he shall deem necessary.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. GREMMINGER. RESOLUTION No. 27.

In the House of Repesentatives, February 6, 1961.

The House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania recognizes the importance of port facilities.

The City of Chester has port facilities which have been allowed to deteriorate and now serve very little if any useful purpose.

Rehabilitation of these facilities would promote the economy of the City of Chester in creating jobs, advancing industrial production and generally ameliorating business conditions.

Even though civic minded persons and civic groups have urged the Honorable Joseph Eyre, Mayor of the City of Chester to use his office to promote the development of the port facilities, to date he has accomplished nothing, therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representative urge the Honorable John Eyre, Mayor of the City of Chester to forthwith do all in his power to rehabilitate and develop the port facilities of Chester, Pennsylvania, and be it further

Resolved, That he be urged to enlist the aid of Federal Goverment and State Agencies in furthering the development of the aforesaid port facilities, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the Honorable John Eyre, Mayor of the City of Chester and a copy to the City Council in care of Richard Larkin, Chief Clerk, City of Chester, Pennsylvania.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations.

The motion was agreed to.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I ask permission of the House to hold a Republican caucus at this time. I was hoping we could be back in half an hour, but I think experience dictates that I had better ask for forty-five minutes.

The SPEAKER. At the request of the Minority Leader, the Chair declares a recess for a Republican caucus, a recess until the return of the Minority Floor Leader to the floor.

What is the will of the Majority Floor Leader?

The Chair has been declaring recesses for half an hour for so long that it does not make any difference. We do not get going until they come back from the caucus. The Chair has declared a recess until the Minority Floor Leader returns to the floor of the House.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to bring to the attention of the Minority Floor Leader that Resolutions 6, 7 and 10 are in position to be voted on. One is missing; House Resolution 21 is not on the calendar. I would ask that you add that to your calendar.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the Democratic Members of the House will not hold a caucus. We finished our calendar last night at our caucus, so we will agree to the forty-five minutes that I believe the Minority Leader requested for a recess.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. DONALDSON from the Committee on Judiciary, reported as committed, House Bill No. 128, entitled:

An Act making loss of a spouse's consortium an element of damage for which recovery may be had.

BILL ON FIRST READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 128, entitled:

An Act making loss of a spouse's consortium an element of damage for which recovery may be had.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,

Ordered, to be laid aside for second reading.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. Without objection, the Chair will declare a recess of forty-five minutes.

The Chair hears none, and a recess is declared.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired, the House was called to order.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS

Messrs. GOODRICH, A. W. JOHNSON, E. S. WILLIAMS and BUSH offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 7, 1961.

The Honorable Harry R. McInroy, a member of this House of Representatives from Tioga County since his first election thereto in 1950, came from a family of thirteen children, nine of whom are living, and all graduates of Mansfield State Teachers' College.

Mr. McInroy's illustrious athletic record includes four years on his high school baseball team, two years on the baseball team at Mansfield State Teachers' College, then known as Mansfield State Normal School, and three years on the baseball team of the Dickinson School of Law. He played baseball in the Anthracite League for six years, and for many years more in semi-professional baseball. He also spent twenty years as a basketball referee and ten years as a football official.

In addition to his legislative and athletic endeavors, Mr. McInroy taught eight years in Schuylkill Haven, Pennsylvania, as coach and principal of the high school, and two years in Wellsboro High School. For ten years he was supervising principal of Westfield High School at Westfield, Pensylvania.

Mr. McInroy is now Station Agent for the New York Central Railroad at Elkland, Pennsylvania. He is a local preacher in the Methodist Church, a real estate and insurance agent, and Superintendent of the Methodist Sunday School.

Mr. McInroy is an interested and ardent fisherman and hunter, and for one year served as President of the Tioga County Federated Sportsmen's Association.

On February 9, Mr. McInroy celebrates his sixty-third birthday, and on that day deserves the plaudits of his fellows for his many wholesome activities and the fine accomplishments with which he has distinguished himself for the many years of his varied and interested life; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives extends its hearty congratulations to the Honorable Harry R. McInroy on his sixty-third birthday anniversary, coming on February 9, 1961; and be it further Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to Mrs. Harry McInroy, Westfield, Pennsylvania, Mr. Richard H. McInroy, Pine Street, Canister, New York, Mr. Harry C. McInroy, Canister, New York, the Misses Patricia, Gertrude and Margy McInroy and Mr. Craig McInroy, all of 635 Edison Street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and to Mrs. Chester Sheffer, Third Street, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS

Mr. STIMMEL, Mrs. MARKLEY and Mr. STECKEL offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate ocnsideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 7, 1961.

Congratulations are certainly in order today for one of the youngest and newest members of the House. Last night the gentleman from Lehigh, John E. Backenstoe became the father of a bouncing baby boy. This new addition to a fine old Lehigh County family will have to work hard to be able to follow in the footsteps of his father, grandfather and great-grandfather all of whom carried the Backenstoe name high.

A necessary part of every joyous occasion such as this is the mother of the baby. To Lois Backenstoe we offer our sincere congratulations. We know that she is a proud mother and if she puts as much love and care in the raising of the baby as she puts in her excellent cooking there is no question that the new Backenstoe will grow up to be a real man and a fine gentleman.

Now that "Jeb" and Lois are the parents of their first born he will be better able to understand the many complexities of raising a family. We are sure that this blessed event will give him a better insight on the many problems that are presented to him as the representative of the people of Allentown; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives extends its heartiest congratulations to John and Lois Backenstoe upon the birth of their first boy; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to Rep. and Mrs. John E. Backenstoe at their home in Allentown.

The SPEAKER. It is customary on occasions like this to distribute cigars to all the Members of the House.

Mr. BACKENSTOE. Mr. Speaker, they will be here at the next session.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to thank the Members of the House and Mr. Stimmel very, very much for this wonderful honor. My wife and I both thank the House, and I would also like to say, Mr. Speaker, I think it is time perhaps that we should get back to work and try to make a better country and a better State not only for my boy but for everybody's. Thank you very much.

The SPEAKER. You see the Chair got his cigar before he would permit the reading of the resolution.

Mr. McCANN. The Minority Floor Leader has asked upon return from caucus to speak on the floor of the House and then vote on the bills.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. FINEMAN asked and obtained permission for the Committee on State Government to meet during the session of the House.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. KRAMER from the Committee on State Government, reported as committed, House Bill No. 208, entitled:

An Act regulating the sale of electron receiving and picture tubes used in home type radio and television receivers or other home type electronic devices, and fixing penalties.

Mrs. PASHLEY from the Committee on State Government, reported as committed, House Bill No. 224, entitled:

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 224, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 19, 1941 (P. L. 143), entitled "An act designating certain days of each year as Arbor and Bird Days, one of which days shall be the ninth day of April, * * * and directing suitable observance of Arbor Days and Bird Days in public schools under the direction of superintendents and teachers," further providing for the designation of Arbor Day.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,

Ordered, to be laid aside for second reading.

STATEMENT BY MINORITY LEADER

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, it is my privilege at this time to announce from the floor of the House the Republican legislative program for the 1961 session. This program was drafted by a special committee appointed for that purpose and submitted to our policy committee, which recommended to the caucus membership its adoption. Every provision in this program received the unanimous and overwhelming consent of the Republican House caucus. The program is in 15 major fields. Bills will be drawn to implement the provisions of the program and submitted as soon as possible. The program is as follows:

1. CIVIL SERVICE STATUS FOR STATE EMPLOYES.

Mr. Speaker, we propose in this field a bipartisan nonpolitical commission which shall submit its findings to the General Assembly for approval. Civil Service should include all professional, technical and auditing employes of the various departments and agencies of the Commonwealth. All present personnel will have the opportunity to qualify for classification under the act by participating in competitive qualifying examinations.

The membership of the commission shall be chosen by the Governor from a list of competent appointees to be submitted to the Governor by a board composed of the presidents of the four state and state-aided universities.

All employes under Civil Service shall be prohibited from any political activities with appropriate penalties.

2. PUBLIC WELFARE.

We propose in this field a survey of the Department of Public Welfare by an independent business-management consulting firm to make recommendations for reorganization of the department to promote efficiency and eliminate waste. We also propose a bipartisan legislative inquiry into the department operations to determine the extent of relief chiseling and racketeering in public assistance.

3. HIGHWAY LEGISLATION.

a. We propose that the Secretary of Highways submit annually a six-year capital program detailing all major construction and improvements of highways, bridges and other facilities, with the first year having the force of law upon legislative approval and the remaining five years being subject to future modifications.

b. We propose effective billboard control within 660 feet of the right-of-way of the interstate highway system in compliance with the Federal Act.

c. We propose legislation requiring advance payment of 75 percent of the appraised valuation in State highway condemnation cases.

d. We propose that local municipalities shall participate in the same ratio as they now participate in any additional gasoline tax increase.

4. HIGHWAY SAFETY.

We propose the following legislation in the field of Highway Safety:

a. Restrict driving privileges of juvenile drivers 18 years of age and under during the night-time hours.

b. Authorize the use of alcohol-testing devices on persons suspected of drunken driving by qualified law officers with subsequent confirmation by laboratory or medical analysis.

c. Establish a non-discriminatory system of periodical drivers' examinations by a doctor of the operator's choice, at the expense of the Commonwealth.

d. Propose prompt studies and reports on auxiliary braking devices as standard equipment on all large trucks; possible legislation to combat the ever-increasing number of rear and collisions; and, a further prompt study and report to establish a more adequate and uniform system of speed limits on various sizes and grades of highways.

e. We propose to staff, with additional personnel, the Pennsylvania State Police force as the same might be required for highway safety and police purposes, and we propose that qualified women be incorporated in the force to handle secretarial and clerical duties.

f. Establish a system of penalties for the suspension or revocation of drivers' licenses and eliminate the power of the Executive to legislate by decree.

g. Require seat belt attachments to be standard equipment on all new passenger vehicles sold in the Commonwealth after January 1, 1963.

5. LOCAL GOVERNMENT

a. In order to eliminate the extraordinary cost of authority financing, we propose Constitutional amendments to enable local governments and school districts to increase their borrowing capacity.

b. We propose payments in lieu of taxes by the state government to local governments in areas where Commonwealth ownership of taxable real estate is disproportionately high.

6. ELECTION LAW REFORMS

In order to eliminate illegal election practices in urban areas, we propose:

a. The abolition of the direct election of district election boards and the substitution of appointed boards by county boards of elections on the recommendations of the respective county committees or city committees, as the case may be.

b. We propose to remove the residency requirements of election board officials and certified poll watchers.

7. JUDICIAL REFORM

We propose Constitutional amendments to permit the consolidation and uniformity of the judicial systems of Philadelphia and Allegheny Counties with appropriate administrative services.

8. UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION

We propose an increase of $5 per week in the benefits to claimants and an extension of the benefit period.

We propose that the fund shall be liable for payments only to those persons out of work through no fault of their own by the elimination of loop-hole claimants.

In other words, we propose to increase the weekly benefits to people for whom unemployment compensation was originally intended, those out of work through no fault of their own. We propose to eliminate the social welfare legislation which has crept into unemployment compensation.

9. SENIOR CITIZENS TAX EXEMPTION

We propose a Constitutional amendment granting an exemption from taxation on residential real estate to persons 65 years of age or over whose income does not exceed $5,000 a year from all sources, which exemption shall not exceed the first $1,000 of the property assessment.

10. ATTORNEY GENERAL

We propose a Constitutional amendment to provide for the election of an independent Attorney General and supporting legislation to create the office of Solicitor General as the Governor's own legal counsel.

11. PHILADELPHIA CITY-COUNTY CONSOLIDATION

We will again introduce bills designed to complete the consolidation of the remaining Philadelphia County offices into the Philadelphia city government.

12. PARK ACQUISITION AND DEVELOPMENT

We propose a Constitutional amendment to authorize borrowing by the Commonwealth in the amount of $35 million for the acquisition and development of additional land for future parks, recreation and conservation purposes.

13. ELIMINATION OF INSURANCE COMMISSION

We propose legislation to eliminate the payment of commissions to individuals on insurance purchased by the Commonwealth or agencies thereof. I might add that this has already been dubbed the "Anti-Torquato Bill."

14. MEDICAL CARE FOR THE AGED

We propose a legislative program in compliance with the Federal Act, and revision thereof in the event that the Federal Act is changed, in order to assure the payments of benefits to the senior citizens of this Commonwealth.

15. RE-APPORTIONMENT

We propose fair and equitable re-apportionment of the Congressional, Senatorial and Legislative districts in compliance with the Constitution and current census data.

I might add that on this reapportionment I have the public word of the Majority Floor Leader that the Democratic Party is also for fair and equitable reapportionment and that there will be no gerrymandering bills in this session. We are very happy to hear that and feel it will reduce the length of the session by a number of weeks or months.

This, Mr. Speaker, is the major portion of our Republican legislative program. We have two major fields in which we are still working, in which we need more time and on which we cannot prepare legislation in haste. These are the fields of education and industrial development. We feel that education is always the number one continuing problem of the General Assembly. It always, as it does in this proposed budget, takes almost 50 percent of the money the State spends for all purposes. We, therefore, want to examine the field of education; we will submit our own education program in the very near future.

We feel that the number one temporary problem facing the Commonwealth is the joblessness and the lack of industrial activity in Pennsylvania. We feel that the most important thing that this General Assembly, the Democratic Party and the Republican Party can do for the people of Pennsylvania is to create a proper business climate to provide jobs for the people of Pennsylvania so that they might support their families.

We feel that this is a good government program, that the bills we will submit can have bipartisan support. We ask for your consideration of our proposals; we ask for your help in passing them into law. We would like to sit down with you and see if we cannot work out something so that both parties in this House can support legislation that amounts to good government for all the people in this State.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

STATEMENT BY MAJORITY LEADER

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to express my personal pleasure with the report that the House Republican Caucus has taken a positive stand on some legislative matters.

It is reassuring, in particular, to find that the Republican Members of the House look with favor on some legislation which has long been a part of the Democratic program in Pennsylvania.

We welcome some phases of the caucus report wholeheartedly. Accepting the report on its own grounds, we can reasonably hope for Republican support of the extensive highway safety program and legislation to control billboards along the Interstate highway system.

Judging from our past experience, however, I hope I will be forgiven if I question whether the caucus speaks for the Republican minority in both Houses or if it is merely a minority Minority report reflecting the views of the party in our own House.

It seems obvious to me that the Members of the House Republican caucus must have checked one detail with at least one Republican Senator, however; that is, the matter of using radar to protect the lives of motorists on our highways.

My main feeling about the legislative "program" announced by the House Republican caucus is that it is more important for its omissions than it is for those matters upon which it commits itself.

On several measures, the caucus endorses steps already taken by this Administration. The foremost example is the requirement for advance payment of 75 percent of the appraised valuation of highway condemnation cases. Since this can be taken care of administratively—and has been since 1957—we cannot see that this is a matter of prime legislative concern.

The major flaw in the "program" outlined by the caucus is the apparent failure to understand the scope of the problems. In the field of public welfare, for example, I was appalled to find that the caucus recommendation is much too superficial. It fails completely to mention either mental health or juvenile delinquency. Surely these are two of the major problems of our times. Yet the Republican caucus talks only in worn out terms about "relief chiseling" and "racketeering."

We are perfectly in accord with any proposal which will result in better business practices in any governmental department or agency. Governor Lawrence, the Democratic Members of this House, and the entire Administration have and are making every effort to introduce efficient methods into government operation.

But we cannot rely upon a business-management consulting firm to provide better care for the mentally ill. We cannot answer the terrible needs of human beings —we cannot cure the sick—with prolonged studies and protracted reports from efficiency experts. If we are to perform the services of the government as they should—and must—be performed, we must have both the efficiency to do the work well and the heart to understand what has to be done and why.

As a Pennsylvania citizen I find the caucus statement alarming in many other areas—again because I can find no mention whatever of certain staggering problems that face the Commonwealth and its people.

The caucus has chosen to completely ignore the entire vast field of public health; yet, surely, the health of our citizens is one of the most important factors we must consider in the day to day operation of State government.

In our cities—large or small—the rot of time has turned homes into tenements and residential areas into slums. Our local tax bases have been virtually sabotaged by the destruction of property values in slum areas.

Yet, I have searched the Republican caucus report in vain for the slightest mention of urban renewal and I find no plan for the redevelopment of our cities so that they may restore themselves to a competitive position in a highly competitive industrial society.

I have read the report carefully, too, in search of some word about the caucus feeling toward the continuing of improving Pennsylvania's tax climate.

I find no mention, either, of the abusive uses to which lobbying has been—and continues to be—put in the Pennsylvania Legislature and there is certainly no indication of a desire on the caucus' part to correct those abuses.

Although I am certain my Republican colleagues must share with me the concern over conflict of interest, I find no indication of this in the caucus report.

Nor do I see a plan to take care of Pennsylvania's streams, to keep them clear and to make certain that the water from them remains potable.

The caucus has ignored the tremendous problems of flood control which confront so many of our Pennsylvania communities; it has taken no notice of the need for greater port development as a part of the drive to invigorate our faltering economy.

There are no reassuring words in this report, either, for those of us who are concerned with the pressing need for legislation to insure the civil rights of all of our citizens, without prejudice; nor is there any reference to the need for establishing a realistic minimum wage for the workers of Pennsylvania.

I have looked, in vain, for an idea of how the Republican caucus stands on many other vital pieces of legislation.

Along with many others who have read the news reports of the caucus program, I find some encouragement. But, on many counts, I have been disappointed.

At the end of the report we are left with a promise of "things to come." As I read the final paragraph saying that education recommendations will come later, I could not help remembering that it was only three days ago that the Minority Leader seized a few headlines with his denunciataion of the remarks of Governor Lawrence for failing to present a full education program to the Assembly now! As the Minority Leader knows, the Commonwealth's education program must await the final report of the Governor's Committee on Education—a Committee authorized and encouraged by the Legislature. Only when we have had an opportunity to study that report will it be possible to present a fair, comprehensive education program and budget.

I note with interest, also, that the caucus intends to submit a subsequent program for industrial development. I want to say, right now, that all Pennsylvania can only welcome any effort on the part of this House, or the Senate, to improve upon the existing industrial development program in Pennsylvania. Our present program has been successfully adopted as a program, the best of its kind in the history of our country. It is serving today as a model for numerous other States.

But we do want the best program possible for our Commonwealth and our citizens. If there are ways in which it can be improved, then I say to this House, now, let us hear about them, let us consider them, let us vote upon them—if they are genuine improvements, let us pass them into law so that this program, which is non-partisan and non-political, may continue to serve Pennsylvania's people and Pennsylvania's economy as it has been doing so well in the past.

I have studied the caucus report thoroughly. Since it is a very sketchy report, at best, it is not too time-consuming.

In those areas in which the minority report now offers its support of long-sought Democratic programs, we, and the people of Pennsylvania can be most grateful. The continuing advice and counsel of the Republican Party, and its leadership, is welcome and necessary. I am conscious that, with this report, we may well be entering upon a new era of enlightened, responsible bi-partisanship. This can only help the advancement of this Commonwealth and its causes.

Although I am pleased with the positive expression of interest on the part of my Republican colleagues, I must remind them that the welfare of Pennsylvania's citizens cannot be lightly dismissed in a 15-point "program" which barely touches upon the really critical needs of human beings.

The expression of interest—no matter how slight—is, I am sure, a sincere one.

As the legislative days go by, we will have an opportunity to welcome support of minority members for many constructive bills which will come before this House.

A legislative program must include the whole broad spectrum of human needs,—when these needs are apparent and pressing. This is why we find many of the omissions in the caucus "program" obvious and alarming. We are disturbed to find no concern whatsoever, on the part of the caucus, with the strip mines which mar our landscape in the coal regions, with our many agricultural problems, with the needs of public libraries, the rightful demands of the public for consumer protection under law, the clear-cut needs for a progressive program of tourist promotion to encourage an industry which has rapidly become one of our major assets and absolute necessity for fiscal responsibility in governmental affairs.

When the votes are cast, when the chips are down, I hope that the Minority Leader and the members of his caucus will continue to see the "power of positive thinking."

Mr. Speaker, there are many points that we will argue about in days to come: Unemployment compensation, for example, where the wording indicates that the Unemployment Compensation fund shall be liable for payments only to those persons out of work through no fault of their own, and by the elimination of loophole claimants.

Of the 10,000 steel workers in western Pennsylvania who are laid off from the steel mills, who drew their full unemployment compensation and then drew their supplement compensation through no fault of their own—because they were unemployed—is it the Republican position to eliminate these people from drawing UC? Is it their position to say to the public today that in this field of men who at 65 are retired because of existing contracts, willing to work, able to work, but no longer allowed to work, are you saying to them that you are going to deny them the UC benefits they get now? Is this what we read in this report, or shall we wait until the legislative bills define clearly the intention or meaning of each paragraph?

We will be ready, we will be waiting, for the introduction of each of these pieces of legislation which will be presented by the minority members of this House, I assume in the next few weeks to define carefully each of the 15 points. Mr. Speaker, this is the first time in quite a few months that I can recall that a positive thinking program is starting to move from the Republican leadership, which I hope and I pray, that it is of the entire Republican Party and not just the minority party of this House, but the minority party of the Senate, the Republican State leadership of the State, the Republican members statewide, for it certainly will have good support.

The SPEAKER. Let us be careful that we do not frighten the dove of peace that seems to be hovering over this chamber.

The Chair recognizes the Minority Leader.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I have put my slingshot away.

The Members will be glad to hear that I do not intend to answer the Majority Leader at length.

I am somewhat pleased that he found it necessary to prepare a major address which took more time than my remarks did before the House today.

We thank the Majority Leader for the fact that he was somewhat, and I quote, "pleased and encouraged" by the fact that we have a positive legislative program. I can assure him we are both pleased and encouraged ourselves.

I might point out that there are many, many fields, of course, which are not included in this program. This is not intended to be a completely comprehensive legislative program. Many of the things mentioned by the Majority Leader we can be unanimously for. Who is against clean streams? Some things are not in there because we may be unanimously against them. Everything that is in that program we are either unanimously or overwhelmingly for in the Republican House Caucus.

Let me point out, further, that we feel the Governor has a little more responsibility in submitting legislative proposals than does the House minority. In the first place, the Governor has a responsibility to all the people in the Commonwealth. The Governor has a staff and in the field of education has the Department of Public Instruction, to say nothing of the Special Committee on Education. We have no such personnel. We must do this work as individual legislators. I think the Speaker, the Majority Leader and the members of the majority recognize the fact that we just do not have the facilities to prepare the comprehensive program that the administration has at its disposal.

I think, and I think you will have to agree with me, we have done an excellent job in fashioning a legislative program this early in the session. We have two major fields that we are not ready with yet. We have done a lot of work on it, but we are not ready to submit it yet. We will be, we hope, in the very near future.

This does not—I repeat, this does not—forbid the introduction of other phases of a Republican legislative program, but we wanted to get the major portion of our bills in. Yes, this is general, it is sketchy, it is five or six pages. We did not want to go into too much detail, the detail will be in the bills.

There will be further debate, we hope, on many provisions in this legislative recommendation as to its ramifications, its inclusions and its omissions. Later during this session we intend to put in the bills and we intend to fight for them. We will ask first the cooperation of the majority in areas where, perhaps, we can work together for the best interests of the people of the Commonwealth.

I do not wish to take any further time today. I know some of the Members have made plans and I think we are ready to start on the third-reading calendar.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, do the new rules keep me from speaking now?

Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to make a few remarks.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman would be in perfect order. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Allegheny to yield a few minutes—just five seconds?

I wish to apologize to him. I knew he wished to speak and I forgot about it. I am sorry. Mr. Goldstein.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the cracking on this particular apparatus here is only indicative of the fact that the bureaus of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania are destroying the improved Pennsylvania tax climate of which the Majority Leader so often declaims.

Everybody must recognize that during the Leader Administration and then during the present Lawrence Administration we have attempted to improve the tax climate in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. No bills could have been passed without bipartisan support. But what the Legislature proposes, the bureaucrats dispose of.

I now challenge and I address myself to the Majority Leader of this House to confer with the administration for whom he speaks and ask them either to modify bureaucratic rulings or to pass legislation which will make it possible for industry to exist in western Pennsylvania.

For that purpose I offer into the record an article from the Iron Age, which is the Bible of the iron industry, in which it is pointed out that non-integrated plants are now being subjected to the sales tax and are being defined by the corporation tax bureau as non-manufacturing, which is all either contrary to the intent of the Legislature or is a bureaucratic demand, an insatiable demand, for tax monies. This demand for tax money is driving industry out of Allegheny County and western Pennsylvania.

If you will check with the small Manufacturers Council in our area, you will find out that during the last four or five years we have lost thousands of jobs. If we want to maintain the steel manufacturing units in the Comomnwealth of Pennsylvania, we must have a diversified industry in this State. As long as the tax men in the State of Pennsylvania, controlled by the administration, make rulings like this, industry will flee.

Let me call to your particular attention these words in this article:

> "In the case of non-integrated mills, tax men say there is nothing to negotiate. The entire cold-rolling operation is outside the manufacturing field, says the state; practically all purchases for the operation are taxable."

When I voted on the tax measure, I always felt that a non-integrated mill, like a rolling mill, was a manufacturing operation. If that is the interpretation of the tax bureau, let us put them in their place. Let the legislators lead and the tax men follow.

I now ask you again, Mr. Majority Leader, to prepare the legislation on a bipartisan basis and let us put these bureaucrats in their place.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. HAMILTON asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

INTERROGATION

Mr. FILO asked and obtained unanimous consent to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein.

Mr. Speaker, before I ask a few questions, I would like to say this—that many of the Chambers of Commerce of the State of Pennsylvania are doing a disservice to their

State of Pennsylvania and to the people by claiming that business is being hurt generally throughout the State. With statements like that, I can see the reason why some of these industries fail to attempt to locate in Pennsylvania. They have been downgrading Pennsylvania all along. This should be stopped.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Allegheny County when Governor Fine proposed the sales tax, is it not true that that was the tax that would help the industry in Pennsylvania? Is that not so?

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. I was not in the Legislature then. I am not familiar with the tax plan at all.

All I know is that, for almost 100 years Pennsylvania was considered the State of big business and the record of the legislators controlled by the Republican Party was merely this, to attract big business. It was not until the last two administrations—I say this frankly and sincerely—when both the Republicans and Democrats got together and created a better tax climate for the State of Pennsylvania, because we were recognizing that you could not continue to tax business and we had to pass consumer taxes. Your own leaders recognize that. Now we had that particular background we passed legislation to help business because what we are interested in is not unemployment benefits, not relief; we are interested in jobs for Pennsylvanians.

You live in the Duquesne area of Allegheny County and you are better off if you have jobs for your men.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I would further like to ask is it not true that when the machinery tax was removed from corporations in Pennsylvania, that was a step in the right direction to help the climate in Pennsylvania for industry?

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. I agree that was a step in the right direction and I call your particular attention to, and must be personal about, the gentleman and other members of your District who have tried to stymie the effects of the Legislature.

Mr. FILO. I agree. Mr. Speaker, I disagreed with the removal of the machinery tax. However, Mr Speaker, there is other legislation that we passed here last year, the corporation net income tax, that failed to pass the other house. Is it true that this is a relief to the corporations?

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. The corporate net income tax, so far as I know, is at the rate of six percent now and I know of no legislation which would have changed the corporate income tax. Will the gentleman be specific?

Mr. FILO. I believe last session we passed the CNI bills, if I am not mistaken, in this House. It failed to pass the Senate, is that not true?

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Well, so far as I know, we have had a corporate income tax in Pennsylvania for some years. It is the second largest producing income for the State, if my recolletion is correct.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I think we would do more of a service if we would quit haggling about the conditions in Pennsylvania, if we would show the people in Pennsylvania and industry that they should come here, that we have good people to work here. Manpower is the greatest thing any industry can have. I am sure we have this kind of manpower here. I resent anybody getting up and saying that Pennsylvania is not a good State in which to have industry locate.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I never said and I do not say that Pennsylvania is not a good State, and I do not say that we do not have the best type of working men, but I want to make it a better State where everybody can get the best job opportunities. I say that the Chambers of Commerce and businessmen and leaders in the labor field are concerned about the tax program. All I want to bring to your attention again is this: Examine the issues which I have raised and, if you think they are sound, cooperate in bi-partisan legislation. If you think my statement is unsound, come back next week or the week after and tell me wherein I am wrong.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Tioga, Mr. McInroy.

Mr. McINROY. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, I am not prolonging this debate, so just sit back in your seats. I just want to thank the members of the House, particularly the sponsors who got together that resolution on my birthday, the day after tomorrow. To you young fellows of the House, 63 looks like a pretty old age, but to some of you I am just a youngster. I just want to tell one story and then I am going to sit down.

You know back in our home towns, Tioga County and other places, we are still youngsters. I presume some of you heard this story but it is worth telling, I believe, even if you have heard it. There was a gentleman who was 112 and his wife was 110, so the story goes, and the boy was 81. The boy became sick and died. The father turned to the mother and said, "There, ma, I told you we would never raise that boy." So, I have not been raised back in Tioga County and I am still just a youngster there.

I want to say this to you, I appreciate being here. It has been a lot of fun. I think sometimes we forget to be happy until it is too late. So, I want to say that I am very happy on my 63rd birthday and the happiest, I believe, of anytime in my life. Let us learn to be happy.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. McCANDLESS asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 43, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article three section four of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania changing the procedure on the passage of bills.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?
